Some time ago the nine countries of Central America and the Caribbean declared war, and the entry of Mexico means that all lands above South America are now in the conflict. In South America only Chile and Argentine maintain diplomatic relations with the Axis. The likelihood of Axis infiltration in this hemisphere grows less and less as the bonds between the American countries grow stronger and stronger.

Improving Riverside Park

For some time it has been felt that the city of Peterborough should do something to improve Riverside Park. As a usual thing this park is used for baseball, but as this has been set aside for the duration of the war this seems to be an excellent opportunity to get the work done.

The park, which is low-lying, is subject to floods during the spring and needs shoring and filling. There is usually some work going on about the city which produces clay, rock and such useful refuse as old blocks of paving and cement from the sidewalks. This refuse has to be dumped somewhere, and it might be a good idea to dump it in Riverside Park where it would do some good.

There is one objection to this policy. It is not generally known that the park is based on a sawdust fill, and is therefore soft and porous. It may be that no amount of shoring and filling would improve the situation. But there would be no harm done if the city engineer were to look into the situation and report on it to the Council, who could then decide what to do. If it is possible to improve the park permanently and economically, by all means let us do so.

A Dump For The City

The old city dumping ground at the foot of Charlotte Street has been closed because it is a fire hazard, and Peterborough is left without a dump. Now a dump is a necessity in such a city as this. Garbage and ashes are removed in the course of the regular sanitary service of the city, but there are many things which do not come under these headings and which cannot be put in an incinerator. Such rubbish as boughs of trees and old paint-pails, for instance, are neither garbage nor salvage, and there ought to be some place to put them.

There was a time when the perplexed citizen filled the back of his car with such junk as this and, driving deep into the country, dropped it in some lonely spot with the stealth of a murderer concealing the body of his victim. But of late the townships have protested against this practice; they do not want their countryside used as a dump and we cannot say that we blame them. But what are we to do?

Can the Council not find some pit, ravine or gully near the town which may be used as a city dump? In Utopia, where all things are perfect, such unlovely appurtenances will not be needed, but here in Peterborough we must have them unless each householder is to establish his own dump in his own back yard.

Action In Libya

Although the situation has been lively in Libya for a week it is still impossible to tell whether the Axis drive was intended to be a feeler, an inflated skirmish or a full-scale offensive against Egypt. Perhaps Rommel wished only to capture Tobruk. But it seems more likely that his plan was to seize the naval base at Alexandria and press on to the Suez Canal. A successful move of this nature would cripple Britain in the Middle East and clear the way for a German drive against the Caucasus oil fields from the south.

In any case, the first round has gone to Britain. The Axis forces have had a sound drubbing. Rommel has hurried to the rear to strengthen his forces and organize them for a stand of some kind, and General Ludwig Cruewell, the commander of the German African Corps, is a prisoner in British hands. Not a bad week's work!

Probably Rommel has something else up his sleeve. He is a first-rate tactician and there are powerful rumors that Hitler is pressing him hard; the African Corps has been strongly reinforced and although the first round has gone to the British we may see a violent struggle in Libya yet. But as yet the African situation is clouded.

Kingston Regiment Mobilizes

The Princess of Wales' Own Regiment of Kingston has received orders to mobilize, and it will be brought to full war strength at once with Lieutenant-Colonel F. K. Ludlow, M.C., as acting officer commanding.

The P.W.O.R. was formed in January of 1863, but this is the first occasion upon which it has been called to active service. It has, however, provided many hundreds of men for the active army and has long been highly regarded as a training ground for officers and men. Now its members will have to apply for enlistment in the active army and if they are accepted they will at once be taken on strength. Those who are not considered suitable for active service will remain as a nucleus about which a new reserve unit will be formed.

So far as is known at present the P.W.O.R. (Active) will be put on home duty and will be recruited from the present reserve battalion.

Thus another reserve unit is called to meet the country's necessity, and our admiration is increased for these organizations which have done so much excellent work in preparing men and officers for efficient active service.

The "No Children" Rule

The housing situation in many Canadian towns is an extremely pressing one now, and its complication is increased by the number of landlords who will not rent to people with children. Now everybody knows that children are often noisy, destructive and tiresome, but they are also necessary and it seems unfair to discriminate against them. After all, the most crabbed landlord was once an innocent prattler himself and the likelihood is that there were times when his prattle was very loud and annoying to the neighbors. Let him reflect upon this when he is tempted to turn the children from his door.

The most ingenious stunt that we have heard of so far for overcoming this "No Children" rule was practised by a woman in Galt. Looking over a flat she replied, when the owner asked her if she had any children, "They're all up in the cemetery," and closed the deal. The landlord soon learned that, although the children were indeed in the cemetery, they were anything but angels; in fact, they were not even dead, but merely playing among the graves while their mother hunted a home for them. The landlord served notice at once, but as he cannot evict them for three months they have thus a fair amount of time in which to find another flat. We decorate this unknown mother with our special invisible medal for ingenuity.

The government cannot force landlords to rent to people with children, but we think that landlords might consider the difficulties of the situation and make exceptions to their rule. It is the duty of the parents to see that the children are reasonably quiet and well-behaved and if they are stricter in this matter, and the landlords a little more lenient, a difficult situation may be eased.

Defeat In Burma

While we are jubilant about the large and highly successful raid on Cologne, let us not forget that we have suffered a severe and humiliating defeat in Burma. The humiliation does not spring from any failure on the part of the British troops under the command of General Alexander; it comes rather from the fact that those troops were promised help which never came and were left to make an ignominious and wasting retreat under the most terrible conditions. The story was the old one; our troops were powerless without proper support in the air, and they were never given this necessary help.

Perhaps, viewed from the godlike eminence of high strategy, the Burma defeat was necessary and excusable, and the loss of that country will be made up later in the war. But the men who have to fight these bitter losing battles cannot see them from a remote and theoretical standpoint; they see them face to face, hour by hour, for weeks at a time, as they make their way through the jungle paths and over the precipitous mountains. The applause and admiration which the press and their countrymen lavish upon their feat is unheard by them, nor, if they could hear it, would it be of any solace to them. They would gladly sacrifice the heroics for enough planes to allow them to make one decent stand. Some remnants of the British forces have escaped from Burma with their lives, and the story of their escape is a tale of great valor. For this reason we may call Burma a glorious defeat, if we like the empty phrase; but a defeat it was, and wars are not won by defeats, glorious or inglorious.

A great cry of Why? is aroused by this defeat in Burma. Why did we not know that the Burmese were disaffected and were ready to ambush and slaughter our men? Why was the military situation in Burma not better understood? Why was help in the air, which had been promised, so little when it came? Doubtless there was no casualness, no lack of accurate information, no downright stupidity?

Never in this war have we felt the lack of courage and endurance in soldiers from any part of the Empire, but we have often felt the lack of equipment for them to fight with and proper organization to see that they did not fight in vain. Too little and too late was the story in Burma and no amount of heroism can change it. Is it to be the last in our series of defeats?

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Heydrich Still Expected To Die" says a headline. Hope springs eternal.

"REMEMBERING"

I received a letter
Just the other day,
The letter said:
"My dearest,—
There isn't much to say.
The peach trees are in bloom;
Perfume from their petals
Is drifting through the room.
We have such pretty tulips,
Our pride and our delight,
Which are a lovely sight.
We're pruning all the shade trees
To let the sun shine through,
And planning out the garden
The way you used to do.
We wish you were at home again,
It seems like many years."
I laid away the letter,
My eyes were willed with tears.

Heydrich The Hangman

By SONIA TOMARA
(The Montreal Star)

FOR a long time Prague had been silent. No information had come from unhappy Czechoslovakia. Hitler's first victim. We heard about the fight of Cerbian chetniks, about the suffering of Norwegian teachers and abduction of Polish girls into Germany, the shooting of hostages in France. Czech friends asked me: "Why don't you write about us?" And when I said: "Give me some news of your people," they agreed that there was none. It might have almost been surmised that Czechoslovakia was happy, since the saying that that "happy people have no history."

All of a sudden news has broken out in Prague. The patience of the Czech people has given way. An attempt has been committed against Reinhard Heydrich, one of the highest and most powerful Nazis, at the moment when he was going back to Berlin, after eight months passed in Bohemia. Berlin was pleased with his work. In eight months he had brought Czechoslovakia into line, "gleichgeschaltet" ("evened up") the Czechs with the Germans. It was rumored that Heydrich might get a new assignment in Holland, where some resistance to the New Order was manifested.

"WORKED" IN NORWAY

Heydrich had come to Prague on September 26, two days before the day of St. Wenceslas, the saint of the town. The slim, feminine looking, 37-year-old Nazi, with a pale face and gray-green eyes, had worked all summer in Norway, bringing the Norwegians into line. A fearful reputation surrounded him. The Czechs, who had heard on the radio the previous evening that Heydrich would replace Baron von Neurath, their "protector," shuddered. Was not Heydrich Heinrich Himmler's right hand man?

He had made a swift career in the service of the Gestapo. In his teens he was active in patriotic organizations, and had later joined the German Navy. At the age of 27 he entered the Nazi party in Munich and after a few months was admitted to the black-coated Schutz-Staffel (S. S.) A year later Himmler made him his A.D.C., and as the head of the Bavarian political police Heydrich took an active part in the 1934 Roehm purge.

When he arrived in Prague and took up his quarters as "protector" in the ancient Hradchani castle, on the top of the hill overlooking the city, the German war machine was dissatisfied with the output of Czech industry. The war factories were lagging. Mysterious signs appeared on the walls: a roughly drawn turtle and the letters V and P. V stood for victory, of course, and P for "pomalu," meaning in Czech, "just a little." The turtle and the P reminded the Czechs that they should impede Germany's war effort by slowing down work.

Unable to force the Czechs to do what he wanted, Neurath had written: "Czech authorities are not doing their duty toward Germany." Karl H. Frank, Neurath's deputy, had said: "The Czech people and particularly the intelligentsia cannot be taught anything....To this hostile clique we shall one day present our accounts." Throughout the summer of 1941, when German armies were advancing into Russia, Czech trains were derailed. Petrol tanks were blown up. Machine parts disappeared. Factories were burnt. Arms were produced that did not fit into the German pattern.

It was Heydrich's job to take measures against the harmers of the Reich. He did. He brought with him 62 picked S.S. men, who went to work at once. In the night of St. Wenceslas loads of prisoners were brought to the Gestapo headquarters, in the Petschek house, in the suburb of Bubenic. September 28 a notice appeared in the papers announcing that General Alois Elias, the Czech Premier, had been arrested.

NEW COURTS SET UP

That same day new summary courts were set up in Prague and Brno in the Gestapo headquarters. The persons brought before these courts had no right of defence, but were just to listen to the verdict. The first night six men were shot in Prague, 22 were executed September 29. October 1 death by hanging was introduced. In the 20 days between October 11 and October 31, 1,396 people were judged by the special courts and 312 persons were executed by hanging or shooting.

Among the victims of the first days were six generals and 14 staff officers. Heydrich's terror struck at all classes, though. In the list of the people executed figure 10 journalists, 1 railroad employees, 18 business men, three engineers, seven teachers, three physicians, nine clerks, 31 butchers and two barbers....Forty per cent of the victims were farmers and factory workers, executed for slow work or food hoarding. Thirteen per cent Jews. The families were informed over the radio or in the press.

DRASTIC GERMANIZATION

Returning to the policy of Prince Bismarck, the Iron Chancellor, Heydrich proceeded to a drastic Germanization of the Czech people. The intransigent intelligentsia had been successfully eliminated. The rest of the population could be made into Germans with time. This would swell the volume of the Herenvolk. All the Czech universities had been closed in the autumn of 1939. The number of Czech secondary schools was now rapidly reduced. Many of them were turned into hospitals for the German wounded. Some of the workers and peasants had to enter German schools. The use of Czech language was discouraged; many Czech theatres were closed. The process of Germanization was to be helped by the transfer into Germany of some 300,000 Czech workers and the colonization of Bohemia and Moravia with settlers from the German west and from the Italian Tyrol.

This colonization was done in such a way as to break up the Czech population into islets surrounted by Teutons. A German Doktor, the leader of the cultoral policy in the protectorate, wrote: "The public use of the Czech language must disappear, and it will continue to be spoken only in the privacy of homes."

While Czechoslovakia lived without history, sabotage and slow-down work continued, it was learned from very reliable European sources. The Gestapo continued to work at Bubenec, and the Polish camp of Osviecim was reported filled with young men from Bohemia. Heydrich returned to Prague last Sunday from his tour through France, Belgium and Holland, and Monday noon he announced to the Prague press that compulsory service would be introduced for Czech youth.

It was not clear yet whether the Czechs would be incorporated into the German Army or sent with labor battalions into Russia. In any case, the measure was intended to prevent a "green army" of deserters from gathering in the Carpathian forests, as had happened in the first world war.

Heydrich's latest decree and the new wave of terrorism his Gestapo have unleashed on Prague must have brought the patience of the Czechs to the point of exhaustion. Whether the hangman lives or not, the punishment of the Czechs for the attempt is bound to be ruthless. So the vicious circle of reprisals and hatred will keep turning as it does in other Nazi-dominated countries.

• Lumping the Bad Eggs

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

FORTHCOMING American war declarations against a trio of Axis puppets, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary, take on more than a legalistic significance in the light of the timing of the President's request for Congressional action.

Those three States, dragooned into action by Hitler to aid his war plans, have been ignored in Washington for months. But now the White House deems it expedient to put them in the same basket with the Axis proper as declared enemies of the United States. Mr. Roosevelt explained that they are preparing to expand their activities against the United Nations.

Two of the three States, Rumania and Hungary, have sent token forces against Russia. However, if Hitler's summer campaign plan includes Turkey in his orbit, Bulgaria must be vitally involved. A Nazi march eastward against the Suez pivot of the United Nations' battle line must go through or around Turkey from a Bulgarian jump-off. Germany would need urgently the all-out help of the vassal States either to awe Turkey into submission or to beat down her resistance if she chose to fight.

And with the United States at war with those States, Turkey obviously would be as eligible for American lease-lend aid as Russia, Britain or China, provided she did resist. The Washington war declarations would clear the way in a legal sense for that, and might go far to determine Turkey's course if Hitler turned in that direction.

WILL AFFECT TURKEY

Many European observers predict Turkish involvement despite the untrustworthy non-aggression pact with Germany. The fact that the British forces appear to be frustrating the renewed Axis drive in Libya is calculated to stiffen Turkish resistance to Berlin intrigue in any case, and an American declaration against Turkey's Nazi-ruled neighbors is bound to help also.

There are many other possibilities latent in the timing of the President's move. Not least among them is its further American war support for Russia. Rumor has credited Hitler with strenuous winter efforts to obtain additional manpower from Rumania and Hungary for his Russian campaign, and to draw Bulgaria also into that campaign. The American declarations would place this country at war with all Russia's actual or potential foes while Russia is not at war with Japan.

The reasonable deduction from that curious situation is that an ultimate and perhaps not remote Russian quid--pro-quo war declaration against Japan could result, its timing dependent upon what happens within the next two or three months on the Russian west front.

The fact that the President's request for war declarations was made just after the British aerial attack on Essen is also probably significant. Both Bulgaria and Rumania are within long range Allied bombing attack from across the Mediterranean.

It is no more than 700 miles airline from Egypt to Rumanian oil fields from which comes the bulk of German war fuel. The Washington war declarations will make those oil fields a potential target for American bombers as well as British.

STORED INFORMATION

Two Canadian soldiers stopped a Civil Servant in London. They pointed to an impressive building and asked what it was. He told them it was the Ministry of Information.

"I thought the Ministry must be about that size," said one, "to store up all the information they never give away."

$3,300 FOR A TOMBSTONE

An Alberta woman had left instructions in her will that a tombstone costing $3,300 should be erected on her grave, but the Supreme Court decided that the instructions need not be carried out. It was contended that under present conditions so lavish an expenditure would be contrary to public policy and Mr. Justice Tweedie agreed.—Vancouver Province.

89-Year-Old Farmer Plows 40 Acres

DOWNEYVILLE June 3—(ENS).—The village blacksmith, Timothy Dorgan, has just built and completed a fine blacksmith shop and garage to replace the one recently destroyed by fire. It is a cement building, large and roomy. The neighbors all helped. They drew gravel, stone and lumber, dug out the cellar, and helped to shingle. The shop now is working again, and all are glad to have the shop open.

On Friday William O'Brien celebrated his 89th birthday and is hale and hearty. He lives at his farm just east of the village with his daughter, Mrs. Michael Garvey. He plowed, cultivated, and sowed about 40 acres of a crop and put it all in himself. As it was impossible to get help, Mr. O'Brien thought he would put it in himself rather than have the farm go idle. He has his own car and drives to town or wherever he wishes to go.

Personals.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanz Lucas of Detroit, Mich., are spending the week as guests of the former's mother, Mrs. John Lucas.

Ralph O'Neill of Hamilton spent the week-end the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William O'Neill.

Miss Ethel Gooselin, Reg. N. has returned home after spending a couple of weeks the guest of her sisters in Rochester, N.Y.

Neil Powers has returned to his home in Lindsay after spending a few days with his niece, Mrs. Thomas Morrissey.

Mrs. Albert Collins of Calgary, Alta., is at present visiting her brothers and sisters here after an absence of 25 years. She said a great many changes have taken place in the last quarter of a century. So many places around her old home and in all parts of the parish are idle with no one working the land or living on the places. She is visiting her brothers Thomas and Bill Murtha and sisters Mrs. P. J. Collins and Mrs. Timothy Dorgan, all of Emily.

Brothers Attend Investiture At Buckingham Palace

When Pilot Officer S. F. Beadman, CENTRE, was awarded the D.F.C. at the hands of His Majesty, his two brothers, Sergt. G. A. Beadman and Pilot Officer L. S. Beadman, were on hand. The three brothers are pictured leaving Buckingham Palace following the investiture.

East Durham WI Re-elects Mrs. Ira Lowe

MOUNT PLEASANT, June 3 — (ENS). — The 42nd district annual of East Durham Women's Institute was held in the United Church, Mount Pleasant, on Friday, with Mrs. Clarence Hayes, Mrs. F. E. Birdsall and Miss Jean M. Scott as guest speakers. All eight branches of the district were represented with a total delegation of 65 in attendance. The meeting opened with the district president, Mrs. Ira Lowe, presiding.

Mrs. W. H. Lowes offered the opening prayer in the absence of Rev. W. E. Honey, who had been called to Toronto. Mrs. N. Fee gave the address of welcome. Mrs. R. S. Staples of Cavan replied, thanking Mrs. Fee for her gracious welcome.

The president, Mrs. Lowe, in giving her report of the year's work, spoke briefly of the developments in district work from the beginning to this, the 42nd annual; of the faithful work that some of the members who are still living to-day had given. She extended a warm welcome to all present, and thanked the branches for the splendid co-operation she had received during the year, also the hospitality shown her during visits to the branches.

During the year Mrs. Lowe had visited all the branches attended the convention in Toronto in November and had attended meetings of the Durham County Federation of Agriculture, held at Orono, Port Hope, Blackstock and Newcastle as one of the county lady directors.

Mrs. H. J. Armstrong gave the financial report of the year, which showed receipts of $134.67, expenditures $109.67, with a balance of $25.00. The combined report of the branches given for the year ending May 31, 1942: Receipts $1,426.99, expenditures $1,139.26, with a balance of $287.73.

The president stated that three members were removed by death during the year, and asked the members to stand for two minutes of silent prayer in reverence and honor to the memory of Mrs. William Langdon, Miss Edith Haskill, both of the Morrish branch, and Mrs. J. W. Dawson of the Bailieboro branch, and H. J. Armstrong, husband of the secretary. Miss June Shield played softly "Blest be the tie that binds" at the conclusion.

War Activities.

The reports of the activities of the different branches all included war activities, some specialized in quilts, some Red Cross work, all included knitting, donations to the various war funds, salvage collections etc. These reports were given by the secretaries:

Cavan—Receipts $96.92, balance $14.45; Mrs. M. Byers.

Morrish—Receipts $327.03, balance $31.13; Mrs. L. Knapp.

Bethany— Receipts $100.06, balance $34.98; Mrs. A. H. Monk.

Mount Pleasant—Receipts $176.33, balance $98.23; Mrs. J. Lawson.

Elizabethville — Receipts $39.10, balance $9.48; Mrs. T. G. Sowden.

Millbrook—Receipts $149.21, balance $10.12; Mrs. W. Hilton.

Garden Hill — Receipts $143.04, balance $35.00; Mrs. R. W. Gardiner. (No report sent of activities.)

Bailieboro—Receipts $395.30, balance $54.25; Mrs. O. Williamson.

Women As A Citizen

Mrs. Clarence Hayes, of the W.I. branch of Department of Agriculture, Toronto, was the guest speaker, using as her topic "Women As A Citizen." She spoke of woman's responsibility to herself. Some women try to do too much and by so doing straining their mental fitness as well as their physical fitness. She urged that women's first duty was to herself, take things in reason, and not breakdown the mental and physical fitness, becauce women who do this cannot be any help in winning the war from the cemetery, the hospital or from a mental institution.

Women should stimulate themselves with good reading, thinking women are needed. Read and study economical buying, legislation and problems of reconstruction.

Mrs. Hayes explained the co-operative program for 1942-3 and the meeting decided on holding a one-day conference on "Nutrition" with three conferences in the district held at Cavan, Millbrook and Morrish.

A district rally was also decided on to be held in late summer or early fall in Millbrook with an invitation to Miss Clarke, superintendent to attend.

A motion was carried to ask each branch to contribute 5 cents a member to the district funds. This concluded the morning session and the meeting adjourned for luncheon which was served in the W.I. hall by the local branch.

Mrs. T. G. Sowden, Federation representative, reported at the opening of the afternoon session.

Mrs. C. Deyell of Janetville, district president, was present and brought greetings from her district. Mrs. Johnston, past president of Janetville branch also spoke to the delegates and brought greetings from her branch.

Miss Jean Scott, home economics coach for Durham county, outlined the work of the junior girls for the current year. She announced the date of achievement day as July 24 and invited as many as possible to attend when all garments made will be on display.

Wilma Armstrong and Ruby Fallis, two Millbrook girls, have received their scholarship of six years' training under the leadership of Mrs. W. H. Armstrong. Martha Belch and Wilma Armstrong attended the girls' experience held in Kemptville Agricultural College this year.

Conveners of standing committees gave a summarized report of the reports received from the branches.

Mrs. Hayes presided for the election, which resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Ira Lowe, Ida; 1st vice-president, Mrs. William Armstrong, Millbrook; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Nickle, Port Hope; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. T. G. Sowden, Port Hope; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. William Hilton, Millbrook; Federated representative, Miss H. Staples, Bethany; alternative, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Millbrook; district delegate, Mrs. C. Quantrill, Port Hope; alternate, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Millbrook; auditors, Mrs. W. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Byam, Millbrook; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. C. Beighton, Port Hope; citizenship, Mrs. N. Fee, Omemee; historical research, Mrs. W. E. Lewis, Port Hope; home economics, Mrs. W. Price, Bethany; social welfare, Mrs. W. A. Caldwell, Campbellcroft; publicity, Mrs. Charles Smith, Cavan; war work, Mrs. H. Keegan, Millbrook.

Mrs. W. E. Lewis, Port Hope, district delegate, gave a full report of the convention held in Toronto. She said that "the Women's Institute is like a golden thread going through our homes and communities, women are sincere in their purpose, and are doing much in their homes. We should hold our heads high, buy wisely, make good homes, make friends; we cannot live alone. We must work for peace, think peace, and pray for peace. We must be good citizens before we can make good citizens of others. We are proud of our laws, our beauty spots. We must be ready to meet peace when it comes, with healthy bodies, clear minds."

Each Institute was asked to prepare a scrap book with pictures of the boys who have gone overseas, the churches, homes and historic buildings.

Miss June Shields favored the meeting with a solo, "Blessed Jesus" in a very pleasing voice.

The meeting voted to have printed programs for the coming year, the executive will be in charge of drafting same, also appointing a nominating committee.

Cavan branch extended an invitation to the district to hold their next annual there.

Delegates in attendance included: Mrs. W. E. Lewis, Mrs. C. Beighton, Miss L. Knapp, Mrs. W. E. Nichols of Morrish; Mrs. T. G. Sowden, Mrs. C. A. Quantirl, Miss Vivian Mercer, Mrs. V. Peacock, of Elizabethville; Mrs. O. Williamson, Mrs. C. F. Fletcher, Mrs. W. W. Alldred, Mrs. H. Gaynor, of Bailieboro; Mrs. W. A. Cardwell of Garden Hill; Mrs. Chas. Deyell, Mrs. S. E. Bradburn, Mrs. W. J. Hanna, Mrs. Hilton Johnston of Janetville; Mrs. F. E. Birdsall, of Birdsall; Mrs. M. E. Byam, Mrs. W. A. Richards, Mrs. M. Richards, Mrs. Geo. Freelove, Mrs. M. W. Ball, Mrs. G. O. Fallis, Mrs. D. Olan, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, Mrs. Thos. Harkness, Mrs. J. W. Hilton, Mrs. R. H. Blakely, Mrs. Maud Armstrong, of Millbrook Miss Jean Scott, Mrs. C. Hayes, of Toronto; Miss L. Thompson, Miss A. Sisson, Mrs. R. Palmer, Mrs. R. W. Price, Mrs. O. Thorndyke, Miss H. Staples, Mrs. A. H. Monk, Mrs. C Armstrong, Bethany; Mrs. Wm. Howden, Mrs. A. Byers, Mrs. R. S. Staples, Mrs. H. Keegan, Mrs. Chas. Smith, Mrs. M. Byers, Mrs. M. Smith of Cavan; Miss M. Jones, Mrs. N. Fee, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. A. Elliott, Mrs. V. Jones, Mrs. A. Rutherford, Mrs. J. Eggleston, Mrs. E. Paragreen, Miss A. Graham, Mrs. A. Gardiner, Mrs. J. Lawson, Mrs. G. Shield, Mrs. H. Tully, Mrs. I. Lowe, Mrs. C. Best, Mrs. J. Windrem, Miss June Shields, Mrs. T. C. Morden and Mrs. W. H. Lowes, of Mount Pleasant.

ROCK THAT BENDS

Rock so soft that it bends like wood is found not far from Brazil's deposits of diamonds, valued for their hardness.

With Artillery

Scion of one of the district's old and highly respected families, Gunner Jack Bertram is now serving with the Royal Canadian Artillery. His family formerly lived in Smith township near Jackson Park, but Mrs. Bertram now lives on Monaghan Road.

School Trustees Raise 8 Salaries Hear Plea For Set Pay Schedule

LAKEFIELD, June 3 (ENS) — Trustees of both the High and Public Schools were handing out raises Monday night—the High School board hedged a bit but after an hour's discussion agreed on a single $100 boost—the Public School fathers were more generous, in fact they gave everybody raises except themselves and the board secretary.

Trustee B. Q. Dench of the High School section threw the delaying factor into the debate on raising D. L. Minshall, science and agriculture teacher, by a declaration he was against it—"if the teachers hadn't had a raise the first of the year, I'd say yes," said Mr. Dench, "but under the circumstances—No."

Principal J. F. Harvey in a defence of Mr. Minshall and his teaching qualities asked what the board would do in the present scarcity of teachers, if Mr. Minshall should leave and no one with experience be obtainable.

"Get along like the rest of the country has to do under war circumstances—just do the best we could," replied Mr. Dench.

Rather taken aback by this stand Mr. Harvey deplored the effect of such a policy on the standing of the school. He admitted a woman teacher might be obtained for as low as $1200 but in the past women science teachers had not proven satisfactory—it was a subject requiring much skill and one that there was a great call for in the army just now—the result being that teachers in that subject were exceedingly hard to find.

"Agriculture is now well established in the school," said the principal "and showing good results and with the other teachers of the staff not asking raises the matter of $100 should not be allowed to cost the village a good teacher to the detriment of the school and pupils."

A Set Salary Schedule

It was at this point Mr. Harvey suggested the board establish a system of minimum and maximum salaries with a set yearly increase for the staff. By such a system he claimed the board would escape all trouble of debate over salaries and attempting to keep teachers—permanency on a staff being a great asset to progress in any school.

On the Peterborough Public school staff teachers start at $900 with an annual increase of $100 toll $1800 is reached, vice principals going to $2100, principals starting at $2700 going to $3000. On the High School teachers begin at $1800, advancing by $100 to $2700, specialists starting at $2100 going to $3000.

ST. PETER'S BOYS PLAY EXTRA INNINGS TO DEFEAT THE KNIGHTS

Scottish Paste O'Keefe's 4 to 0

TORONTO, June 3—The acquisition of Scottish and Ulster to public park soccer is beginning to tell. Close to 2,500 crowded the touchlines at Greenwood Park last night to see Scottish display superb form in defeating O'Keefe's, 4-0, in a Section "A" game. Tom Holland's luckless O'Keefe team was never in the picture and trotted off a well-beaten outfit.

The Scots led 2-0 at the half on goals by Paterson on a pass from Henson at the thirty-minute mark, and Henson from Paterson close to the "breather."

Scottish started the second half still on the offensive and it wasn't long before they were three up when Paterson, on a solo effort, netted easily. Shortly afterward State, on a brilliant move from the left, fired another past Miller, to give the Scots a fairly easy victory.

Scottish—Seymour, Spicer, Pope. Dandie, Wadlow, E. Donald, Bowles, Johnston, Paterson, N. Donald, State; sub., Henson.

O'Keefe's—Miller, Quinn, Hughes, Bell, Henshaw, Nicholson, Peden, Mueller, Noble, Lonegan Didsbury.

East End displayed some of the might that has made them famous in years gone by when they trounced the game No. 1 I.T.S. eleven by a 9-0 score at Pears Park in a Section "B" game.

The Airmen, who continue to display fine sportsmanship in spite of numerous reverses, were no match for the more talented East Enders and were never in the picture. East End scored four in the first half by Stephenson and Stephens, who got two apiece. The second half was much a repetition, with Carl Hart's boys scoring almost at will.

Stephens and Stephenson notched another two each and Booth scored one. The R.C.A.F. boys had few scoring chances, but those they had failed, due to overanxiousness around the net.

East End — Robinson, Rowarth, Bennett, Joynes, Segriff, Goldie, Fisher, Stephens, Graydon, Booth, Brickstock, Moloneaux.

No. 1 I.T.S.—Fonesca Seldman, Sigardson, Whitney, Laing, Woodrow, Barclay, Laughlin, McKillop, Stephenson; sub, McLeod.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 3 — (CP). — Life's most embarrassing moment: The hustling young catcher had made quite an impression with the crowd. He was peppery, fast around the plate, had a good throw to second. At a crucial point in the game a batter popped a high foul back of the plate. Our hero sprang into action, whipped off his mask ...but horror of horrors, threw away his mitt, too!

P.S.—The batter got another chance. It happened in the Stratford, Ont., Junior baseball league's opening game.

Alex McTavish of Calgary pens an interesting variation of one of the best "Ain't Nature [illegible] and?" stories in correspondence [illegible]h Hal (Vancouver Sun) Strai[illegible] He tells of taking a frog awa[illegible]om a water snake to use as bai[illegible] giving the snake a shot of rye in exchange. Last stanza:

About an hour later
A splash beside the log,
There was my friend the water snake
Bringing another frog.

Quite a Coincidence Dept.:

Recent enlistment in the Ordnance Corps Ottawa: Vince German, Regina Rangers' star centre. You may recall that Ken (Montreal Canadiens) Reardon and Jack (Boston Bruins) McGill recently enlisted in the Ordnance Corps, also at Ottawa.

Pitcher's Problem

A letter to sports editor J. P. (Toronto Telegram) Fitzgerald tells a story on Lefty Judd, the Ingersoll, Ont., pitcher now with Boston Red Sox: One day while still an amateur Lefty walked into the plate and stood beside the team manager. He was puzzled, wanted definite identification of right field. "When I am in here it is out there," he said, gesturing toward right field. "But when I am out there"...pointing to the mound.."It is over there," waving at left field. The manager's reply was not recorded.

Bruce (North Bay Nugget) McLeod: "Night baseball has been placed under a ban in New York. Lights at the Stadium show out to sea and could be sighted by an enemy U-boat, officials say. Worse than that, the sub could probably get the range by listening to Manager (Leo the Lip) Durocher."

Incidentally:

Bob (Calgary Herald) Mamimi writes that 36 members of Calgary Bronks teams of 1935-40 have enlisted in Canadian or United States armed services...Two, Don MacQueen and Bud Weaver, have been killed in action with the R.C.A.F. ....Baz (Montreal) OMeara pooh-poohs popular belief that Olympic Games promoted sweetness and light....He suggests international athletic competitions between the United Nations, Axis athletes to be banned for 25 years....Frankie Eddolls, Toronto Maple Leaf hockey ivory, is with Montreal Shamrocks in the Quebec Senior Lacrosse League....George (Knotty) Lee, baseball player, scout and manager with Toronto and Baltimore in the International, and Ogdensbury,N.Y., in the Canadian-American League, is back in flannels again...He's managing a Junior team at Smith's Falls, Ont.

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara reports a conversation with Tommy Gorman which had an interesting professional hockey angle: Nebulous possibility that the American and National Hockey Leagues will become allied temporarily as a wartime measure to eliminate passport difficulties....It probably would be something like a throwback to the days when the N.H.L. was in two intersectional games, presumably, until a post-season playoff.

Indications are that duck-hunting will be good this season....Freddy Wood, top-notch Vancouver golf professional, has helped his game by modifying his old style of trying to drive every green....He's using more irons and bearing down on his short game....Bill (Winnipeg Tribune) Frayne tells this one: In a Northern League baseball game at Winnipeg the first base umpire called a runner out, then reversed his decision when the first baseman dropped the ball....A voice growled from the stands: "Make up your mind, Maguire." Maguire, an umpire who wasn't working but was sitting in the stands near the growler, slumped deeper in his seat and muttered: "How can a guy win?"

Dopey Tries Freedom

ATLANTA, June 3 (AP).—Thirsty (for a drink of whisky) and hungry (for a cigaret), dopey was back in his own cage today. Dopey is the pet canary of Mrs. Clint W. Hager. Dopey's penchant for drinking whisky from cocktail glass and chewing crumbs of cigaret tobacco have made him famous. Tuesday Dopey refused to return from his customary constitutional in the Hager backyard, later frew away. But yesterday he was found, perched on the back seat of a neighbour's automobile.

Muzzle Loaders To Go

VICTORIA, June 3 — (CP). — Two of the original four muzzle-loading round-shot guns placed on Vancouver Island facing the Strait of Juan de Fuca when the British were fighting the Russians in the Crimea, eventually may be melted down and in the form of new armaments find their way to Russia, now an ally of Britain.

One Big Inning Beats St. John's

All Saints came from behind to hand St. John's a 14 to 12 defeat in a Church League Juvenile game Tuesday night.

St. John's set up what looked like a commanding lead and at the end of the fifth they were in front by 12 to 4. Hinton had been pitching effective ball for the St. John's team and the game looked to be over. However, he weakened in the sixth and the All Saints' team scored ten runs to win the argument.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN.

Playing on greens that were damp and heavy, and really unfit for play, all of Tuesday night's games were played according to schedule.

Maybe it is because we have had 'hit and run' bowling that few substitutes were needed. The boys want to come out and get in the game and play on their own rinks. Anyway the man in charge of the blackboard had an easy time of it.

There were a few highlights during the night's play, including a seven end by W. Jeffries over Dr. Long's rink, and another seven end by B. Chesler over R. Downey's rink, an extra end game, the first of the season, between R. Payne's rink and T. McMillan's rink; a close finish between G. Gimblett and H. Freeman, and another close finish between Nels. Routley and C. Renaud The other games were a little one-sided, but it all helped to make up an interesting evening for both the bowlers and the spectators.

To-night, weather permitting, No. 2 group play their schedule games.

In the ladies' section the games played were all close and anything could happen right up until the last end.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The City Softball loop hopes to resume operations this evening at the Ashburnham Bowl when the Military Training Centre team and the Adam Hat Royals are billed for an important battle that will have a lot to say about the league leadership. At present the Royals with a win, a tie and no defeats are at the top of the heap while the Soldiers and the Plazas are tied for second place with a win and a loss. If the Royals come through with a victory tonight thy would be in front with two wins and no losses and the Soldiers would drop to third place with a win and two losses. On the other hand a win for the boys from the camp would leave things nicely knotted up. The Soldiers with Southpaw Ken Fleming on the mound are likely to give the Royals plenty of opposition and fireballer Bill Fraser who has gone nicely in both his previous appearances on the hill top for the Hatters in a relief capacity will get a real test. It looms up like a keen tussle and with any kind of weather should draw the biggest crowd of the season.

* * * * * *

Tomorrow night there will be another battle along the City League front. De Laval, the latest addition to the loop, will make another attempt to get into a game. They are billed to meet Plaza Billiards at the Bowl at 7 o'clock Thursday night and this time they are hopeful they will really get going. The De Laval team has been getting considerable practice but they haven't had the slightest luck in staging their scheduled fixtures, rain interfering twice. The new club has succeeded in lining up a good team and Manager Griffin and his players are confident that they will be able to dish out plenty of opposition. The Plaza team, the hockey gang, will be out gunning for their second win and promise to be at full strength for this important fixture with De Laval. Manager Jim Ellis has not announced his pitching selection but it will be either Bob Crowe, Juvenile star of last year or Dave Wilson who shot down the Soldiers last week.

* * * * * *

Friday night still another big game looms up and this time it will be the girls who will take the centre of the stage. The Ladies' Softball League will open its schedule that night with a battle at the Bowl between Westclox and C.G.E., perpetual rivals who usually stage a peppery contest every time they battle each other. While there will be new faces on both line-ups a lot of the former favorites will be back and Friday night's game promises to be a fitting start to what is confidently expected will be the best season for the girls' loop in several years. Arrangements are being made for suitable opening ceremonies and the new campaign will be fittingly ushered in. The brand of ball played by the girls has always been popular and there will undoubtedly be a big crowd on hand Friday to see the old rivals tangle in the starting game of another season.

Bums Massacre Pirates

Brooklyn Dodgers show no signs of slowing up in the National League race and yesterday afternoon they came up with one of their biggest scores of the season to massacre the Pittsburg Pirates. The Bums scored in all but two innings and when the last polling subdivision had been heard from they had won by a score of 17 to 2 over the luckless Corsairs, fattening their batting averages to the tune of 20 safe hits. Rookie Lester Webber, last year with Seattle, did the firing for the winners, holding the Pirates to five hits. Pete Reiser who evidently has his eyes on the National League batting championship again this season had a field day. He not only cuffed a homer but came through with three doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, a performance that would be a week's job for Joe DiMaggio, the way the Yankee Clipper is going these days. New York Giants with Hal Schumacher pitching steady ball handed Big Bill Lee of the Cubs his third defeat of the season as against seven wins, the Giants winning 5 to 1.

But the best played game yesterday was the battle between the Philadelphia Phils and Cincinnati Reds which the Phils finally won by 1 to 0 after ten innings. It was a real pitcher's battle between the veteran Cy Johnston and Elmer Riddle, last year's sensation and this year's bust. Each of them allowed but five hits but the Phillies finally pushed over a run in the tenth and that was enough to take the pastime. Meanwhile in the only American League game of the afternoon the Cleveland Indians picked up a bit of their slipping power to hand the Boston Red Sox a 7 to 2 trimming. Charlie Wagner was the losing Boston pitcher and the veteran curve-baller Mel Harder went the route for the winners, holding the Red Sox to six hits. They were shut out with only three blows until the ninth when hits by Campbell, Pesky and Pete Fox and a long fly by Ted Williams drove in two runs. Jeff Heath and Les Fleming hit homers for the Indians.

Ten years ago today Jimmy Foxx, then starring with the Philadelphia Athletics and now the property of the Chicago Cubs was leading the American League in about every important batting department. The figures show that Double X was tops in runs scored with 47, led the league in batting with a .410 mark, was high man in runs battle in with 55, had made more hits than anybody else in the league and was out in front with home runs with 18 while Babe Ruth was second with 14. Incidentally Ted Williams who leads both loops at the present time in homers has poled out 15, three behind the Foxx mark on the same date ten years ago.

Tigers Are Second

By defeating the Philadelphia Athletics 3 to 0 last night the Detroit Tigers climbed into second place in the American League race with the Cleveland Indians third and Boston Red Sox fourth. Virgil Trucks, former Buffalo Bison, kept six A hits well scattered in earning his shutout while the Tigers did some timely hitting off the delivery of Bob Harris to score single runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth inning. One would have been enough. At Washington young Early Wynn continued his good pitching by holding the St. Louis Browns to four hits and the Senators won 4 to 1. Wynn would have had a shutout if George McQuinn had not busted a homer out of the park with none on the bases. In the only night game in the National League St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Boston Braves 4 to 3. The Braves made a last-inning rally scoring two in the ninth but the Cards managed to shoot them down before the score was tied.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 3 (AP) —Mrs. M. J. Knowles was carried by firemen down a ladder from her third-floor bedroom during a fire in her home. She went back to bed when they said the blaze was out. A few hours later, the fire rekindled, the firemen came back—and carried her down the ladder again.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP)—The United States Golf Association, which drew a lot of criticism for its hasty cancellation of the open and amateur championships, seems to be making a great comeback with the hale America open tournament..The sectional qualifying rounds this week-end will take in virtually all the top-ranking pros and amateur available and the ones who don't have to qualify will play exhibitions anyway...About the only important names we can think of that will be missing are Sam Snead, Pork Oliver, Bud Ward, Willie Turnesa, Charlie Yates and Johnny Fisher, who will be too busy with their army and navy duties...

Last Straw

When Jack Dunn, who is a pretty good college ball player besides being travelling secretary of the Baltimore Orioles, was playing for Princeton against the soldier team at Fort Monmouth, N.J., the other day, he fouled one into the stands...The spectator who got the ball hesitated about throwing it back, and a soldier shouted from the field: "Please return all balls, and we will give them to the Phillies."...The fan tossed it back.

Denny Galehouse, the Browns' pitcher, is taking a mail order law course...Leland (Bunky) Morris of Syracuse U., pitched three ball games this spring without a victory or defeat on his record; one was a 15-ining tie, another was all square when he was taken out and the third was a relief job...

Some Phone, Eh?

Eddie Collins tells one about the time Tom Yawkey telephoned from Alaska to ask how the Red Sox were doing. They were a run behind in the ninth, and Yawkey listened to a ball-by-ball description until Jimmy Foxx fanned with a man on base. Then he hung up the phone in disgust, and it wasn't until two weeks later that he learned Joe Cronin had socked the next pitch for a game-winning homer.

Beavers Triumph Over Royal Grill

PORT HOPE, June 3.—In a five-innings Town League game Beavers handed the Royal Grill an 11 to 4 defeat. The Grillers took an early lead, but Beavers staged a five-run rally in the third and cinched the argument with another big inning in the fifth. The summary:

Royal Grill	201 01— 4	7	2

Batteries.—Beavers: Wood and Mann. Royal Grill: Rafter, F. Foote and Rowcliffe.

Home run: E. Hewson. 3-base hits: Edwardson, Macleod. 2-base hits: F. Foote, 2. Base on balls: Rafter 9, Foote 1, Woods, 1. Struck out: Rafter 4, Foote 0, Woods 4. Left on bases: Beavers 6, Grill 5. Hit by pitcher: Rafter. Winning pitcher: Woods.

Future game—Thursday: Rascals at Royal Grill.

The Cobourg Dyeing Company withdrew their entry and the league will continue with three teams.

under 18 to be enlisted as boys; men between the ages of 19 and 35 with medical category lower than "B"; men who have been granted or would be entitled to postponement of compulsory military training under the N.R.M. Act; men over 35 and up to 50 years of age; personnel of C.O.T.C.'s, all categories of military age, until their graduation, and married men between the ages of 30 and 35 with medical category higher than "C".

Upon enlisting with a Reserve Unit the recruit is expected to train to a total number of 40 days. The periods of training are spaced as follows: 15 days in camp; 10 days on outdoor training, including exercises of one or two days' duration and 45 evenings at local armouries.

Officers, N.C.O.'s and specialists will be authorized to train for an additional 45 evenings or a total of 55 days.

Experience has shown that the training of men depends largely upon the efficiency of officers and N.C.O.'s and for this reason all training staffs will be given refresher courses.

Opportunities in the Reserve Army for promotions are considered to be good but it all depends on the individuals own qualifications and initiative.

Other officers responsible for the administration of the 2nd Battalion Midland Regiment (R) besides Lieut.-Colonel Bounsall are: Major P. H. Jobb, V.D., 2nd in command; Captain F. G. Stinson, acting adjutant; Lieutenant J. J. L. Hay, quartermaster; Captain W. W. Wade, medical officer and Major C. R. Spencer, V.D., chaplain.

Saints Score Two In 9th To Take Game

St Peter's and Knights of Columbus had to play an extra innings last night in a Catholic League game before the Saints finally won 12 to 11 by scoring two runs in the ninth.

In spite of the soggy ground, the game was about the best so far this year in the Catholic League. The play was as close as the score indicates and the game see-sawed.

Baldwin, for the losers, pulled off the finest catch of the evening, Running from deep left central, he covered a lot of ground to nab off a long fly over his shoulder that was labelled for a homer. More interest was added by the fact that the batting team had three on bases and were one down in runs. A home run would have netted them the game in the seventh frame instead of having to struggle till the ninth. Rehill in left field for the losers also went a long way to make a shoe-string catch. A double play from Prete to Devine at second helped to retire the side.

Fr. Wolfe was a powerhouse at bat with two triples and a double. Reilly shone at bat for the vanquished with four in six trips, followed by E. Wolfe and Baldwin with three apiece in the same number. Cavanagh, having three in six and Condon with three in six attempts, were the other two ball slayers for the victorious St. Peters.

St. Peter's—Rev. Father Wolfe, 3b; Condon, 1b; Conroy, lf; Prete, ss; Perdue, c; Herr, cf; Cavanagh, p; Wade, rf; Devine, 2b.

PITTSBURG PIRATES FUMBLE 10th STRAIGHT, LOSING TO DODGERS

Brooks Smack 20 Hits For 17 to 2 Score

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer.

If there ever are times that Frank (Onkel Franz) Frisch yearns to return to radio announcing to-day must be one of them.

Pittsburg Pirates, who started the season in splendor, have become more futile and pathetic than even Philadelphia Phils, who haven't been out of the National League cellar since the first day of the campaign.

Pittsburg has lost 10 straight games and 16 of its last 18, and yesterday was humiliated by the worst thrashing of the season in the senior circuit — 17-2 by Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers yesterday made 20 hits—including five in succession by Pete Reiser—while Rookie Les Webber was checking Pittsburg on five.

There were two other five-hit pitching performances in the National League yesterday — thrown against each other by old Si Johnson and young Elmer Riddle in a 10-inning duel which the Phils took from Cincinnati Reds 1-0.

Over the regulation route Riddle, who has won only one game this season and been defeated six times, allowed three hits while Johnson was equally effective through giving five. Then in the 10th the Phils pushed across the lone run on two singles, an error and a long fly by Tommy Livingston.

Hal Schumacher, who hadn't won a game since April 23, kept nine hits scattered at Chicago and New York Giants nailed the Cubs 5-1 with a 13-hit attack in which Willard Marshall Mel Ott, and Johnny Mize each got three blows and Schumacher himself two.

Cards Take Braves.

John Beazley, young relief hurler for St. Louis Cardinals, did a spectacular job to save a 4-3 decision over Boston Braves for Morton Cooper. Cooper weakened in the ninth and permitted Sibby Sisti to triple a pair of runs home with only one out. Beazley trudged in from the bull pen to retire the side.

Mel Harder stepped into the breach for Cleveland Indians at Boston by holding the Red Sockers to six hits and winning 7-2. The Tribe had been in a sticky slump, losing three straight games and nine of their last 14 and it was Harder who accounted for one of Cleveland's two victories during this downspin. Yesterday he had the help of a 14-hit offensive by his teammates, including homers by Jeff Heath and Les Fleming. Harder held the Sox scoreless till the ninth.

Two great pitching performances were turned in under the lights with Earl Wynn, the Washington youngster, stopping St. Louis Browns 4-1, and Virgil (Fire) Trucks of the Tigers applying the first coat of whitewash to the Athletics this season, 3-0.

Wynn was touched for only five hits, one of which was George McQuinn's homer, and cracked out a double to aid his own cause. The payoff blow however, was Bobby Estalella's fifth-inning single with the bases loaded that drove in a pair of runs.

Trucks allowed the Athletics only one blow the first five innings and kept five others well enough scattered in the later innings to gain the shutout.

Fairaris Equals Track Record Taking Peter Pan

NEW YORK, June 3 — (CP). — R. S. McLaughlin's English-bred war baby Fairaris, a disappointing third to Alsab, the three-year-old champion, in the Withers Mile, bounced back into the spotlight yesterday by equalling Belmont Park's record of 1:48 2-5 for a mile and a furlong in winning the third running of the Peter Pan Handicap.

The speedy three-year-old son of Fair Trial out of the Friar Marcus mare Nunnery, in chalking up his third triumph in four starts at Belmont this season, galloped to a length and a half victory over Warren Wright's Col. Teddy. Another English-bred colt, Louis B. Mayer's King Abbey, took third, a half-length behind Col. Teddy.

He Ruled Choice.

Fairaris who as a two-year-old won $4,355 in five races, earned his biggest purse yet $7,795. The chestnut colt, a $4.50-for-$2 choice in the betting, carried 116 pounds and was well ridden by Jockey Beverly Thompson.

Fairaris went to the front soon after the start, opened up several lengths of daylight, but was under pressure to stave off the game Colonel Teddy in the stretch. The latter, fourth early in the race, gained slowly but steadily to beat out King's Abbey for place. The Mayer colt broke slowly reached contention after a half-mile and easily beat off the others.

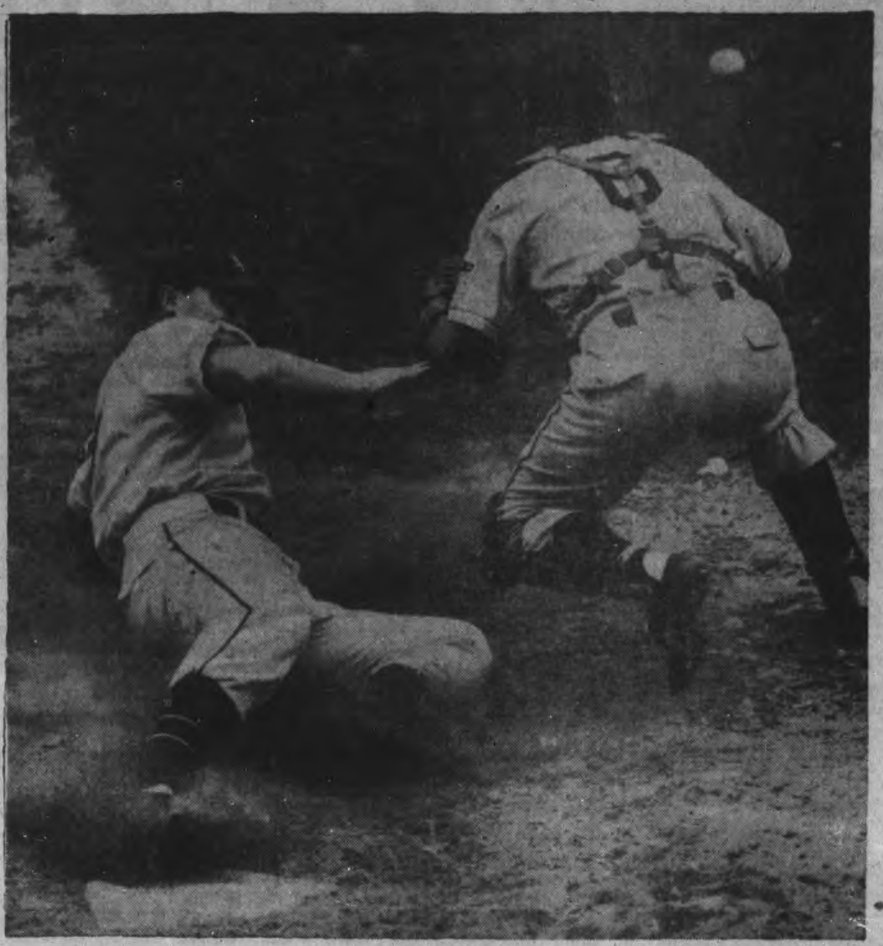
The McLaughlin-owned colt's previous victories at Belmont had been the six-furlong Voter Handicap, in which he beat such good sprinters as Dispose, Swing and Sway, and Birch Rod, and the Filigrane Purse for $2,500 last Wednesday. The Filigrane was a mile and a sixteenth affair for three-year-olds which Fairaris won by six lengths over Eternal Peace.

Sizzling Speed.

Fairaris, wearing the silks of the Parkwood Stable, Oshawa, Ontario, ran the first six furlongs of the Peter Pan in 1:09 3-5, which was two-fifths of a second faster than the track mark while his mile in 1:35 flat equalled Jack High's stanward, but these intermediate times do not go into the records.

The Ontario three-year-old has been nominated for two rich stake races at Aqueduct race track which opens next Monday. He's scheduled to run in the $5,000-added Shevlin Stakes for three-year-olds June 10 over a mile and a sixteenth distance. On June 20 he'll take a crack at the richest stake race of his career, the $25,000 Dwyer Stakes which closed with 69 nominations including Alsab, Devil Diver, Shut Out, Sun Again, and several other good colts.

"Big Jawn" Scores For The Giants



Johnny Mize of the New York Giants is shown sliding across home plate in a cloud of dust as Catcher Livingston waits for the throw from the Phils' left fielder, Dan Litwhiler. The ball went past Catcher Livingston and was fielded by Pitcher Hughes who backed up home on the throw-in. Big "Jawn" scored on a single by Giant Catcher Gus Mancuso. The Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phils by a score of 3-2 in the first game of a twin bill.

Medwick Slugs Way Back Dodgers' Grace

NEW YORK, June 3 — (AP). — Joe (Muscles) Medwick has won his way back into the good graces of Brooklyn Dodgers by that .322 batting average he was sporting up till yesterday.

The official family of the National League champions was decidedly cool toward the veteran slugger in the spring, and it was freely forecast that Medwick not only would not be a regular for Brooklyn this season, he probably would not even be with the club.

Leo Was Mad at Him.

The fellow who was a star outfielder for St. Louis Cardinals for eight years before being traded to the Dodgers in 1940 apparently had not recovered from his beaning by Bob Bowman soon after coming to Brooklyn.

The fact that he batted .318 last season was obscured in the South by his helplessness against right-handed pitchers generally and side-armers specifically. He was overweight, and there was a noticeable restraint in his relations with Manager Leo Durocher, who for many years had been his most intimate friend in or out of baseball, even when they were on different clubs.

They didn't pal together and when Medwick showed signs of his old form the manager said he should look better. Once Durocher made a not-too-vague declaration that "I have a good friend on this ball club who is not going to be in the line-up unless he starts showing something."

Medwick refused to be ruffled. "Leo is just doing his duty and acting for what he considers the best interests of the team," he said.

Helped His Average.

Medwick was in his familiar left-field position when the season opened, but for a few days he had to share the work with Augie Galan. Then Dolf Camilli got hurt and Galan had to fill in at first base, and before Camilli returned Galan became seriously ill with influenza.

Thus by force of circumstances, Medwick remained a regular and circumstances have helped swell his batting average, too.

Because most of the Dodgers' leading hitters are left-handed batters — Dolph Camilli, Pete Reiser, Arky Vaughan, and Dixie Walker—opponents have been using southpaws against them at every opportunity. This persistent policy has made the batting average of Camilli, last year's league leader in home runs and runs batted in, fade to almost .200.

But it has helped the right-handed Medwick attain an eleven-game batting streak and given him ne wconfidence at the plate. He has had to face few, if any, side-armers this season, but he no longer flinches at every head-high pitch by a right-hander and as long as the other National League clubs keep feeding the Dodgers on southpaws, he is sure to be a vital force at the plate. In addition he has slimmed down to playing weight, and made many spectacular fielding plays.

Montreal Royals Split Twin Bill With Syracuse In International

By The Associated Press

Bobby Adams, just another infielder when he reported to Syracuse Chiefs this Spring, has made his presence known by his brilliant fielding and timely hitting.

The International League recruit was with Columbia of the South Atlantic League, another Cincinnati Red Farm, in 1941, where he batted .348—second for players participating in 100 games or more. He led the league with 195 hits, good for 271 total bases, also tops for the league. Included among his blows were 46 doubles, nine triples and four home runs.

As Syracuse and Montreal split a doubleheader in the only games played yesterday, Adams walloped a homer in each game to bring his total in that classification to three for the season.

Each score was 4-2, with the Chiefs winning the first contest behind the five-hit hurling of Cuban Tom DeLacruz and the Royals taking the second with Chet Kehn also tossing a five-hitter.

Wildness on the part of the pitchers marked both games. In the first game Ed Albosta, who relieved Starter Max Macon for Montreal in the fifth with none out, issued two bases on balls which resulted in the Chief's margin of victory.

In the second, Nate Andrews of the Chiefs gave up four passes in the initial frame, with Royals scoring twice.

Oldest Paper Gone

LONDON, June 3—(CP). — The oldest surviving daily newspaper in the Western world, the 287-year-old Oprechte Haarlemsche Courant, has gone out of existence as a result of German measures for "co-operation" of the Netherlands Preus, it was learned today. The Courant, published in Haarlem, was merged on May 2 with the Haarlemsch Dagblad under the new name Haarlemsche Courant, which now is the only daily appearing in Haarlem.

Track Beats Ban Prayers In Vain

CAMDEN, N.J., June 3—(AP). — Promoters of the Garden State track say they're already under the wire in the Park's first race—one against the Government's Saturday deadline halting construction unessential to the war effort.

"We could hold a race meeting right now if we wanted to," said Publicity Director Jimmy Loftus. "You might say the numbers are up and we're waiting for the red light to make it official."

Backers of the $1,500,000 park were lucky. The weather has been perfect with hardly a heavy drew to slow up outdoor work, despite prayer for rain by a church group which hoped a cloudburst or something equally potent would stop the job.

Thus, apparently, all the management has to worry about now is getting horses—and customers—to the plant for the 49-day meeting opening July 18.

Negotiations are under way for special train and bus service. No schedules have been announced, however, and wartime demands on transportation may make that matter such a headache a cloudburst two weeks ago would have seemed trivial in comparison.

It is understood the churchmen who prayed for rain "or anything else" to prevent the track's opening would settle gladly for a transportation tie-up in lieu of the rain that didn't fall.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

SALVAGE COLLECION

The collection of salvage in the fourth district will be made tomorrow, Thursday. The district comprises both sides of Brock street and all streets running north and south and east and west down to the north side of Wolfe street with the exception of the business sections of Water and George streets and Hunter, Simcoe and Charlotte streets, for which there will be a special collection later. Men and women can help at the depot on Reid street. Give the committee another big salvage collection tomorrow.

RIBUTE IN FLOWERS

Mark Anthony in his speech to the mob, in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar said, "The evil that men do lives after them, the good is oft interred with their bones." One glance at the beautiful flower bed along the goose pond on Water street makes one remember the efforts at city beautification which dominated the life of the late Alderman Walter Stocker, and this serves to contradict the Shakespearean quotation, as the floral beauty lives on year after year, a picturesque though silent tribute to a man who loved beautiful things.

RIVER IS DROPPING

Fishermen will learn with delight that the level of the Otonabee River is dropping rapidly and if it goes down about two feet in the river bed south of the lower locks, the pickerel fishing should be good. Those who fish in the afternoon have had poor luck, as the pickerel are usually in the channel at this time, and move into the shore to feed in the evening.

HAIL THE PEONIES

Ashburnham residents who travel daily up and down Hunter street are eagerly awaiting the flush of bloom on a large bed of peonies, which were planted a few years ago in front of Dr. Baker's home. The flowers are on the curb section between the sidewalk and the roadbed, and make a striking picture when they burst into bloom.

JUNE BEAUTY

Spirea, commonly known as bridal wreath, is clothing the city in a blossom pattern of beauty that tells everyone the door of summer is opening. The heavy rains of the last few days have pushed down the bushes and crushed off much of the blossoms, but still there is sufficient bloom to make the general picture one to evoke favorable comment.

WATER LEVEL LOWER

In reference to a news brief in The Examiner's column "Days Gone By," Tuesday, regarding unduly high water flooding the docks of Stoney Lake thirty years ago, information from the lake district today afforded the fact of reassurance to owners of summer cottages that the water today is 3½ feet lower than in 1912. Improved conditions of water control account for the change. A. O. Phillips, weather recorder, reports rain in May, 1912, was 6.82 inches, while the volume from April 30 to May 31, 1942 the rainfall totalled 7.77 inches.

FACES TWO CHARGES.

Percy Little, arrested last night on a charge of assaulting a wo'an and oc'asioning actual bodily harm and also of consuming liquor while on the black list, appeared before Magistrate Langley in police court this morning, and at the request of the Crown was remanded until next week.

DEFENDANT ILL.

A charge under the War Time Regulations of driving an automobile faster than 40 miles an hour was to have been heard in police court this morning but the defendant, a Belleville man, wa reported as being ill and the case was adjourned f.. a week. The charge was laid by Provincial Constable Archie Grayling of Havelock.

Youth Charged With Robbery In County Court

Prior to taking off for an evening that was recalled this morning in the sessions of the county court, Harold Redmond, witness for the Crown, took a shot of gin and Jamaica rum, a sixteen year old boy's priming for whatever the night would bring into his way.

He was called in the action against another much older youth, Joseph Fontaine, indicted by the Grand Jury's true bill of breaking and entering Barricks store at Lock street and Braidwood avenue early Sunday, January 4, 1942.

Redman told Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry he lived at 704 Water street and had quit school two years ago. At the beginning of the year he was employed at the Louis Billiards shining shoes and racking balls.

After the rum-gin began taking effect, "and I was feeling prettv good," Redmond went down to Rye's pavilion He met Joe Fontaine several times there, and then much later some one suggested cracking a window at the store up the street to get cigarettes.

Redmond admitted that he had both money and cigarettes in his pockets.

"I don't know who brought up the subject of getting cigarettes. I know I didn't," witness said, and know I didn't," witness saiad, and the two boys did not mention it to any other person. "I can't swear who broke the store window I think we both rit it I got in and got a couple of cartons of cigarettes."

Then somebody was coming along the street so Redmond crawled back through the window, dropped the cigarettes in the rush and began picking up some of the packages out of the snow. Just then someone who knew him and his nickname, 'Buddy,' spoke to him. He stood up and statred away, running two miles.

At 2.12 a.m. Sunday Redmond was picked up by Police Constable A. Menzies, who had been notified of the 'break-in' by radio from the police station, as he cruised about on duty.

W. J. A. Fair, defense counsel, suggested to witness that he was intoxicated that night, 'pretty drunk.'

"I wont say how drunk I was," the youth answered

Mr. Fair pointed out that the youth had money and cigarettes in his possession and yet he set off with Fontaine to break into a store, as alleged, on a brightly lighted street in which traffic is rather heavy

"And I suppose you could hear the crash of splintering glass two or three blocks away, Mr. Fair suggested to the witness.

No evidence was offered for the defence, and Mr. McElderry began to address the jury at twelve o'clock. Judge D. B. Coleman, of Whitby, is presiding.

Rev. Dr. A.T. Barr Nominated For Moderator

MONTREAL, June 3 —(CP)—Two hundred and ten commisioners from the forty-six Presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church in Canada will open the sixty-eighth annual General Assembly of that body in Knox Crescent Church here at the opening session tonight.

Composed of an equal number of ministers and elders, and representing the Presbyterian Church throughout Canada and Newfoundland, the General Assembly will meet here for more than a week in deliberation upon the Church's business.

Right Rev. J. B. Skene of Central Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, Moderator for the past year, will constitute the highest Presbyterian court Wednesday evening, and after preaching the retiring sermon, call for the election of his successor.

Seven men have been nominated for the office of Moderator by the Presbyteries of the Church, but these nominations must be made on the floor of assembly to be valid.

Professor D. J. Fraser, former principal of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, is a nominee of a number of Presbyteries. Other nominations include: Rev. Dr. Norman A. MacLeod, Brockville, Ont.; Rev. W. M. MacKay, synodical missionary for Northern Ontario and Manitoba; Rev. Dr. J. B. MacLean, Huntingdon, Que.; Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, St. John's, Newfoundland; Rev. Dr. H. M. Paulin, Windsor, Ont.; Rev. Dr. Allan R. Reid, clerk of the Synod of Montreal and Ottawa. Dr. Reid has already signified his intention of declining the office, and it is probable that last-minute nominations will be confined to two or three names.

Reports of standing boards and committees will be given, and the Church's work for the future planned.

In connection with the General Assembly, graduates of the Presbyterian College from all parts of Canada are meeting here to celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary. Chief speaker at the alumni reunion is Rev. Dr. John A. MacKay, president of Princeton Theological Seminary.

Professor John Hughes, head of the department of education at McGill University, and a member of the Senate of Presbyterian College, addressed the graduates today. A reunion luncheon was held in the Faculty Club, with the Alumni Association president. Rev. John MacQueen of Lachine, in the chair.

Now Quartermaster

Lieut. Homer Borland has been named Quartermaster of the Prince of Wales Rangers, 1st Battalion, at Camp Niagara. He joined the unit more than two years ago, and came up through the ranks to a comm on rank, then carried on when the Rangers mobilized for active service last March. (The Roy Studio Photos.)

Business Men Help With Salvage

Peterborough and district are becoming much more salvage minded as shown by the efforts of A. V. Curtis and W. F. Challice of Millbrook and employees in their newly appointed salvage pick-ups. The country people phone or write when they have had a clean-out and when they are delivering machinery out that way they pick up the salvage on the return trip.

All this work is voluntary and it has been under way about a week. Some evenings they make a special effort and send out two trucks, manned by their own men, to do the job. To date the results have been gratifying and there have already been several tons of material collected and it is still going strong.

Lumber Yard Case Dismissed

Although the city clerk, the city assessor, the city engineer and the city solicitor were all lined up in behalf of the prosecution, a charge under the City Building By-law against Samuel Moldaver of the Peterborough Metal Company of establishing a lumber or wood yard at 256 Simcoe street, without a permit, was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

In a similar charge against Irwin Moldaver, City Solicitor Huckye offered no evidence and the case was dismissed.

Samuel Moldaver was charged with committing the offence on May 20, 1942, but in his judgment Magistrate Langley declared that the evidence showed that the lumber yard had been established years before that date and the charge should have been laid within six months of the time when it was first established.

City Assessor W. J. Henry testified that the property in question was assessed against the Peterborough Metal Company and Samuel and Irwin Moldaver

City Clerk E. A. Outram produced the original by-law and a certified copy which was put in as an exhibit. The witness said that the Peterborough Metal Company had applied for a permit in August, 1940 and had been refused by the council.

City Engineer R. H. Parsons told of inspecting the premises as building inspector on various occasions and said there was a large amount of lumber piled on the property. Thtre was considerable lumber there on the date on which the charge There was considerable lumber there had been laid, he said.

To T. J Carley, K.C., who appeared for the accused, the City Engineer salad that the property had been used as a lumber yard for a number of years, as far back as 1939

Mr. Carley did not call any defence evidence.

City Solicitor Huycke, who prosecuted, argued that it was a continuing offence, but Mr. Carley contended that the prosecution was too late under the Summary Convictions' Act which set a period of six months.

Magistrate Langley took the same view of the matter The offence had been committed when the lumber yard was first established, he said, and the charge should have been laid within six months of that time.

Growth Of Grass Forces Plowing Before Seeding

The drip of rain sounds again in the Ontario crop report for last week.

The ground is too wet for cultivation in Victoria and seeding is probably only 50 per cent. completed. Grass has now reached such growth that plowing will be necessary on many fields.

Crops are "looking very well" after the heavy rains in Prince Edward. Everyone is busy putting in tomatoes and corn. All crops in Northumberland are making wonderful growth; but in some places spring grain on low land is yellowing. There will be an increased acreage of buckwheat.

Many Hastings fields are too wet to work, especially to get corn sown. Fall wheat is good and rye headed out. Thursday saw 4,499 cheese marketed at Belleville, a record for one week in May. Demand for weaning pigs is good at $6 to $7 each.

Ontario County says work was held up again last week by wet weather. Spring grain on some low farms has not made good growth, and in some instances has killed out considerably.

Peterborough reports pigs selling at $14 and 15 a pair. In North York hundreds of acres of grain are turning yellow from too much moisture; even some of the hay fields are starting to go back. "The planting of corn, potatoes and mangels continues to be held up."

Throughout the Eastern counties a common note is sounded: delayed work and excessive rain.

Lennox-Addington reports spring crop "never looked better."

Frontenac says hay meadows are making rapid growth and a "very heavy yield is expected."

Grenville.—The past week has been very favorable for finishing up the seding operations. Probably they got a peek at the sun.

Lanark.—Very little seeding this week due to last weeks' rains.

Leeds.—Dairy cattle are in good demand. Grass and meadows show wonderful growth. Oats for green feed, buckwheat and millet will have to substitute for some acreage intended for spring grain.

Prescott-Russell.—"Many farmers are getting interested in Sudan grass. Alfalfa and soup pea growing areas are going to be much larger than usual.

Civic Donations Boost Fund Above $42,000

The Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund has passed the $42,000 mark, another milestone in the steady flow of help which has for almost eighteen months been going to Britain, to tell them how much the residents of this city and district appreciate the way they have stood up against a ruthless foe, and to give them help in their time of need.

Today's list of donations largely concern those who are in the civic service, and was touched off by a donation which came as a result of a box being made at the sub-station of the Utilities on Aylmer street, which would only admit of a dime at a time being placed in it.

This was passed around on paydays, although Ross Dobbin endeavoured with his usual geniality to tell the secretary of the fund that it was a swear box, but knowing him fairly well, that just didn't soak in. Then the box at the Utilities Office on Simcoe street, which has been a regular contribution to the fund since they were placed in circulation added another $3.10 when it was collected to take its part in the day's returns.

Miss Florence Johnston of the city clerk's office then came into the picture heading a movement among the city hall employees, including the police station, which materially boosted the fund to the extent of $21.75, and both Miss Johnston and the City Engineer made a personal donation in addition to the collective effort of the group.

Recently, a farewell dinner was given Roy E. Cutting by prominent citizens who had been associated with the former manager of the Quaker Oats plant in a business or social way, and from this City Clerk A. E. Outram forwarded the surplus of funds which amounted to $8.35, although there is a strong suspicion that the manager of one of the large retail stores on George street, who loves to boast of the big fish he catches, had quite something to do with his.

A short while ago, a penny box was asked for, to be placed in the sergeants' mess of the Prince of Wales Rangers, and these lads went to town with it, for in this short period there was $5.43 deposited when opened on Tuesday to allow the men in this branch of the King's service to participate in this day's good deeds.

Two more personal donations are listed, one of them from a donor whose name of "E. M. F." has many times appeared in the report for the fund.

Coincident with this civic day for the fund, comes a letter to His Worship, Mayor James Hamilton, from the Lord Mayor of London, enclosing receipt No. 87061 for the 17th donation of £500 cabled him on May 5, from which the following excerpts are quoted verbatim: "I should like to saw how grateful I am to you for this practical expression of sympathy for those who have recently been so badly blitzed in our provincial cities, and I shall be glad if my sincere thanks can be conveyed to all contributors. The constant support of Peterborough is very encouraging to me, and by reason of their gifts, I have been able to bring comfort and relief to many distressed people."

Youths Injured When Car Hits Hydro Pole

Three youths were injured, one seriously enough to require hospital treatment; a Hydro pole was shattered, and an automobile badly damaged in an accident on Water street, a short distance north of Dublin street at 4.45 o'clock this morning.

Jack Eano, 189 Brock street, was driving a car south on Water street with Royal Clark, 51 Maria street, and his brother Gunner Leslie Clark, C.F.A., Petawawa, as passengers. The boys were returning from a farewell party tendered to Gunner Clark.

Near the south end of the fence alohng the Goose Pond the car suddenly shot to the side of the road, struck and broke a Hydro pole, then crashed into a fence post and finally swung back on to the street again, where it came to rest facing in a northwesterly direction. The car was very badly damaged.

Eano, who sustained a bad cut on the head in the crash, was knocked unconscious. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in a police car by Constable John Stevenson.

Gunner Clark sustained bruises on his head, shoulder and knee and suffered shock, and his brother also sustained bruises and shock. They were taken to the home of their sister.

Sorters Needed To Aid In Salvage Drive

The meeting of the War Services Council, Monday evening, brought to a close a year of splendid work. Election of officers was postponed until June 15, and a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Alfred Armstrong, Miss Mabel Patterson and Mrs. Floyd Curtis, was appointed to handle the selection of new officers for nomination, as all present officers wished to be relieved of their positions "because of the heavy work involved."

A number of appeals were read from different organizations requesting financial assistance and it was felt that the treasury could not stand such a continued drain. It was decided that they were to cease making donations to other organizations, other than those dealing directly with the soldiers, or some neutral organization such as the Red Cross or the British War Victims, and that a certain sum of money to be used for war work be set aside monthly to be given to the organization sending in the largest average amount of daily help.

It was reported that the salvage collection of last Thursday was exceedingly heavy. There were 30 tons of paper and 11,500 bottles. It was emphasized that the need for sorters on Thursday is very great.

The monthly report for salvage collection was as follows: Rags 4,053 pounds, satinette 3,371 pounds, mattresses 317 pounds. The total number of cases containing bottles was 46. Mixed paper 1,805 pounds, odd rubber 220 pounds, stove plate 5,800 pounds, tin 1,100 pounds, tires 4,540 pounds, rubber tubes 582 pounds, rubber boots 560 pounds, rubbers 1,180 pounds, corregated paper 5,600 pounds, scrap paper 20,930 pounds, mixed rubber 4,155 pounds, steel 5,680 pounds, newspaper 50,510 pounds, and there is a bale waiting to be sent to England, but it will be held until after the new election of officers.

The total receipts to date are $1,844.56.

Dispersements for the month of May, $488.64.

Balance on hand, $1,355.92.

Military Training Is Good Way To Keep Men In Fit Condition

Physical fitness, the one thing that the married man over 35, hopes to have but rarely attains, can be reached by joining one of the reserve units, and training two nights a week. Most men reaching this age, discover that a few inches is being added to the waistline, and a bald spot appears on the head, and they find, too, that they hesitate to don a bathing suit and cavort on the beaches as they did a decade before.

The wise boys learned long ago, that a two-night weekly diet of drill with a rifle, route marching, and the other training received in the reserve army, is the answer to their prayers. Not only do they banish the superfluous fat, but their entire body and system gets a toning up, that makes life worth living. If a man is beginning to reach the stage of being unpleasingly plump he can supplement the military training with a few setting up exercises, night and morning on the days which he does not attend military drill, and thus hasten the day when he can look at his figure and call it boyish.

Altogether too many men have always looked on the military life as something foreign to them, something to be shunned, when actually military training particularly in times such as we are living in now, should be as much a part of one's program as meals and rest. Moreover the man who joins the reserve army, not only becomes physically fit, and trained to the point where he can be of value to his country in time of invasion, but he gets paid for the hours he puts in at the Armouries.

On Tuesday evening 260 all ranks marched down George street led by the Prince of Wales Rangers band, and they looked smart. A few of the raw recruits seemed to be having trouble getting their arms and feet to work in military rythm but on the whole the marching was good, and the men are making fine progress in their training.

The regrettable part of the whole picture is that with the time already taken on recruiting there should be twice 235 now signed with the Rangers, and the 4th Field Battery should be up to strength.

The battery parades for training this evening (Wednesday) and recruits will be made welcome. Training nights are Monday and Wednesday. The Rangers parade for training every Tuesday and Thursday, and if you haven't joined either of these units yet, just ask yourself the question "Why haven't I joined."

Rainfall Breaks Previous Record During May

GORE'S LANDING, June 3 — (ENS). — Another deluge of rain brought the total rainfall for the month of May to 7.21 inches, establishing a record. Over the week-end the water in Rice Lake was getting lower, much to the satisfaction of tourist campers around the lake, where high water had destroyed the piers and tilted boathouses.

Pickerel have started to bite. One fishing party brought in six fine ones and another boat had 11 pickerel on Sunday.

Miss Joan Harris obtained third place in the 12-years-and-under class in piano at the musical festival held at Colborne. Many people from this vicinity attended the festival and much interest has been shown in the work of the pupils throughout the township.

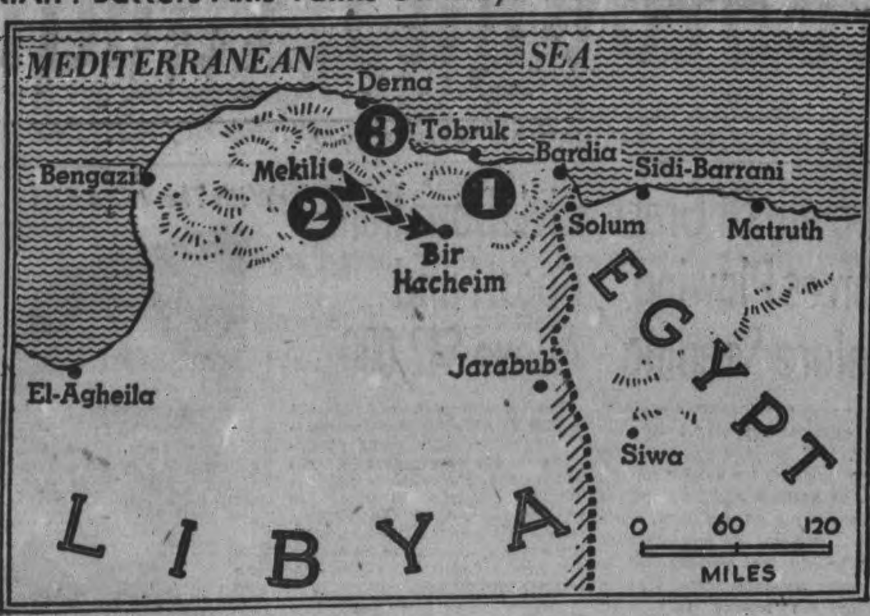
R.A.F. Batters Axis Tanks On Libya War Front



This map shows the latest developments in the Libyan theatre of war. R.A.F. planes are blasting Axis tank columns thrusting eastward through Libya. Objective of new Axis thrust is the southernmost British base at Bir Hacheim, 40 miles southwest of Tobruk (1).) Main Nazi tank forces are coming from the vicinity of Mekili (2). R.A.F. attacked Axis rear areas at Tmimi and Martuba (3).

Canterbury Pens Its Reply In Altar Dust

By VIRGIL M. PINKLEY

CANTERBURY, June 3—Charred timbers and shattered stained glass littered the entrance to the Kentish War Memorial today, and inside near the altar was a plaque bearing the legend:

"Remember those who died for freedom and honor, and see ye to it that they shall not have died in vain."

In the dust and rubble on the altar somebody had scrawled with his finger:

"We shall."

It was Canterbury's answer to a German "vengeance" bombing of this historic town of 25,000, seat of the Church of England and its "mother church,' 'the venerable Canterbury Cathedral, familiar to countless pilgrims from around the world.

Early Monday, while a pall of smoke still hung heavy over devastated Cologne, some twenty-five German planes jabbed three times, sharply but viciously, at Canterbury, rich in the treasures of the Church and of history but devoid of military objectives.

Buildings which had figured in centuries of British lore were wrecked by bombs or gutted by flames. Regarding the cathedral as the main target of the German bombers, Britons decided to refrain from giving them the satisfaction of knowing whether it was damaged.

Two Churches Destroyed

Two churches were bombed or blasted into gaunt skeletons. Two schools were hit. A newspaper office was wrecked. Many homes were blown down or burned out. For a time one section of Canterbury was a mass of flames visible for many miles. Here and there were gaping craters were explosives had hit.

The first wave of bombers showered the town with flares to set up their targets. Then subsequent flight proceeded to dive bomb the town, wiping out in addition to the historical shrines, several business premises and large stores.

The bombs had to hit homes, schools, churches, colleges, hotels, pubs, cafes, antique shops and business houses. There simply isn't anything else in Canterbury for them to hit.

There were relatively few casualties. The first flares gave the warning, and most of the people were able to reach shelter.

Dr. Temple Sees Ruins

The newly installed Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. William Temple, was unhurt, and Tuesday he tramped through the debris-laden streets on a tour of inspection.

I narrowly missed the casualty roll. As I walked amidst the rubble a delayed action bomb exploded. It sent debris flying like shrapnel over a wide area, and one piece gave me a nasty whack in the stomach and across the knees.

Air raid precautions crews were cleaning up, and hundreds of fire hoses twisted serpent-like along the streets and sidewalks. Women, children and elderly men, some wearing bandages, were helping. Groups of firefighters, ambulance workers and emergency kitchens from nearby towns functioned swiftly and efficiently.

Among the Queen's Messengers convoys furnishing emergency relief were six trucks parked in the old cattle markets which bore interlocked British and American flags and the signs, "To the people of Kent, England, from the people of Kent, Michigan."

Soon Controlled Fires

The firefighters from neighboring communities had sped in during the raid, and within half an hour had a flames under control, though it was hours before the last of them were put out.

The shopping district was hardest hit. One church burned to the ground. While the bombers were still overhead, the spire crashed with a roar. Not far away a school was left in a hollow shell. When the students arrived for classes they were sent home.

Though the beauty of Canterbury has been marred, perhaps irreparably, and many of the fine Georgian houses are in ruins, the people were carrying on. I heard no word of complaint. In fact, I encountered a vicar who observed:

"If this is the worst those rascals can do, then we haven't much to worry about. Now we know for ourselves the type of 'kultur' the Germans provided for Bath, York, Rotterdam, Belgrade, Warsaw and other cities."

Soviet Cavalry Play Vital Role In Advance

Written for The Canadian Press
By BRIG.-GEN. H. S. SEWELL

LONDON, June 3.—(CP)—Russian communiques of the last seven months have made frequent mention of the good work done by their cavalry. When the counter-offensive opened last October, it was the mounted arm which played such an important part in turning the Nazi position at Rostov, and later they earned distinction in the fighting of the Moscow front.

When winter closed down and the plains of Russia were covered with snow, the use of horsemen in co-operation with ski troops was mentioned in almost every advance made by the Red armies. With the coming of Spring, cavalry activity increased, and they now are leading the offensive which is being directed by Marshal Timoshenko, Russia's most distinguished cavalryman.

Russia is the only country which has a great force of cavalry. All the western European powers reduced the numbers of their mounted troops during and after the First Great War.

In 1939 the cavalry strength of Germany was 2½ divisions, of France and Italy three divisions each, and of Britain four regular regiments and one Yeomanry division. Russia at that time had 32 horse divisions and two independent brigades, and Poland had 15 brigades. The present strength of the Russian cavalry is said to be even greater. Germany also may have increased the numbers of her mounted men, but it is not possible for Germany even to approach the Red Army's strength in this arm, which by now may well be from 35 to 40 divisions.

Latest in Equipment

Cavalry is considered an important offensive weapon in the Red army and is well equipped to carry out that role. The retention of this arm of the Russian forces has not been for any reason of sentiment or tradition; the Russian staff are too realistic to be influenced by such reasons. They have modernized their mobile forces in the way best suited for fighting in the vast areas with poor communications in which they have to operate.

In Russia during the spring thaw, no force can move anywhere off the roads except the cavalry; raids are few, and in the snow they have shown how they can work with fast-moving ski troops. In summer, horses can, to a great extent, live off the land, and they are not dependent on supplies from the rear as is a tank, which cannot move without gasoline.

But we have no knowledge of the present organization of the Russian cavalry division. The Soviet cavalry training manual for 1933 laid down the strength of a division as 20 squadrons, 10 batteries of artillery, three strong tank units, armored cars, signals and engineers, a total of 3,701 men, 3,533 horses and 42 fighting machines.

Machine guns are carried on light carts drawn by four horses and every eight men in a squadron are equipped with a light machine gun or a grenade thrower. This was the organization of nine years ago and it will have been kept up to date in weapons and equipment, particularly in tank fighting equipment.

Cavalry on foot can carry out all the functions of infantry, and their mobility when mounted usually enables them to choose the direction from which to make their attack. They are able to cover great distances with a minimum of fatigue. The rider is at advantage in this respect compared with the foot soldier and he travels almost as fast, and much more comfortably, over broken ground, than the truck-borne infantryman.

The disadvantage of mounted men in the dismounted action is that one man in every four must normally stay with the horses, and the horses are a target for hostile aircraft. This handicap however will not be so great in the wooded parts of Russia, where cover from the air can be obtained.

Friends Honored Mullen Brothers

FAIRVIEW, June 3 —(ENS)—A most enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Mullen on Saturday when over seventy-five friends and neighbors gathered to honor three of their sons, Gordon, Roy and Lorne, who are all in the armed forces.

Roy and Gordon were present but Lorne who is stationed at Halifax was unable to be present.

Carman Bell expressed the sentiments of the gathering and Bert Nicholls and Mr. Godfrey presented Roy and Gordon with lovely gentlemen's companions in leather cases with zipper fasteners, and Mrs. Mullen received Lorne's gift a lovely wrist watch.

The young men expressed their sincere appreciation for the lovely gifts.

Lorne is stationed with the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax. Gordon is with the Ordnance Corps at Ottawa and Roy with the Royal Artillery at Petawawa.

The evening was spent in playing cards and lunch was served bringing a very pleasant evening to a close.

HEADACHE AFTER HEADACHE

Now She's Free From Them

A woman writes:—"I would like everyone who suffers from headaches to try Kruschen Salts. Before taking Kruschen I was hardly ever free from a headache. But since I have been taking it regularly I have hardly had a headache, for which I am very thankful, for headaches can make one feel quite ill. I have been taking that small dose of Kruschen every morning in a glass of warm water, before my breakfast, and I feel so well."—(Mrs.) A. E. D.

Headaches can often be traced to a disordered stomach and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons — prevent them forming again—and you're not likely to have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen brings lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter. Start on "the little daily dose" of Kruschen tomorrow.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c. and 75c.

Hitler To Toss All On Coup In Russia But Caucasus By Turko-Iran Pincer

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 3.—(AP).—Some time in June—possibly even as late as July—Hitler plans to give the command for a general offensive on the entire Russian front. More than that, he hopes to march through Turkey and Iran in order to execute one of his famous pincer movements.

This information came to me on the last day of my stay in Lisbon from a German source so well in the know of things that I cannot doubt its veracity.

The recent see-saw struggle on the southern Russian front, my informant pointed out, is merely a preparatory action, a cleaning of the boards for the major action that is impending.

Unless the United Nations spoil Hitler's game by really erecting a second front in the west quickly and efficiently, thereby compelling Hitler to take large contingents of his troops and air force away from Russia, that is what is scheduled to happen.

The German dictator intends to 'finish' Russia by a dramatic general assault along the whole line from every possible angle. He is willing to put all his eggs in one basket and concentrate on this one military problem.

New Bag Of Tricks.

Hitler will, as usual, attempt to confound his enemies by surprise—surprise both as to the time of striking and as to new weapons designed during the long winter of comparative inactivity at the front.

"We have a whole new bag of tricks," my informant boasted.

Once Russia is smashed and prostrate—so Hitler still seems to think—the Western world will be grateful to him for having removed the "curse of communism from the earth" and will come to terms with him.

But to defeat Russia, he must have the oil of the Caucasus. And he can best take the caucasus by a pincer movement. In other words one section of his gigantic army must approach the Caucasus by way of Turkey and Iran.

"Iran is practically ours already," my informant asserted. "England has had to take most of her troops out of there and hurry them down to India. There isn't any love for the Russian troops stationed there."

Fearing that he had probably already gone too far, he would not comment on Turkey. The name of one German person slipped out, however, as booked to leave for Turkey shortly. This man often precedes the troops.

Turkey's position has long been a matter of doubt. One must not forget that the German representative in Turkey is wily Ambassador Franz von Papen, for whom diplomatic intrigue is duck soup. Despite innumerable rumors of his early retirement—probably usually started by the Nazis themselves to confound the enemy—Papen has been quietly at work softening up the Turks.

The Old Red Boogey

It was interesting for us during the internment at Bad Nauheim to follow the accounts in the daily German press of the trial in Turkey of Von Papen's would-be assassins. It was obvious that the German public was being prepared for a government assertion that Russian agents were trying to undermine the Turkish state and endanger her neutrality.

From this, one may deduce that if Turkey decides to cast her lot with the Axis, the day may come when Turkey will invoke German assistance to "protect" her from Bolshevism; if she decided to oppose a German march-through, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop may some Sunday morning at daybreak in June or July summon the few remaining foreign correspondents in Berlin to the Wilhelmstrasse to inform them that the German army now was on its way through Turkey to save the Ottoman state from Russian Communism, the British Secret Service and "American Jewish Intrigue."

It is now almost half a year since we last attended the press conferences in the Wilhelmstrasse. At one of our last meetings there the spokesman was positive in asserting that relations between Turkey and Germany were excellent.

The Berlin correspondent for the Turkish news agency told me shortly before I was interned that he was instructed to comment on the German news "in a family manner." The instructions came from Ankara.

Building Barges in Greece.

But Germany is taking no chances. One of our repatriates on the Drottningholm who came from Greece reported that Germany was feverishly at work on the Greek islands in the Ionian Sea building barges with which to effect landings in the Dardanelles. Some 4,000 German workers, he estimated, were engaged in this construction project, besides all necessary native Greek help.

The Port of Piraeus he also reported, was teeming with activity again, and all sorts of construction is under way. When I visited it a year ago, following in the wake of conquering German armies, it was a scene of death and destruction.

The curtain of silence which the Axis have dropped over Greece is thick and impervious. It is therefore hard to verify this repatriate's story.

It seems decidedly to make sense, however.

Ex-C.I.L. Head Dies

VICTORIA, June 3—(CP).—Robert Harvey Lyons, 63, Montreal manager of Canadian Industries, Limited, from 1911 to 1921 and manager for C.I.L., at James Island, B.C., from 1921 to 1935 when he retired died here yesterday.

Directed Raid On Cologne

From this desk Air Marshal T. A. Harris, chief of the bomber command, directed the great raid on Cologne. Air Marshal Harris has promised that a thousand R.A.F. planes will visit Germany every night in the future, weather permitting. The raid on Cologne was the largest raid of the war.

Claim 1,000 Raiders Hitting Nightly Could Knock Out Nazis By Fall

LONDON, June 3 — (CP). — The R.A.F. now has sent more than 1,000 planes to Germany on a single night's raiding—and 1,000 planes a night over Germany, according to Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the bomber command, would mean the end of the war by fall.

Analysing the gigantic task of organization that such a development would entail, the air correspondent of the "Observer" pointed out that to maintain this average of 1,000 planes, no fewer than 3,000 would have to be sent out on some occasions since weather conditions would reduce the numbers on other nights.

"On nights when 3,000 aircraft were being sent to Germany," said the writer, "assuming that two squadrons would operate from one airdrome more than 120 airdromes would be needed. That problem could be met.

"Four engined bombers such as Wellingtons and Whitleys carry five. Thus the 3,000 bombers would carry a total of 18,000 including pilots and crews.

"To operate heavy bombers, a ground staff of at least 20 is required directly or indirectly for each man sent into the air. Hence, to prepare for 'heavy' nights a staff of between 360,000 and 400,000 would have to be on duty.

"During the summer, when darkness lasts only a few hours the sending away of 3,000 bombers would be a colossal task for the control officers at the airdromes.

Timing Must Be Right

"Even more difficult would be the the Lancaster, Stirling and Halifax carry a crew of seven, twin-engined preliminary timing by the bomber command to see that they arrived over their targets at the right time.

"When we first started using big four-engined bombers the proportion sent out any night was small. Gradually, as more and more have been turned out by our factories, the proportion has increased.

"It is not permissible to give the exact bomb-carrying capacity of the Lancaster, Stirling and Halifax, but it has been disclosed that one Stirling, for instance, can carry as great a bomb load as a whole squadron of Blenheims.

"The number of bombers sent over Germany is not so important as the tonnage of bombs they can drop. If one machine and one crew can carry as much destruction as two could a few months ago, so much the better. Two twin-engined bombers require an operating crew of 10 and a ground maintenance staff of 10, whereas one four-engined machine requires only seven men in the air and a like number on the ground.

"Allowing for the present proportion of four-engined machines to twin-engined, the average bomb-load would be just under two tons per machine. On that basis 3,000 bombers could drop about 5,500 tons of high explosives and incendiaries on German in one night.

"The effect of such a quantity of bombs can be imagined when it is borne in mind that the heaviest weight dropped by the enemy on this country on even the worst nights was not much over 600 tons. However, it may be some time yet before the bomber command can drop such a load even with the eventual help of American bombers and crews operating from this country."

St. David's Society Meets

The St. David's Welsh Society held its regular meeting on Monday evening at the home of the president, Mrs. G. Pakenham. Members were asked to make some talent money during the preceding month and this was turned in at this meeting. Quite a substantial sum has been raised in this way by members to help in the society's war work. It was unanimously decided to donate another $10 to the Peterborough British War Victims' Fund.

Plans were also made for the society to attend in a body the showing of the picture, "How Green Was My Valley," which is expected in Peterborough next week. It was also suggested that the society have a picnic probably on one of the regular boat excursions; plans for this will be formed later. Following the business session dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and committee. The meeting closed with the singing of "The King."

Kathleen Neal Is Wed To Mr. M. Harrington

DOWNEYVILLE, June 3 (ENS)—St. Mary's Rectory, Lindsay, was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding Saturday morning, when Kathleen Neal, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Neal was united in marriage to Mr. Michael Harington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harrington, both of Lindsay.

The bride wore a turquoise blue redingote dress with a carmel and beige hat, and matching accessories, with a corsage of white carnations and sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Helen McMullen, R.N., of Toronto, wearing a beige printed frock, with brown hat and matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations. Mr. James Fitzpatrick of Lindsay attended the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families. Later in the day Mr. Harrington and his bride left on a motor trip to Toronto and Brantford; the bride travelling in a printed silk jersey dress with black and white accessories.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Downeyville. The groom's many friends here in Downeyville wish them many years of wedded life. The groom was a former resident of Downeyville, and all are glad to welcome him back.

Year of Increased Work At Nicholl's Hospital Reported by Miss E. Young

The following is a condensation of the report given by Miss Edith Young, superintendent of nurses at Nicholls Hospital on the graduation exercises of the school of nursing on Monday evening.

The curriculum of the school includes 740 hours of formal teaching comprising lectures by the physicians and surgeons of this city, the superintendent of nursing, the instructress of nursing, supervisors of surgical and medical departments and of the operating room, laboratory technician and dietitian. In addition, lectures on religious education have been introduced during the past year, given by the ministerial association. Lectures are also given to ward aides and orderlies.

Each student in the latter part of her second year or the beginning of her third year has an affiliation period of 12 weeks in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. It is hoped that as soon as feasible, affiliation with the local public health departments will make it possible for the students to gain experience in public health nursing.

Several changes in staff personnel have occurred during the year. Mrs. Leeson, who had been superintendent of the hospital and School of Nursing for twenty years resigned, and Mr. John Hornal was appointed general superintendent of the hospital. Miss Campbell, operating room supervisor resigned and her post was taken over by Miss Dorothy Fiske, graduate of the school and post-graduate of surgery, Toronto General Hospital. Miss Eleanor Worobetz, a graduate of St. Paul's Hospital, Saskatoon, was appointed supervisor of the surgical department, replacing Miss Everson, who resigned to be married. Miss Mary Pickens was granted one year's leave of absence and her place was filled by Miss A. Knox. Miss Sadie Trotter resigned to enter military service, post graduate courses in public health, children's diseases, care of new-born infants, hospital administration have been taken by members of the staff at various hospitals.

The year has been an exceptionally busy one for the hospital, and war has brought to nursing, as to other professions, additional problems. Not long ago there were more nurses than there were positions for them; now there is almost an impending crisis, due to shortage of trained nurses. New fields of service have opened up and renewed opportunities in private nursing and in industry have presented themselves.

The Canadian Nurses' Association has made the following recommendations in regard to maintaining the stability of the profession and of meeting its needs in this critical time: (1) that conditions fundamental to the welfare of student nurses be improved. (2) That development of particular post-graduate courses to meet the new demand on the nursing profession, and that short courses should be established in university schools of nursing for which credit should be given when the course is completed. (3) That the status and salary of general duty nurses be improved. (4) That married and retired nurses be called to active service and that some methed be arranged for bridging the gap for those who have been away from service for some length of time.

The financial responsibility for the education of student nurses still remains with the hospital and thinking people ask how long this will continue. The purpose of nursing is that of promoting health, preventing disease and caring for any public service is considered to be the financial responsibility of the state, nursing should be included in that program.

It will be necessary to make more general use of the ward aides and voluntary nursing auxiliaries. The requirements for voluntary nursing are as follows: (1) Basic course as established by the Civilian Defence Committe, (2) Home Nursing (Red Cross or St. John's Ambulance), (3) St. John's Ambulance. Following this basic preparation, the applicants are required to have 20 hours lecture followed by 60 hours of practice in the wards under supervision of the graduate nurse. Nicholls Hospital hopes to arrange as soon as possible for the above course.

From the nursing angle, two developments have somewhat lessened the burdens of the nurses at the hospital. One is the individual curtaining of public and semi-private wards, eliminating the waste of time and energy through the use of portable screens. This was made possible through the help of the Women's Auxiliary. The central service room has removed from the wards many time-consuming jobs for the nursing staff, as well as reducing the equipment desired.

Mission Circle Holds June Meeting

The regular meeting of the Helen Roger Mission Circle was held on Monday at the home of Mrs. C. F. Stewart, Albert street. The meeting opened with a prayer, and hymn played by Mrs. R. Goodfellow, and a prayer written by a Chinese student, and read by Mrs. H. Clegg. During the short business period it was decided to dispense with refreshment for the duration of the war. Members brought articles to be packed in the bale.

Mrs. Clegg conducted the impressive worship service, opening with the call to prayer and a hymn, followed by scripture reading by Mrs. T. Welburn and Mrs. A. Moore. Mrs. Clegg read a litany for the Christian Church in China and a response was read by the members. Prayer by Mrs. W. Dale closed the service.

The last chapter of the study book, entitled "The Tide Comes In," was reviewed and Mrs. John Donaldson gave an interesting talk on old and new China, quoting from Reader's Digest and Maclean's Magazine on the way in which the remarkable Chinese have met their difficulties. A group of four representing a Travel Club illustrated the chapter, Mrs. H. Clegg, a business woman, Mrs. D. Gourlay, an agriculturist, Mrs. V. Zufelt, a member of the teaching staff of a western university, and Mrs. G. Morrison, a woman graduate in theology. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and light refreshments were served by the hostess.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS ....

ESCAPE AND MURDER.
CHAPTER XX.

Talcott paced the length of the deserted boat deck again and turned in anger. "Macdowell," he called harshly.

From the depths of gloom by the davits beyond the funnel came a scrape of sound, and a hollow voice answered "Here."

"Still hanging your head. What's so infernally important that you couldn't tell me in the cabin, that you had to send that steward just when I—" He was in the darkness then, groping. "MacDowell. Where the devil—"

A dipping shudden came into the ship's movement; a forward pitch into a deep trough of waves. And with it his answer, a crushing blow sweeping in a wide arc from behind. It glanced from the side of his head with enough force to hurt but not enough to cripple. Had his assailant been less solidly poised when the vessel's sudden dip came, Talcott's skull would have been smashed like a paper carton.

He gasped with pain and turned, grappling blindly. Another blow dropped him to his knees. Strong, wiry arms wound about him and he felt a solid, straining chest against his face. He held himself limp and the other dragged him to the rail. And when the attacker's arms slackened to lift him up, Talcott suddenly straightened his legs, driving the other back and against a davit.

The counter attack had been a complete surprise. Pressing for the advantage of time, Talcott moved in too hurriedly and another smacking blow from the leaded leather sent needles of pain through his shoulder. Grimly he grasped at a wrist, caught it firmly, moved in, and quickly pivoted. A choking arm wound about his neck. He balanced, extended his right leg, and with all his strength heaved at the wrist.

With a cry of rage and frustration the other sailed over his head.

Another dipping shudden, akin to the one that had saved him first, sent Talcott sprawling face downwards and rolled him under a lifeboat. The unprotected deck edge was perilously near; his groping right hand found no support but air. His left arm was doubled beneath him and thus he lay, struggling to hold fast. Had his assailant followed in then, Talcott would have been lost; the merest shove from a foot would have sent him overboard. But the other had had enough; his running feet sounded a telegraph on the steel plates of the deck.

The boat deck was empty. Forward the lights of the wireless shack and the tiny glow of the binnacle on the bridge; they couldn't have heard because of the wind. The assailant had run forward, but he would scarcely run up there; officers didn't take too kindly to interruptions in their work. He must have gone down the stairs.

Talcott was at the foot of the stairs when the shocked scrutiny of a pair of old ladies brought him to an abrupt halt. Shrugging, he brushed himself and smoothed his rumpled clothing.

Inside the cocktail lounge he saw Halsey and June Paterson playing bridge with Martin Swenson and the ship's doctor. He avoided the door and moved around to the other side, passing the huddled figure of Professor Constantine, asleep in a chair.

Passengers were there, leaning against the rail, conversing or looking at the water. A steward came past, bearing a blanket. Talcott stopped his. "Did you see a man run by here?" he asked.

Conversation at the rail was suddenly hushed "No, sir can't say as I did" the steward answered.

Talcott became suddenly aware of the fixed stares. "Must've been mistaken" he grunted and unhurriedly wallked by the gauntlet of eyes.

He was in C deck corridor when abrupt suspicion caused him to stop before the door of the ugly bald-head who called himself Webber. Pressing his ear against the polished wood he was rewarded with a deep regular snore.

No man who had been through what the attacker had been through could snore like that. Baffled he entered his own cabin.

He switched on the light. MacDowell was apparently asleep; a blanket covered him to his chin and his face was turned to the wall. Talcott glared in the mirror. A nasty red welt showed in front of his ear; his face was smudged with soot his collar was torn and his once-immaculate jacket was wrinkled and grimy.

A towel end and powder repaired the damage to his face; the collar he removed and with it the jacket. The shirt too was beyond hope and he peeled it off and thus far disrobed decided to complete the job and take a shower.

Strange how soundly MacDowell slept. Lucky for MacDowell; in this condition sleep was the only thing that could help him.

Halcott had found his robe and was at the door when footsteps sounded in the corridor. Moved by and stopped before Webber's door. A loud double knock. The pitch of the snoring changed imperceptibly. The double knock was repeated and the snoring ceased. "Yes?" in Webber's voice.

"A wireless message for you sir."

"Oh. It's my wife I guess. About the business— Just a moment—" The click of a light switch; faint scrape of the door and footsteps sounded again in the corridor.

Talcott opened his door and peered out. The room steward was walking away. Strange, he could have sworn that Webber's voice sounded from outside the door. It had sounded as if the steward was on the inside. But there was the steward, turning into the companionway at the end of the corridor. He could have been mistaken.

In the exhilarating needles of the shower his body relaxed, but his mind leaped to double speed. Things had been happening fast; almost too fast. First, Webber the hairless, caught flat-footed eavesdropping. Was he just curious about his neighbors or did he fit in the picture somewhere? Talcott wished he could remember that vaguely familiar face. Too ugly to be forgotten; yet it remained in a haze, defying recognition and remembrance.

Then there was the business of the blank paper. Had Halsey played cagey, substituting the real report and turning it over to the purser for safekeeping? It didn't seem likely, not in the new light thrown on Halsey by June Paterson. What, then, was Struthers up to?

And the attack. He had gone to the boat deck supposedly in response to a summons from MacDowell. Well, MacDowell would have to answer that one. Grimly he towelled himself, drew on his robe and crossed to his stateroom.

MacDowell hadn't moved. With swiftly indrawn breath Talcott leaped to the bunk and snatched away the blanket.

A spreading brown-red stain was creeping away from a sticky slot in the detective's back.

Of Interest to Women

R.C.A.F. Calls This Playsuit a Uniform

The sports uniform of the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division) is light, practical and attractive, as these photographs of a shapely, young airwoman demonstrate. They show her at attention (LEFT) and ready for a game of softball. The uniform is in a soft grey-blue shade, the shorts of fine cotton twill and the pullover of knitted cotton.

DOROTHY DIX

WOMEN HAVE NO LIFE PLAN BEYOND THEIR WEDDING DAY

It Is Their Fault If They Are Lonely After Children Leave

Taking them by and large, women appear to have no plan of life for themselves that goes farther than their wedding day. After that they leave everything to luck and let Nature take its course. If their marriages turn out prosperously, fine and dandy. If they are failures, well, it is just too bad, but they live along in sodden misery, or else get a divorce.

Of course, there are exceptions to every rule, but it is a fact that the average married woman seems to take no interest whatever in her own future, or to make the slightest effort to safeguard it. She is ambitious enough about her husband and children, and she lies awake at night devising schemes for their betterment and for their protection against the vicissitudes of fortune, but she doesn't lift a finger, or give a thought to securing her own happiness. She acts as though what happens in her marriage is just Fate, and there is nothing she can do about it.

This strange quirk in feminine phychology is illustrated by the attitude that women take toward the three major calamities they most dread—losing their husbands' love, being left lonely when their children leave home, and having no way to make a living if their husbands should die or be disabled. These misfortunes hang over them like a pall that darkens their days and wets their pillows with tears but they do nothing to attempt to dispel it.

Every wife knows, for instance, that the recipe for keeping a man—who was enough in love with her to assume her board bill and shopping ticket for life—still in love with her is as simple and unfailing as the rule for making cup cake. She knows that she has only to feed the brute, make him comfortable and make her home-brewed flattery so strong it will make other women's weak and tasteless, and the trick is done.

But do wives cash in on this knowledge? Look about you and you will see that the great majority of them make no effort whatever to keep themselves glamorous in their husbands' eyes. They don't bother to dress up for them. They don't try to be entertaining and amusing. They vent their temper and their nerves and their frustrations on them, and they say things to them that make you wonder that wife-murder isn't a more common crime than it is. Practically any wife can keep her husband if she will take the trouble to do so.

Second Dread Is Loneliness

The second dread of women is being left lonely when their children grow up and go about the business of life for themselves. The sound of their wailing is to be heard in the land everywhere you go, and the sanatoriums and doctors' offices are filled with women who have had mysterious nervous breakdowns just after Clarice married, or John got a job in a distant city.

Well, if a woman is lonesome when her children leave her, it is her own fault, because she didn't keep close to her husband, and establish a comradeship with him that was so intimate and dear and all-sufficing that it made other society unnecessary to her.

As soon as the first baby was born she practically ditched her husband and he soon found out that he no longer existed for her as a man. He was just a robot that wrote checks to pay for the things the children wanted. And a wife can't go back and pick up her husband's love where she laid it down. Generally some other woman has gotten it. Anyway, it is lost to her.

Every woman knows that at most the average mother has her children for only about twenty years. Then, if they are any good, they fly the net. This being true, she could save herself a lot of grief if she would do a little figuring and see that it is a better investment to hold on to a husband whom she will have for the long pull, instead of putting her all in the children whom she will have so short a time.

Can't Compete In Business

And there is the final dread that every domestic woman, except the wives of millionaires, has of what would happen to her if her husband died and left her without money. She has just been a housekeeper and home-maker and baby-tender. She can't compete in the business world with pretty girls just out of commercial schools, and she grows cold with fear as she thinks of her helpless situation.

It doesn't occur to her that from the very day of her marriage she should make a profession of domesticity and make herself such an expert cook or seamstress or child specialist that she would be able to support herself if the necessity should arise. If she does, she will always have a money-making trade to her hand, for it is the homely things for which we always have need for which we are always willing to pay. More women have gotten rich keeping boarding houses and running millinery shops than ever have in writing books, or acting in the movies.

What a pity that women don't realize that marriage isn't the end of life for them. It is only the beginning. They have a future for which they should prepare themselves.

NEW EVENING FABRIC

By ALICE ALDEN

EVENING CLOTHES in fresh washable fabrics are one of this season's happier inspirations. The model pictured ABOVE was designed by Louella Ballerino for Brenda Marshall. It is made of soft chambray in a lovely sea foam green. The dress has a tiered skirt, fitted bodice and large squared collar of embroidered white pique.

members to this suggestion by the principal.

Chairman J. W. Ridpath stated he believed education counted now more than ever in a child's life, character being formed or bent according to the teacher, and commenting on the number of good teachers that had been lost in the past.

Trustee Erskine stated that those that had left had not applied to the board for more money nor given the members a chance to meet their demands—bringing the remark from Mr. Harvey that if the board had a set schedule of salaries things like that would not likely happen.

Mr. Dench stated that it had been the policy in the past for the demands to be pretty much met in whole.

B. Q. Dench took the chair as the board went into committee of the whole with J. W. Ridpath moving and F. L. Erskine seconding a raise of $100 for Mr. Minshall to start September 1, Trustee B. F. Blake voting in favor.

It was announced that Miss Eileen Waterman, B.A., of Springfield, Ontario, will replace John Aymer for the duration to handle mathematics. Her first school, Miss Waterman comes highly recommended by Prof. Lougheed of the Ontario College of Education. She commences at a salary f $1500.

Mr. Harvey stated that two more girls had left for the Oakville Fruit Camp during last week and two more would go this week.

Trustee B. F. Blake suggested a summer caretaker for the grounds and garden, the regular caretaker, C. L. Bickell, having his hands full with other school duties. Both Chairman Ridpath and Principal Harvey agreed, having special praise for the work Mr. Bickell was doing.

F. L. Erskine moved and B. F. Blake seconded a motion that B. Q. Dench take charge of finding a man to hoe the garden and keep the grass cut, the both jobs to be done at least once a week for the summer term.

Accounts were passed as follows—Dominion Seed House, seeds, $12.11; T. C. Yonge, plants, $11.10; V. McManus, ploughing school garden, $2; E. H. Northey, labratory supplies, $9.95; F. L. Erskine, supplies, $13.24; Total $48.40.

Seven Raises Passed Around

Public School trustees confronted with a united plea by five teachers for a $100 increase to meet the war-boosted cost of living debated briefly and met the request, hand-teacher, but with no extra room and all rooms just about filled there appeared no way around the problem.

40 Enough for One Teacher

Mr. Sloan believed forty pupils per teacher was about the limit with which a teacher could do justice and listed the number of pupils in classes as follows—Miss Elsie Kidd, kindergarden-primer 30, Miss Bertina Beavis 32, Miss Aileen Young 46 (room full), Miss Mureitta Jory 47 (full room), H. G. Parkin 52, E. G. Sloan 45.

With many newcomers in the village and all houses filled it was expected there would be a considerable ing out in addition $25 to the music teacher H. C. Renaud, $50 to the caretaker, Charles Bickell, and $50 to the Principal, E. G. Sloan.

The teachers in their written request stated that with board in the village costing $8 per week their bill ran into $416 a year, over half of their salary, and with retiring allowances and other deductions they could hardly break even, let alone cover up for any past expenditures on their education. They pointed out most factories now paid the cost of living bonus, and mentioned the fact that the caretaker received more than four of them. The school average was low they said, the figure for other schools running over $1100.

Chairman Frank Erskine went the rounds of the board asking their opinions, and Trustee E. H. Northey stated the teachers had had one raise this year and suggested seeing what the estimates were before making an additional call on the taxpayers.

Trustee Roy Bullock stated the principal had had $100 raise in February, Mr. Parkin $65, Miss Kidd $50 and the rest $25, and agreed with Mr. Northey that another $100 now seemed a bit steep—though he admitted the cost of living had advanced considerably.

Gordon Scriver took the stand that in the interest of the village's children the money should not stand in the way of keeping a good teaching staff, but wondered if a raise could be legally granted.

Chairman Erskine stated he believed that the wage and bonus law did not apply to teachers' salaries. Mr. Scriver said he favored cutting down on property expenditures if possible to give the teachers a raise.

Trustee Mel Kingston proposed finding out what other schools paid, then admitted he believed the staff was not getting enough money under the circumstances.

F. L. Erskine said the question of the taxpayers' pocketbook should be considered in the matter, but wanted to see the teachers getting enough to keep a proper staff.

"If you give it to one give it to them all," said E. H. Northey, "and that includes the principal who is not in the list." Mr. Northey didn't take kindly to the teachers' point that some of them received less than the caretaker—observing that the caretaker worked from 6.30 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. while the teachers were on the job considerably shorter time.

Staff Doing Good Work

Principal Sloan, stating while he was not asking a raise he believed the staff merited one, all doing satisfactory work and their request being worthy of serious consideration.

The upshot of the debate saw Trustee Gordon Scriver move with E. H. Northey supporting, in favor of the increase. Members backed it unanimously then added the principal, music teacher and caretaker for good measure.

Tuesday, June 9, was named the evening for the board to inspect the school regarding painting of the washroom partition, plastering a ceiling, brick-pointing and several other repair jobs.

The rather serious problem of overcrowding jumped into the limelight when F. L. Erskine suggested doing away with the kindergarden thus splitting the classes more evenly and easing the burden on some teachers too hard pressed to do their best work.

Principal Sloan admitted while closing the tiny tots class and shutting off beginners till the age of 6, it would only ease the problem for a very few years and still leave the school with some 240 pupils or an average of 40 to each teacher.

The solution seemed to be another number of new pupils in the fall, and as a result the question of dropping the kindergarden and raising the starting age to 6 will be considered further at the next meeting.

Accounts were passed as follows: Bell Telephone Co. $2.80; T. C. Yonge, dustowels $12.50; Copp-Clarke Co., book, 24c; E. G. Sloan, plants, $3.75; F. L. Erskine, supplies $12.79; Total $32.06.

Bride Honored

Centreville Hall, where Helen received many pretty and useful gifts. Mr. Everett Wood was chairman for the evening. Miss Florence Beebe read the accompanying address, to which Helen graciously replied. Mr. Gomer Robinson gave a reading, and Eileen Gainor and Betty Joan Howson sang a duet.

Mrs. H. Howson was At Home Saturday evening to a large number of friends, following the wedding in the afternoon. Lovely gifts of silver, fine china, linen, etc., were displayed also a substantial cheque from the bride's uncle. Mrs. Reginald Perrin and Mrs. Everett Wood assisted with the service of dainty refreshments from a table lovely with lace cloth. The wedding cake had its traditional place of honor in the centre, banked with sprays of lily-of-the-valley. Betty Joan, the little daughter of the house, attended the door.

I.O.D.E. Aids New Canadians

The following is the report of the committee on immigration and Canadianization given before a meeting of the National Convention of the I.O.D.E. today by Mrs. Creelman of Montreal.

Thousands of pairs of shoes, layettes, items of clothing of all kinds and many comforts were distributed in the past year among Canada's new Canadians by immigration and Canadianization committee of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, according to a report before the national meeting being held by the Order in Montreal this week, presented by Mrs. Creelman, of Montreal.

"My report is offered as a basis for better understanding of some of the more important aspects of immigration," Mrs. Creelman said, in speaking of the "extreme necessity of peopling our great open spaces with British and Scandinavian stock." Newcomers to Canada during the year numbered 9,329, of which approximately 9,000 came from the United States and Britain, while the remaining 329 were in very small groups representing 27 different nationalities. Numbers of these are highly skilled technicians, some of whom brought capital to Canada to establish new industries, Mrs. Creelman stated, and many who came already had relatives living here.

Assimilation work among new Canadians is a vital part of the Order's work, and during the year meant many visits paid, thousands of magazines distributed, classes held to teach English to adults, parties given for children, with clothing distributed for the many needy families struggling to become established.

Edith Velma Reeds Of Omemee Weds W. C. Stiles

OMEMEE, June 3 (ENS)—Christ Anglican Church, Omemee, was the scene of a lovely wedding on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, when Edith Velma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reeds, Omemee, was united in marriage to Dr. William Clarence Stiles, B.V.Sc., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stiles, Brussels. Rev. F. W. Pooley officiated, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Walter Fallis of Millbrook, and during the signing of the register Miss Freda Grey of Lindsay sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white sheer with lace insertion over satin with a train. Her veil was of finger-tip length silk net caught with a halo of lily-of-the-valley and white rosebuds and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bride's attendants were Miss Bette Deyell of Peterborough and Miss Leona Whiteworth of Toronto, who wore street length dresses of orchid Swiss muslin over satin with matching shoulder length veil, each wearing a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Norman Ruttle, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and wore a street length dress of net over taffeta with lace insertion and matching shoulder length veil, and she carried a white prayer book with book mark of red rose buds.

The groom was attended by Mr. Clement Reeds, brother of the bride. The ushers were Mr. Joseph Stiles, brother of the groom of Brussels, Ont., and Mr. Jack Collins of Highland Creek, Ont.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 40 guests, the bride's mother receiving in a gown of blue sheer with corn-colored felt hat, and wearing corsage of larkspur and Talisman roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of printed rose silk with navy blue hat, and wore a corsage of Talisman roses and ferns.

The happy young couple left later for a trip to points east, the bride wearing a blue and white striped seersucker suit with navy accessories. On their return they will live at Brussels, Ont.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Porter, Orono; Mrs. F. Porter, Bethany; Mrs. Fred Woodworth, Toronto; Mrs. Bill Crocker, Mr. Walter Fallis and Miss Dorothy Porter of Millbrook.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

John J. McGraw, one of baseball's most dynamic leaders, resigned as manager of New York Giants ten years ago today. After 42 years in the game—30 as pilot of the New Yorkers—he relinquished his post through illness and turned over management to Bill Terry. McGraw, who died February 25, 1934, bought, sold and traded more players than any other manager in the history of baseball.

Sending Cigarettes

CAMPBELLFORD, June 3. — (ENS).—Christ Church Parish Guild members met on Monday evening for their closing meeting of the season. The ladies gathered in the Parish Hall and following discussion of several business questions enjoyed a social time. It was announced during the meeting that a gift of 1,000 cigarettes would be made to boys from this district who are serving overseas. They voted to make a contribution of $100.00 to the wardens to be applied to general parish expenses and to make a gift of $1.00 towards the reduce-our-mortgage fund being sponsored by a branch of the Church of England in Owen Sound. The president, Mrs. R. A. Linton, presided and expressed the hope that members would return to meetings with renewed activity in the fall.

It Is Easy to Make Soft, Fluffy Rug

Use Candlewick Yarn

A fluffy, soft, tufted rug will just set off that boudoir dressing table to a "T". And you can make this beauty—it's easy.

For this striped design you need three soft shades of candlewick yarn—perhaps white, rose and blue—and muslin for the base.

Pencil the stripes evenly along diagonal creases in the muslin and, parallel to the creases, rule lines an inch apart over the whole surface. Make dots an inch apart on the lines.

Now, passing a needle threaded with candlewick through a dot (see our sketch), take an ⅛-inch stitch and lay a tuft of 16 2½-inch lengths of yarn across it. Then tie ends of stitch around tuft, in a tight knot.

Soon the whole rug's tufted and you're ready to sew rug to backing!

For complete directions see our 32-page booklet. Describes and diagrams exactly how to make the tufted rug; tells how to make hook-woven, braided, crocheted rugs, in many beautiful designs.

For your copy of "Best Exercises for Health and Beauty" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

BID THE SUREST SLAM

A SLAM contract is sometimes made by a player with a four-card suit who has only three trumps in the dummy. Trying to do that, though, is dangerous and unsound business if there is another suit available which affords a better chance of safety. Duplicate players in match point games are the worst offenders in violation of this simple principle, as many of them reach out to get the slightly higher score furnished by a major suit instead of a more likely one to be gained by selecting a minor.

South: ♠ Q 8 6 4 ♥ Q J 4 2 ♦ Q J 10 6 ♣ 3

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	Pass	3 ♣
3 ♠	Dbl	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	6 ♣

Since North heard his opponent bid Hearts, following his earlier business double of 1-Spade, he was ready to slam this hand. He was in a duplicate tournament and hoped that by bidding the slam in Hearts, he could get a few extra match points. Just you try to figure out some way to make 6-Hearts against the holding of East and West. The declarer found out what you will, and was set.

At several other tables North put the contract into 6-Clubs, in which he certainly had a good trump suit. Although he lost one trump trick, it was the only one his opponents took, whereas the heart declarers were miserable after a spade was led.

Upon winning the third spade trick, how should South play this hand for an extra trick at 3-No Trumps, if East during the bidding had made a club overcall?

Lakefield Names Wm. Watson Park Caretaker

LAKEFIELD, June 3.—(ENS)—William Watson, caretaker in the past at the beautiful village park was reappointed at Monday night's special council meeting. He will receive a salary of $50 a month for three and a half months, his duties commencing June 1.

The assessors roll was accepted as revised, the Hydro assessment being reduced for the year by $9,300 from the figure $77,900 following appearance of officials from the Ontario Hydro Commission at a previous special session.

Lakefield Public School children held a tag day on Saturday to aid the Chinese War Relief Fund. Ten boys and girls made a house-to-house canvass in the morning, and in the business section from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m., the total collection for the day was $30.77. Principal E. G. Sloan was in charge.

The ten children who canvassed the village were: Aleen Halpin, Betty Hockaday, Clarence Foster, Phil Hollend, Archie Wall, Joan Dracup, Owen Bullock, Ivan Wall, Irma Bullock and Marion Sloan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Murduff are being congratulated on the birth of a son at Nicholls Hospital on Friday. Congratulations are also in order for Mr. and Mrs. George Stenner on the birth of a daughter, on Saturday.

LOANS FOR CURRENT NEEDS

Manufacturing, and the movement of raw materials and finished goods often develop a credit requirement to meet what are known as "the current needs of business".

Such loans, based on established banking practices, are made by The Bank of Toronto, and constitute one of our most important functions. Important because it not only contributes to the success of the individual who profits from the loan but because this use of the accumulated savings of our depositors also is an important factor in the well-being of the community in which the business is located.

Canada's War

under them before 1941 was agricultural products."

The level of farm prices today was "fairly satisfactory."

Any action which might be taken by the United States to use surplus wheat for production of synthetic rubber would undoubtedly be accompanied by similar use of surplus wheat in Canada, the Agriculture Minister said. By international agreement, Canada enjoyed the benefits of experiments made along this line in the United States.

The Call For Cheese

Questioned by Lt.-Col J. A. Ross (Con., Souris) about a disparity between the prices of cheese and butter, Mr. Gardiner said any disparity was due to the demand of Britain for more cheese from Canada. It was argued that under a plan now being followed of having a 35-cents a pound ceiling on butter in the summer months and a higher ceiling in the winter months, considerable production of butter could be obtained in future in the winter months.

J. H. LeClerc (Lib., Shefford) said the minister should not wait until the fall before changing plans in respect to butter, as there are indications a shortage would develop and after October it would be impossible to get supplies unless a very high price was paid.

Farmers selling milk to condenseries or powdered milk plants suffered in value received in comparison with the farmer who was selling his milk to cheese factories, said G. J. Tustin (Con., Prince Edward-Lennox).

"There should be co-ordination and control by the Dairy Products Board, so that each farmer will get approximately the same return for his milk," Mr. Tustin said.

An increase in the price of butterfat of five cents a pound would divert to milk factories, some of the milk now going to cheese factories, said R. G. Davison (Lib., Stanstead).

Gordon Graydon (Con., Peel), said farmers with Hydro-electric lines passing their farms were unable to make use of power-equipment required to replace farm labor.

An acute shortage of agricultural supplies was in prospect, the member for Peel said. The Government should plan its agricultural policy with a view to avoiding this shortage within the next year.

Potato Alcohol for Rubber

J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South) said much of Russia's rubber supply came from potato alcohol, and he had been surprised to hear Mr. Gardiner express the fear there might be a surplus of potatoes in Canada this fall.

The present carryover of wheat might be sufficient to provide all the rubber needed to supply the military requirements of both the United States and Canada. Milkweed might also be used for the making of rubber.

Mr. Gardiner said Canada's agricultural program had been developed over the past six years with the possibility of war in mind. Consultations with United Kingdom authorities in 1936 had preceded the present organization of his department.

He said it was not surprising that there were auction sales of farms, adding there are 70,000 farms in Canada run by people more than 65 years old, helped only by their families.

Anyone who could buy a farm in Ontario for $3,500 to $4,500, especially if he could pay cash was making about as good an investment as any that could be made in Canada now.

The minister said he found it hard to understand members who said that men who lived on farms near industrial centres should not have gone into these industrial centres to work.

In the years before the war, 1,000,000 men had been listed as unemployed. If the numbers of men who had gone into the armed forces and into plants across Canada were added "we have a figure which is not far removed from the number who were unemployed before the war started."

No Kicking In U.S.

Mr. Gardiner said there had been shortages of beef in Montreal and Toronto "but you did not hear any farmer kicking about the price of beef in the United States. They were quite prepared to send their cattle where they could get the best price provided we were not prepared to pay a similar price for the same product in this country."

The minister said he had succeeded in getting an agreement which raised the selling price of beef across Canada and at the same time maintained the United States price for the full quota of cattle exports permitted under the export quota agreement.

No government in Canada had undertaken to control farm wages, and he was not sure it would be done in the future as there were "extreme difficulties associated with setting such levels.

George Wood (Lib. Brant) said he believed the average income of farmers was higher than it had been in the past 10 or 12 years. The butter price was too low, and the price of milk, butter, processed milk and city milk should be on the same basis.

Mark Senn (Con. Haldimand) said he had always doubted whether the price ceiling policy was necessary. He had yet to learn that the rise in prices in the first Great War had done any particular harm, and he knew it had done many farmers a great deal of good by letting them put by enough to carry them through a period of depression.

E. E. Perley (Con. Qu'Appelle) said a parity price for agricultural products would bring the desired increase in production.

Labor Shortage Alarming

New Democracy Leader Blackmore said the shortage of labor was leading to "a destruction of our capacity to produce which is alarming."

"With almost unbelievable stupidity we have neglected the development of our sugar production with the result that in one of the best sugar-producing areas on earth, we have had to ration sugar," Mr. Blackmore said.

The agriculture department appeared to be "terrified for fear we will have a little too much honey or sugar or wool or some other product, apples for instance."

Conservative House Leader Hanson said he believed that there would have to be a complementary feature to price control—a complete system of rationing. Otherwise the system could not be complete. Some of the products affected by the price freezing order were at their lowest level of the year when the ceiling was applied.

garrison troops called out to restore order.

In the outskirts a police station, ambulance and fire engine were burned. At 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was established.

A strict censorship withheld news of the disturbance from the outside world Monday, and Nassau residents planning to return home from the United States were told simply they should postpone their trips temporarily.

Before the riot, the Government had informed protesting labor leaders the wage for unskilled workers was fixed by agreement of the British and United States Governments and could not be changed immediately. However, negotiations still were in progress when the demonstration started.

Observers agreed that the riots, coupled with the collapse of Nassau's economy under the impact of war, presented problems that would tax the skill of any colonial administrator in Britain vast empire.

The Duke already had initiated a broad agricultural and industrial program designed to put the Bahamas' economic ship on an even keel. His interrupted trip to the United States was made to seek help in marketing products that could be exported.

All through yesterday the air assault persisted and hundreds of trucks were set on fire while Britain's tanks plunged on the enemy's heels, trying to keep as much as possible of his strength from reaching home territory.

RAF Smashes Bremen's Oil, Sub Yards

Commandos Round Up Valuable Tips Scouting Boulogne

LONDON, June 4 — (CP). — British bombers blasted Bremen, Germany's second seaport, and British commandos scouted the Boulogne-Le Touquet area of Hitler's French coastal defences overnight, it was announced to-day.

The Bremen raid, the 94th of the war, was linked with an attack on the Dieppe docks and the Air Ministry announced that 10 bombers and two fighters were missing from the night operations.

A strong R.A.F. force flew through moonlit skies to strike at Bremen targets—such as shipbuilding and submarine yards, docks, railways, steel works, oil refining installations, an aircraft factory—in a follow-up to the mass raids upon Cologne and Essen. Only Hamburg ranks ahead of Bremen as a German maritime centre.

Black-faced commandos, escorted by warships and protected in their withdrawal by R.A.F. fighters, stabbed across Dover Strait after midnight on a reconnaissance raid officially declared to have produced "valuable information."

A Repeat Visit.

It was the second commando thrust against the Boulogne-Le Touquet area, scouted before on April 22. Boulogne lies 25 miles south of Dover and Le Touquet is 15 miles farther south. Between them is a coast of dunes and marshes.

The force was described as a small contingent; casualties were officially declared to have been slight.

British fliers found weather favorable and cast their explosive loads upon Bremen by the light of flares, the Air Ministry said.

Nazi airdromes in occupied France and the low countries and the harbor installations of Dieppe, on France's Channel coast, also were attacked and mines were laid in enemy waters, it added.

The Boulogne-Le Touquet area is viewed by military experts as one of several areas suitable as bridgeheads for an invading Allied Army. It is a doorstep to the valleys of the French Rivers Seine and Somme.

There have been reports from the Russian front recently that the Germans were forced to divert some forces from this area of France, particularly armored divisions which have been the backbone of German defences in France.

Youth Goes To Work

PORTLAND, Ore., June 4—(AP).—Teen-aged youngsters are streaming into the State Labor Bureau's Portland Office at the rate of 300 a day for work permits. By September 20,000 Oregon boys and girls of 14 to 18 years of age will be drawing industrial pay cheques, W. E. Kimsey, Deputy Labor Commissioner, estimated to-day. The youngsters who must have State work pmits except in agriculture, are moving into the industrial picture with rapidity—and eagerness.

It Was Expected

VICTORIA, June 4—(CP).—The Victoria Times in a newspage story says the Japanese air raids on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, yesterday "came as no surprise to many Victorians" since "it was know here Monday that the attack was expected momentarily by military authorities as there had been a tip-off that Jap forces had started north." "It was not known which part of the Alaska or British Columbia coast the Japs would strike first" the paper said, adding that "many here linked the knowledge with the visit Tuesday of Canada's head soldier, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of general staff, with Maj.-Gen. John P. Mackenzie, Quartermaster-General."

Ration Coupons Due On Sugar; Tea, Coffee Next

OTTAWA, June 4—(CP).—Introduction of coupon rationing for household commodities is being planned by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board with the probability that sugar will be the first commodity affected, Donald Gordon, board chairman, announced today.

A "canvass of householders" will be necessary before coupon rationing goes into effect, to provide a registration of consumers for issuance of the coupons. Further details of the proposed coupon system and the canvass would be announced "within a few weeks."

The board chairman said the method of rationing sugar without coupons—introduced last January—has been "a great success" and that there has already been a "gratifying reduction" in consumption of tea and coffee, brought under the "honor system" of rationing May 26.

"There are, of course, many ways of evading any kind of rationing regulations, and the use of coupons does not necessarily mean any greater reduction in consumption of a fairer distribution," said Mr. Gordon's statement.

"However, it is recognized that the use of coupons is a great convenience to the public in keeping track of their consumption, and now that three commodities in general use are subject to rationing, it was evidently desirable that the use of ration cards and coupons should be introduced."

Studying Other Systems

During the past few months the board had been studying the methods used in other countries and making preparations for the time when the use of coupons would be the most convenient way of rationing in Canada.

No rationing system could be successful unless it had the full support of every individual citizen, and that voluntary reductions in consumption were just as important under a coupon system as under any other system.

Jap Transport Sunk With 12,000 Men

All 4 Nipponese Subs Caught, Destroyed, Sydney Harbor Raid

CANBERRA, Australia, June 4—(CP)—United Nations authorities today announced the destruction of four Japanese submarine, an armed transport and two supply ships, and the sinking of one Allied ship, in recapitulating submarine activity in recent days by both sides in the Pacific struggle.

Prime Minister Curtin disclosed that four submarines entered Sydney harbor last Sunday night—not three as at first reported—and that all four had been destroyed. Only one was able to make an attack, he said. That one torpedoed a small naval depot ship causing a number of casualties.

These submarines were of the two-man, pigmy type first used by the enemy in their Dec. 7 assault on Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

An announcement from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said that Allied submarines ranging the enemy shipping lanes had sunk an armed transport of 6,000 tons and two-heavily-loaded supply ships while a third was damaged.

All troops on the armed transport were probably lost, a communique said. The ships sunk totalled 22,000 tons and the Japanese might have lost 12,000 troops. The communique did not specify the time covered by the operations.

Headquarters also announced that Japanese submarines had sunk one ship off the coast of Australia, about 35 miles east of Sydney. Two small cargo vessels were under attack, it was stated, but one escaped without damage. Another ship was attacked 225 miles south of Sydney, but appeared to have escaped without damage.

In the air, the only development announced was an attack on Rabaul, northeastern New Britain, by an Allied Air Force that started large fires in the wharf and military camp area.

EXTRA!

BERLIN.—(CP).—Emanuel Moravec, propaganda minister of the German-controlled Czech government, addressing a meeting at Prague Thursday, disclosed officially for the first time that young Czech parachutists had been dropped in Bohemia and Moravia with arms and explosives. He added that most of them rad been rounded up "The few criminals who escaped," he continued, "sufficed to bring misfortune to us" (an obvious reference to the attack on Heydrich).

10 Die In Blast

STOCKTON, Calif., June 4 (AP).—Ten persons were killed in an explosion and fire at a United States army station near here shortly before midnight. The dead were nine soldiers and a civilian fireman. Ten others were in a hospital. Of these, the condition of five was critical and four were in a serious condition.

Lt.-Col. Floyd H. Tull, commanding officer, said the explosion and fire occurred in a building at the army camp.

Bloody Heydrich Nazi Hangman Dies Of Wounds

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), June 4 (AP). Reinhard Heydrich, 38, 'protector' of Bohemia and Moravia, died in Prague this morning of wounds suffered in an attempt on his life May 27, it was announced officially to-day.

The assassination of the man known among scores of millions of Europe's oppressed peoples as 'Der Henker' — 'The Hangman' — 'The bloodiest of all the bloody Nazis'—is expected to bring about the shooting of hundreds of hostages in addition to the 163 already slain in swift reprisals, Czech circles in London asserted.

London sources declared Heydrich recently was appointed Gestapo chief for occupied Europe and it was pointed out ironically tha the 'butcher of Moravia' died in virtually the same manner as hundreds of hostages he had ordered shot in France, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Poland and other countries during his hated acreer.

A Czech source in London said automatic rifles used by two men to shoot Heydrich were from the ordnance of tre disbanded Czech army and, possibly were dropped by paracrute. The Czech government appealed by radio to the Czechs to stand firm against the Gestapo bloodshed and not disclose those connected with the shooting.

Forty-six more Czechs were reported executed yesterday. Among the 163 thus far shot were 29 women.

London Czech sources predicted to-day that hundreds of an estimated 5,000 hostages rounded up would be executed by the Gestapo in addition to those already shot.

"There is no doubt the Gestapo has just begun to kill," a Czecho-Slovak government source said in London. "Hostage shootings will run into the hundreds."

Foreign Legion Units Live Up To Name, Battle Still Jumbled

CAIRO, Egypt, June 2.—(AP). — British forces were reported today to have routed Axis soldiers from a desert stronghold in a fierce engagement while their Free French Allies held fast against efforts by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to seize the key position of Bir Hacheim.

A Middle East headquarters communique said British forces, attacking at the "Laot Light of June 2," drove the enemy out of Tamar, 21 miles southwest of Tobruk and six miles west of Knightsbridge, a track centre around which has occurred much of the fighting in this latest Libyan campaign.

"The enemy is known to have lost at least 114 tanks in this engagement," the communique declared.

The German field commander apparently desires to capture Bir Hacheim, southern end of a severed line which one extended to Ain El Gazala, to make impossible a British counter-attack from that tiny osis, about 50 miles southwest of Tobruk

There are Indian troops at Bir Hacheim, but British sources said the main force consists of Free French metropolitan troops plus a battalion of tre French Foreign Legion which now is about 85 per cent. French.

The communique said Italian troops and some German tanks approached the defending positions at Bir Hacheim but the attack 'was not pressed home.'

R.A.F. headquarters announced that one fighter squadron shot down seven Junkers dive bombers in the Bir Hacheim air battles.

Declaring it was giving maximum support to the British land forces the R.A.F. reported concentrations of Axis mechanized units south of Bir Hacheeim were "effectively bombed and machine-gunned from a lower level," and numerous motor transport vehicles damaged and set on fire.

Canada Seeking Long-Term In Post War Food

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 4 (CP)—A warning to Canadians against assuming that Germany has so depleted livestock supplies in Europe that Canadian markets for such products will be secure after the war was given by Agriculture Minister Gardiner in the House of Commons yesterday.

Continuing debate on the war appropriation bill, members discussed food contracts with the United Kingdom, and the holding of markets for products such as bacon when the war is over.

Mr. Gardiner assured members that efforts had been made to secure long-term contracts for food products so there would be no serious slump in Canadian sales after the war, but such agreements had still to be completed.

In debate on finance estimates under the war appropriation bill, T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) said there had been complaint since the war started about large expenditures in the main estimates, which had not been discussed for this year as yet, and in special appropriations. He said he would suggest that some of the votes made were illegal.

"If the war goes on for two or three years more the country will be bankrupt because we have never had committee of supply and there is no means of bringing these matters to the attention of the House," said Mr. Church.

Finance Minister Ilsley said he knew of no auditors who were responsible to ministers other than the minister of finance. A check

Not Last Raids U.S. Expects Says War Chief Stimson Bomb Damage Proves Light

Second Wave Of Attackers Drop No Explosives Believed Merely Checking On 1st Blow; Fires Reported Quickly Doused By Defenders

WASHINGTON, June 4—(AP).—The United States Navy, describing the situation of Dutch Harbor, Alaska, as quiet at present, reported today that the second wave of enemy planes which flew over the base yesterday failed to drop bombs and probably was engaged only in reconnaissance.

A communique declared total damage at the base was not extensive and fires were quickly extinguished after the initial raid yesterday m rning.

While the source of the attacking aircraft has not been definitely determined, the communique said they are believed to have been carrier-based.

The two raids against the Alaskan outpost, about 1,800 miles from Vancouver, shifted the focus of the Pacific war to North America itself and put defences from the Aleutian Islands to Panama on the alert against further thrusts.

At a press conference shortly before the navy issued its communique War Secretary Henry Stimson predicted that the attacks on Dutch Harbor were "not the only and the last raids" to be expected on American territory.

B. C. Doubles Precautions.

Vancouver said Canada's Pacific Coast and United States territory to the north and south stood on the alert last night on the heels of two Japanese air raids on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, the first such attack on North American territory.

Coastal radio stations went off the air at 9:45 p.m. (12:45 a.m. E. D.T. Thursday) and a precautionary blackout was ordered at northerly Prince Ruper at 10:30 p.m. At Victoria air raid precaution workers were ordered to be on the alert and stand by thei telephones.

Watchfulness was general, with Inspector S. F. M. Moodie of the British Columbia Civilian Protection Committee saying that "in view of the unsettled condition in the Pacific, while there is no cause for alarm, we have redoubled our ordinary precautions."

But Antony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to Congress, gave this warning:

"I am afraid we may have a struggle on our hands to keep that area."

The first attack was by four Japanese bombers an about 15 fighters at 6 a.m., Alaska time (noon, EDT) yesterday, and lasted about 15 minutes.

"A few warehouses were set on fire but no serious damage was suffered," the Navy announced. "There were but few casualties."

The second raid was made at about noon, Alaska time (6 p.m. E. D.T.), six hours after the initial attack, the Navy said. Details of this raid were not immediately available.

Not Enough Planes There.

Dimond said he had heard nothing direct from Alaska on raids, but expressed fear there were not enough defending planes to beat back a sustained series of attacks in case the Japanese opened a big-scale offensive such as the Philippines invasion.

Nazi Party Set For The Gravy —After Victory

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP).—It's all gravy for the Hitler boys—if Der Fuehrer should win the war. The Nazi party will be in more complete control of the country than ever, and the party button will open the doors to all positions, all graft, all swag.

There probably would be one grand purge first, during which all those members who have rendered mere lip service to the regime would be ousted as dramatically as were Ernst Roehm and other Nazi leaders during the famed June purge of 1934.

During the first two years of the war the army seemed temporarily to eclipse the party and its formations. But Hitler was quick to see this.

The army with its thrust through Poland, its blitz victory in the west, and its conquest of Yugoslavia and Greece appealed more to the public imagination than the brown-srirted, rather pot-bellied Nazi ward heeler who remained at home to organize the distribution of food cards and check up on the loyalty of the population.

It came to the point that in small localities Nazi party officials deemed it a part of wisdom no longer to wear their party uniforms except on festive occasions, lest they be spotted as slackers.

Quick Remedies

No sooner did the top men notice how the party was slipping in popular esteem than they began to play up the exploits of party functionaries in the Goebbels-controlled press.

As the war went on, the SS formations at the front, which were under separate command though subordinated to the army high command, were mentioned at every possible opportunity in the daily official communique.

At home, too, the party was more and more entrenching itself. An American business man returning with us on the Drottingholm told me this story which I repeat, not because it is unusual but because it is typical of what I learned again and again before my internment almost six months ago:

"My brother-in-law," this man said, "a German manufacturer in Munich, in 1938 bought up an old merry-go-round solely to use the brass for manufacturing purposes. He neglected to report the deal to the economics ministry. Recently this oversight was discovered by the authorities, my brother-in-law was Jap Alaska Swoop Face-Saver for Tokyo?

2 Attacks, Neither Surprise, Baffle Experts By Their Lightness As Opening Raid

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Key to the significance of the Japanese attack on the naval and air base at Dutch Harbor, up among the fog-shrouded and inhospitable Aleutians off the Alaska peninsula, lies in the strength employed in the second raid and the amount of damage done, if any — points on which we have no information at this writing.

The first raid with four bombers, protected by fighter planes, was a mild affair. If the subsequent assault was of like kind, the Japs obviously weren't attempting major operation but likely were staging a nuisance raid for its propaganda value at home and abroad and its possible effect on North American nerves.

It may easily have been a face-saving reprisal for recent devastating raid on Japan.

In any event, Seattle gives us the good news from Rear-Admiral Freeman, commander of the 13th Naval District, that Dutch Harbor wasn't taken by surprise and was prepared to meet the attack. That is as might be expected in view of the great strategic importance of these defences which are vital to the protection of this northwestern approach to our continent.

Irrespective of whether the present Jap attack was a minor operation, it may be expected that sooner or later they will make a drive against these defences. The position was summed up in Washington by Antony Dimond, Alaskan delegate to Congress, like this:—

Of course, it shows good sense and judgment on their part if they can bust up what we are doing in Alaska and the Aleutians. They believe their greatest danger lies in the approach to their shores which we are going to make from Alaska."

The danger of attack from this region isn't the only reason, however, why the Japs are anxious to deliver a knockout blow to Dutch Harbor. It is quite on the cards that they harbor ambitions to take over this base and establish themselves in the Aleutians as a preliminary to further attacks on Alaska and the rest of the western coast of the North American continent.

The Nipponese must have been operating yesterday from an Aircraft Carrier, because their nearest base is too far away to permit such a raid. Still, that contained no element of surprise. As a matter of fact, the only surprising thing which thus far has appeared is that the enemy should have struck with sucn light forces at first, thereby putting Dutch Harbor even more on the alert. One would have expected the Japs to have made their initial blow a hard one.

2 Japs Shot In Madagascar

Downed Fleeing British—Navy Men In Disguise

LONDON, June 4—(CP).—A War Office announcement today that two Japanese naval officers had been shot by a British patrol in Madagascar was regarded here as further proof that the Japanese were planning take over that large French island when Britain moved in.

The officers, one source said, apparently were assigned to make plans of the naval base at Diego Suarez to prepare the way for a Japanese landing.

The British forces in Madagascar, informed persons said, are consolidating their positions around Diego Suarez.

"On the morning of June 1 the native headman of a village in the peninsula of Diego Suarez reported two foreigners had been observed in the village. A British patrol with native guides proceeded to the village. The two foreigners fled before the arrival of the patrol but were pursued and surrounded

"When called upon to surrender they opened fire on the British patrol and were shot.

"On examination of their clothing, papers showed they were Japanese naval officers."

Red Fliers Bag Five Ships

Behind-Line Fighting In Centre Kills 300 Nazis

MOSCOW, June 4.—(AP)—Two Axis torpedo cutters were sunk and two transports and another ship were damaged by Russian air attacks Tuesday, the Soviet information bureau said to-day.

Russian fliers, officially declared to hold the initiative north of the German-Russian front, also were credited with bagging an unspecified number of tanks and 40 trucks and destroying nine field and anti-aircraft guns and an ammunition dump.

A communique said "battles of local importance" took place in several sectors yesterday.

"Our units operating behind the enemy lines on the central front repulsed an attack by German infantry supported by tanks," the information bureau said. "The enemy lost 300 officers and men."

(The circumstances which led to this fight "behind the enemy lines" were not brought out. The Nazi High Command claimed yesterday that the Germans had encircled and crushed Soviet groups on the central front, killing more than 1,500 and capturing 2,000.)

POSSIBILITY OF COAL RATIONING IN WINTER FACES CANADIANS

DolingOfCoal Looms Here In R.R. Tieup

Canada To Be Warned In Time—Banks To Aid Summer Buying

TORONTO, June 4 — (CP). — Possibility of coal rationing next winter faced Canadians to-day, but they had the assurance of J. McG. Stewart, Federal Coal Administrator, that if it does become necessary the public will have plenty of warning.

"There won't be any case of coal rationing being announced some Tuesday and effective the next day," he told the Canadian Retail Coal Association yesterday in saying that coal might be rationed both in Canada and the United States this coming winter.

"If rationing of coal goes into effect in the United States as a result of transportation conditions, it will surely be rationed here," Mr. Stewart told the association. "We have been trying to arouse the public and persuade them to get in their fuel supply early."

As an incentive to early coal-stocking he announced a credit plan by which banks have agreed to finance summer purchase of winter coal needs, up to $250, for customers considered a good risk by any accredited coal company.

This plan, presented by Norman Brand, Mr. Stewart's assistant, provides that "a good risk" may purchase coal in the summer and pay for it in equal instalments by or before next May 15 with interest at 6.2 per cent, the same as under the home improvement plan. All fuel purchased this year must be delivered by August 31.

Questioned by reporters after his rationing warning, Mr. Stewart said: "We are praying that rationing will not be necessary, but we fear that it will be. We are 60 per cent dependent on United States for our coal supplies, and if coal is rationed there it will be absolutely necessary to ration it here."

Basis for his rationing "fears," he told the convention is the expected pinch in transportaiton facilities this autumn.

MORE ABOUT—

Bloody Heydrich

Heydrich down Britain had his number.

His was the first name on the list of Germans announced in London on Oct 7, 1941, for probably post-war punishment as a result of murder and oppression in German-occupied countries.

Sharing this list with Heydrich were Josef Terboven, German commissioner for Norway; Gen. Alexander Von Faulkenhausen, German commander for Norway; and Gen. Otto Von Stuelpnagel, German commander for France.

An early convert to Hitlerism, Heydrich was little known to the world generally until the fall of 1941 when Hitler sent him to Prague to quell a rising tide of Czech unrest. There he succeeded Baron Von Neurath as 'protector' of Bohemia and Moravia.

What followed constitutes a terrible page in the history of freedom-loving Czechs. Hundreds were summarily executed and the Germans announced that order had been restored. As a reward, Heydrich was raised to the rank of General is the security police.

But the fires of revolt still flared in the Protectorate and more executions followed. In one sweeping order 90,000 Jews were uprooted and herded into a Ghetto at Terezin, Bohemia.

Even if the world in general hadn't heard of Heydrich much before 1941, Europe's overrun countries had.

He followed Hitler's grey-clad invaders into Austria, Warsaw, Norway, the Low Countries, France.

And with each incursion there was his horde of Gestapo agents bearing pre-arranged lists of those to be killed or arrested and no questions asked.

In the '34 Purge

Heydrich first showed what he could do with a gun on a mass scale in the Nazi blood purge of 1934. He was entrusted with rounding up all suspects in Berlin and did such a thorough job that many innocent Germans were reported shot. Franz Von Papen, the vice chancellor, almost became one of his victims. Now in Hitler's esteem, Von Papen is in Turkey as German Ambassador.

As boss of all German concentration camps, Heydrich next was credited with enforcing punishment which later was to be duplicated in cruelties dealt to peoples of the conquered countries.

It was this same slight, sharp-faced Heydrich who executed the fearful Jewish pogram of 1938 and the burning of synagogues in many German cities.

Heydrich was born March 7, 1904, in the industrial city of Halle-on-the-Salle, where his father directed a music conservatory.

A product of the turbulent period following the first Great War he first aligned himself with the German National Youth Organization in Halle, rising from post to post from 1918 to 1919. Then he joined up with the town's free corps, leaving that group after a year to cast his lot with the Nazi Mutual Protection League and the Nazi Youth League.

Started in The Navy

Joining the navy at Kiel in 1922, Heydrich won an Ensign's commission in 1924, advanced to Second lieutenant in 1926, and First Lieutenant in 1928. Most of his naval career was devoted to intelligence work.

In 1931 he quit the navy to join the Nazi organization at Hamburg, leaving that port to go to Munich the next year as a leader in the brown-shirt Storm Troopers.

At Munich, he caught the eye of Heinrich Himmler, another strong-handed up-and-coming Nazi, and in order became leader and chief of the Security Service at Munich, and head of the Bavarian Political Police and Provincial Minister of the Interior.

Himmler who had become head of All German police forces, made him his right hand man in 1934, advancing him to the job of Chief of German Security Police. Until his appointment to Prague in 1941 as Protector for Bohemia-Moravia, Heydrich's chief duties were running down Communists and anybody who crossed paths with the Nazi regime.

He really is a fancy stepper
And yet he's treated like a leper—
We all perspire,
no doubt of that,
But he offends
which leaves him flat!

Hearst Journal Praises Canada

NEW YORK, June 4 —(CP)—The Hearst-owned New York Journal-American said in an editorial today that Canada's "valiant war effort deserves our appreciation" and then added that President Roosevelt recently "healed" a "breach" between Canada and the United States.

The editorial didn't explain just what breach there was to heal. Anyway, it declared Mr. Roosevelt's message to the recent Allied Air Training Conference in Ottawa "has gone a long way in healing whatever differences there have been of late between Canada and the United States."

It went on:

"The United Nations would indeed be greatly weakened if it were not for Canada's vital contribution in air power, man power and sea power to the protection of North America.

"President Roosevelt has healed the breach caused by trifles such as should never have come between two such full-grown friendly democracies as the United States and Canada.

"All our differences must hereafter he settled with smiles, not with frowns, which are food for Nazi propagandists."

Fenelon Falls Airman Pulled Out Of River

MONTREAL, June 4. — (CP).— Two Royal Canadian Air Force airmen rescued from the Richelieu river near St Hyacinthe Wednesday were attached to the flying squadron of No. 1 wireless school here, it was announced to-day

The airmen were pulled into a rowboat by Mrs. Joseph Deguise after their training plane plunged into the river. Trey were Sgt. W. R. Gillis, Fenelon Falls, Ont., pilot of the ship, and Wag. K R. Greenway of Woodville, Ont.

It was believed at first that the men were attached to No. 13 service flying training school at nearby St. Hubert.

Private Life Or Charac ter Not Involved In Port Hope Principal's Dismissal

PORT HOPE, June 4 (ENS)—Two new developments have taken place on the Port Hope school squabble front this week, neither of which have any particular highlight.

The first occurred on Monday evening when a deputation of citizens approached the Town Council at the regular council meeting, seeking to enlist their aid in bringing about the resignation of the School Board. Their trip was a futile one, for Mayor Sherman Gifford produced a copy of the High Schools Act, which sets forth that the School Board is a duly elected body of men represented by the people, and the council has no jurisdiction over them.

The second development came on Thursday when the secretary of the High School Board released a copy of a resolution passed unanimously at a meeting held recently. The resolution is as follows: "The High School Board, as a whole and individually, expresses profound regret if it, or its members have said or insinuated anything about Mr. Brackbury reflecting adversely upon his private life or character, and wish to make clear that his dismissal is not based upon any charge of personal misconduct." The resolution was signed by W. J. Davidson, chairman on behalf of the entire Board.

"My brother-in-law pleaded with the judge to moderate the severity of the sentence. 'Are you, perhaps, a party member?' the judge asked.

"'Sorry, but I never got around to that. I've tended to my business and haven't bothered about politics.'

A Costly Mistake

"'That's too bad,' the judge observed. 'You see, if you were a party member, the presumption would be that your patriotism is beyond the shadow of doubt, wherefore your failure to report the brass gained from the caroussel may be presumed to be a mere oversight. The fact that you are not a party member throws doubt on your loyalty, and we must assume you tried to cheat the government. So you must pay the full fine."

During the last months of my stay in Germany I noted one more ominous and portentious sign of Hitler's determination to make the party even more dominant after the completion of the war than it now is... if

At all sorts of strategic intersections of Berlin—on corners like Kurfuerstendamm and Uhlandstrasse, to mention but one example—the Gestaapo was removing the tenants of corner buildings and putting SS families in there instead. And the ground-floor corner flat was converted into an SS stronghold, with machine guns and hand grenades and other instrumentalities for waging civil war in case of an uprising.

Soldiers returning to Berlin on furlough had no illusions as to the signifiance of these SS posts.

"We know perfectly well that after we've done our duty we shall be swept into the discard," they would say in a tone of resignation. "We'll probably be disarmed as we reach the gates of our home-towns. Then the party will again take control of the situation, and the SS will see to it that discipline is maintained."

Ration Coupons

Coupons had to be distributed equally, although various persons' consumption habits were not identical, and those who could get along with less than the ration amount were under a patriotic obligation to do so.

"It is probable that coupon rationing will commence with sugar only, in order to give consumers a chance to become accustomed to the method and give the administration experience of the various difficulties which will have to be overcome," Mr. Gordon said.

"In the meantime the present rationing law, both with respect to sugar and with respect to tea and coffee, remains in full force and effect.

"In addition, it is important for everyone to realize that there is a law against hoarding any commodities whether rationed or not. Buying anything at all in excess of current needs, unless advised to do so by responsible officers of the board is hoarding.

Dr. N.A. MacLeod Is Chosen New Moderator

MONTREAL, June 4 (CP)—Rev. Dr. Norman MacLeod of Brockville, Ont., will officiate at communion at the 68th annual general assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, which continues its conference here today. It will mark the first official act by Mr. MacLeod since being elected moderator.

Two hundred Presbyterian ministers and elders from all parts of Canada saw Dr. MacLeod chosen to succeed Rt. Rev. J. B. Skene of Vancouver at the opening of the conference yesterday. He was elected by a large majority over three other nominees who asked that Mr. MacLeod's election be made unanimous. They were Rev. W. M. Mackay, Synodical Missionary for Northern Ontario and Manitoba for the last 14 years; Rev. Charles L. Cowan of St. Andrew's church, Hamilton, Ont., and Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. John's Nfld.

A native of Pictou county, N.S., Mr. MacLeod is a well known scholar and speaker at the Caintown Presbyterian church, near Brockville. He is a graduate of McGill University and also attended the Presbyterian College in Montreal.

In giving his sermon as a moderator, Mr. Skene stressed that the church should take its task to heart because the soul of the nation is to be its particular care. "That is the purpose of our presence here, caring for the soul of the nation," he said. "Religion is our first concern. It calls for an all-out dedication of ourselves to God."

"In our democracy we rather lack this totalitarian devotion to God. There is nothing wrong with totalitarianism if it happens to be a totalitarianism under God."

Mr. Skene said the church should not fail to apply the principles of Christ to all phases of life, and added "Democracy without the Lord Jesus Christ is a dangerous experiment that will surely perish."

A.R.P. Workers To Hear Caskey

All those interested in A.R.P. work and citizens generally are urged to attend the Collegiate Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. next Sunday, when Carl A. Caskey, deputy fire marshal for Ontario will give the lecture on "High Explosive and Incendiary Bombs" for those attending the present series of basic lectures in connection with A.R.P. work. Mr. Caskey who has made a special study of dealing with these types of bombs in connection with his occupation as deputy fire marshal gave this lecture to those attending the first series of basic lectures last February, and the local Civil Defence Committee (A.R.P.) are pleased that he has been kind enough to accept their invitation back. The lecture which will be illustrated with films dealing with this work was probably the outstanding lecture of the first series, and it is expected that those who have taken up A.R.P. work since February will be out in large numbers to hear Mr. Caskey, for if Peterborough is raided by enemy aircraft, these two types of bombs are considered most likely to be carried by the enemy.

Clear Up Title In Civil Action

Ownership of a lot on Chamberlain street, west of Monaghan Road, part of the estate of the late William J. Byers, was involved in a civil action before Judge Coleman yesterday.

W. J. Arthur Fair explained the circumstances of omission of this lot, twenty-foot frontage, by inadvertence when the estate was being distributed. Apparently it was intende to have been included with the corner store property and adjoining residence to the north which was bequeathed to Roy Byers. When he sold the store to Thomas Hunter and Russell Hunter it seems to have been assumed that the lot went along with the rest of the property

Recently Charles Mann made some enquiry about buying this vacant lot, the first west of the store on the north side of Chamberlain street, but investigation disclosed the fact that Roy Byers had not received a deed of the lot. In the meantime the Hunters have been in undisputed possession of the lot for 6½ years

The court action was for the pudpose of obtaining a vesting order to declare the Hunter ownership of the lot. It was not defended by Mr. Byers.

TWO OF THEM.

"I can certainly understand why a man in charge of seven or eight hundred girls goes around with a worried look on his face," one druggist said on Wednesday. One of the girls had been drying a glass dish when it broke in her hands and cut her rather badly. The only person there to give first-aid was the druggist's assistant, and as he strove to stop the flow of blood, the messenger girl watched with fascinated eyes. Just before the job was finished, a sound drew their attention to the messenger girl who had just fainted. Holding out her hand to be dressed, the injured girl supported her co-worker and tried to render first-aid. The report given out in the afternoon was that both were doing nicely—at home. —J.S.

Havelock Men Fined Failing To Attend Drill

For failing, without legal excuse, to attend a drill of their unit, three Havelock members of B Company of the 2nd Midland Battalion were fined $5 and $1 costs by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning after they had entered pleas of guilty to the charge.

The three who were fined were William A. McMullen, 26, machinist; Jack Green, 18, railway laborer, and Harold Robert Hunter, 25, school teacher.

The charges were laid by Capt. E. G. Johnston of the Midlands.

A similar charge against R. H. Biston, was adjourned for a week at the request of W. J. Arthur Fair who appeared for the accused.

A fifth member of the Midlands was also charged with failing to attend drill but the prosecution ran into a snag in his case when accused informed the court that he was only 15 years of age.

"This boy cannot be tried in open court," said Magistrate Langley "and his parents and the Children's Aid Society will have to be notified before his case can be proceeded with."

"The attestation paper he signed gives his age as 19," said Captain Johnston.

"He says he's fifteen and I have to judge from his appearance," remarked the magistrate, repeating his statement that the accused could not be tried until the proper persons had been notified.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 4.—(AP). — British readquarters announced today that German armed forces had been driven out of Tamar, about 21 miles southwest of Tobruk, in a fierce engagement in which at least 114 enemy tanks were destroyed.

A communique said British forces holding the left flank of the severed Ain La Gazala-Bir Hacheim line yesterday repulsed an assault by German and Italian mechanized units, which were then attacked in the rear by roving forces.

"A large number of Stukas (dive bombers) also attacked Bir Hacheim and were successfully engaged by our air forces," the bulletin added.

The communique made no reference to the situation developing north of Bir Hacheim, where Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored columns previously had been reported attempting to widen a nine-mile-long breach in the British line through which the Axis leader was feeding supplies to his hard-pressed forces at Tamar.

Kiwanians Are Entertained By Cheese Patrons

Thirty pounds of delicious Cheddar cheese, of the Black Diamond brand, melted away as a good-natured crowd thronged St. Anden's Hall as Kiwanians were guests of the cheese patrons last night. This cheese was brought from Belleville for the special occasion.

The Young's Point Red Cross had planned the buffet supper and the 150 guests were arranged in small quartette tables and anything else that could be used as a serving place. Informality was the keynote of the evening.

The program led off with a sing-song under the direction of Duncan Cowan. All the old favorites from "Pack Up Your Troubles," "Home, Home on the Range," and "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," in which everyone sang with might and main, passed in review. Whether singing happened to be the strong point of the audience was unimportant, everyone joined in with as much vim as he could muster.

George Elliott, president of the Cheese Producers' Association, made a brief welcome address to Kiwanians and their ladies and then called on S. L. Joss, Provincial secretary of the Cheese Producers, who augmented his predecessor's welcoming remarks.

The musical part of the program continued with the singing of a group of Scotch songs by Duncan Cowan, heartily encored. Then Miss Ethel Evans of Toronto delighted her audience with a violin solo, "Piper of Dargale," Mrs. L. Westlick accompanying at the piano. Two soloists, Vince McCabe of Peterborough, accompanied by Jack Marshall, and Duncan Cowan, who sang a number of his own compositions, took the crowd by storm.

An original "Quiz Program" under the direction of Bill Ovens and Frank Paterson, Kiwanians, injected plenty of humor. The city men were given farm questions and the farm folks every-day questions, and the results were often hilarious in the extreme. Some original trains of thought were launched by more than one victim.

In appreciation of the splendid work done by Mrs. Norman Godden who has been managing the Kiwanis Recreational Centre, John Troke, on behalf of the Kiwanians, presented Mrs. Godden with a beautiful travelling bag, filled with fine wearing apparel.

Then Captain Norman Godden, who has just returned from England, added a few words. He said that he considered Canadians in England the best-trained fighting men in the world and that all are in splendid shape. Although they have been very anxious to get in the thick of things, they have been training continually and their morale is of the best. Captain Godden also mentioned how much letters from home mean to the boys.

A medley of patriotic regimental marches played by a trio, Miss E. Evans, Mrs. L. Westlick and Duncan Cowan, brought the program to a close. All the past presidents of Kiwanis, and a few of the directors were given half a pound of cheese to bring home.

The vote of thanks for a most enjoyable evening was moved by John Troke, past president of Kiwanis.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN.

To-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock we will hold our first big local mixed tournament. The draw is to be made from the blackboard promptly at the advertised hour. The fee is 25c per member. If it should be a fine evening the committee is looking for a bumper crowd. So don't be late or you will be left out.

Well, after many rainy nights and a postponement or two. Group 2 of the men's schedule finally got a game in; and while the greens are suffering from the excessive rainfall the boys are slowly but surely rounding into form.

Probably the game that put up the best fight was the Carlisle-Dearborn affair. Only one point difference at the finish.

Just a friendly tip to all: How about reading up the rule covering burnt bowls or a burnt kitty?

Wedding Ring Quilt Draw Nets Over $40

PORT HOPE, June 4 (ENS) — "The Pines," the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Whitehead, was the scene of a very lovely garden tea on Wednesday afternoon from 5.30 to 7.00 o'clock, when a fairly large crowd was served with tea.

One of the features of this garden tea was the draw on the double wedding ring quilt which was made and donated by the Bethel Grove Women's Association and on which the sum of $40.00 has already been realized.

During the afternoon at Mrs. Whitehead's two other quilts were quilted by groups of the ladies out on the lawn.

This tea was convened by Mrs. I. Whitehead and ably assisted by the members of her group, tea being poured by Mrs. Lindsay.

The proceeds of this tea will be used for War work as well as the proceeds from the draw on the quilt, and will be divided among the different organizations, including the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

The Red Cross tea rooms on Wednesday afternoon served tea to almost 50 ladies hen the Wesleyville unit had a special afternoon tea and sale of home made bread and buns at which over $14.00 was made.

Port Hope Music Club Continues Work

PORT HOPE, June 4.—(ENS).— On Wednesday night, June 3 the closing meeting of the Port Hope Music Study Club was held in the Seaton Hall. The topic of the meeting was Pianoforte Music and was under the convenership of Miss Jessie Hawkins, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Westaway and Mrs. D. Archibald. Mrs. Bryant, the president, presided and gave a short talk on the enjoyment she had experienced as president of this club, after which the secretary, Miss Dorothy Dodd, gave a short history of the past year's work.

At this time Mrs. Hawkins took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted in a discussion as to whether the club should be continued owing to the many difficulties under which the club has had to work, and the added work which every person has been called upon to do.

Mr. Lawson made a motion that the present executive carry on until fall when an election of officers can be held if it is decided to carry on as a music study club. These officers are as follows: President, Mrs McBryant; 1st vice, Mrs. J. Mitchell; secretary, Miss Dorothy Dodd; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. V. Strong; treasurer, Miss L. Beatty; librarian, Mrs. McTaggart.

This motion was passed and seconded by Mr A. H. Snelgorve.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss J. Hawkins, who gave a very interesting paper on 'The Piano,' its invention and composition going back to the different instruments of the eleventh century which were used in assembling the piano, and in the 16th century only 27 notes were used.

The program continued with a vocal duet by Miss Phyllis Goheen, 'An Old Violin' by Howard Fisher, and 'Rose of No Man's Land' music by Brennen. Miss Helen Stephenson gave a piano solo 'Impromptu' by Schubert on which she was highly commended by Mr. A. H. N. Snelgrove, who gave a talk at this time on 'Keeping Your Piano tuned.' Mr. Snelgrove stressed the necessity of frequent tuning of all pianos if the pleasure of the instrument is to be enjoyed.

Minuet by Boccherinni was given by Miss Kellough, who also played Prelude in C Minor by Pachulski. 'Sonata' by Clementi played by Mrs. Archibald; 'Adoration' by Borowski,' a violin solo played by Mr. Mervin Lawson; 'Prelude' by Chopin was played by Mr. A. H. Snelgrove.

Attention was drawn to the fact that this was the 21st year of the organizing of the Port Hope Music Club.

Red Cross Shipments Total 1,126 Articles

COBOURG, June 4 — (ENS) — Shipments during May amounted to 1,126 articles it was revealed at the monthly meeting of the Cobourg branch of the Red Cross. Supplies were purchased during the month to the extent of $407.34. The shipments for May included 755 sewn garments, 165 knitted garments, five leather jackets, 148 hospital supplies and 53 quilts. Attendance at the work room was from 9 to 20 ladies each day. The room is being operated without paid help a move which was tried out some time ago, and the results have been satisfac-

Youth Acquitted Robbery Charge

A verdict of not guilty was returned Wednesday afternoon by the jury in the trial of Joseph Fontaine, the young man who was charged with breaking and entering S. Barrick's store at Lock and Braidwood avenue.

The jury took between two and three hours to make up its collective mind, but part of that time included the lunch hour in their room.

Judge Coleman of Whitby thanked the jury for their services, and turning to young Fontaine he sent him away with a curt "You're discharged."

Norwood Contributes $900 To Red Cross

NORWOOD, June 4 — (ENS). — The Norwood canvassers for the Red Cross have turned in their report for Norwood and district, and a very successful canvass has just been completed, $900 having been collected from contributions. This does not include the county grant, which will bring the total above the allocation amount of $1,200.

A dozen or more school girls helped to swell the total by a very successful tag day which netted $55.60.

Collegiate Club Raised $994

COBOURG, June 4 — (ENS) — Almost $1,000 has been raised by the "Torchbearers Club" of Cobourg Collegiate Institute it was shown in the report covering the period from fall in 1941 until the end of May this year. The amount received from the pupils was $215.27; received from teachers, $88.75; received from nine loads of paper salvage, $341.50; received from all sources, $994.28; balance on hand, $110.08. With the money thus raised substantial contributions for war purposes have been made. In the 13 half-hour periods devoted each week by the pupils, 60 articles of service knitting have been made; 50 blouses, 55 sweaters, 50 skirts, 10 pair sockees, two pairs of mitts and 1 scarf for children's wear; 225 knitted articles and 425 sewn articles for infants' wear and 4 afghans and quilts.

The students have also sent boxes regularly to ex-students and teachers serving overseas. Each box, valued at $5, contained the following article:

1 tin meat 1 tin orange juice, 1 lb. cheese, 1 lb. raisins, 8 tea bags, 1-5 pound sugar 8 razor blades 2 chocolate bar 2 packages gum, 2 packages life savers, one pad note paper, 24 envelopes kleenex, 6 hot chocolate tablets cigarettes and sox.

The good work is continuing.

Government And Conscription

It appears that the Parliamentary debate on the Government's conscription stand may be delayed until next week, as the war appropriation bill is still in committee. When the debate comes there will be some rare fireworks, and it is to be hoped that the country as a whole will not be so dazzled and deafened by the rockets and the giant crackers that it loses sight of the true proportions of the problem. Long before the plebiscite and ever since the plebiscite there has been a vigorous attempt on the part of a certain section of opinion to show that the Government is engaged solely in a political game designed to keep itself in power, and is sacrificing the good of the country to this end. The fact is disregarded that the present Government was elected by an unprecedented majority, and that there is no reason to believe that it would not receive a similar mandate from the people if it were to go to the country again. The present Government is imperfect as what Government is not, but an unbiassed observer would have difficulty finding men of greater ability to replace them; the clamorers who cry for a national government, and who hint that Canada is full of neglected fine minds who should be in the Cabinet, are notably shy when it comes to naming names. It is well-known that when the Cabinet was re-organized in 1940 the Prime Minister sought to include outstanding Canadians not of his own belief in his group, and that these refused to serve. The present Government, therefore, must be accepted as the best that Canada can get, even if not the best of which she is capable. If the unemployed Solons love Canada less than they dislike Mr. King they must remain unemployed, for he is the only possible leader of Canada at this moment.

Seemingly there were many people who expected conscription to follow the plebiscite in very short order; both the extreme conscriptionists and the extreme anti-conscriptionists were in this group. The Government intended no such thing, and does not intend it now. The approaching debate is about the removal of Section 3 from the National Resources Mobilization Act; if the section is removed the Government may then introduce conscription when it thinks it necessary. Mr. King has said, in a letter to Mr. Cardin: "The sole purpose of the proposed amendment is to obtain for the Government the freedom of decision and action with respect to the method of raising men for military service overseas which, in the recent plebiscite the Government itself requested and which, by a very large majority, the people have said they desire the Government to possess." And, speaking in the House on Monday, May 11, the Prime Minister said: "The extent of the use of such power as is conferred upon the Government by the bill's provisions is, and has from the outset been, a matter of Government policy to be decided in the light of all relevant circumstances. This will remain true of the unrestricted powers, which the amendment, if enacted, would afford." In short, the Government will conscript men for overseas when it thinks it necessary and not a moment before; this seems to be good sense to us and we think that most people will agree.

But not the opponents of the Government, who are the conscriptionists and the anti-conscriptionists. The conscriptionists, regardless of the necessity for keeping a balance between industrial and fighting manpower, want as many men in uniform as possible and do not seem to have given much thought to how these men are to be trained and equipped. They are doing their best to make the Government appear lukewarm toward the war, isolationist in feeling, and concerned with nothing but saving their own political skins. Their own motives, however, are open to question. Are they entirely uninterested in weakening and discrediting the Government for political reasons?

As for the anti-conscriptionists, they are almost wholly French-Canadians, and they are trying to use Quebec's great influence to bamboozle the Government of all Canada. But have they not forgotten something? The Conservatives and the C.C.F. will have to support the Government if they want conscription and the "all-out war effort" for which they have been asking. Will that not leave the disaffected Quebec members a small and powerless minority? Will either of the Opposition parties dare to make a bid for Quebec support for some time to come, if they do not wish to be accused of political chicanery? Admittedly the isolation of the Quebec members would be a dire threat to Canadian unity, but if they choose that course, what can be done?

The debate will be long, and hard knocks will be given and taken. But let the ordinary Canadian citizen remember that the Government is fighting for a middle course which is unheroic but sound. The nature of Canada makes our government a thing of compromise, and violent, showy action can only get us into trouble. Our war effort now may not be perfect, but it is still very creditable, and we shall not improve it by violently rocking the boat.

The Goat Gland Doctor

Mankind is incorrigibly gullible, and no charlatan has a larger following than he who promises 'Eternal Youth.' 'Dr.' John R. Brinkley who died last week in Texas did not promise 'Eternal Youth' precisely, but he certainly promised youth; nay, he guaranteed it. He was one of the most famous of the re-juvenators, and although he died a bankrupt he was at one time possessed of a large fortune which he made by transferring the sex glands of goats to human beings at $750 an operation. The goat is a notoriously lively, vigorous animal, and its glands were supposed to impart these qualities to those who submitted themselves to the operation.

The widely publicized and widely misunderstood experiments of Dr. Sergei Voronov probably gave Brinkley his great idea. He began life as a telegraph operator, but in 1908 he went to the Bennet Medical College in Chicago and stayed there for two years. In 1908 he got a doctorate from the Eclectic Medical University in Kansas City, an organization which granted degrees which were not recognized by 40 of the 48 United States. In 1919 Brinkley received another diploma from the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, a mere diploma factory which created "doctors" for a fixed fee. Thus, although Brinkley called himself "Doctor" he was in no acceptable sense a physician or a surgeon.

That did not trouble him. In 1920 he set up a goat gland emporium in Chicago and did a good trade, so good indeed that in 1924 he was able to build his own hospital in Milford, Kansas. Attached to this organization was a powerful radio station which advertised a violent Fundamentalist theology and the Doctor's famous goat gland cure. The price was $750 for the operation and all care necesssary, though a goat emulsion was available at $100 for a month's supply. Business was excellent until 1930, when the Kansas Medical Board took away his license on the grounds of "unprofessional conduct and gross immorality." At the same time his radio license was cancelled. So incensed was the Doctor by this victimization of science that he ran for Governor of Kansas and—so inexplicable is the stupidity of man—polled 183,000 votes, possibly from people whom he had turned into goats.

Shaking the dust of Kansas from his feet the Doctor went to Mexico and set up his goatery there, including the powerful station XER; Canadians were often annoyed by this station which was clearly audible here at times. But the U.S. protested against XER and the Mexican government closed it in 1934.

It was Brinkley's simple creed that goat glands were good for everything. He induced simple folk in great numbers to go to Mexico for an inclusive operation which was guaranteed to cure anything which was wrong with them; goat glands were thrown in as a helpful extra. But Fate finally performed an inclusive operation on the doctor and he was adjudged a bankrupt in 1941. His career serves as a reminder that there is still a lot of Stone Age thinking and a pitiful belief in sympathetic magic on this continent in the fourth decade of the twentieth century.

Sheer Cussedness

Students of the tragedy of Macbeth are able to find some reason for all the murders committed by that violent thane save those of Lady Macduff and her son; a well-known Canadian schoolmaster, lecturing on the drama, used to attribute their slaughter to "sheer cussedness." So also we must account for the German attacks on Bath and Canterbury; these lovely towns are not military objectives. Their beauty is the property of all men, and a delight and a credit to the whole civilized world. To bomb them is sheer cussedness and nothing else.

Canterbury is famous as the metropolis of the senior archdiocese of the Church of England and as the site of Canterbury Cathedral. But apart from this glory it is a lovely, peaceful old town on the river Stour which meanders toward it from a charming valley. The town, lying under the shadow of the Cathedral, is as mellow and pretty a place as could well be imagined. Like most cathedral towns, its life is primarily clerical, breaking into a more mundane activity on market days; hops are grown in quantity round about and some brewing is done there. But no one could call Canterbury a commercial or industrial town, and there are many who think that it should be as untroubled by bombs as Rome, and for the same reasons; the tomb of the Black Prince is surely as interesting as the relics of the Caesars, and the shrine of St. Peter can be very little more sacred than the shrine of St. Thomas Becket.

But Canterbury has been bombed and heavy damage has been done, though we are told that the Cathedral was not harmed. The raid was intended to be a retaliation for the destruction of Cologne, where the Cathedral was also spared. But what a retaliation! It is as though some daring Briton were to shoot Goering and the Germans were to retaliate by assassinating the superior officer of the College of Heralds. We shall win this war and we shall teach the Germans a lesson, but it is doubtful if we shall ever succeed in beating this streak of childish, spiteful destructiveness out of them. Sheer cussedness is a difficult quality to deal with.

Tobacco In Wartime

In spite of increased taxation tobacco is being used in greater quantities in Canada than has been the case in many years. Cigarette production has risen so sharply in the past seventeen months that now almost 767 millions a month are made and consumed here. The consumer continues to pay 25 cents for 20 cigarettes here and the same sum for 18 cigarettes in Quebec.

The more expensive varieties of cigars are also selling in surprising quantities. Even snuff shows a sharp increase, for 4,034,899 pounds of it were made and used in April of this year. Presumably this is "dipped" or chewed, and not inhaled; it is used principally by factory workers in plants where smoking is not permitted.

The use of tobacco has for some time been regarded as a practical gauge of a country's prosperity, and if this is so Canada seems to be doing very well. It is puffing and chewing and sniffing as never before. It is more than a gauge of prosperity, however; it is also a gauge of nervous tension, and apparently this has reached a new high. What the men and women of England would not give to be able to quiet their nerves with some of the fragrant tobacco which we consume so rapidly!

NOTE AND COMMENT

Our poetical contemporary, the Brantford Expositor, emends a line of James Russell Lowell: "What is so raw as a day in June?"

It has been suggested that gasoline rationing may bring about a revival of miniature golf. Let's see—weren't those things called Japanese Golf Courses?

A new golf ball has been evolved to suit the times which, containing no rubber, is practically "dead." This will probably double all scores, and treble those on the Nineteenth Hole.

Until they heard the proper figures from the B.B.C., German radio said that only 70 British bombers attacked Cologne. This surpasses even Germanic stupidity; if the Germans thought that 70 bombers could make such a mess as that, would they not be afraid? Sometimes the truth is best, even in propaganda.

PENGUIN IN A ZOO

Where the turrets of steel and granite
Loomed dark in the smoke-dulled sky
The penguin, poised on the fountain's rim,
Sent forth one dolorous cry.

The questioning cry of a sea-bird
In a rookery not its own,
That echoed up to the idling throng
And the windowed walls of stone.

A faltering cry for the ice-fields,
Where the tundra meets the tide
And a low sun gilds the polar dunes
And the green-white icebergs ride.

And we mortals who heard that lone cry
Awaken and waver and climb,
We too took thought of some ghostly Home
Now lost in the mists of Time.

Sir. Wm. Mulock Recites Poetry

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

RECENTLY the Ottawa "Journal" published an interesting article about the poetry-loving habits of a number of famous men; it made extraordinarily good reading. A man's taste in poetry, if he is an amateur and not a professor or a critic or some other sort of paid poetry-lover, is a good indication of his character and the state of his soul generally. The article began with some remarks about that remarkable old gentleman, Sir William Mulock who, when he retired from the office of Chief Justice of Ontario six years ago, took up the memorization of poetry as a hobby. Now, at the age of 98, Sir William is unusually well stocked with that commodity, and people who have talked with him have spoke in admiration of his fluency in quotation.

Sir William has revealed that the first poem which he memorized was Thomas Gray's "Elegy Written In A Country Churchyard." He completed the task during three motor trips to Muskoka for, as he said, "At my age I couldn't afford to waste three hours a day doing nothing while travelling." The memorization of thirty-two stanzas in nine hours is a remarkable feat for a man of 92. Personally I have never been able to memorize poetry save with the utmost difficulty, and have then been unable to keep it in my head for more than a few days. When I am 92 I shall not even try. I am, however, cursed with a fatal accuracy in detecting misquotations; I can always tell that something is wrong, although I may be wholly unable to put it right. To be a mere detector of faults is a melancholy business.

THE article continued with some most interesting information. For instance it tells us that Mr. Ilsley, the Finance Minister and surely one of the busiest men in Canada today, finds time to read for two hours out of every twenty-four. His choices are history, biography and poetry. What a pity that he represses this nobler side of himself when he makes speeches! A few flights of really fine oratory in the House would enrich the arid pages of Hansard immeasureably. And think what fun it would be for the Finance Minister if the cry of "Ilsley's up!" in both lobbies brought the eager M.P.'s running into the House to hear his honeyed words. Please let a little of that poetry leak into your speeches, Mr. Ilsley.

Of course, Mr. Meighen's passion for Shakespeare is legendary. It is said that when he was Prime Minister he kept a volume of Shakespeare always by his bedside. And at one time a story was circulated to the effect that Mr. Meighen's command of English was attributable to the fact that he read one of Shakespeare's tragedies every Sunday afternoon. If this were so I fear that it proves nothing save that a man can read a vast deal of poetry without being in the least affected by it, for Mr. Meighen's oratorical style never showed the faintest trace of Shakespearean influence. Ease of manner, picturesque imagery, a feeling for the right word and the knowledge of when to stop—all of these characteristics of the Bard were notable in Mr. Meighen's speeches by their absence, and his recent appearances show no improvement, however closely he has been closeted with the great playwright during his years of retirement. In fact, the tale of Mr. Meighen's affinity for Shakespeare sounds suspiciously like gammon.

THE equally widely believed tale of Mr. Mackenzie King's fondness for Browning and Matthew Arnold is entirely credible. The involved, tortuous and sinewy Browning would suit the Prime Minister in every respect. Browning never discloses his secret without a struggle, and neither does Mr. King. If Mr. King had chosen to be a poet rather than a statesman we can imagine him writing poetry very like that of Browning; it is doubtful if Mr. Meighen would ever have sung in the voice of Shakespeare. Mr. King is also very fond of the intensely moral, deeply intellectual and strangely school-masterish Matthew Arnold, and he prizes that poet's writing-desk as one of his treasures. Can it be that Mr. King writes some of his speeches at that desk? They sound a little as though the prim Matthew might have had a hand in them.

The "Journal" further boasts that it knows a Canadian lawyer who can recite the whole of "Paradise Lost"; has anybody ever heard him do it? A charwoman in England some time amazed her friends and several other people by memorizing and reciting the whole of "Romeo and Juliet" which she described as "lovely — all but the shameful bits." But these are mere feats of strength, and cannot count as memorizing for pleasure. More interesting is another lawyer known to the "Journal" who knows most of the verse in the "Oxford Book of English Verse." He sounds like a man with a well-stocked mind.

Few people read poetry, and fewer still memorize it. Perhaps they should take a leaf from the book of Sir William Mulock, and begin on Gray's "Elegy" at once. It has been described by one critic as containing every commonplace thought on death which had ever been uttered. But even to have a comprehensive grasp of the commonplace is an achievement.

DON'T LOOK NOW, ADOLF, BUT—!

—New York World-Telegram.

• Bombings May Change It

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

AT this stage, it is difficult to predict exactly what effect the British bombing of Germany will have on German public morale or on Hitler's war effort against Russia.

There is no yardstick of previous experience by which to gauge the probabilities — except the Battle of Britain. British endurance won out then. The odds against Britain were greater in every respect than they yet are against Germany even though the British attack on such German cities as Cologne and Essen was probably twice as heavy as that any British community lived through in a single night.

The miracle wrought by British homeguard air forces against succeeding waves of Nazi attack week after week and month after month were rivalled only by the stoicism of the British people. Under the ordeal by fire they never flinched and never stopped working to produce the tools with which to strike back.

FORGING INVASION WEAPON

The fact that Britain emerged from the great test with nerves unshaken and war-making capacity steadily expanding instead of dwindling gives little reason to suppose that German morale will quickly break under a similar strain. Nazidom is unquestionably better prepared to meet this test than was Great Britain. It would be folly to put much faith in hopes that Germany can quickly be knocked out of the war through any internal collapse brought on solely by a British or British - American air attack.

There are two ways, however, in which the attack could be quickly effective in changing the whole pattern of the war in Europe. A progressive blasting of German cities could lead to an irresistible public demand in Germany and recall of Nazi air and other forces from Russia or from other distant fronts. Hitler could be forced into a strictly defensive role, defensive even if it took the form of massed counter-attacks on Britain.

The British air forays present another menace for Germany, aside from the damage to war industry or the casualties they cause. They leave no doubt that an air weapon is already forged and is being expanded day by day across the Channel which could make Allied invasion of the Continent, invasion of Germany itself, a grim probability instead of a remote possibility.

BEAT DOWN INTERCEPTORS

A prime element in the tactics which made possible the air blasting of Cologne and Essen was British use of what London dubbed "intruder" forces. Every Nazi air field along the route the bombers of the main attack force would fly and about the target region was brought under simultaneous air attack by auxiliary air units. That not only confused the enemy as to where the main attack was aimed, but beat down interceptor planes over a wide area before they could take off.

Assume that other circumstances warranted an Anglo-American attempt to seize one of more invasion bridgeheads on the Continental coast, and adaption of this technique for that purpose can be easily foreseen. Allied control of the air, not only over selected invasion points, but also over the sea approaches to them from the British Isles, is a definitely realizable possibility. German defenses are spread thin along 2,000 miles of Continental coastline.

The hour is nearing when that fruit of his conquests in Scandinavia, the Low Countries and France must become a dangerous liability to Hitler instead of an asset. He can already read it in the ruins of Cologne and Essen, as well as in the stalled Axis attacks in both Russia and Libya. Sooner or later it must force him into a defensive role on all fronts — and that day will mark the beginning of his downfall.

Letter To The Editor

WORLD POLICE FORCE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Regarding an editorial "Sociology Must Advance Because Science and Invention Advanced."

The two most terrible wars in history were necessary to assure vital advances in civilization. Humanity leaves the beaten path only under pressure. Under democracy advanced legislation has required strong public support. Axis people accept dictatorship unquestionably as their fate. Realization of responsibility, not fate, makes us democratic.

Your editorial entitled "Policing the post-war world," saw no hope for any epochal advance notwithstanding the unparalleled cost in human blood and suffering. After thousands of years of preaching Christian idealism, United Nations leaders propose Christianity in practical legislation. Churchill and Roosevelt agree on post-war policies bringing "freedom from fear, from want, and of speech." Surely church and press must give outspoken support. Peterborough's population is a faithful cross-section of Canada.

"I will shake all things, that those things which cannot be shaken shall remain," refers to our times; our wars are not ordinary wars. These 'things,' divinely ordained, our leaders are advancing. Since earliest times individuals and leaders have been advancing. Since earliest times, individuals and nations have armed. Not so long ago, individual arming became unlawful. Many said such a law was a gross curtailment of liberty, but instead it introduced order in place of anarchy.

A world court and police force, to enforce its decisions, abolishing national armament, is an advance commensurate only with science. Bandit nations like bandit people must be suppressed.

A new world reborn through service and sacrifice; service and sacrifice which the Lord Christ exemplified. These are the ideals of the United Nations, including Russia, long known as Holy Russia, whose government is fast aligning with religious people. These nations will originally constitute the world police.

The Atlantic Charter forecast social and economic freedoms. The world court cannot live with social injustice. This war is often called Christianity against paganism. Without divine partnership we can produce nothing, therefore the world's great plenty must be equitably distributed. Our economic system is one cause of wars, and must be changed to a cooperative system, based on service for all within reasonable ages.

To us have been committed 'earth's waste places' and our mission is to merge all peoples, as our race has done for many generations.

That an international police has been long considered is shown by Examiner files of March 20, 1915.

CANADIAN CZARS

A TRIO of erudite editors in Toronto responsible for publication of "The Printed Word," suggests Canadian headline writers drop the word "Czar" from their top lines on the ground it could be offensive to our Russian Allies who might regard the word in an apprehensive or even an antagonistic sense. The three editors agree the little word, Czar, fits neatly into the brief space of a head, that it is an apt and pungent synonym for some of the men recently come to autocratic power on our war-time boards, committees, groups coteries and new Civil Service organizations. Says The Printed Word: "When a Russian reads of our numerous Czars and perhaps reads of the recent order-in-council attaching agricultural workers to the land for the duration of the war, he may be pardoned for imaging Canada as a land something like Russia before the emancipation of the serfs."

We had not thought of it in this light. The word Czar dates to pre-war times. Its roots go back to the muck-raking days of American journalism. It belong to that period which one? What word of four letters as synonyms for president, chairman, director, controller, or administrator. Men who received such appellations invariably felt offended, unless they were politicians, in which case they would smirk and preen their party feathers in public.

The Toronto trio suggests we drop Czar and use a substitute. Yes, but which noe? What word of four letters means the same and fits so snugly and happily into a one-column heading? Besides, the meaning is often so completely apt.—London Free Press.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.—Rom. vii, 24, 25.

There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit. For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death....

For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace. Because the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.

So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God. But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you.—Rom. viii, 1, 2, 6-9.

Cranfield Named Chairman Of Safety Division

H. A. Cranfield, employment manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, was unanimously elected Divisional chairman of the Central Ontario Division, Industrial Accident Prevention Association on Wednesday. Election of officers for this division took place at the Kawartha Club following a dinner given to forty factory heads from the area, and a review of the year's work was definitely encouraging, despite the fact that the flood of new employees had boosted the total number of lost time accidents for the year.

Mr. Cranfield has been actively associated with and has promoted the doctrine of safety in industry since 1926, and has been a director of the I.A.P.A. for a number of years. During his term of office at the C.G.E. he has given considerable encouragement to workmen in the matter of urging them to invent and construct better machine guards, and eliminate hazards that may exist in the various departments. He has from the start recommended that payment in cash be made to employees who turn in suggestions indicating a greater medium of safetry throughout the big factory. His choice yesterday was a popular one. R. B. Reddock of General Motors, Oshawa, nominated him, with H. Bird, a member of the Port Hope town council, and from the Agriculture Chemicals Ltd. seconding the nomination. The delegates refused to nominate anyone to oppose thus extending in this way, their meed of tribute to Mr. Cranfield for his years of fine service and interest in the work the organization is doing.

939 Lost Time Accidents

H. T. Cranford, of the Western Clock Company occupied the chair, and in his valedictory speech extended to the directors his warm appreciation for the fine way they had pulled together to make the organization a power for good in Central Ontario. He also extended his thanks to F. H. W. Brooks, the energetic secretary from Port Hope who was always on the job. In his review of the year's work, Mr. Cranford said there had been 939 lost time accidents as against 813 in 1941, but this was due largely to the fact that the district factories were engaged in war production, and hence had to train a great number of new employees. The finances of the division, he said, were in a healthy condition.

It was the 4th annual meeting of the Central Ontario Division and in place of the general manager of the I.A.P.A., Jim Doddington of Toronto, assistant general manager was on hand to bring greetings from the parent body. In his brief remarks he lauded Mr. Cranford and Mr. Brooks for the work done during the year.

Four Sections In Division

The Central Ontario Division is divided up into four sections and the executive officers for each of the four sections headed by vice-chairmen are as follows: H. W. LONDON—(CP).—Lieut. B. H. Turton, Essex Regiment, was gazetted captain on his 22nd birthday. During the First Great War his father was promoted to captain also on his 22nd birthday.

CAMPBELLFORD

Reports Made On Presbyterials

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4 (ENS) —Reports on Presbyterial meetings held in Orillia and Brighton were given before members of St. Andrew's W.M.S. at their regular meeting held Tuesday afternoon. The accounts were given by Mrs. John Storie and Mrs. A. G. Thompson respectively and provided some interesting information to ladies of the local society. Mrs. A. C. Connor presided in the absence of the president, and following a prayer read a poem on "Faith." After routine reports had been presented by the secretary and treasurer, the roll call and a birthday offering were taken. Mrs. F. B. Adamson presided for the program.

Library Board Meets

At their regular meeting—the last until Fall, members of the Library Board wrote off a considerable amount of routine business and passed accounts. In compliance with the Government's request to "order coal now" they announced the fuel for next Fall was already in the bins and cheques covering the purchase were signed at the meeting. Appointed as a committee to deal with any problems which may arise during the summer recess were the chairman, Harry Townsend, E. H. Greig and Rev. G. N. Maxwell.

Red Shield Auxiliary

The Salvation Army Red Shield Auxiliary here is continuing to maintain its active war work program, according to the monthly report of their activities made by Alex Turnbull on Wednesday. Weekly meetings were held during the month at the home of Miss Laura Duck, Queen street, and it is emphasized that any persons interested in becoming a member may do so by contacting the president, Mrs. John Duck, or the Corps Officer, who would be glad to give additional information. Thanks was expressed for the continuing contributions of quilts and other items from many sources, particularly the 10th Line Victory Club, Seymour West Women's Institute; Mrs. E. Mitchell, Mrs. E. Outwater, Hoard's Ladies Aid, Mrs. P. Beattie, the Stanwood Sewing Circle.

During the month about thirty knitted garments have been completed and other quilts have been pieced and finished. It is pointed out that any donations of quilts or other suitable garments for overseas shipment may be left at the home of Mrs. John Duck or with the Corps Officer.

BANCROFT

Trio Arrested In Cottage Theft

BANCROFT, June 4.—(ENS)—Acting on a complaint received Saturday afternoon that the cottage owned by Mrs. F. Ireland of Penfield, Pennsylvania, situated at Bass Lake, south of Bancroft, had been broken into, Provincial Officer S. W. Palmateer and County Constable R. F. Delyea of Bancroft proceeded to Bass Lake and their investigation revealed that the cottage had been entered and goods taken. The officers then searched the temporary home of Wesley Vaness of Northbrook at Murphy's Corners and seized a quantity of stolen goods. Wesley Vaness along with his two brothers-in-law, Oakley and Silas Mills of Flinton, were arrested and all three charged with breaking and entering and theft, and taken to Belleville on Sunday where they were lodged in the county jail. They will appear in Bancroft police court on June 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Plumley of Pembroke spent the week-end in Bancroft visiting with relatives.

Pte. Hermon Jenkins of Petawawa spent the week-end at his home in Bancroft.

Messrs. John and Leonard Goodkey of the R.C.A.F. of Belleville spent the week-end at their home in town.

Mr. Charles Goodkey motored to Toronto Sunday where she will spend a few days visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wiggins returned home Sunday after having spent the last week visiting with their son, Cecil of Belleville.

Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Anderson returned home from Toronto Tuesday having spent over the week-end in the city.

Obituaries

CHARLES HENRY GARRETT

TWEED, June 4.—(ENS)—A lifelong and highly respected resident of Tweed, Charles Henry Garrett, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday.

Eighty-two years of age, Mr. Garrett was born in Belleville, but with his parents, William Garrett and Ann Kerr, moved to Bridgewater at an early age. The family came to Tweed about 70 years ago when the Garrett Foundry, which flourished for many years, was established. Mr. Garrett, Sr., took his sons into partnership a few years later and the business was one of the best known in Eastern Ontario. For fifty-four years, Mr. Garrett was a member of the firm retiring when it was taken over by the late S. G. Way.

Mr. Garrett was active in local musical circles, having been a member of the Methodist and later, United Church choir, for 40 years.

Surviving are one sister-in-law and five nieces and nephews.

MRS. GEORGE S. GREGORY

A resident of Peterborough for over thirty-six years, Mrs. George Gregory died after an illness of two weeks, Tuesday, at her home, 489 Elm street, at the age of 74.

A daughter of the late William Olley and Elizabeth Jones, she was born in Forest Gate, England, and she later came to Peterborough from London England, and was a staunch member of St. John's Anglican church.

She leaves to mourn her passing, her husband, George S. Gregory, two daughters, Mrs. H. Hotston, England, Mrs. Elden Minshuw of Smith Falls, and a son, Laurie D. Gregory of Waterloo Ont.

The funeral will take place Friday at 2 p.m. from the residence at 489 Elm street. Canon W. P. Robertson will conduct the service and interment will be in Little Lake cemetery.

EMMA L. McINDOO.

Emma L. McIndoo passed away at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, on May 16, after an extended illness. She was a member of one of the original pioneer families of Cavan Township, her grandfather settling on oLt 17, Concession 12, in 1820. Her father married Mary Carter to whom were born six sons and five daughters, of which Emma was the youngest. There are only two remaining of that large family, namely Matthew H. of California and Thomas W. of Cavan. Emma had always made her home at the old homestead, which she dearly loved; not only did she love the old home, but she was a devout member of Mairmount Methodist Church, later the United Church, of which she was an active worker. She was a very enthusiastic missionary woman, having supported a Bible woman in China for a number of years. She was made a life member by the local W.M.S. a few years ago.

A very unusual coincidence was for a person of her advanced years to have four of her former schoolmates as pall-bearers, namely, George Hooton, Joseph Sanderson, George McBain, Benjamin Johnston, assisted by J. F. Staples and J. O. Ball. Her remains were followed by three generations, namely her brother and his wife, her two nephews and their wives, and her grand-nephew and niece Donald and Betty, who are the fifth generation on the old farm homestead. The services were conducted by the Rev. J. F. Everson. Interment was in the family plot at St. John's Cemetery, Ida.

One Civil Action On Cobourg List

COBOURG, June 4 — (ENS) — County court opened this afternoon with Judge Smoke of Peterborough presiding. The docket consisted of only one civil case, Runciman vs Schofield, a damage action arising out of an automobile accident, the case being laid over to another court. Three applicants for naturalization were heard, Kristian Petersen of Orono; Wasyl Kendruk of Port Hope and Jan Budicky of Clarke township.

40 P.C. Go Active

EDMONTON, June 4 (CP).—Fully 40 per cent of the men called up for military training enlist for active service, Maj.-Gen. L. R. Lafleche of Ottawa, deputy minister of national war services, said in an interview here today.

Up to last March 31, 120,305 men had been called up and accepted for training at military centres in Canana. "Of this total, Quebec supplied more than any other province," he said.

"This week, ladies, it's Strawberry Shortcake" says Martha Logan

MARTHA LOGAN: We start with a basic Shortcake dough—on page 56 of your Jewel Recipe Book. But in wartime, we sift in only one tablespoon of sugar, instead of two.
MOTHER: That's why it's so important to use a really bland shortening, like Jewel, isn't it?
MARTHA LOGAN: That's right. Jewel, the new blended shortening is not only nutritionally more valuable, but it actually blends better with the other ingredients, and we housewives of Canada mustn't risk spoiling anything in wartime.
KAY: My, Miss Logan—Jewel sure creams easily!
MARTHA LOGAN: Yes! And you both know what I say—it's risky to pay less, needless to pay more.

Clip out and try this wartime Jewel recipe for STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE
2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons Jewel Shortening, 1 Brookfield egg, slightly beaten, ½ cup milk, soft Brookfield butter.
Measure flour and sift with baking powder and salt. Cut in Jewel finely. Gradually add egg-and-milk. Mix lightly and use enough to make soft, not sticky, dough. Turn out. Knead for 10 seconds. Roll. Bake in round greased tins, hot oven, 425°, for about 25 minutes. While still warm, butter and fill and cover with lightly sugared, sliced strawberries. Top with unsweetened whipped cream.

Send 10¢ and the top of a Jewel carton for the fascinating Jewel Recipe Book.

ROYALS DEFEAT SOLDIERS BY 12 TO 11 IN LAST INNING RALLY

Training Centre Boys Set Up Lead Of 6 Runs

In a game that saw the lead change several times Royals finally emerged victorious over the soldiers in a City League game at the Ashburnham Bowl last night by scoring the winning run in the final inning to take the decision 12 to 11 and establish a clear lead in the loop race.

The team from the Military Training Centre set up an early lead and at the end of the first half of the second inning were in front 6 to 0. However the Adam Hat Royals struck back in their half of the frame and before the Soldiers could get three men out the Parnell outfit had scored six runs and tied up the game.

Then Royals proceeded to build up a big lead on their own account scoring three in the fourth and two more in the next inning. They were in front 11 to 6 when the seventh inning opened but the Soldiers staged a four-run rally then to almost close the gap and opened the eighth inning with a run that put the two teams on even footing.

The Royals, however, came back with a cheap run in their half to win the argument before anyone was out and the game was called for darkness just as soon as the winning run came in.

The field was very slippery and as a result the pitchers were handicapped by bad footing while the fielding naturally suffered. Fraser was on the firing line for the winners and the Soldiers gave him a hot reception in the early stages and again in the eighth, getting fifteen hits off his delivery. Ken Fleming, who pitched for the Soldiers, was not hit so hard but he gave ten bases on balls and his generosity hurt.

Outside of a fast double play by the Soldier infield, a good throw to the plate by Outfielder Eddie Dixon and running catches by Doug. Mortimer and Bob Parnell there were few fielding features.

Soldiers scored two in the first. Jackson was walked and went to second on Barnes' sacrifice. Blake doubled to send the run in and after Sero had been thrown out Dixon singled to score Blake.

In the second the Soldiers had a field day when walks to Anderson and Herrick, singles by Fleming, Jackson and Barnes and Sero's double to the cars in left, with two errors sent four runs across.

The Royals came back with six n their half. Pryde got a life on Jackson's low throw, Parnell walked and after Giardino struck out Scriver walked to fill the bases. Fraser popped to Jackson but McNabb walked to force in Pryde with the first run. Hawks singled, scoring Parnell. Smith walked and Scriver registered, Mowry's fly to centre on which Blake was slow coming in for sent two more runs in and Pryde's single over third scored Smith with the tieing run but Mowry was out at the plate, trying to score on the play.

In the fourth the Royals took the lead on singles by Smith and Mowry, a pass to Pryde and Parnell's double and they came back with two more in the fifth on a pass to Hawks, and singles by Mowry and Parnell.

The Soldiers were blanked until in their half. Pryde got a life on with a rally. Dixon started with a single to centre and after Anderson had struck out Herrick tripled to right to score Dixon. Fleming flied to centre but Jackson doubled and Barnes and Mortimer hit safely for three more runs before Sero retired the side on a popup.

The Soldiers came back in the eighth to tie it up. Dixon got a life when Fraser muffed his easy fly. Anderson walked. Herrick forced Dixon at third but Fleming singled to send in Anderson. Jackson also hit safely but Barnes flied to centre.

Giardino, first up in the eighth for Royals, was safe when Anderson fumbled his roller. Scriver bunted safely and Giardino kept on to third, scoring when he collided with the third baseman and the throw across the diamond went wild to let the winning run score.

American Loop Hopes To Play Hockey '42-'43

TULSA, June 4 (AP)—The American Hockey Association will continue operation next season if no objections are raised by the United Stats and Canadian Governments, the Board of Governors decided at the annual meeting yesterday.

The association has teams at Dallas, Fort Worth, St. Louis, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha and Tulsa.

The board voted to ask the Governments of the two countries that players not subject to military duty or work in war industries be made available for hockey. Members agreed, however, that it probably would be difficult to get players from Canada.

The schedule and other plans will be completed at the fall meeting, set for Sept. 11 and 12 at Dallas.

The player limit for each team was reduced from 13 to 11 and the number of games to be played by each team was increased from 50 to 54.

After a discussion of the shaky financial condition of the Tulsa Club, the board voted to give George Lackey, owner of the franchise, until July 3 to pay his obligations to the Association and to the Tulsa players.

Operation of the Tulsa club was taken over by the players near the close of last season after Lackey reported he was unable to pay overdue salaries.

The resignation of George Higgins, Minneapolis, was accepted with regret, and Lyle Wright, president of the Omaha club, was named acting president. Herman Marthaler, St. Paul, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Annenberg Freed

LEWISBURG, June 4 — (AP).—M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher was released from the North-eastern Federal Penitentiary on parole yesterday because of his health after serving 23 months of a three-year sentence for income tax evasion.

The Justice Department at Washington announced the publisher was being released immediately instead of on June 11 as originally scheduled.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Soldiers and Royals staged an exciting City League game at the Ashburnham Bowl last night under far-from-good conditions so far as the playing field was concerned. Heavy rains have given the diamond no chance to dry out and there were puddles on the base paths and at the plate and pitching mound when the game got under way. Under the circumstances it was a good ball game, with the Royals just winning out by 12 to 11, getting the winning run in the last half of the last inning after the battling Soldiers had tied it up in the initial end of the frame. It was an unusual battle. The Soldiers, greeting Fireball Bill Fraser of the Royals as if he were just a cousin, set up an early lead of six runs, only to see it wiped out by the end of the second. Then the Royals piled up a five-run margin and it in turn was cut down to exactly nothing. However, the league leaders managed to find the winning marker when they needed it the most and took the argument to put themselves well out in front with two wins and a tie in three starts. Plaza Billiards are second with a win and a loss and the Soldiers in third position with one victory and two defeats. The Juveniles have tied one and lost one and the new club, the Lucky Strikes, have yet to make their debut.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the outfit under the management of Manager F. Griffin who started out under the De Laval name have found a new sponsor in the Edgar Bait Company and they will be known henceforth as the Lucky Strikes. They are billed to make their initial appearance tonight against Plaza Billiards in a game that will be staged at the Bowl at 7 o'clock sharp. Manager Griffin will introduce a lot of new talent against the hockey squad. Bill Lewis is billed to do the pitching with Patterson behind the bat. The Lucky Strikes will have an infield composed of Jamieson at first base, A. Caccavella 2b, M. Caccavella ss and Loyst 3b, while Corrigan, McCormick and Shaughnessy are billed to look after the outfield positions. Manager Ellis of Plazas has not announced his lineup for tonight but it is expected that it will be about the same as the outfit which defeated Soldiers last week with the pitching assignment entrusted to Bob Crowe or Dave Wilson. The first appearance in a league game of the Lucky Strikes makes tonight's game more than unusually interesting and there should be plenty of customers when the battle gets under way.

* * * * * *

Westclox and C.G.E. girls who have battled against each other season after season and always managed to stage a real argument will pry the lid off the Girls' Softball League season at the Bowl tomorrow night and word from both camps is that each expects to win the initial clash. While wet weather has interfered with training to some extent the girls have been getting in all the practice possible and both clubs hope to be in good shape for the opener. There will be many of the old favorites back in the lineups tomorrow night but both outfits will have a few new faces. One change is that Elinor Craig who played with Westclox last season will be playing against her old club Friday night as she is now employed at the C.G.E. and is out with the Electricians. The game is billed to start at 7 o'clock sharp.

Champs Have Trouble

The Cubs, last year's Catholic League winners, have been having a little difficulty in fielding a team this season. Some of last season's champs have joined active service units and others are working nights or late. There is a rumor that Roy Garvey who has been attending St. Augustine's Seminary and is home for the holidays has been selected to succeed Jack Moher as pilot of the winners of last season. New recruits have been lined up and the Cubs may yet rally around and give everybody a battle for the league title. St. Peter's are billed to clash with the Barons tonight at Memorial Park and Friday night the Cubs and Knights of Columbus will tear into each other. Both games should be interesting contests.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the clubs and the league officials are hoping for a better break in the matter of weather so that the regular schedule of five games a week can be carried out. Some work is being done on the diamond this week and it shouldn't be long before it is in better shape. Recently the grass in the outfield has grown so high that some of the fielders have been having difficulty in getting into bat on time. However a few dry days will improve conditions immensely and offer a chance to put the field in shape for the remaining games.

* * * * * *

The following schedule has been issued from the headquarters of the City Softball League:—

Tonight, June 4—Lucky Strikes vs. Plazas.
June 9—Juveniles vs. Plazas.
June 10—Soldiers vs. Lucky Strikes.
June 11—Lucky Strikes vs. Royals.
June 15—Juveniles vs. Lucky Strikes.

Cannot Stop Them

There doesn't seem to be any way of stopping the New York Yanks, Pitcher Ernie Bonham or second baseman Joe Gordon. The New Yorkers triumphed over Chicago White Sox yesterday 4 to 1 to increase their lead and the winning pitcher was none other than Mister Bonham. It represented his eighth straight win this season without a defeat and it came very close to being his fifth shutout. Bonham allowed only one run and that was on a homer by Joe Kuhel. Gordon hit safely for his 19th game in a row. And the Yankee Clipper, Joe DiMaggio who has been doing little or nothing with his wagon tongue recently got hold of a choice one to drive the ball out of the lot for a three-run homer. It was DiMag's tenth circuit clout of the campaign. Bill Dietrich was the victim. In the other afternoon American League game the Philadelphia A's handed the Detroit Tigers a 5 to 1 beating with Jack Knott pitching nice ball for the winners. Like Bonham he would have had a shutout if he had not tossed up a home-run ball. In his case Pinky Higgins was the villain who drove the horsehide into the stands.

* * * * * *

Johnny Sain came through with a smart demonstration of relief pitching against the St. Louis Cards yesterday and the Boston Braves managed to win out after a tense struggle 4 to 3. After Sain took over he stopped three Card rallies, the last one being stopped when Max [illegible] pulled off an unassisted doubleplay with the bases full. Tost started for Boston and got credit for the win and the loss went to Dickson of the Cards, although Gumbert was in there at the finish. In an American League night game St. Louis Browns showed unusual power by cracking down on Sid Hudson in the second inning and driving home eight runs. Browns took the Senators into camp 9 to 5 thanks to that sudden flareup. Vernon Stephens had four of the Brownies' 15 hits.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: New York Yanks have won 22 out of their last 26 games....At that clip they will soon be in a league all by themselves ....Art Stevenson, captain of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers has enlisted in the Canadian Army Medical Corps as a private....He will get indefinite leave until he has completed his medical studies at the University of Manitoba....Chicago made eight hits off Bonham yesterday, the most the Yankee ace had yielded in a game this season....Sero played shortstop for the Soldiers last night, his natural post according to Scribe Ken Colling of Belleville....Jackson, new third baseman for the Soldiers had four hits to lead his team's attack. Mowry had three for the Royals and thus won a cleaning and pressing job offered by Shockey Mein....Les Burton, at Niagara Camp with the Rangers has signed with the St. Catharines senior ball club....And Doug. Mowry, former catcher is playing third base for Welland....Reg Leether of the Juveniles broke a finger in the game against the Soldiers and will be out of action for some time....Cleveland Indians did not play yesterday but they climbed back into second place evertheless when Detroit absorbed a trimming at the hands of the A's.

Di Mag The Hero As He Poles Another Homer

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ernie Bonham, the undefeated righthanded pitching star of New York Yankees, is getting too good for his own good.

Jumbo won his eighth straight game yesterday 4-1 at the expense of Chicago White Sox. He kept eight hits scattered, walked only two men, and would have had a shutout except for a home run by George Kuhel in the seventh inning.

This was pretty good pitching and almost certainly would have satisfied the supporters of any other hurler in the major leagues, but the onlookers at Yankee Stadium were quick to size it up as one of Bonham's poorest performances of the season.

In the first place it wasn't a shutout. The big fellow had administered white-washings in four of his first seven starts and by the time he had laid six goose-eggs end to end yesterday, some of the boys figured he should have another.

Besides, it was the first time this year he had allowed more than seven hits. And those two bases on balls, Tch, Tch, he had yielded only five passes in seven games previously and two in one game surely was slipping.

So Bonham won his eighth in a row and the crowd filed out of the park, and who do you suppose was the hero? Why joltin' Joe DiMaggio. He interrupted his batting slump to produce a three-run homer (his 10th of the season) for the margin of victory in the third inning, and he also collected a single and made a spectacular play in centrefield to help Bonham out of a hole.

A's Stop Tigers 5-1

Philadelphia Athletics brought Detroit Tigers to a sudden stop with a 5-1 decision on Jack Knott's six-hit hurling. The A's were held to seven safeties themselves, but shook Hal White loose for three runs in the fifth inning to sew up the game.

St. Louis Browns routed Sid Hudson with an eight-run assault in the second inning and went on whip Washington 9-5, dropping the Senators into the American League cellar.

In the National League Pittsburg Pirates received a reprieve from the Weather Man providing time to recover from the 17-2 shellacking they received the day before from Brooklyn Dodgers.

Meanwhile Boston Braves moved a game closer the second-place Cardinals by capturing a 4-3 twilight struggle at St. Louis played before 11,447 fans for the benefit of the Army and Navy relief funds.

When the Redbirds showed signs of getting rough with Lou Tost in the fifth and sixth innings, Johnny Sain marched to the mound and saved the game. The Cards loaded the bases in both the sixth and ninth innings with one out, and each time hit into double plays.

Frank (Rube) Melton pitched and batted the Phils to a 2-1 10-inning triumph over Cincinnati Reds in a night game. He spaced six hits and knocked home the winning run in the overtime chapter with a double. Big Paul Derringer pitched five-hit ball, but his teammates committed four errors.

CIRCUIT CLOUT ROBS BONHAM OF SHUTOUT·AS HE DOWNS CHICAGO

Russell Smacks Homers To Hold His Job

CHICAGO, June 4 — (CP). — Jimmy Foxx has joined the Chicago Cubs presumably to take over the first base job, and Phil Cavarretta who used to hold down that post is crowing contentedly that he's now an outfielder. But for Glen (Rip) Russell, it's a more serious matter. He's dangerously close to losing his place as a regular.

So concerned has Russell been that in the two games since the Cubs brought Foxx from the Boston Red Sox he has busted out a home run a day, yesterday's against the New York Giants coming with the bases filled.

Should Foxx, incapacitated by a broken rib, be delegated to serve as more than a pinch hitter, and take command of first base, he would be the fourth to work that sack for the Cubs this year.

In addition to Cavarretta and Russell, the Cubs have used Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren there. A few weeks ago, they sold Dahlgren to the St. Louis Browns, only to have him bounce when the Browns balked at the written bill of sale. Subsequently, Dahlgren was sold to Brooklyn.

The arrival of Foxx yesterday was a festive occasion. After conferring with General Manager James Gallagher, the whole Cub clan gathered in the dressing room so the younger Chicagoans (many in their early twenties) could gaze on this mighty veteran of 35 years.

Shortly after Russell smacked his four-run homer in the first inning, Manager Gallagher disappeared.

"H-mmm," someone in the press box mused, "James must be going to telephone the Browns to see if he can sell 'em Foxx."

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 4.—(CP)—One of the continent's better football stories (with really practically nothing to do with football) is one about a large young fellow picked up for Ottawa by grid-enthusiast Eddie Emerson.

Bill (Ottawa Journal) Westwick writes that all this big fellow wanted as retainer was three meals a day. He was big, the gamble was small. He got his meals.

Emerson turned up at the club's first workout to watch his protege perform, wandered around awhile then found him in a corner of the field with a mashie and a pile of golf balls, thoughtfully chipping them into the nearby canal. This struck Emerson as a refreshing approach to the game so he sauntered over and lobbed a few balls into the canal himself.

This continued for some time before the supply of balls was gone. Then Emerson turned to the big fellow and observed that this was an intriguing pastime, but somewhat expensive. He asked where the balls came from. The lad pointed to Emerson's car, explained genially: "They were in a bag along with your clubs."

Hutchinson Cops 5th As Wings Nip Bears Twice

By The Associated Press

Pitcher Ira Hutchinson of the tail-end Rochester Red Wings is one of the many former major league players enjoying a successful season in the International League and harboring hopes of another whirl in the Big Time.

Hutchinson won his fifth game of the year yesterday as the Wings took a doubleheader from the league-leading New Bears, 4-1 and 13-5, for their first double win of the campaign. He allowed the Bears only five hits with their lone run coming as a result of Frank Kelleher's homer in the fourth inning.

In the second game the Wings bunched 14 hits against 13 scattered blows for the hard-hitting Bears.

Jersey City Giants made it four straight over Buffalo Bisons, as they defeated the Herd twice in a twin bill, 7-2 and 4-3. In the opener Warren Pickell scattered seven hits in hanging up his third triumph of the season.

In the only other game scheduled, Ewell Blackwell of Syracuse Chiefs turned in his first win of his professional baseball career as he defeated Montreal Royals on four hits, 3-1.

Real 'Taffy Pull' At Belmont Alsab, Shut Out

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP)—The chances are there'll only be five or six horses going to the post in Saturday's 74th running of the Belmont Stakes, which should make it quite an exclusive taffy-pull for Alsab and Shut Out.

For, while the other three or four will be shooting at that more-than-$50,000 purse, too, they haven't much of a chance, on form, with Al Sabatha's Chicago champ and the son of Equipoise who won the Kentucky Derby for Mrs Payne Whitney.

The others probably will include Walter Chrysler's Ramillies up to now one of the bigger "busts" among the three year olds this spring; Lochinvar, a husky youngster from the barn of James Roebling of Trenton, N.J., whose chief claim to fame is that he wound up second to Alsab in the Withers Mile a couple of weeks ago; H. G. Lunger's Half Crown, an invader from England, and possibly William Ziegler Jr.'s Wait a Bit, who has done some stretch running occasionally this spring.

The winner, which should be either one of the two favorites, will have a stranglehold on the championship of the three year olds. Shut Out grabbed the Derby by a couple of lengths because the Sab's stretch rush wasn't long enough to catch him. A week later, on May 9, Alsab turned it loose at Pimlico and rushed right by the whole crowd to win the Preakness, while Shut Out got himself tangled up in the pack, and finished fifth.

With the rest of the top contenders for the year's honors laid up with leg injuries, Alsab and Shut Out have the big money and the laurels about to themselves.

Younger Dykes Upset By Umps

CHICAGO, June 4—Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago White Sox, visiting Lockport, N.Y., Monday for an exhibition game between his club and the Pony League Lockports, was kept busy checking on his sons, Jimmy Jr. and Charles. Jim Junior is an infielder with the Lockport club and Charles is a catcher.

Pop Dykes wanted to know how Charles managed to be chased from a game recently by the umpire.

"Well," explained his son, "I was catching, and the ump was having a bad day. Finally, I couldn't stand it any longer. So I said: 'Why don't you buy your way into the park? You couldn't do an worse from the stands.'"

"That's telling him, boy," congratulated the Chicago skipper, who has been chased out of the best of American League parks for similar speeches.

Landing back in Chicago from the Lockport jaunt, Manager Dykes informed newspapermen he had fined Coach Bing Miller $5 for undue exertion during the exhibition. Bing was used in right field by the White Sox.

"I fined him the five because he caught a line drive off son Charles, with two men on base," Dykes said. "Why couldn't he be smart like Myril Hoag?"

Hoag, it seems, let a high fly hit by Jimmy Jr. fall for a single.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ARMY?

(2) EIGHT CWT. TRUCK

The 8 cwt. G.S. (General Service) truck is adapted to many uses throughout the Canadian Army. Very slight differences in outward appearance may indicate its particular use. Equipped with wireless it is used by signallers for intercommunication between formations.

As a personnel carrier the 8 cwt. can be used for reconnaissance work. It carries five persons.

The type most often seen in Canada is a two-wheeled drive capable of a speed of 60 miles per hour is required. Large tires enable it to give good performance across country.

THEATRE HIGHLIGHTS

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vincent Carroll's play of Scotland under fire, the theatre's third attempt this season to capture on the stage the spirit of the little man in the Battle of Britain, received its New York premiere this week.

"The Strings, My Lord, Are False," is its title, and as in previous plays by the former Glasgow schoolteacher the action is centred in a parish priest, Canon Courtenay, who in his church gives shelter and fatherly comfort to all and sundry while outside the bombs fall in a bedlam of off-stage sound effect.

The work had its world premiere at the Olympia Theatre in Dublin last March and was enthusiastically hailed by Irish reviewers as the best of the war plays so far. The New York critics, however, were more restrained, finding the play wordy and loosely thrown together.

Like "The Wookey" and "Heart of a City," the two previous plays which dramatize the London blitz, the new Carroll work is more of a tableau—a stage recording of what goes on in the course of an air raid—than a finished play which builds up audience interest in the outcome as it goes along.

In his eagerness to make the cast representative of Port Monica, the steel-manufacturing town so badly hit in the Clydeside blitz of spring, 1941 the playwright has produced a complete cross-section—an Irish radical, profiteering city councillors, a reformed prostitute, a woman who has a baby during the bombing, gallant A.R.P. workers and townspeople.

The play title, "The Strings, My Lord, Are False," is from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar," where it is the sleepy reply of the lute-player Lucius when Brutus asks: "Can't thou hold up thy heavy eyes awhile, and touch thy instrument a strain or two."

In the Carroll work the quotation has reference to the world to-day. When the Irish radical speaks, the parish priest replies that the strings are not false; rather the world has let them get out of tune and will have to go on fighting until the true notes of justice and truth are re-established.

The production is notable for Walter Hampden's moving portrayal of Canon Courtenay, who champions the common man as against the greed and selfishness of the well-heeled. In the role of the heart-of-gold harlot, Margot Graham, South African actress who is the wife of Capt. Alan McMartin of Montreal, turns in a likable performance.

Surprise of the week along the Rialto was Oscar Serlin's sudden decision to close his much-discussed production of "The Moon Is Down" to-night, giving John Steinbeck's play of a Nazi-invaded Norwegian town a run of only 55 performances.

Since its premiere the play has been the centre of a bitter dispute among the critics, who divided into two camps according to whether or not they thought Steinbeck's Nazis too gentle to fit the stern realities of the war.

Producer Serlin placed the blame for the abrupt closing at the door of those critics who repeatedly blasted the play day after day. However, the advent of summer weather, with the resultant slump in theatre business probably had much to do with it as the operating expenses of the production were unusually high. Less than three weeks ago screen right to the play, then doing near capacity business, were sold to Hollywood for the record price of $300,000.

LAKEFIELD

Interesting Talk On China Is Given W.M.S.

LAKEFIELD, June 4 — (ENS) — Members of the W.M.S. of Regent Street United church held their June meeting in the Sunday School room on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. W. Leonard and Mrs. H. Brown were in charge.

Mrs. Brown conducted the devotional period. The roll call was answered by a verse from Philippians. Arrangements were made for a special meeting to be held on the evening of June 10 in the Sunday School room, when Mrs. D. B. Avison of Peterborough will be guest speaker. It was decided to invite the sister societies of the other churches to this meeting.

A flower committee was appointed to put flowers in the church for the Sunday services for the month of July. Mrs. P. H. Darling announced that the Mission Band will have a tea on June 13. The treasurer reported $71.31 raised in the second quarter.

Mrs. R. H. Knox gave a reading, urging the need of gifts to the Mission fields. Mrs. H. Sherin read an article written by Dr. Bob McClure, describing the adventures of an Englishman, Dr. Donald, in China. This doctor gave up chances for great opportunities in England to go to China to aid the people there. The Chinese, and even his colleagues, were very skeptical about him making good but he proved himself to be equal to the task.

Mrs. Leonard spoke on "The Unconquered Chinese." After years of war the Chinese nation has become a united nation. They have developed their own materials which previously were brought in over the Burma Road. This war has made China practically self supporting as regards food. Even their own oil fields are being developed. Under their great Christian leaders a country could not but become a noble nation.

Mrs. Dora MacMillan gave a lovely solo entitled "Some of These Days."

Mrs. Leonard then reviewed some of the highlights of the Dominion Board meeting of the United church, urging the W.M.S. members to take a definite stand on the Temperance question. The need of friendship to people of all creeds living in our land was also stressed. Mrs. W. W. Yale extended an invitation to the member to have a picnic at her cottage at Young's Point in July.

Mrs. Leonard read a prayer which had been written by Mrs. Stephens, president of the Dominion Board, and the meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Word was received in the village on Wednesday of the death of Pilot Officer Graham Faunt. His death was announced in a cable received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Faunt, of 325-13th St. N.W. Calgary. He had recently joined the famous 400 squadron overseas. The cable merely stated that he was killed on active service.

Born in Brooks 27 years ago, Pilot Officer Faunt attended Crescent High School and the Institute of Technicology. He joined the R.C.A.F. in March of last year. Surviving in addition to his parents are three brothers, Allan with the R.C.A.F. in London, Ontario, Bob and Harry of Calgary, and a sister, Mary. His grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Sanderson of McLeod, formerly of Smith township. His mother's maiden name was Millie Sanderson. E. J. Sanderson of the village is a great-uncle, and Miss Margaret Sanderson is a cousin.

The Rev. George Kelly, Mrs. Kelly and Helen, were in Toronto on Thursday of this week, where they attended the wedding of the Rev. Arthur Stead, who is a nephew of Mrs. Kelly's. His father has preached here several times.

Home From Cologne

These members of the crew of a giant Wellington bomber are pictured, dwarfed by their huge plane, as they enjoyed some food upon their return to their flying field in England after participating in the gigantic raid on Cologne. This picture was cabled from England.

Fiery, Itching Toes and Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil now dispensed by chemists at trifling cost, that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly stopped; and in a short time you are rid of that bothersome, fiery eczema. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet—others irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottles at McDermid & Jury or any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.—(Advt.)

was made by officials on whether there had been a vote for money exed and whether the facts justified proper allocation on the money voted and whethr th facts justifid the payment.

Mr. Ilsley said the objections he received were not that amounts were paid without proper investigation but that investigations were so careful that persons dealing with the government could not get their money as soon as they should.

Church Charges Waste

Mr. Church said he believed that money was "being wasted all voer Canada, with absolutely no control nad no report made to parliament."

He said a report of the auditor-general (Watson Sellar) has disclosed cases of travel expenses being paid although the records did not establish that the individual concerned held any public appointment.

"Now I have brought the report of the auditor-general, and the illegal expenditures which have been made, to the attention of parliament. I have done my duty," said Mr. Church.

George Black (Con. Yukon) asked Labor Minister Mitchell if government action was planned concerning wages being paid by United States contractors engaged in building the Alaska Highway.

Mr. Black said the contractors were paying common laborers 96½ cents an hour plus 10 per cent exchange on Canadian money while the war labor board had ruled the rate of pay of common laborers in the Yukon shoul dbe 75 cents an hour plus a cost-of-living bonus.

He urged that the controller of the Yukon should be 75 cents an hour plus a cost-of-living bonus.

He urged that the controller of the Yukon (G. A. Jeckell, Dawson, Y.T.) be given authority to deal with the wage situation in the territory.

Mr. Mitchell told the House he had conferred with United States officials Wednesday in an effort to solve labor problems in connection with construction of the road.

(It was learned from a government source that the conferences, devoted to "general aspects" of the Alaska highway construction, are continuing today).

Control of Livestock

P. E. Wright ((C.C.F. Melfort) suggested a livestock marketing board should be appointed with the control of marketing of all livestock in Canada. Such a board would give livestock producers confidence their rights were being looked after.

Mr. Gardiner said suggestions had been received for a livestock board similar to the board of grain commissioners. All the costs of grading cattle, hogs and dairy products now were borne by the Federal treasury but in grain the product itself carried these costs. If this system were applied to livestock products under a board organization, the cost to the producer would be greater.

On suggestions that heavier hogs should be acceptable for marketing, Mr. Gardiner said Canada, in supplying British needs, had been attempting to satisfy British tastes. The criticism of fat bacon came not only from the British people but from Canadian troops overseas.

By maintaining bacon quality Canada could hope to maintain as large a percentage as possible of the British market after the war.

Hon. W. Earl Rowe (Con. Dufferin-Simcoe) said a producer fattening hogs to 225 pounds before marketing could easily raise them to 250 pounds and thus make more bacon available. It would take years for Denmark to get back to the bacon export position she occupied before the war. Germany was consuming not only the bacon produced there but the breeding stock as well.

Wants No Sudden Export Stop.

Advocating longer-term agreements with the United Kingdom, M. J. Colwell, C.C.F. House Leader, said the Canadian economy had been upset by the concentration on hog production and there should be an effort to obtain assurance that when the war ended there would not be a sudden stop in the bulk of exports to Great Britain.

Canada had come near an agreement with the British authorities for a two-year contract on bacon with the idea it would be renewed at the end of each 12-month period and would have the effect of continuing such an agreement until one year after the war.

The British were prepared to enter into the two-year agreement if a lower price were allowed, but Canada finally decided to enter a one-year agreement at the higher rate.

A new bacon agreement would probably be signed earlier this year and have the effect of covering an 18 months instead of a year period.

It was expected the contract to supply Britain with 600,000,000 pounds of bacon under the existing contract, which started last October 1, would be "approximately met."

Still Not Up to Danish Quality

Mr. Gardiner said that even with all the care taken in breeding Canadian hogs the stage had not been reached where a large percentage of Canadian hogs were of the high type produced by Denmark for Britain.

Efforts should be continued to maintain Canadian bacon quality.

Mr. Gardiner continued: "We are unble to guess, and no one knows at the moment what position Denmark is going to be in after the war, but I think we should take it for granted that the people who are in control of Europe today are just as wise in connection with the production of food as they are in connection with other operations having to do with the war.

"I would be very much surprised if there are not more hogs being produced in Denmark today than before the war. There has been no war in Denmark, the Nazis simply walked in and took possession of everything there, and I venture to say that they are producing as much in Denmark today as when the war started."

Canada should expect that Denmark at the end of the war will have the same high grades as she had before, and Canada would not have two or three years in which to build up her product. The Dominion should keep her products in a position to meet any compeition.

Mr. Gardiner said he had heard criticisms there were too many grades of hogs, "and I have been driving at the Bacon Board and our own men in the department to see if we cannot get the number of grades cut down, and on making inquiry regarding it I find that in Canada we have 11 grades and on the Chicago market there are 26."

Wants Butter Put Up

Bruce McNevin (Lib., Victoria) said the Government should take steps to increase the price of butter, as a serious decrease in supplies was in prospect. He said that because of the price situation the supply of milk for cheese was unlimited, but the amount for butter was limited. An increase of five cents a pound in the price for butterfat would assist the situation.

corridor from north and south, and R.A.F. planes blasted Axis forces moving into the breach.

The southern wall of the gap in the British lines was reported yesterday to be about 12 miles north of Bir Hacheim, around which a German armored column swept 10 days ago in a swift encircling thrust aimed at strategic Tobruk.

Part of this column still is engaged in a terrific battle with British armored forces in the vicinity of Knightsbridge, desert trail junction 15 miles southwest of Tobruk and some 15 or 20 miles east of the Ain El Gazala-Bir Hacheim line.

In an effort to smash this spearhead, being supplied through the breach in the British defences, Imperial headquarters is bringing up fresh troops, heavy artillery, anti-tank guns and tanks.

The thunder of the battle, the most intense in more than 1½ years of desert fighting, could be heard for many miles.

Dispatches from the front indicate more and more infantry is being thrown into the struggle daily. Observers say British forces are making extensive use of hand grenades, which have been found highly effective against mechanized enemy units.

Bombers From Land Base

Experts said the Japanese fighters in the first raid must have come from a carrier, but there was a possibility the bombers came from a land base. Dutch Harbor is about 1,800 miles from the northernmost of the Kurile Islands which stretch northward from Japan proper.

Unalaska Island, on which Dutch Harbor is situated, is nearly 1,000 miles from the westernmost of the Aleutians, which in turn is some 700 miles from the nearest of the Japanese Kuriles.

Pending any official word to the contrary, Washington was inclined to regard the raids as either token reprisals for the recent American bombing of Tokyo and other Japanese cities or as thrusts to test American defences.

But with the southwestern Pacific battle relatively quiet and the battle of Burma ended, officials familiar with the northern Pacific pointed out the Japanese have chosen a moment for the Alaska attack which could mean a shift in the direction of the war.

If the Japanese intend an attempt to establish themselves in the Aleutians either for a major campaign against the American continent or as a defence against United Nations attack from the north, they have at least another month of good flying weather. Summer fogs settle down on the north Pacific islands in late July and August, and might hamper an Allied counter-offensive after the impetus of such an initial Japanese drive was spent.

The last part 2 orders from the orderly room of the 4th Field Battery shows five more recruits accepted and their names are: T. L. Brooks, J. C. Hamilton, W. James, T. D. McNeely, and D. J. Wright. Lance-Sergeant O. J. Martin has been promoted to Sergeant.

WHY NOT ALL OF THEM

A chain store owner on George street was ordered by the police on Wednesday morning to remove a sandwich board sign from the sidewalk, and he obeyed. A checkup on the side streets such as Hunter, Simcoe and Charlotte revealed that not a single merchant had been ordered to take in his signs. These are illegal according to city bylaws, and in the event of some person tripping over them, and suffering injury, the injured person could probably collect damages. Perhaps they would be of value as salvage.

The first false alarm in some time was turned in Thursday morning at 9.10 from Box 21, near St. Peter's School, Chief Gimblett reported today. He said that this city has been singularly free of pranks of this kind in comparison with other cities.

NIGHTLY SERENADE.

People living on Stewart Street between Hunter and Simcoe are threatening to band together for a little target practice. None of these householders have cats, yet Wednesday night about one o'clock a horrible chorus arose, rousing everyone from a peaceful sleep. Nothing would dislodge them and one householder who counted the animals says there were ten. Should it happen again, the irate sleepers say they won't be accountable for their actions.

Canada Packers Honors Veteran Worker

Forty long-term employees and pensioners of the local plant of Canada Packers, Ltd., voted unanimously at a banquet in the Empress Hotel on Wednesday evening to form a quarter century club, and at the same time they honored one of their number, who is retiring after 55 years continuous service.

The retiring employee, Alfred (Sammy) LeFaive, Sr., with more than half a century of unbroken service with the company, seemed quite young in appearance as he occupied a place of honor at the head table with Gordon S. Matthews, local plant manager, and the latter's father, T. Frank Matthews of Toronto. Highlight of the program was the presentation of a gold watch and chain on behalf of the company by Mr. T. F. Matthews to Mr. LeFaive, and the recipient made suitable reply, recalling many intresting incidents during the years he had worked for Canada Packers.

Honor Retiring Employee

While the orginal purpose of the dinner was to honor the retiring employee, it was also a grand opportunity for the old timers and pensioners to get together again, and have a good time, and as every man in the plant with 25 years' service or more was on hand, it was timely that the question of a quarter century club be discussed. To formulate the by-laws of the club, and work out a constitution, a president and secretary were elected, and the two men chosen are Jack Bradbury, president, and Albert Dryland, secretary.

A welcome to the employees and pensioners was extended by Gordon Matthews, and on behalf of J. S. McLean, president of the company, William Carroll, general superintendent, spoke briefly, voicing his pleasure at the fact that he was able to be on hand. He said too, that Mr. McLean had planned on being in the city for the dinner, but as chairman of the committee for post-war reconstruction, was detained by a meeting in Toronto. "It is an unusual honor for any company official to attend a testimonial dinner to an employee who has spent 55 years in the employ of the firm," he said.

T. F. Matthews when called on to address the men, recalled early days when they had worked together to build the foundation of the great company which now spreads across Canada. In his quiet friendly way, he paid warm tribute to these old timers who had struggled down through the years, working with the company, always willing to do a little extra, always loyal, always imbued with one ideal of service with quality, always giving an honest day's work for the wages they received. It was not an address as addresses go, but more a friendly little talk from a man who considered himself one of the crowd, and who could look back down the years to the days when he had worked side by side with these same workers.

Came To Peterborough in 1886

He told them of coming to Peterborough from Lindsay in 1886, of starting the first store on George street, where he worked with his brother, W. E. Matthews. The first plant owned by the firm was 48 feet wide and 98 feet long. He mentioned the long hours, told of buying his own hogs, weighing them, and sorting them, and added that one of the highlights came when 300 hogs were butchede in a da. At that time he sent a wire to his father who was attending the World's Fair in Chicago, to advise him of this unusual feat.

Mr. Matthews called many of the old timers by name as the various incidents came to his mind, and he mentioned one other rather unsual fact, when he said the Matthews people had banked with the Bank of Montreal since 1868, a record few firms can equal "There have been times when we owed the bank millions of dollars, but the notes have always been met, and the relations between the firm and bank remained mutually satisfactory." In his reminiscences he recalled that World War I had taken his son Harold, who was reported missing on June 3, 1915, just 27 years ago yesterday. This boy stood highest of all entrance graduates, headed the rugby team and hockey team at Royal Military College, and was an all-round athlete and brilliant student. He enlisted three days after war was declared, was reported missing in June, and his death was confirmed about six months later. Gordon S. Matthews, then just 18 followed his brother and served with the artillery overseas.

Mr. Matthews called on Mr. LeFaive to stand and accept the engraved gold watch "which is presented by the president and officers of the company for your loyalty and years of service."

Key Men of Industry

In addressing the men, Gordon S. Matthews said, "You veterans are the key men of industry today, and to a large extent responsibili it of gettin gthe food to the troops rests on your shoulders. Since January 1 ninety men have left, and ninety new ones have come in. We have more than fifty in the army, many more in the air force and the navy ,and George Cook, one of our ffice staff, has received the George Medal. There are eight out of the office alone in the air force. After the war you can see to it that the men who are fighting our battles over there now, will get their jobs back, and in the meantime, you can do a big job for your country by keeping the wheels of industry turning at top speed."

The following are the active employees with 25 years or more of service, and this list does not include the pensioners, several of whom attended the banquet:

Millard Tips Church To Back Labor Or Workers Will Do Without It

LINDSAY, Ont., June 4 (CP)—C. H. Millard, regional director of the Committee for Industrial Organization, last night told the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church in session here that "labor unions have done more in the past few years to break down class distinction than the church has done in 50 years."

In urging clergymen to use their influence with the government in demanding new protective legislation for workers, Millard warned that unless the church backed the laboring class workers would do without the church.

"Workers are basically religious but they are now becoming suspiciuos of the church," he said. "While the church has paid lip service it has failed to identify itself with labor."

Millard charged that some employers had refused to take war work until the profit ceiling was lifted.

"The workers are only 26 per cent organized through unions and are unable to cope wtih employers who are 100 per cent organized," he said.

V. S. Milburn of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, told the conference all farmers should be organized.

Prof. Gregory Vlastos of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., and Provincial Richard Davidson of Emmanual College, Toronto, also spoke.

Alfred Poulter of Madoc, Ont., was appointed chairman of the business committee and Rev. W. R. Tanton of Smiths Falls, Ont., was named chairman of the nominating committee.

Hall's Glen W.I. Gives Aid To War Victims

Near Lakefield a group of ladies, known as the Hall's Glen Institute War Workers, R.R. 2, Lakefield, have been doing good work to help along various war efforts, and in the past their name has appeared in the columns of the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund. In to-day's list of receipts for the fund, their name once more appears this time with a donation of $10.00, which spells a continuity of effort which marks all the donations in to-day's list.

The Peterborough St. David's Society, a group of local Welsh patriots, headed by Mrs. G. Pakenham as president, who has three sons serving in the active forces in Britain, to-day makes its seventh donation, which has now become a monthly event to help those stricken through air raids over Britain.

One outstanding personal donor, a lady who gives under the name of "In As Much," is credited with her 21st donation for $10.00, demonstrating a real desire of continuing to help in the name of the Master Who gave His life for all.

The Get-Together Club, whose monthly contribution could be depended upon to help through the cooler and winter months had its final meeting for the summer a few days ago, and to wind up the season there appears another $10.25 in their name per Mrs. G. Kiff of 581 Division Street, one of the club's most active members, this constituting the 16th donation to bring their total to date with $5.00 of the $200 mark.

The total for the Penny Boxes must be closely approaching the thousand dollar mark with to-day's contribution of $4.32 from this source of fund activity coming from S. Joseph's Hospital, whose name has a number of times previously appeared in the lists for the fund in a similar manner.

Some very descriptive details have come to hand in a letter just received from Norwich, England, dated May 3 telling of the attacks on that city during the week just ended at that time. "Hundreds of fire bombs were dropped and set up an awful conflagration with a gale blowing north-east, which fanned the flames till it seemed all Norwich must be burned up, and from our window the whole city seemed ablaze, and a full moon with lights dropped from the planes created a scene never to be forgotten.

"I was in the city on Tuesday a.m. and the most amazing thing to me was the glass from broken windows which in Magdalen Street had been already swept to the gutter each side of the streets cartloads of it, and it made me call to mind your fund, and wish the folks were able to say 'thank you' for your efforts, also the Examiner for loan of their office and publicity and all this unpaid labor of love for the good cause. You have only got to imagine the hundreds of injured and killed, and the homeless we have round about us, besides hundreds who trek out every night to sleep anywhere outside the city area."

The letter concludes with a note of thanks to Almighty God for another week's safe keeping through one of the most appalling weeks ever spent in a life which is getting close to the four-score mark. With some degree of personal diffidence the secretary for the fund has included the oregoing in tohas included the foregoing in today's report, with the feeling that this note of thankfulness should be passed on to all donors to the fund, for they deserve as much of a pat on the back as does anyone, for the wonderful support they have given it in the past, with the encouragement it should inspire to continue these efforts on behalf of all those who have suffered, and will continue to suffer, while a German raider is able to fly over Britain and continue his devastating work.

Five Normalites Accepted On Toronto Staff

For the first time in the history of the Peterborough Normal school, five students have been selected to serve on Toronto staffs. At first they will do supply work until they have proved themslves, but when they get their permanent appointments, they will receive a minimum of $1,100 and working up to a maximum of $2,200.

One of the girls approached Dr. J. A. Bannister in April for a letter to the Superintendent of Schools in Toronto, Dr. Goldring. Upon receipt of the letter, Dr. Goldring wrote asking the principal of the Normal school to pick out four or five of his outstanding pupils. Five girls were chosen and interviewed and accepted. They were: Eleanor Bigelow of Millbrook; Helen Foster, of Campbellcroft; Eleanor Foster, of Bloomfield; Marion Fraleigh, of Bloomfield and Greta Huffman, of Peterborough

Dr. Bannister said they were reluctant to loose such splendid teaching material in this area, but Toronto holds out inducements that the students could not be blamed for accepting.

Milk For Britain

J. A. MacDonald, treasurer of the Milk for Britain Fund, conducted by the Peterborough Kinsmen Club, reports receipts of two donations. The boys and girls in Grade II. of the King Edward School have contributed $1.00, and an unnamed friend of the fund has given $10.00.

Salica Shades Lindsay In Ten

VANCOUVER, June 4—(CP)—Lou Salica of New York, world bantamweight scored a close 10-round decision over Kenny Lindsay of Vancouver in a non-title bout here last night. Salica weighed 119 pounds and Lindsay, billed as Canadian bantamweight champion, 121.

Lindsay carried the fight to Salica all the way but the Brooklyn boy's superior experience showed to advantage as he stemmed the rushes with which Lindsay opened each round. Usually the round ended with Salica in full control.

Several times the fight developed into a slugfest with the bantams standing toe to toe.

Two Aldermen Join The Rangers

The names of two members of Peterborough's municipal council appear in today's list of recruits taken on the strength of the reserve battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers. They are Alderman Max J. Swanston, who was in the Royal Canadian Air Force in the last war, and Alderman Adam B. Sands.

The parade of the Rangers Tuesday night was the largest since recruiting for the second battalion got under way, 260 men exclusive of the officers.

The list of new soldiers and members of the regiment announced today follows:

Cost Of Sidewalks Estimated At $1,752

Cost of sidewalks on McCannan avenue, Rogers and Sophia streets was estimated by City Engineer Parsons at $1,752 in his report to the council.

Extent of the work is 405.2 feet on the north side of McCannan avenue and 410.2 feet on the south side; Rogers street from James to Sophia street; and Sophia street from the end of the present walk to Rogers street. Total frontage is 2,350 feet.

The Board of Education expressed to the council its appreciation of the traffic signs that have been set up in school areas. "These signs should be of great assistance in helping to keep reckless driving at a minimum in those areas," the letter said.

ALDERMAN MAX SWANSTON ALDERMAN ADAM SANDS

Two members of the City Council have given a lead to other men in this community in joining the Prince of Wales Rangers (R.F.), Alderman Max Swanston and Alderman Adam Sands. Both men are extremely active members of the council and also hold down very responsible executive positions. They like to fish in their leisure hours, but in spite of all they are going to find time to serve in a militia unit.

City Owners of Dogs Advised of Regulations

Owners of dogs are displaying a fine spirit of cooperation with Civic authorities this season in controlling their pets, which is greatly appreciated.

For the guidance of these owners, attention is drawn to the following section of City By-law No. 1796:

"No person shall permit a dog, owned or possessed or harboured by him, to run at large or be found in any highway or other public place in the said City, unless it is under control of some person and held firmly in leash, and also effectually and completely muzzled to prevent the possibility of any person being attacked or bitten by such dog."

Some dogs are permitted still to run-at-large freely. Unless owners take steps to comply with the By-law their pets will be picked up by the Dog Controller. Your cooperation is earnestly desired.

Red Cross Drive Raises $1,166 At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, June 4 — (ENS).— The June meeting of the Red Cross executive in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening, under President Mrs. Grace Stuart, saw members decide to hold an auction sale on June 20 the articles to be donated by residents of the village and surrounding district. The Beaver Club is working with the village Red Cross in this new venture.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. G. Robinson to Donald Campbell, who was convener for the recent campaign. This motion was seconded by Miss Grace Yonge. The executive also wished to thank the staff of the Royal Bank and the colectors who had worked so efficiently with Mr. Campbell to make the campaign a success. The total result was $1,166.82.

Mrs. W. E. Gilman presented the following report from the sewing committee: Donations during May—37 small articles valued at $33.95, 14 quilts and 2 afghans valued at $56.00. A shipment of 16 quilts and 2 afghans was sent. Owing to the wool shortage there was no report from the knitting committee, but the new quota was received and will be given out as soon as the supply of wool arrives.

Miss Ruth Johnson was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Wednesday morning, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion held a special meeting at the home of Mrs. B. Marling, Regent Street, on Tuesday afternoon, with the president Mrs. W. Adamson introducing the guest speaker, Mrs. M. Mackie, zone representative from Colborne. Mrs. Mackie gave a very interesting address, and answered the various questions answered by the members. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Earnshaw, an old member who now resides in Peterborough, was also a guest. Tea was served by Mrs. Marling, Mrs. McFadden and Mrs. Chapell.

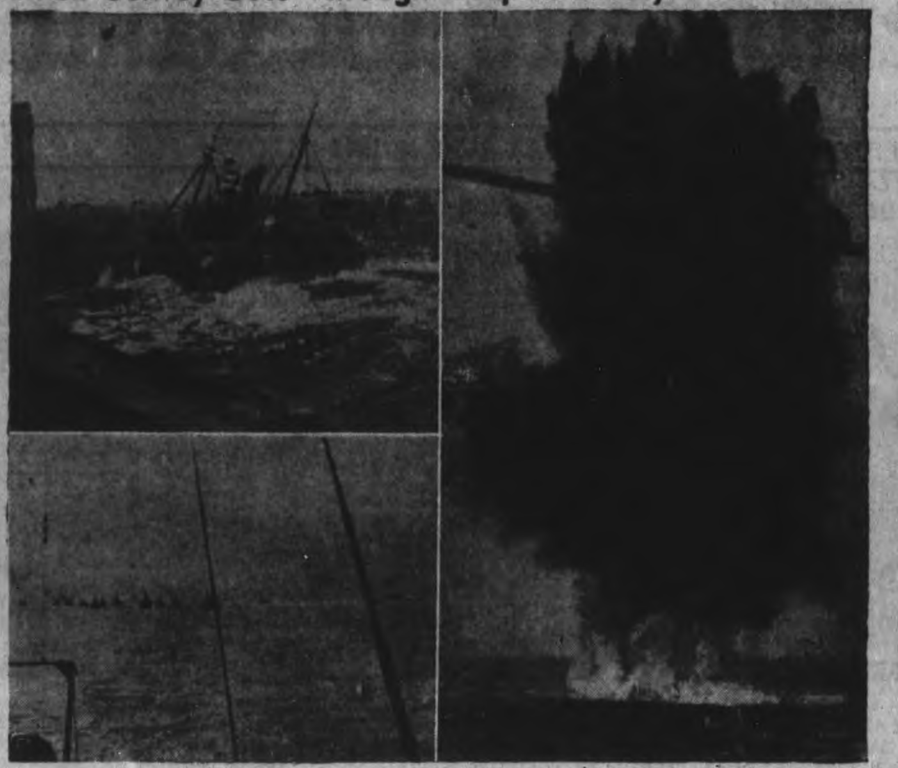
British Convoy Gets Through Despite Enemy Aircraft



This British convoy arrived safely at its destination after a rough transatlantic crossing. The vessels in the convoy also fought off enemy aircraft. TOP LEFT, a small ship rocks in the heavy seas, other ships may be seen on horizon. BOTTOM, countless ships of the convoy approach friendly shores. The picture, made from an escorting destroyer, shows a cascade of water exploding into the air, RIGHT, result of a miss by an enemy plane.

Oxide Plant Is Awarded Star

MARMORA, June 1—(ENS). — The monthly meeting of Deloro Safety Committee was held in the Electric Shop on Monday afternoon with W. L. Rigg, vice chairman, presiding. Fourteen suggestions were read out by the Suggestion committee. Six of these were allotted an award by the Competitive committee. The star goes to the Oxide Plant. W. M. Regan brought in the report of the Inspection committee. H. C. Loveless was appointed floating member for June. C. H. Buskard gave the monthly statement of the Benevolent Relief funds. Reports of the Health and Investigation and the Publicity committees were handled by S. B. Cheeseman and J. H. Hemphill respectively.

Penny Bank Deposits Show Big Decrease

Penny banks in Ontario have on deposit $1,033,802.80, a decrease of $167,490.52 over 1941 But there are only 504 schools depositing this year as against 525 last year.

In Peterborough and vicinity the average weekly percentage of pupils depositing is 38 per cent., and the total amount on deposit at the end of April, 1942, is $13,290.57. This too, shows a decrease of $1,189.47 over the figures of the previous year.

Queen Alexandra school again leads with the weekly percentage of pupils depositing being 85 per cent. The other schools were as follows: King Edward school 65 per cent. Confederation school, 39 per cent, King George school, 35 per cent.; Central school, 31 per cent.; Queen Elizabeth school, 27 per cent.; May's school, 24 per cent., Prince of Wales school, 20 per cent., and Queen Mary school, 17 per cent.

War Committee Does Fine Work

BUCKHORN, June 4 — Reports made at the monthly meeting of the Buckhorn War Workers, Tuesday, held in the True Blue Hall, showed a splendid effort for the month of May. The knitting committee had two pairs of seamen's socks, four pairs of socks, a baby sweater and bonnet to report. Six quilts had been done in May and the sewing committee decided to buy more flannelette for layettes.

A letter was read from the I.O.D.E. of Peterborough regarding a carnival to be held in July. It was decided to write for information regarding ditty bags for sailors, and following this Mrs. Walton and Mrs. Fawcett gave readings.

WHAT SHOULD ENGAGED GIRL EXPECT OF HER SWEETHEART?

Many Men Deliberately Deceive Women About How Much Money They Earn.

DEAR MISS DIX — Just what should an engaged girl expect from her sweetheart? What should an engaged boy expect from his sweetheart?

AN ENGAGED COUPLE.

ANSWER — An engaged couple should realize that an engagement is not marriage and does not give them the right to supervise each other's conduct. An engagement is a sort of option on each other's heart and hand that may be foreclosed or allowed to lapse; but marriage is a binding contract that they cannot break at will.

Therefore, while a husband and wife have a right to keep an eye on each other's comings and goings, an engaged couple have no such authority over each other, and what they concede to each other is a matter of volition and not of duty. If they are wise they do not demand too much of each other, nor do they object too strenuously to one or the other having a few dates with other people, because if there is any danger of either one wandering off after strange gods, it is much better for it to be done before marriage than afterward.

As to what a girl should expect of her fiancee, I should say, first, that she should expect perfect frankness from him. He should tell her exactly how much money he makes, so that she will know what she will have to depend on and how she will have to cut her cloth.

Many men deliberately deceive girls about how much they are making, and many other men unintentionally deceive girls on this subject by spending so lavishly that the girls think they must have money to burn. It is a bitter awakening to many a young wife to find out that instead of her husband getting a fat pay envelope he has a thin one, and that he is in debt for the presents and the flowers and the candy that he gave her during the days of courtship.

A girl has also the right to know what her finance's views are on the allowance question, and how much of his earnings he proposes to give her to run the house on and for her personal use.

A girl has a right to expect her fiance to discuss with her fully the plans for their future life, and to open for her inspection the secret door in his heart behind which he keeps his hopes and dreams and ambitions.

Should Discuss Problems

A girl has a right to expect the man to whom she is engaged to talk over with her the things that will make or mar their marriage—children, the in-law problem, his idea of the wife's place in the home, whether he expects his wife to be a servant or an equal, a household convenience or a companion; whether he intends to be a fireside companion or thinks home is a place where you eat and sleep and change your clothes.

A girl has a right to expect that the man she is going to marry will tell her of his faults and shortcomings. This does not mean that he should tell her everything that has happened in his past life. It is a mistake for either a man or a woman to confess to those they are about to marry, unless the wrong they have done carries over into the future and will affect the happiness and well-being of the wife or husband. What is done, is done. It is over. Finished.

It cannot be helped by talking about it, but it can become a standing grievance in marriage with which the wife or husband will reproach the other in every domestic quarrel. But if a man knows himself to be stingy and selfish, or high-tempered or grouchy, he should in all honesty warn the girl about his disposition.

In short, a girl has a right to expect that the young man to whom she is engaged will lay all his cards on the table and present his proposition as fairly and honestly as he would a business offer, so that she can either take it or leave it, as she sees fit.

A young man should expect the girl he is going to marry to use a little sense and not turn green-eyed every time he is polite to another girl. And he should expect her not to assume the prerogative of a wife and begin henpecking her as though she had the legal right to do so.

Consider His Pocketbook

A young man should expect the girl to whom he is engaged to go easy on his pocketbook, realizing that he is trying to save up some money to get married on, and not demand too many presents and good times. It is the high cost of loving that puts off the wedding day for so many young couples.

A man should expect the girl to whom he is engaged to be as honest with him as he is with her, and if she is not willing to have children or to settle down or to keep house, she should tell him so.

A young man should expect the girl to whom he is engaged to make up her mind before she marries whether she is willing to live on his salary, and whether she is going to be happy and contented riding in a flivver or nag him for a limousine.

Lots of divorces would be avoided if young people would spend more time before marriage trying to find out each other's ideas and the practical things of life, instead of asking each other " 'Oose ducky is 'oo?"

She's a Pioneer in Wooing

DEAR MISS DIX—One of my sisters friends has fallen in love with me and writes me love letters. I care nothing for her and have never given her any reason to suppose I do. In fact, I am fed up with girls. I have been brought up with my sisters as my sole companions and I have had all the girl stuff that I care for for a long time to come. What can I do? JACK.

ANSWER—Well, Jack, so long as this girl has reversed the conventional role in love-making, all you can do is to follow her example and do as women do under similar circumstances. Just write her that you are SO SURPRISED and you never DREAMED that she thought of you THAT way, and that you DON'T care for her, and that you will be a BROTHER to her.

The only reason why you feel so embarrassed is because it is a new experience. This girl is a pioneer, but where she is blazing the way along the romantic path all women will soon follow. In another generation it will be so common for women to pop the question that no man will be any more startled when a girl tells him that she loves him and asks him to marry her than he is now when she asks him for a cigarette.

As a matter of fact, the war has already brought that great reform about, for many a girl, seeing the dumb creature she loves about to go from her for the duration, has upped and asked him if his having gone steady with her for years is an indication of love or just a habit.

Doctors, Preachers and Love

DEAR MISS DIX—Is it true that the majority of women fall in love with their doctors? A. B. C.

ANSWER — I don't think that women are any more inclined to fall in love with their doctors than they are with any other class of men. It is preachers who are fatal to women, for preachers talk to women about their souls and that always intrigues them. The great majority of men are interested only in a woman's looks and never try to find out about her yearnings after the whatness of the what.

How To Make Your Husband Take Notice...

Get Your Next Wash WHITE WITHOUT BLEACHING!

with the NEW OXYDOL

YOU'LL AGREE : : : IT'S THE WHITEST WASH EVER OR DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

ELECTRIC EYE Proves It!

Shows NEW OXYDOL Out-Washes Other Leading Soaps. The whiteness of clothes washed by different soaps is now scientifically measured by Electric Eye. And Oxydol wins! Ounce for ounce, Oxydol clearly out-washes other Canadian soaps — including soaps in wide use, priced the same as Oxydol.

MADE IN CANADA

White without bleaching is whiteness even men notice — the whitest wash ever!

New Oxydol washes this white just with its rich, safe washing action alone. Its active, "Hustle-Bubble" suds are much richer in washing power than before. Every ounce is packed with more power to wash clothes white.

To an amazing degree, this livelier "Hustle-Bubble" sudsing prevents the gradual graying and yellowing that naturally settle in fabrics after washing. Except for stains or unusual pieces, your wash fairly gleams — white without bleaching.

Yes, New Oxydol is safety itself! Even milder than before on hands. Safe for washable colours . . . safe for lovely washable rayons, too!

Try it sure! And if you don't agree Oxydol gives you the whitest wash ever, simply return the package with name and address to Oxydol, Montreal, and twice the purchase price will be refunded.

Mrs. Glenn Thompson Re-elected President Of W.M.S. Presbyterial

The annual meeting of Peterborough Presbyterial of W.M.S. of Presbyterian Church in Canada was held in St. Andrew's Church, Brighton with morning, afternoon and evening sessions. The president, Mrs. A. Glenn Thompson, Campbellford presided.

The morning session was short on account of difficulties of transportation and was devoted to executive business. Resolutions passed were:

1. Annual meeting in January at St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, with no guest speaker.

2. On account of war conditions and transportation there be no autumn rallies or sectional meetings.

The afternoon session opened with scripture and prayer by Rev. H. Kaye, Brighton. Mrs. McLeod, president of Brighton W.M.S. welcomed the visiting auxiliaries.

Various Presbyterial and auxiliary secretaries presented reports and high-lights were discussed. Mrs. H. Morgan of Peterborough introduced the speaker, Miss Laura Pelton, Toronto, provincial promotion secretary who brought recommendation from council stressing "Co-ordination of all Church groups", "Quality of Meetings", "Increased Membership."

After the offering, Mrs. Meiklejohn, Warkworth gave dedicatory prayer and Mrs. McLeod Brighton, sang a solo. Mrs. C. E. Blewett, Peterborough read report of nominating committee and Miss Pelton installed the officers for 1942-43.

Closing message was given by re-elected president and Prayer by Mrs. Blewett.

At evening session "Prayers for Peace" and "Prayers for those serving the Empire" were given by Mrs. D. Ewart, Cobourg and Mrs. James Dutton, Peterborough. Worship service was in charge of Y.W.A. of Brighton and was led by President Miss Hazel Atkinson. Mrs. J. W. Foote, Port Hope, Presbyterial Secretary Y.W.A. reviewed work of 1941 and gave a challenge for 1942.

Red Cross Workers Forego Cups Of Tea

HAVELOCK, June 4 — (ENS). — The shipping committee of the Red Cross were kept busy all afternoon, labelling and packing four large cartons for shipment to the warehouse. This consisted of 12 quilts, 13 suits of men's pyjamas, and three extra pairs of pants, 10 grey flannel blazers, 10 pairs short pants, 10 shirts, 10 sweaters, and 10 pairs of socks for boys, 1 wool afghan, 12 pairs mitts, 3 baby sets of Sweaters, bonnets and bootees, 4 suits girls' pyjamas, 2 print dress and pantie sets and 4 pair boys' socks.

The vice-president, Mrs. Roche, presided, and the meeting opened with the peace prayer. Two accounts wre ordered paid at Chiles' Store and Leeson's Store. Mrs. Roche thanked everyone for their kind co-operation at the musical tea, and all who donated the beautiful flowers.

A motion was passed to discontinue the cup of tea and refreshments until the autumn. Treasurer reported the receipts of the tea were $33.95.

New Quota.

The new knittink quota has been received for the next four months from June to September, and articles asked for are the following: Seamen's comforts, 25 sleeveless sweaters, 20 turtle-neck sweaters 20 tuck-ins, 20 pairs mitts, 20 aero caps, 40 pairs socks, 60 pairs stockings; Army and Air Force comforts are: 30 pairs gloves and 20 alternative caps, all in khaki; and for the Women's Auxiliary are: 10 pairs ankle socks in Air Force blue. Since the wool convener, Miss E. Wright, will be gone for the summer months, Miss Chambers was appointed wool convener for the summer, with Miss Ina Morrison and Mrs. Bruce Post assistants for the west-end and Mrs. William Copp and Mrs. L. Sanderson for the east-end. This is a large amount of knitting and an appeal is made for more knitters to help complete this quota before October 1.

Salvage Revenue.

T. P. Lancaster reported he had received a cheque for $71.24 from the salvage, with one more load to be disposed of yet. He has also collected $90 for the campaign funds.

A beautiful star quilt top was donated by Mrs. Alexander Kennedy and Mrs. Drew presented a donation of $1.00 from the Junior W.A. of St. John's Anglican Church.

Girls' Club Holds Mother's Night

MARMORA, June 4 — (ENS). — Mother's Night was observed by the local girls' organization "The Club Girl Stands on Guard" at their meeting held in the White Hall on Tuesday evening with their director Mrs. D. B. Sanderson in charge. Previous to the meeting the mothers and other visitors inspected the work done by the girls which was on display. The meeting opened with the theme song, "We're Proud of Canada." In the course of a short business session, $10.00 was voted as a donation to Marmora Public Library and a similar sum to Marmora Kinsmen Club in aid of their playgrounds project.

The program commenced with a recitation by Lois Grant. Mrs. L. R. Rundle, who was pianist for the evening, sang "My Mother." Readings on Nutrition and Hygiene were given by the following girls: Betty Leonard, Elda Gordon, Lucille Green, Isabel Nayler, Betty Grant, Joyce Potts, Patricia Brady, Oneta McGarvey, Audrey Lummiss, Gwendolyn Rundle, Wilda Hannah, Betty Bailey Eleanor Reynolds, Marion Reynolds, Gladys Gordon.

Lantern slides on Health, Nutrition, and Vitamins were shown with Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell operating the lantern, and Mesdames W. D. Lavender and F. Grant explaining the pictures. Rural Dean Caldwell spoke a few encouraging words at the close. Continuing the program Jean Wannamaker recited, after which Doris and Iris Hannah rendered a duet. With her guitar accompaniment Winona Sharpe sang a song. A demonstration on first-aid was given by Ruth Nayler, Dorothy Lummiss, Isobel Nayler and Keitha Pressick. Mrs. L. R. Rundle sang "Little Drummer Boy."

Before winding up the program with community singing, a parting gift was made to Eleanor Leonard, who will be shortly leaving the district, and the address was read by Patricia Brady. Refreshments were served before the gathering dispersed.

Barrage Of Barrages

London, June 4 (CP)

A NAVAL officer who witnessed part of the five-day attack on an Arctic convoy of British, American and Russian ships said the anti-aircraft fire was heavier than that of London and made the sky look "like a child with metal rash," the BBC said today.

"The weather was bitterly cold," the officer said. "Freezing spray covered decks of the ships with ice. Waves of German dive bombers and torpedo bombers led the first attack. It lasted for nearly two hours.

"I've never seen such a barrage as we put up, not even during the heaviest raids on London. The sky was covered with shellbursts."

Third Lieutenant

Roberto Lim is the only third lieutenant in the United States army. Third lieutenant is an established rank in the Philippine army. Young Lim was graduated from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis last December, could not return to his homeland because of the war, so he joined the army with rank of third lieutenant and was attached to First Filipino Infantry Battalion now in training in California.

Reach Base In Wrecked Plane

A Canadian R.A.F. squadron commander and his observer look over part of the plane that carried them home safely after being attacked by German fighter planes. The plane was badly damaged and could not rise over 20 feet and skimmed the water without instruments. While their tires were flat, one blade of the propeller was shot away, the rear turret was badly damaged, and the navigator hit in the arm. The pilot had to crash dive to land at their base and no one was hurt.

Special Session Otonabee Council Refuses Assessment Appeals

A special meeting of the Otonabee council was held recently with all the members present.

Mr. Turnbull of the Adams Machinery Company was present and interviewed council in reference to power graders, etc.

It was moved by Deputy-reeve Davidson, seconded by Mr. Spears that the clerk notify the county treasurer to remove west half lot 26, concession 9 from the lists of lands liable to be sold in 1942.

The clerk read the notice of resignation of Ambrose Doris as road superintendent and on motion Mr. Spears and Mr. Dawson the resignation was accepted and the clerk was instructed to advertise for applications for road superintendent.

The regular meeting of the council was held on Monday. On motion of Mr. Elmhirst and Mr. Spears the clerk was authorized to pay $700 to the Adams Company on a power grader purchased from them when the grader proved satisfactory and the reeve and clerk to sign note for the balance of $650.

It was moved by Mr. Spears and Mr. Dawson that the treasurer be authorized to forward to the county treasurer for collection the list of unpaid taxes for the years of 1939 and 1940.

The clerk was instructed to pay the balance of salary owing the late David Moore of $11.25 as caretaker of town hall and $4 for Memorial lot, $15.25. Bill Brown will be paid $11 as caretaker of Memorial lot for balance 1942 and the clerk was instructed to post up notices for caretaker of the town hall and any person applying is to see the clerk as to their duties.

Trace Typhoid Break

TORONTO, June 4 (CP)—Three deaths and 65 cases of typhoid and paratyphoid fever in North Battleford, Sask., were caused by unsanitary practices at a Chinese truck farm near the city's sewage treatment plant, Dr. D. O. Davison of Regina, Deputy Minister of Public Health for Saskatchewan, told the Public Health Association meeting.

The epidemic took place in the summer of 1941.

One of the epidemic's victims was a cook employed at a hotel which obtained its vegetables from the Chinese truck farm.

Norwood Scouts Hold Concert

NORWOOD, June 4—(ENS)—The 1st Norwood Scout Troop held a very successful concert in the town hall on Friday where a very good crowd assembled to encourage the boys. The play, which was entitled "Citizens in the Making" was staged and produced by the boys under the leadership of Scoutmaster Arden McNaughton and his two assistants, David Lemon and David McNeil. There are about twenty-four boys in the troop, half of which took part in the play, and the others acted as door-keeper and ushers.

The plot of the play hinged on the "good the forming of a scout trpop did, to a crowd of the problem boys of the village." There was a good deal of humor and a real lesson to be seen in the performance.

Mr. Gunstone led during the intervals with community singing, and Miss Helen Bailey was the able accompanist. The net proceeds was about $22.

I.O.D.E. Meeting

The regular May meeting of the 40th Northumberland Chapter I.O.D.E. was held in the chapter's room with the regent, Mrs. W. B. Tucker, in the chair.

The financial statement was given, showing that $9.50 more had been received for the "Australian Hurricane Fund" and had been sent to headquarters along with the usual grant for the British War Guest Fund, and $5 for the prov. war expense fund. A motion was made to pay outstanding bills.

The wool convener reported $95 spent for wool and $25.65 for seaman's sweaters. She also stated there was a good supply of wool on hand now, but in future all purchases must be made through provincial headquarters.

The sewing convener appeal for more help to finish several quilts now on hand before the holiday season commenced. Sewing meeting held every Tuesday in the I.O.D.E. rooms.

The regent reported another load of salvage ready for the dealer, and expressed appreciation to all those who had been responsible for gathering it together.

It was decided to hold the annual mile of pennies drive on Saturday, June 20, Mrs. E. Munroe was named convener of the committee in charge of this work.

Mrs. J. Parker was also named convener of the committee in charge of the sale of tickets for the retail furriers gift draw which it to be nationwide.

W.A. Meets

Christ Church W.A. held their meeting in the parish hall on Friday with the president in the chair, and ten members present.

It was decided to send a small remembrance to a shut-in member.

The afternoon was then spent in tying and binding a quilt, and a box packed to be sent to headquarters for the Arctic mission. This included besides two quilts, many woollen articles and some children's toys.

Couple Honored On Crystal Wedding

GILMOUR, June 4 (ENS)—A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mahood of Lindsay Highway when they celebrated and entertained a number of their friends and neighbors at their home.

Tables were set out in a large room and everyone enjoyed cards for part of the evening, prizes going to Miss Martha Stinson and Mr. David McAdam. Lunch was served from a prettily decorated table centered with the bride's cake, lily of the valley and forget-me-nots, tall pink lighted tapers in silver holders at each end.

At the close of the evening Mr. Harry Lowes was asked to say a few words to Mr. and Mrs. Mahood, and asking them to accept these gifts in crystal. Mrs. Mahood replied very fittingly.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Lowes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lowes, Mr. and Mrs. David McAdam, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McMullen, Mrs. E. Mahood, Mrs. Clara King, Mrs. S. K. Mahood, Misses Martha Stinson, Violet Lowes, Lily Lowes, Dorothy Harding, Messrs. Vernon Lowes, Pierrie Lowes, Thomas McMullen, Bill Jones, Carol Mahood, Barbara and Betty Jones, Marion and Jimmy McMullen.

Claim General Slain

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts) June 4 — (AP). — The German high command said to-day that Maj.-Gen. Gorodanjansky, commander of the Russian 6th Army in the Battle of Kharkov, had been killed.

The 6th Army was one of three which the Germans said last week were "annihilated."

Dive bombers were reported to have raided the port installations of Murmansk and Jokonga, probably destroying a medium-sized freighter.

Canadians must use less

TEA and COFFEE

SUPPOSE your boy were in the merchant marine. Would you want him to risk his life to bring you tea or coffee, through seas infested with submarines? Would you want to waste precious cargo space to bring you more than your barest needs?

Every decent citizen will gladly obey the law now in effect. The law requires that every Canadian home must cut its consumption of tea by at least one half — cut its consumption of coffee by at least one-fourth.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE ON TEA

- Measure carefully the amount of tea and the amount of boiling water. Don't guess.
- Use one level teaspoon of tea and one cup of boiling water for each cup of tea.
- Brew the tea for at least 5 minutes before pouring. Don't guess—watch the clock.
- Don't take the kettle to the teapot. Always take the teapot to the kettle.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE ON COFFEE

- Never make more than you need. Get into the habit of measuring quantities exactly.
- Purchase in small quantities and store in an airtight container. Buy the correct grind for your coffee-maker.
- For percolated coffee, use 1 level tablespoon to each standard measuring cup of water. Percolate 10 to 12 minutes to bring out the full flavour.

Remember

NOT SO MUCH
NOT SO OFTEN

You must reduce your consumption of tea by at least one-half.

You must reduce your consumption of coffee by at least one-fourth.

You must not buy more than 2 weeks' supply of tea or coffee for yourself and family in any one week. You must not make further purchases of tea or coffee at any time when you have two weeks' supply on hand at the reduced ration. There are heavy penalties for breaking the law.

Making Fruit Desserts Serve a Triple Purpose

(By MARY MOORE)

Most people do not eat enough fruit to maintain good health. This is one of the reasons why druggists flourish and why hospitals are such busy institutions. One good reason for serving fruit regularly is that it saves a lot of work in the preparation of desserts. A second good reason is that it will help to streamline us plump ones. But, most important of all, is the health reason. Many housewife-cooks are not fully aware that the health of their families depends almost entirely on the food they eat.

You can read that again; for, for the great majority of us, the difference between feeling 100 per cent. fit and more or less indifferent lies in the vitamin-richness of the food we consume.

From my cook's-eye-view of menu possibilities the thought of not serving delectable lemon pies; or feathery chocolate cakes with fluffy white frostings or velvety preserved ginger ice cream; of not serving these masterpieces of our art, is nearly appalling. Are they to be dear memories only? I don't think we need to go quite that far—but instead of being regular fare they should be rare and perfect treats.

Fruit desserts should be the rule. All during this past winter I have endeavored to serve our family a perfect diet. When we had our spring check-up at the dentist, everyone had "no cavities" but me.

I had a small one and blame it on the sugar-substitute research I did this winter. Sweeteners are the enemies of sound teeth. I repeat this because I want to impress you with the close watch you must keep on every item of food you serve.

Our fruits should be served "as is" without sugar unless much too sour. To be 100 per cent. right there is no room for foods in the diet of anyone that are not "protective" foods. Before I go further in this shift to all-out 3-a-day scientific eating, let's see how interesting fruit can be made. Since those two cargoes of pineapples were sent down to Davy Jones, we might just as well skip fresh pineapple for the remainder of this season. Maybe we'll have better control next year.

Serve Fruit With Pride

If you are intelligent enough to serve fruit in place of fancy "made" desserts to your guests, you should be proud. One of our friends claims one of the chief reasons she stays with some relatives in Florida each year is because they pass such generous bowls of varied fruits for desserts every meal. It is a pleasant prospect — the fruit alone without the help of the sunshine thrown in for good measure would restore one's health.

Strawberries

1. If large, wash and dry, but leave on the hulls to act as a handle. Serve eight to a person, arranging them in a circle around a small mound of berry sugar.

2. If to be served in dishes, wash them in a sieve and drain very well, then hull. Do not allow them to soak in water. Never sprinkle sugar on them before bringing to table, instead pass powdered sugar and cream at table. Fruit epicures do not use sugar on berries. Try to eat yours without sugar this year.

Grapefruit

1. Serve ice-cold sections in sherbet glasses. Sweeten with honey if needed.

2. Halve grapefruit and prepare for service as usual. Separate the sections with thin slices of red-skinned apple or banana.

Bananas

1. Slice and serve in strong iced lemonade.

2. Pull off the top skin, cut in sections and serve on the half shell.

3. Peel and place on the plates. Cut across, keeping the shape, and pour over crushed raspberries, strawberries or stewed rubarb.

4. Bananas cut in 1-inch lengths placed together to retain shape of banana and served with crushed strawberries is one of my favorite breakfast dishes. Looks and tastes like food fit for immortals.

Oranges

1. Serve larger oranges halved, sections loosened, with fruit spoons.

2. Cut off the peel, leaving only a centre strip. Open out the orange sections on this.

3. Cut off the skin of seedless oranges and cut the fruit in thin slices crosswise.

4. Serve sections as petals of flower around a little pile of sliced berries.

Apples

1. Grate, skin and all, and serve with sugar and top milk.

2. Core, slice, spread with cream cheese, sprinkle with chopped nuts and serve as an appetizer.

3 Serve plain, accompanied by nuts.

4. Serve in eighths dipped in fruit juice around small mound of brown sugar.

Pears

1. Serve plain, sliced with or without sugar and top milk.

2. Slice and serve with sliced apples and peaches.

3. Accompany by cream cheese or nuts.

4. Serve peeled and halved, the centres filled with jam or marmalade.

Peaches

1. Serve peeled and halved, one large peach to a person.

2. Slice and serve with any fruit juice or domestic claret wine poured over.

3. Peel, halve and fill centres with sugared berries.

Plums

1. Wash, dry and serve whole.

2. Wash, dry, cut in quarters and serve in ice-cold orange juice.

3. Compote (see compote notes).

Grapes

1. Concord grapes. Wash thoroughly, chill and serve on paper doily-covered plates.

2. Brush any sweet grapes with egg whites, then brush with icing sugar and shake off excess sugar. This gives grapes a frosty shine and delightful sweetness.

Cherries

1. Wash, leaving on stems. Serve in circle on plate around mound of berry sugar.

2. Compote (see compote notes).

Compotes

1. Apples, cherries, pineapple, loganberries, peaches, plums, are all well suited to "compote" treatment. Some cooks call this quick poaching of fruits.

2. Make a thin syrup, using sugar if your ration allows or corn syrup, with 1 cup water to each ½ cup corn syrup or each ¼ cup sugar. Bring to boil, drop in fresh fruit, bring to boil again and chill immediately.

NOTE: If you want recipes for good fresh fruit cup combinations, delicious up-to-date fruit salads and dressing. Fall Fruit Grill, Baked Grated Raw Apple, Honey Cream Bananas in Skin, Baked Oranges, and many other new ideas, please write in care of this paper.

WASHED OUT?

Maybe This Is Cause Of Your Lack of Pep

You women who feel and look "washed out"—limp and droopy — may be paying the price of hemoglobin shortage in the blood.

The demands of monthly "periods" pregnancy, etc. all conspire to bring about this shortage of the vital red coloring matter in the red blood cells. Try Dr. Williams Pink Pills—a fine balanced tonic of iron and Vitamin B₁.

They help increase hemoglobin where there is a shortage of it due to iron deficiency . . . help chase away that "leaden" feeling of tiredness, help pick up your energy and strengthen the nerves. Start your course of Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. Ask your druggist.

C-I-L PAINTS FOR LASTING PROTECTION

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY

Tomato and Asparagus Juice Cocktail
Roast Loin of Pork Cream Gravy
Apple Flapjacks (see note)
Green Peas
Stuffed Tomato Salad
Strawberry Shortcake Coffee

Note.—These Apple Flapjacks originally were served with sausages for breakfast in the South, but I thought they were a new idea for a roast pork dinner for guests.

Apple Flapjacks.—One takespoon cooking oil, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 eggs, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking-powder, 1 cup apples chopped finely, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, milk to make medium thick batter. Cream the oil and sugar. Add the beaten eggs, flour sifted with baking powder and cinnamon, and chopped apples. Then gradually add milk to make a medium batter. Bake on a griddle as for ordinary pancakes and serve in an overlapping row around a platter of roast pork. Cooked apples or a dry apple sauce may be used with batter in the same way.

MONDAY (Economical).

Peanut Butter French Toast
(See note)
Creamed Boiled Spring Onions
Canned Corn
Sliced Tomato and Leaf Lettuce
Salad Boiled Dressing
Canned Pear and Plum Fruit Cup
Hot Tea

Peanut Butter French Toast.

One and one-half cups peanut butter, 1½ cups hot milk, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, 6 half-inch slices of bread. Mix peanut butter with hot milk and seasoning, mixing together thoroughly. Dip slices of bread into the peanut butter mixture. Saute in hot fat. Garnish with pickle and olives. This dish offers both adequate protein and iron.

Tuesday.

Sliced Cold Roast Pork
Horseradish Spiced Applesauce
Scalloped Potatoes
Canned Tomatoes
Fresh Strawberry Tarts Coffee.

Wednesday (Vegetable Platter).

Around platter arrange alternately
Wedges of Cooked Green Cabbage

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I would like your tomato soup mayonnaise recipe, also your Russian dressing, and any others interesting. Thanking you,

Mrs. A. Harkness.

ANSWER: We are always delighted to give readers salad or salad dressing recipes because it show that the housewives slowly but surely are making a gradual shift to the health-way of eating.

Tomato French Dressing:

One 10½-oz. can of condensed tomato soup, ¾ cup vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon Worcester sauce, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1-3 to ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1½ cups salad or olive oil, 1 peeled clove of garlic. Combine all ingredients in a covered quart preserved jar or refrigerator bottle, shake until blended, then chill. Serve on salad greens or vegetable salad. Makes one quart of dressing.

Russian Dressing:

Basic Mayonnaise: One teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon mustard, dash of cayenne, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg, 1 cup salad oil. Mix in bowl dry ingredients, add lemon juice and vinegar, mix well, add egg without beating. Add 1-3 cup of oil, beat with wheel egg beater until the mixture begins to thicken (1 full minute), add second 1-3 cup, beat 1 minute, add rest of oil and beat one minute. If all ingredients are cold this will work. If not, add less oil at first.

To one cup Basic Mayonnaise add 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced chives (or grated onion). Then add gradually, beating constantly, 1-3 to ½ cup chili sauce or Oscar sauce. Beat smooth. Minced capers or minced pickle are sometimes added.

QUESTION: I cannot understand why some women persist in boiling vegetables when it is so much easier and more economical to steam them. In my daughter's home (where I reside) all of our vegetables are steamed. We have a fairly large aluminum steamer and we cook three or four vegetables at a time on one burner of the electric stove. Our potatoes are steamed in their jackets and if we are using the oven for something else at dinner time we bake them. I was much interested in your recipes in last week's paper especially the "ham pie." I am going to try it some day.

Sincerely, C. Calkins.

ANSWER: Thank you so much for this "boost" on conserving the priceless ingredients of vegetables. I hope the fact that it conserves fuel to do three or four vegetables at a time, as you mention, will start reluctant readers using their steamers. They will thereby discover an improved flavor and, over a long period, greater nutritional advantages.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, June 5

Despite some restrictive and restraining elements this should be a day of unusual enterprise and initiative to launch fresh projects or put over new programs for meeting obligations, financial or otherwise. All may move at high tempo toward this end, although with but little support or encouragement from those in power.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an unusually exciting, active and constructive year, with many things having a progressive spurt in a new direction or new programs or propositions. These should move at a lively pace despite lack of co-operation from those in influence or high position, as well as other tenacious obstacles. There will be compensation for this from friendly female relatives or those of closer ties.

A child born on this day should be possessed of great productive capacity and versatility of a practical and constructive quality.

St. Andrew's Y.P.U.

At St. Andrew's Young People's meeting on Tuesday evening, the Fellowship group were responsible for the program which was built up around the life of theg reat evangelistic singer, Ira D. Sankey. Hymns with the tunes which he had composed or ones which he used most often and most successful were sung. Then extracts from his life history were read which showed how varied were Mr. Sankey's experiences and how much his associate, Dwight L. Moody, depended upon the former's voice in their evangelistic services.

Teresa Heffernan Is Wed To Raymond Crowley

A quiet, pretty wedding was solemnized at the Church of the Immaculate Conception on June 3, when Teresa Heffernan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Heffernan, became the bride of Raymond Crowley, son of Mr. Joseph Crowley and the late Mrs. Crowley. Rev. Father Begley performed the ceremony and said the nuptial mass. Miss Bernice Flynn played the wedding music and the soloist was Mrs. D. Campanaro.

The bride was becomingly attired in a turquoise blue sheer dress with matching accessories. She wore a gold locket, gift of the groom, and carried Supreme roses and larkspur. Her sister, Mrs. John James Heffernan, was matron-of-honor and wore an ashes of roses frock with matching accessories, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Frederick Crowley.

After a wedding breakfast at Hooper's Palm Rooms, the happy couple left on a trip to Niagara and points west, the bride wearing a beige and brown dress with beige coat with brown accessories. On their return they will live on the groom's farm in Otonabee.

Helen Glover and Trio Are Heard In Recital

Miss Helen Glover, assisted by the trio composed of Misses Olga and Margaret Westbye and Alicia Langlye, gave a charming recital in the Y.W.C.A. on Wednesday evening. Miss Glover has been a pupil of Dorothy Allan Park for one year now, and before that she studied for two years in Belleville. She is a young singer of good promise, and a fine artistic sense.

In her opening group of numbers Miss Glover seemed rather more nervous tran is usual with Mrs. Parks pupils, but she improved steadily and her operatic numbers in the second group were almost entirely free from strain. She seemed more at home in the more dramatic numbers and her voice and a depth and strength well suited to them. However, her "Drink to Me Only," aided by Gwen Craw's playing of an exquisite accompaniment by Quilter, was good, and "When Love is Kind" was sung with a gay appreciation of its lyrical humor.

Three numbers by the Scandinavian composer, Edward Grieg, 'In Autumn,' "The Swan,' and 'A Dream,' were beautifully sung, particularly the last mentioned. Her two operatic numbers, Pergolesi's 'Se tu m'ami' and Mozart's 'Voi che sapete,' were also well done, and she seemed to enjoy singing them.

Her opening group of songs included an interesting number by a promising young Canadian composer, William McNutt, 'Take Me to a Green Isle.' This number had a delicate lyric loveliness, to which Miss Glover did full justice. Her other numbers were, 'Sing No More,' 'Sweet Chance That Led My Steps,' 'Through the Silent Night,' and 'Song of Autumn.'

The trio, which has been heard before, sang the same program as before. The program lost nothing in repetition, in fact it gained by added practice, and 'The Staines Morris,' and 'The Kerry Dance,' were exceptionally lovely last night. The trio is something rather different in music so far as Peterborough is concerned, and adds delightful variety to a program. It is to be hoped that these three young ladies who like singing together, will be heard often in the future.

This Is Everybody's War

By MOLLY BROWN

Three women's organizations have decided to dispense with refreshments for the duration of the war. This is a step in the right direction. We all eat and drink too much; not because we need—or even want—it, but because it has become a habit with us to eat whenever several are gathered together. Moreover, as every club president can tell you, nothing loosens a woman's tongue and stirs up her ideas more quickly than a nice hot cup of tea, a fancy sandwich, and a sugary cookie. More opinions are expressed and ideas hatched in the stimulating warmth of the cup that cheers but not inebriate than are ever put forward during a business session. Almost any woman can speak more freely when she is too busy eating to feel as if everyone were hanging on her words. But we must toughen ourselves, and learn to think and speak without the aid of artificial stimulants. We must express opinions without first fortifying ourselves with a watercress sandwich and a shortbread cookie. But as for the tea-making directions printed by one Toronto daily for the benefit of its readers, "It is to laugh!" as the French used to say. "Use two level teaspoons full of tea to each cup of boiling water used." Fie, gentlemen! What extravagance! This reporter's mother gets six excellent cups of tea from one and one-half teaspoons. And it isn't calico tea, either, but a good, healthy he-man brew. We shall probably get along on our tea-ration, although it will very likely bother us more than the sugar rationing, which is all to the good. Tea was such an easy comforting drink, suitable for any occasion or emergency.... A letter from England contains an apology from the writer for not having written earlier. She is the secretary of the Choral Society and relps with of the Choral Society and helps with the music classes of the Workers' Educational Association. She is at present occupied with two performances of the St. Matthew Passion and one of "The Creation," after which there will be practices for a music festival to be held in Dorking Church. This in bombed and war-scarred Britain, while in safe, comfortable Peterborough, music, in company with the other arts, languishes for want of intelligent public interest...."Save Power!" yells the Government, and speaks of shutting off hot water heaters in private homes; and all the while more and yet more electric signs splutter and fuss above our heads.

Trinity Baby Band

Mrs. H. Corner, president, was in the chair for the June meeting of the Trinity Baby Band, held at the home of Mrs. J. N. Perry, Walkerfield Avenue. The meeting opened with the Baby Band prayer, and Scripture read by Mrs. J. McCague. Mrs. Corner read the next chapter of the study book. During the business session it was decided that no refreshments would be served at meetings for the duration of the war. The Band was divided into two groups, one for those who prefer to knit and another for those who want to sew, with Mrs. McCague and Mrs. J. Hopcroft respective conveners. Mrs. B. Skitch, layette convener, will advise as to what articles are needed. Plans were made for the next meeting which is to be a picnic to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Perry, July 6. Refreshments were served by Mrs. N. Elliott and Mrs. N. Nesbitt.

Victory Workers

The regular meeting of the Victory Workers was held on Tuesday aftenoon in the S.O.E. Hall with Mrs. Bruce Fowler, president, in the chair. The secretary treasurer read a very encouraging report. At the meeting of the Civic War Services Council, held on June 1, the workers were presented with a beautiful silk quilt, which was gratefully received. Any person having material for a crazy patchwork quilt should leave it at the S.O.E. Hall, 425½ George street, Tuesday or Wednesday afternoons. The workers sent $5.00 to buy cigarettes for the boys overseas.

Tea and Fashion Show Held At Y.W.C.A.

The soggy condition of the lawns and the uncertain weather made it necessary for the Jeanette Scott Chapter to move the location of their garden party and fashion show from the home of Mrs. W. A. Breyfogle, Jr., to the recreation room of the Y.W.C.A. A goodly crowd attended, in spite of the weather, and enjoyed tea, and the fashion. The recreation room was gaily adorned with bouquets of peonies, iris and spirea, and the tea-table, set with shining silver, was centred with a bouquet of mixed flowers. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. Batten, Mrs. W. Breyfogle, Sr., Mrs. M. Comstock, Mrs. H. White, Mrs. E. Borbridge, Mrs. P. Westbye and Mrs. A. Waddell.

The very latest in summer fashions, from smart, practical slacks to attractive but unpractical hats were modelled by members of the chapter for the benefit of the guests. Dresses and sports clothes came from Barrie's and Fair's, hats from Miss Haskell's and jewelry and accessories from Schneider's jewelry store. A definite trend toward simplicity and economy of materials was noticeable in the dresses.

Mrs. F. Hooper, honorary regent and Mrs. W. Preston, regent, received the guests. Mrs. M. Rishor and Mrs. J. Richardson were social conveners. Miss Mary Medd and Mrs. John Thompson were in charge of the tea table and Miss Jennie Batten, assisted by Mrs. R. McWilliams, was treasurer. Mrs. H. M. Caverly was convener of the fashion show and Miss Grace Comstock of music.

Home and School

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

The Home and School Association of Confederation School held their regular meeting on Monday evening. Mrs. E. Chambers, president of the Home and School Council gave an interesting and helpful talk on Home and School and parent-education; pointing out that it is up to the parents to keep and train their children, giving them a start toward being good citizens.

The annual school picnic will be held on June 19, and Mrs. H. Naish, Chester street, offered her home for the Home and School pot-luck supper on June 23. All members and friends were invited to attend. Members were reminded of the ratepayers meeting, which will be held on June 5, and all were urged to be present. Clothing made for war victims was on display.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS . . . .

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE PLAN IS REVEALED

CHAPTER XXI

A knife. Sebastien had been killed like this. A thrust from behind while asleep. Sebastien, MacDowell—the toll was mounting.

The call to the deck had been a decoy. An assassin had lurked there in wait. Already MacDowell was dead or dying. Only the lurch of the ship had saved Talcott. No wonder Struthers hadn't been worried about what would develop on Talcott's return to New York! At last the plan was completely revealed.

A trumped-up charge so ridiculous that Talcott would be completely willing to return and "face the music"; a dumb detective who would be so seasick as to be unable to defend himself; so dumb that whatever they had told him would sound like gospel truth; so dumb that he could be eliminated at the proper time.

That was the final piece in the auditor's fabric. It was to appear that Talcott, unable to face disgrace, had murdered the detective and then jumped overboard.

Unsteadily he drew a shaking hand before his eyes and turned away from the horribly still form. Sebastien, MacDowell, Talcott almost— What was the end? With Talcott still alive, what would happen next? Up to now it had been perfectly planned, perfectly timed and executed. They had struck him with a corpse. When he went to report it to the captain the story would come out. He was, he realized, in as bad a position as if they had succeeded in tossing him overboard.

No. Not quite. He was still alive.

Who had been the assailant on the boat deck? Halsey? It couldn't possibly have been Halsey. Halsey was in the lounge, playing bridge with June Paterson and Martha Swenson and the doctor. And the attacker had been a smaller man than Halsey; strong though he might be, Talcott couldn't have disposed to Halsey so easily.

Who, then? Webber? Talcott recalled the business of the voices at the door. The more he thought of it the more positive he became that Webber had been on the outside and the steward on the inside of the door when a prearranged conversation was exchanged. It was the steward who had told him who Webber was supposed to be; that definitely lined the steward with Webber.

But, who was Webber?

"Think," he said savagely. "You have seen him before. Him or his likeness. A photograph, maybe—"

And then with stunning force it struck him. The gray-eyed man at the desk in the little room in Charlotte Amalie. The smudged copy of a photo made twenty years before. "This man is a Nazi agent; brilliant and unscrupulous. He speaks five languages as easily as if each were his mother tongue. We believe him to be in the Islands—"

The ship was not improving in stability. They seemed to be running into a blow. In the pitching stateroom with a dead man for a companion, Talcott dressed rapidly. There could be no sleep for him now. He had to act, and act quickly. A double advantage he possessed now; Webber's plan had failed and he knew who Webber was. It was a slim margin but he had to act on it before Webber became suspicious.

The Nazi agent had gone out from his cabin shortly after the arrival of his "message." The message had been a blind; an opportunity for Webber to change places with the steward. Thus there were at least two against him. How many more? He could not tell.

Should he gamble and go straight to the captain now? It was the proper course, but he wasn't so sure. The majority of masters would, after listening to his story, put him in irons and then conduct their own investigations. Being in irons wouldn't gain him anythig.

Nor could he ride to New York with a dead man as cabin mate. The steward would report it and he's be in irons anyway.

Talcott slipped from his stateroom. The corridor was deserted and he paused a moment before Webber's door. No sound. The bald-head hadn't come back. No use trying to break in. He already knew what he wanted to know about him anyway.

On deck he walked rapidly, eyeing with apparent casualness the occupants of chairs, Martha Swenson and the ship's doctor he saw and nodded to them. Further along Professor Constantine was still curled up in sleep, this time with a blanket tucked around him.

In the lounge he saw Halsey and June Paterson over empty, ice-melted glasses. She saw him and a welcome light flashed in her eyes. "Oh! There's Bill Talcott!" So he went in.

Oddly enough, Halsey acted glad to see him. "How is our friend MacDowell getting along?" Halsey asked.

It was now or never. Talcott leaned forward and in a quiet, conversational voice said, "MacDowell is dead."

The color drained from the blonde girl's lips, but other than this momentary lapse she suffered no loss of control. Halsey's jaw muscles knotted and a nerve beneath his left eye jumped. "You're quite sure?" he asked calmly.

"Positive."

"How was it done?"

"A knife."

Halsey carried it beautifully. Called, sharply, "Steward! Take Mr. Talcott's order and bring us another round!" and then, satisfied that they were not noticed by the other patrons, said, "Talcott, I think the time has come for us to lay all our cards on the table. We're as safe here as anywhere. I suggest that in answering my questions you keep your voice as low as possible; let's appear to be in conversation only. You entered my cabin and secured an envelope given to me by Struthers. Correct?"

"Yes."

"You opened it?"

"Yes."

"What did it contain?"

"Nothing but blank paper."

Halsey smiled as if Talcott had just told him an amusing anecdote. "I suspected as much. What did you do with it?"

"I hid it?"

"Securely?"

"I think so."

The drinks arrived, putting an end to conversation, and Halsey lifted his and said quite calmly, "I suppose you realize that either you or I are next on the list? Suppose we drink to it."

June Paterson lifted her glass but could not force herself to swallow. In her mind was the horribly still figure of Sebastien.

Alluring Color Alliance

By ALICE ALDEN

WE NOTE THAT powder blue with black seems to be a first favorite with Hollywood dress designers, since it turns up with such regularity. And no wonder, for it is a most becoming color combination. Milo Anderson uses it for this frock modelled by pretty Nancy Coleman. The dress has modified dolman sleeves and a smooth fitting V-section through the waist. Powder blue silk jersey is shirred into a high neckline and looped below the bustline to the back. The off-the-face hat is of powder blue felt.

CODFISH WITH EGGS.

(Contributed by Mrs. Bowington.)

One cup salt codfish, 4 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 uncooked eggs, chopped parsley, 3 hard-cooked eggs. Cover fish with cold water and soak overnight. Drain, flake, and saute with the fat for a few minutes; sprinkle with the flour; add the milk and cook until smooth. Stir in uncooked eggs, slightly beaten, and cook three mintes more. Serve on platter garnished with the chopped parsley and the hard-cooked eggs cut in quarters.

TOPAZ OF TOPAZES

The topaz received its name from Topazas, an island in the Red Sea, the first locality to produce the gem.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH. — Baby Douglas Norman Smith, who was drowned one year ago today.

He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Ever remembered by Father and Mother.

Obituary

WILLIAM ALEXANDER DONALD

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4—(ENS) William Alexander Donald, 70, a life-long resident of Seymour Township was buried from his late home on the 7th Concession Wednesday afternoon. The late Mr. Donald passed away at his home on Monday and he will be sadly missed by many friends in the community who knew and respected him a man of quiet, reserved and kindly Christian character. A son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Donald, he spent his entire life on the farm, and was a life-long member of Burnbrae Presbyterian Church. Mr. Donald is survived by two brothers, George and Garnet and one sister, Mrs. George Craighead, all of Seymour Township.

The funeral service was conducted from the residence by Rev. Donald McKay and interment was made at Burnbrae cemetery. Bearers were Messrs. Ernest Ingram, Archie Ingram, Jesse Locke, John Murray, Fred Hay and Ward Baxter.

At Them Again

FOLKESTONE, England, June 4 —(CP). — Great forces of R.A.F. planes roared across the Channel Tuesday in forays which south-east coast observers called one of the biggest daylight operations of the war.

Hour after hour many squadrons headed for various targets in Northern France. Planes returning ealy in the evening created a great noise.

Exercises Soon Reduce Bulges From Unused Muscles

Look Years Younger

People notice your legs, even when they don't seem to! So be realistic and do something about those heavy calves, those fatty pads around the knees!

You can, in a surprisingly short time, by doing leg exercises. Legs—and hips and tummy, too—get large and out of shape when the muscles are inactive. Even when you're active you may not be using the muscles that special exercise like this can get at:

1—Extend left arm and step forward on right foot, bending both knees and taking as long a stride as possible. 2—Extend right arm and step forward on the left foot. Continue for 18 to 20 steps.

You not only reduce your calf measurement in this way but you reduce your "age." Slim contours make you look 10 years younger!

Start a "youthifying" exercise routine today! Our 32-page booklet has exercises to give you slimmer waistline, hips, thighs, legs, lovelier arms, neck, shoulders, bust, posture. Also has a general routine; exercises for constipation, aching feet, nerves.

For your copy of "Best Exercises for Health and Beauty" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

MARKING A SQUEEZE

KEEN CARD readers, who listen to the bidding and make clear-cut deductions from it, can sometimes read clearly that their only chance to make their contract, or perhaps an extra trick, is by means of a squeeze on a particular opponent. His previous actions mark him with certain cards, which make it perfectly clear that a certain finesse will fail. Knowledge of the structure of both forward and backward squeezes, plus the care to build the correct one, can then decide the issue.

North: ♠ J 5 ♥ A Q 10 9 6 ♦ A J 10 6 ♣ Q 8

West: ♠ A K 9 ♥ 7 5 4 2 ♦ 9 8 5 3 ♣ 3 2

East: ♠ 8 6 4 2 ♥ K J 8 ♦ Q ♣ A 10 9 6 5

South: ♠ Q 10 7 3 ♥ 3 ♦ K 7 4 2 ♣ K J 7 4

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♣
2 NT	Pass	3 ♦	Pass

Mrs. John J. Burns, who is known to her friends in the Bridge circles of Scranton, Pa., by her first name of Carmel, made beautiful use of squeezing tactics to gain an extra trick on this deal in the annual tournament of the Skytop club.

Instead of leading his partner's suit, which South showed to be thoroughly stopped, West raked in his spade K and A, and then led the 9 to the 10. Mrs. Burns, considering that West had already shown so much strength, realized that East must positively have the heart K in addition to his club suit in order to have made an overcall during the bidding. Hence she refrained from any idea of trying the heart finesse and embarked upon a squeeze.

First she knocked out the club A with the 4 to the Q, then took the return spade with the Q, led to the diamond A, dropping the Q, and scored the J and 10. The club K and J then set the stage for the squeeze, which was by laying down the diamond K. After following suit, the dummy had also the heart A and Q, which East could not successfully guard with his K and J, since he had to throw the J in order to keep the club 10 as protection against South's 7. The Heart 3 to the A then dropped the K, and the Q took the last trick.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ K Q 7 6 4 2 ♥ A K Q 6 ♦ Q 10 4 ♣ None

West: ♠ 3 ♥ J 10 4 2 ♦ A 8 3 ♣ Q J 10 6 3

East: ♠ 9 8 5 ♥ 9 8 7 3 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ A K 9

South: ♠ A J 10 ♥ 5 ♦ K J 7 5 ♣ 8 7 5 4 2

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

If you and your partner are using opening two bids as a weakness shower to try to crowd out your opponents, what bidding would you recommend by East and West on this deal?

Mothership Hit?

MELBOURNE, June 4—(CP). — Prime Minister John Curtin and Gen. Douglas MacArthur conferred for four hours Monday following the Japanese U-boat attack on Sydney harbor.

The Prime Minister's happiness was so evident that some observers speculated that the submarines' mothership had been damaged or captured.

It could be assumed that the appearance of the little raiders at Sydney had touched off an intense search for their base.

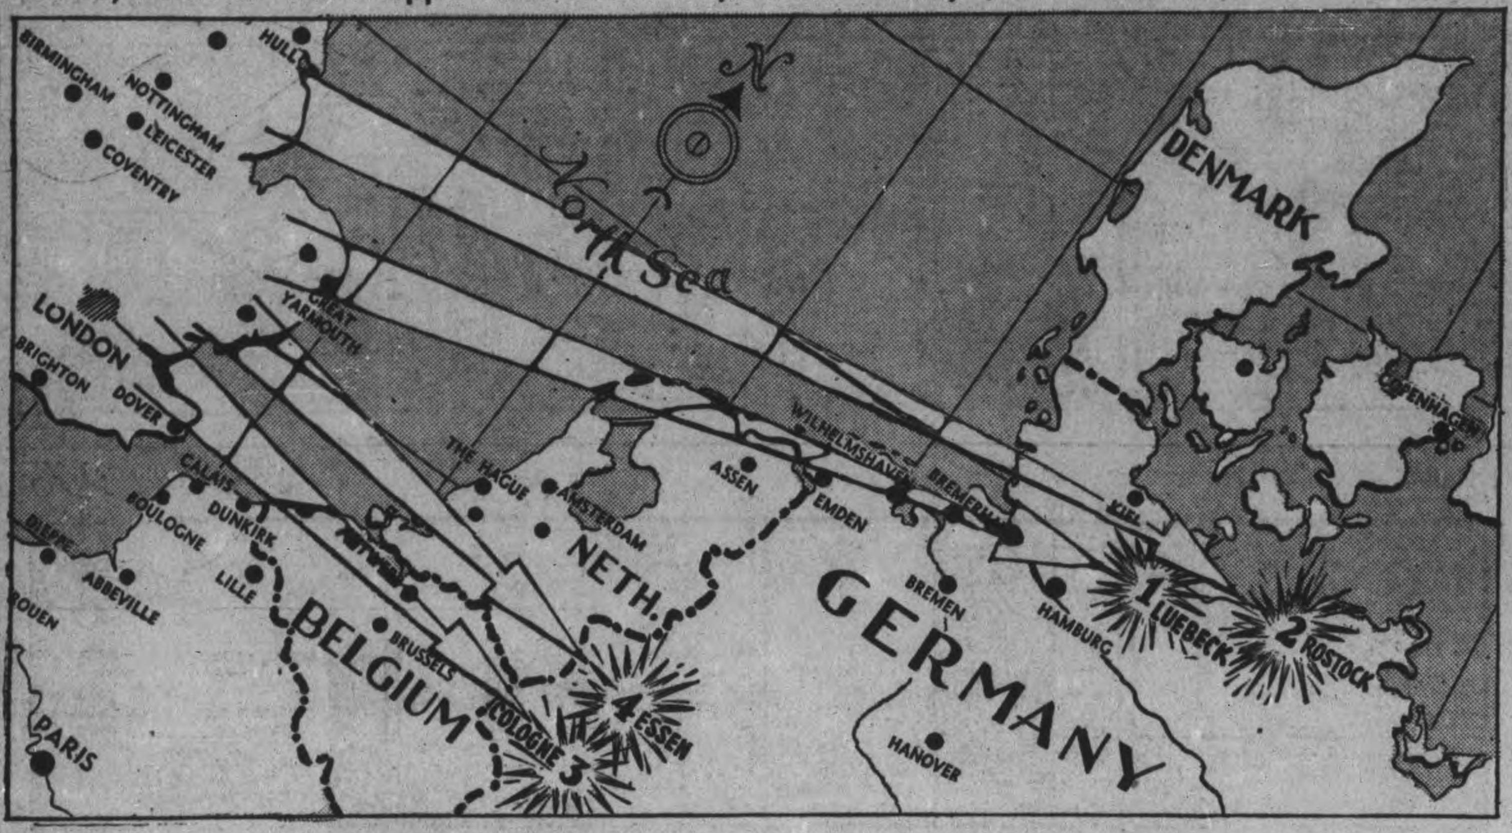
Essen, Home Of The Krupp Armament Works, Was Basted By 1,000 Planes



Close on the heels of their devastating raid on Cologne, over 1,000 Royal Air Force planes smashed at the heart of Germany's armament supply in a gigantic raid on the city of Essen, home of the Krupp armament factories. Essen is the fourth industrial centre in Germany to feel the might of R.A.F. bombs in raids designed to cripple the Nazi war machine. Luebeck, Rostock, Cologne and Essen have now been added to the growing list of R.A.F. raid centres.

Bible Society Holds Services In Havelock Church

HAVELOCK, June 4 — (ENS).— Rev. F. B. Allnutt, field secretary of the Upper Canada Bible Society, on a yearly tour, on Sunday occupied the pulpit in St. John's Anglican Church in the morning and Trent River United Church in the afternoon, and the United Church in Havelock for the evening service.

Four sets of slides were shown, namely "Making and Distributing Bibles in Japan," "Bible Translation into the African language," and two sets of slides on "Presentation of Bibles" to soldiers, sailors, and nurses serving their King and Country.

"My Back, Limbs and Joints Were Aching All The Time"

Also Badly Rundown, Suffered From Stomach Troubles and Constipation, Says Tweed, Ont., Lady. Tells How the Syntona Medicine Helped Her.

If there is a man or woman reading this who suffers from backache, sore, painful muscles and joints stomach troubles, or constipation, this message is one that tells how to get relief. It comes from a well-known Ontario lady, Mrs. Mary Richards, Post Office, Tweed Ontario.

"I was in a badly rundown condition and suffered terribly with acid indigestion, gas, cramps and nausea. The gas would press up in my chest making me short of breath, and I often had heartburn very badly. Dizzy spells and severe headaches would come over me and constipation was a daily worry. My limbs and joints were aching all the time and at night I would lie awake by the hour with a dull, aching pain across my back. Then in the morning I felt tired-out, nervous so that every little thing I did seemed to tax all my strength

"A friend told me how much Syntona had helped her, so I began taking it and soon found I was getting the same good results. It relieved me of all that stomach misery and constipation. Then the headaches, dizzy feelings and distress after meals stopped troubling me. Gradually the aches and pains went away until now I get sound, restful sleep at night, my nerves calmed down, and I feel stronger and better in every way.

"I advise everyone who is in a rundown condition like I was to try Syntona because it is the best medicine I've ever taken."

Rely upon Syntona. It is made from the finest grade Herbs, Roots and Barks, and contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Chinese Battle Fo Rail Centre

CHUNGKING, June 4—(AP).— A heavy battle for possession of Chuhsien, big rail centre and next main Japanese objective in Chekiang Province, was reported under way tonight by the Chinese high command.

A communique said fighting continued on the Kiangsi, Kwangtung and Hupeh Province fronts and that lulls in the action in Chekiang had been caused only by bad weather.

With reinforcements moving up to battle position, the Japanese were said to be attacking Chuhsien from three directions supported with artillery and some planes.

The high command said Chinese forces, fighting back with their own artillery, werep utting up stiff resistance.

The Chinese were reported to have recaptured Yangki, thereby cutting a trianglar chunk from the flank of Japan's Chekiang lines.

BERNE, Switzerland, June 4. — (AP).—German occupation authorities in Paris announced to-day that 10 hostages would be shot if the person or persons who attacked a German soldier last Wednesday were not captured in 10 days, Swiss dispatches reported.

In addition, the Germans said, 'a great number' of persons will be put at forced labor

Campbellford Rotary Club Hears Ross Strike

CAMPBELLFORD, June 4 (ENS) Canada is facing the greatest crisis it has ever faced and this is partly because of apathy to religious questions and politics as an art of government. This was the opinion expressed by Ross Strike, past president of Bowmanville Rotary Club and an ex-mayor of that town in an address before Campbellford Rotarians on Monday. He made these remarks as an introduction to a talk on the problems arising out of the recent plebiscite—problems which he felt deserved the greatest consideration, and were tightly bedded with both politics and religion.

Mr. Strike based his remarks principally on a portion of the report gathered by one of the Ontario weekly newspaper publishers, who had been asked to participate in a conference that might serve untimately as a basis for greater understanding between the two races. He summarized the opinions expressed by two French-Canadians—one the editor of a French-Canadian newspaper in Montreal, who voted "No" on the plebiscite and explained why, and the other a prominent French-Sanadian educationist, who gave an affirmative vote on the question. The Montreal newspaperman said the question went back as far as 1917, and pointed out that the French-Canadian had an entirely different viewpoint from the Anglo-Saxon. They (the French) were intent on keeping a nation within a nation, and 1917 was the first great chance the Nationalists got to build up a bogey. The editor believed Quebec had been "badly treated" in 1939 when Quebec cabinet ministers, who were not in favor of derlaring war on Germany, finally got behind the Government when they were assured there would be no conscription. In his opinion, the French would oppose conscription "to the last manoeuvre, but if it becomes law, they will abide by it."

One suggestion he made was in regard to training. He felt that training camps for French-Canadians, both army, navy and air force, should be set up entirely with French-Canadian personnel. Another criticism was levelled at the fact there were no high-ranking French Canadian officers in the army, while many other still chaffed under the insinuation made by Hon. C. D. Howe that the Arvida affair was "sabotage." They argue there is no conscription in South Africa, Ireland or Australia, and ask if Canada is being led into it because the United States has it. The writer concludes by saying that Quebec is not anti-British, but is merely opposed to sending men overseas by other than the voluntary system. "Conscription," says the writer, "may bring about a passive resistance that will slow down the entire war effort."

Blames The Priests

The educationist who voted "Yes" on the plebiscite, gave the opinion that "the heirarchy of the Roman Catholic Church favors an all-out effort, but this is not the attitude of the parish priests," whose outlook in the main is "narrow." He felt the opinion of Jean Baptiste was mainly a reflection of the priests' outlook. Where it was broader (the minority) a small "Yes" vote was recorded. The village priests wields a tremendous influence, which is all to the good, and the entire life of these French Canadians is built around the church."

He felt that the educational system itself was much to blame since it fell "far short of the type political leaders recognize should be given." He emphasized that the educational system had not progressed, and pointed to the fact conscription had been a railying cry at every election —Federal, Provincial or Municipal, since 1917. The only way the educationist felt that Quebec could be changed was by giving leadership from men like LaFleche who, instead of speaking in the West should go up and down the entire province speaking on the question from every platform. "It must be a French Canadian who does this," declared the writer, who told of the organization De Jacques Cartier, whose powerful group was attempting to build up a nation within a nation.

Mr. Strike paid tribute to the group led by Godbout which has said, "We must realize we are an English speaking continent of 130 to 140 million, compared to three million French Canadians, and we must learn to speak English as well as French. The speaker concluded by saying the people of the rest of Canada should unite in giving every assistance to the men of the LaFleche type in carrying the story to the French Canadian.

U.S., JAP BATTLE FLEETS LOCKED OFF MIDWAY ISLE

Greatest UK Convoy Bolsters India

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, India, June 5 (AP)—As Japanese forces pressed to a point 45 miles east of India's Burma frontier, British authorities announced today that the largest convoy of reinforcements ever to come to the defence of India had been unloaded at Eastern India ports.

The reinforcements included light and heavy anti-aircraft guns, British and American light and heavy tanks and a large number of both fighting and technical personnel.

The convoy put into Indian ports early in May and was so big it could not be handled at any one port. It came through without loss.

Among the troops were some Indian soldiers trained in Britain and other troops with battle experience in France and Libya.

Crews for Hurricane and Kittyhawk fighters now operating in India arrived on the convoy.

The number of troops an. material was described as possibly the largest ever to leave the United Kingdom.

The Japanese have reached Homalin, 45 miles east of the Indian - Burma oorder, and are continuing to rush troops up the Chindwin River in Burma, a British spokesman said.

The spokesman emphasized that the Japanese troops near the Indian frontier were not strong enough to indicate the intention of an immediate attack.

Moreover, the territory now has been caught in the early stages of the heavy rainy season.

Japs' Poison Gas Stirs FDR Threat

Continuance In China To Bring Full U.S. Retaliation

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt told today of official information that Japan was using poison gas against China and grimly declared that if the Japanese persisted in this form of warfare, the United States would mete out "retaliation in kind and in full measure."

The reports that Japan on several occasions had resorted to gas warfare were described by the President to his press conference as authoritative. He read a brief formal statement, which he said the State Department had prepared, making it unequivocally clear that the United States would consider the use of gas against China or any other United Nation as an action against the United States.

The text of the statemen follows:

"Authoritative reports are reaching this government of the use by Japanese armed forces in various localities of China of poisonous or noxious gases. I desire to make it unmistakably clear that, if Japan persists in this inhuman form of warfare against China or any other of the United Nations, such action will be regarded by this government as though taken against the United States, and retaliation in kind and in full measure will be meted out.

STOCKHOLM, June 5—(AP).—Tremendous damage inflicted by Britain's first 1,000-plane raid Saturday night ruined the central district of Cologne and reached into the suburbs, destroying all property of 10,000 persons, said a German dispatch quoted today by the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter.

From the bomb-damaged office of the Koelnische (Cologne) Zeitung (and through the Nazi censorship) came the report, written Wednesday by Franz Berger:

Duff Lauds Canucks Sent to Hong Kong

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 5—(CP).—Canada's expeditionary force sent to Hong Kong last fall was one of which the Dominion "can and should be proud," Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff said in his findings as a Royal Commissioner, tabled in the House of Commons today.

In 'usion of a small number of men not fully tr-ined did not handicap the exped!'ion nor was there evidence that the force suffered through lack of certain equipment which failed to arrive, the report stated.

The war came 'upon Canada when the Dominion was unprepared, the Chief Justice stated.

"In such circumstances, recalling military history, one would perhaps not be greatly surprised to discover that even two years after its commencement some military enterprise had been undertaken which had prov d to be ill-conceived or badly managed," he said.

"The Hong Kong expedition falls under neither description."

Prime Minister Mackenzie King tabled the repo. ir. the House of Commons this afternoon. It was the result of a long inquiry conducted by the Chief Justice.

The inquiry was ordered after complaints had been made in the House of Commons that many of those added to the two regiments—the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada from Que-

Chinese Mow Off 8,000 In Day About Chuhsien

CHUNGKING, June 5 (AP)—The Chinese high command announced tonight that about 8,000 Japanese were killed or wounded yesterday in fighting around Chuhsien, rail centre in western Chekiang province.

That increased the number of Japanese casualties reported in two days of fighting for the important walled town to 10,000.

Observers here said the Chinese announcement might indicate a decisive turn in the fierce battle for the western Chekiang air base area from which Japan might be bombed.

The Chinese said the importance with which the Japanese regarded the battle was reflected in that they had sent more than 100,000 troops into the assault.

Japan is developing a knock-out blow against China designed to end the Chinese war at any cost and simultaneously guarantee her overland communications with occupied Indo-China, Thailand, Burma and Malaya, high Chinese quarters declared today.

The Japanese concern over land communications with occupied territories in Asia was said to be heightened by the possibility that the Allies might reach the stage where they could seriously threaten Japan's sea routes.

Huns To Starve Libyan Captives

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), June 5.—(AP).—The German High Command declared today that British prisoners captured in the Libyan battle would be denied food and drink until the British command cancelled an alleged order which the Germans said resulted in mistreatment of German prisoners.

The High Command's statement said:

"During fighting in North Africa an order of the 4th British Armored Brigade was captured. It said that prisoners must not be given any food, sleep, water, friendly treatment or any conveniences until they have been questioned by competent quarters."

Dispatches from Rome said the Italian High Command also had announced similar action.

No Truth In It

LONDON, June 5.—(CP).—A well-informed source said to-day that the German allegation of improper treatment of prisoners in Libya was without foundation. He said it had not been determined immediately whether the British government would take official notice of the charge.

This source declared the British army "always has and always will" scrupulously observe the Geneva convention for treatment of war prisoners.

Tirpitz, Hipper Both Take Bombs

LONDON, June 5 (CP)—The German battleship Tirpitz and the German cruiser Admiral Hipper received "several direct hits" during the last R.A.F. bombing raid on the Trandheim area, Norwegian sources reported here today, quoting advices from Trondheim.

One of the ships, not specified, developed a definite list, these sources said.

The Norwegians said the R.A.F. raids April 29-30 all scored hits on air fields at Vaernes and Oerlandet. The Germans blocked off the Cerlandet field, but it was learned the barracks were hit and 17 Germans killed at Vaernes.

After the raids, these sources added, workmen on the German naval base being built at Trondheim went on strike and many left the area.

14 Army Fliers Die In U.S. Crash

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., June 5. — (AP). — Fourteen United States army fliers died in the crash of a heavy bomber near here last night, the army said.

Flames consumed the wreckage when the plane hit a hilltop as the pilot circled for an emergency landing

The plane developed trouble soon after a takeoff and radioed nearby Hamilton field to clear a runway. The pilot circled toward the field

The big ship lost altitude and then dived into a hillside on the Herzog ranch, three miles northwest of Hamilton field.

As it crashed great flames swept through the wreckage. Not a man escaped

Russians Batter Hun Northern Bomber Bases

B HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 5—(AP).—Fighting to safeguard Russia's Arctic Ocean route for war supplies from Britain and the United States, the R.-I Air Force has hammered home three hard attacks on the bases from which German bombers have been ranging the far northern seaways, dispatches from Murmansk reported today.

At least 40 German planes were said to have .een destroyed in addition to the damage to the Nazi-built landing fields (presumably in the Petsamo region of Finland and the frozen ncrth cape country of Norway).

The dispatches from Murmansk—landing port for much of the supplies coming to Russia from her Allies—said the attacks were made deep behind the German-Finnish lines.

Twelve planes were said to have been smashed in the first attack, and the second was said to have destroyed 25 more planes which the Germans had just brought to the northern front.

Three planes were reported wrecked in a third bombin, in which pilots said they blew up a German fuel supply and splintered Nazi repair shops.

The Germans continued sporadic air raids on Murmansk, met each time by Russian fighters. In one recent battle in the sky over the port a bomb-laden German junkers was said to have blown up with an explosion so terrific that a second German plane following close behind was destroyed.

Red Army artillery was reported to have frustrated a German effort to drive a wedge into Russian lines on the Bryansk front, heavy shell-fire forcing the invaders back to their original positions with a loss of 280 dead.

American Navy Forces Issue As Isle Whips Assaults Hit Jap Battleship, Carrier

Attack Seen No Nipponese Hit-Run Affair But Real Blow For Strategic Island That May Tell Course Of Move On America

HONOLULU, June 5—(AP).—United States defenders, spurred by initial successes, closed in one of the greatest battles of the Pacific today with a strong Japanese sea-air force in what may be a finish fight for possession of Midway Island.

Already the island garrison had scored hits on an enemy battleship, an aircraft carrier and possibly other war vessels. Raiding planes were brought down in considerable number.

And, said Admiral Ches'-: Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific flet, "our attacks on the enemy are continuing."

This latest assault on the island outpost, last line of defenc: before Hawaii itself, began shortly after dawn yetserday.

It found the defence forces keyed to fighting pitch by long preparation and patiently strengthened in the months since they first repulsed such an attack Decem'er 7.

It found them al-* and forewarned by the preceding day's raid upon Dutch Harbor, 2,000 miles to the north. It seemed the enemy may have stepped unwittingly into a spot too hot to handle.

No Hit-Run Stroke

It appeared strongly possible the Japanese did not intend this as a hit-and-run affair, like their five preceding forays against Midway.

Presence of capital ships in the attacking force and the heavy toll the defenders were able to exact in the first few hours of the operation suggested the enemy was at hand with the sole purpose of taking over the island.

And Midway, with the tradition of Wake Island as its guide, was obviously in no mood to let the issue go by default.

Admiral Nimitz' communique indicated the Americans' first success was achieved at little cost of themselves. He re'orted that damage to material and installations on the island, 1,149 miles northwest of Hawaii, was minor.

The attack seemed in indicate, it was said, that the fight which started at Midway yesterday morning had continued for many hours with both American and enemy units manoeuvring for advantage in what may be a crucial engagement determining the enemy's ability to strike at more vital points, including Pearl Harbor, the United States west coast, Alaska and even the Panama Canal.

The action off Midway involved not only Japanese aircraft carriers but battleships and heavy cruisers. As great as this force appeared to be, however, there remained a possibility that it was engaged in a diversionary operation and that a main force was developing an attack elsewhere.

The communique told this terse story:

"At 6.35 a.m. today (Thursday), Midway time, that island was heavil; raided by Japanese carrier-based planes. The attack was repulsed by local defenders in wh ch all armed services are represented. A heavy toll of attacking planes was taken. Damage to material and installations on Midway were reported minor. No reports c personnel casualties were received.

Italy Speeding Riviera Forts To Foil British

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 5 (AP)—Italy is fortifying her Riviera coastline as a defence, presumably, against British commando raids.

We on the repatriation train from Rome to Lisbon glimpsed low-lying concrete pillbox fortifications under construction along the coastline, particularly near Leghorn.

Military experts have concluded that the new defences are intended to repeal raiding parties from British submarines.

Basis for this assumption is the presence of shipyards and industrial plants along the Ligurian coast which offer inviting objectives to British saboteurs. The Leghorn hydrogenation plant, Italy's principal gasoline producer, is one possible objective.

This plant produces synthetic motor fuel and also converts what little crude oil reaches Italy. We observed that it was still in operation.

Commando raids on Italy thus far have been confined to Sicily, where the German air force is based for its Mediterranean operations, except for the parachutists dropped in southern Italy early in the war to blow up bridges and waterworks.

Allied Bombers Bag 2 Jap Subs

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 5 (CP)—Allied planes, protecting the vital shipping lanes over which United States war supplies are flowing into Australia, have sunk two Japanese submarines and probably a third off the east coast of this continent, headquarters announced today.

This success brought to six, and possibly seven, the number of Japanese undersea raiders destroyed by the defenders of Australia in the last five days, four enemy midget submarines having been reported sunk Sunday night in an abortive raid on Sydney harbor.

Allied airmen also struck yesterday at Japanese bases in the Islands north of Australia, blasting airdromes and shipping facilities.

The Allied aircraft credited with the latest submarine sinkings apparently were searching for submersibles which yesterday were reported to have attacked three vessels in the Sydney area, sending one to the bottom but failing to dam-

Midway Stab, Sign Axis Volcano Ready

Hitler Whips Allies In Action Now His 2 Million Fresh Troops Ready In Russia

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Expansion of the Japanese raid on Dutch Harbor into an attack on Midway Island, with heavy naval and fair forces, compels us to take a wider view of these operations and note they are further indications that we are on the verge of a general Axis onslaught which will try to force a decision in the war this year.

While the precise purpose of the Japanese raids are still in doubt, they fit in perfectly with the signs that the Axis volcano is about to erupt. Certainly the fact the Japs struck at little Midway in strength, even employing a battleship, would seem to indicate they are bent on something more than hit-and-run raids. They are building towards a climax.

Also a part of this broad picture is the thus far unsuccessful but determined offensive of wily Nazi Marshal Rommel in an effort to get set for a drive against Egypt and the Suez Canal across the Libyan sands. That is an integral item of the Hitlerian strategy for conquer the Middle East and thus reaching the supplies which Germany must have.

In short, the Nazi Fuehrer is about to strike, and his allies and henchman are coming into action.

Any day now we may expect him to launch against the Muscovites that much-advertised 'spring' offensive which has been so long delayed that summer already is edging onto the Southern Russian steppes. We are on the verge of the conflict which bids fair to be the greatetst and bloodiest of history, for upon its course depends in major degree the outcome of the entire war, both in Europe and the Pacific.

Private advices state that the Nazi chief has ready for action some 200 divisions of fresh troops—say in the neighborhood of 2,750,000 men. These in addition to the 1,500,000 who have been holding the long Russian line during the past fierce winter of Napoleonic tragedy. They are resting on new arms which have been pouring from the hard pushed factories of Germany and the occupied countries.

Then we have that vast Nazi aiar fleet which has been largely idle for months. Hitler apparently has been husbanding and adding to his aerial striking power for coming events. The strength of this armada is, of course, problematical but military experts are agreed that it is a mighty force

Arsenal Blast Wipes Out 21

Blast Is Heard For 50 Miles—Probe For Sabotage

JOLIET, Ill., June 5.—(AP)—An explosion rocked the mammoth Elwood arsenal, one of the largest in the United States, early to-day, leaving 21 known dead, Capt. David P. Tunstall, army press relations officer, announced.

Twenty-four men were injured, and 28 others working in the shipping escaped unhurt.

Three of the dead were identified, but Tunstall did not announce the names of any of the 40 casualties.

The blast, heard for a radius of 50 miles, destroyed the shipping building of group two of the Elwood ordnance shell loading plant, which had been described by Lt.-Col. T. C. Gerber, its director, as the largest in the world

Capt. Tunstall said there was nc hint of sabotage, but that its possibility would be investigated by a Board of Inquiry.

Battleship Cruiser Not Hit In Madagascar Raid

LONDON, June 5—(CP). — The Admiralty denied today a Japanese declaration that a battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class and a light cruiser had been damaged by a submarine attack on the Diego Suarez harbor.

An Admiralty communique said a submarine attack was made on Diego Suarez, British-occupied naval base of Madagascar, May 30, and declared "Japanese claims to have damaged a battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class and a cruiser of the Arethusa class are untrue."

"There were no casualties in His Majesty's ships," it said.

Further details were withheld in the interest of security.

Headquarters in Tokyo claimed today that special submarine units of the Japanese navy had made a surprise attack on Diego Suarez, Madagascar, at dawn May 31, torpedoing and seriously damaging a British battleship of the Queen Elizabeth class and a cruiser of the Arethusa class.

FIXING ACHIEVEWARTIME PRICE D ITS PURPOSE ILSLEY CLAIMS

Price-Fixing Defended By Ilsley

Claims System So Far Has Worked, Prevented Inflation

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP).—Defence of the government wartime price-fixing policy as a system which so far has achieved its purpose in averting inflation was given in the House of Commons last night by Finance Minister Ilsley.

He spoke after Conservative House Leader Hanson had criticized price-fixing steps.

Mr. Hanson said the Government had embarked upon the policy without a plan and "we have a system of hit and miss, hit and run, trial and error."

Mr. Ilsley said that in the first 26 months of the First Great War price levels rose 15 per cent. In the first 26 months of the present war, the cost of living rose 15 per cent. During the next seven months of the First Great War price levels rose 13 per cent. more but during the next seven months of the present conflict the price level had risen less than one per cent.

"If honorable members of this committee do not remember anything else I say, I want them to remember these simple figures,' said Mr. Ilsley.

The price-setting discussion took place as the House continued debate on the War Appropriation Bill.

26 Million Used

New Democracy Leader Blackmore said that during the first Great War $26,000,000 of menies had been printed by the Dominion Treasury and used as part of the revenue of Canada.

The Finance Minister would have to make use of the power of the state to create money based on the real credit of the country if he were to succeed in his task.

Mr. Blackmore said money issued in this manner could be used up to the point where there would be danger of inflation through scarcity of goods.

Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temismouata) said that for years he had been "fighting a Junta in the department of finance." He said the system of accounting had been revised by the former prime minister Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett (now Lord Bennett) who had brought into office the present deputy minister of finance Dr. W. C. Clark.

Answering a question by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House Leader, Mr. Ilsley said it was not planned to "Destruction is tremendous everywhere.

"Destroyed buildings, damaged schools, churches, hospitals, museums, monuments, many warehouses and shops are still burning. Whole quarters of the town are empty, the windows in ruins."

The first issue of the Cologne newspaper to appear since last Saturday reached Stockholm today and reported fires still were burning in the city.

It quoted the Cologne Gauleiter as saying "it will require much patience and a long time to repair the worst effects of this night attack."

"Enormous damage" and "indescribable devastation" were expressions the paper used to describe the raid.

We shall be prepared to enforce complete retribution. Upon Japan will rest the responsibility."

An Official Secret.

Just where or in what manner this retribution might be carried out is, of course, a matter of continuing secrecy. But the American bombing attack on key Japanese cities and military objectives in April came readily to the minds of Mr. Roosevelt's hearers.

However the United States apparently would stand ready to use gas warfare on the basis of Mr. Roosevelt's statement, against Japanese fight forces anywhere in the world.

To questions whether he had any reports on the use of poison gases in the European war theatre, the President responded that he had had reports but that they were not yet authoritative ones.

He asserted that the various Governmental Departments concerned had concurred in the views enunciated in that statement. He did not name the departments, but the War and Navy Departments naturally would have direct interest.

Asked whether he had any reports on the mistreatment of American prisoners held by the Japanese, the President said he had received nothing authoritative.

He was informed that an article in a current magazine spoke of Japanese mistreatment of British prisoners, and said the author had talked it over with Mr. Roosevelt, and had been told to go ahead with his article. The President said he had so told the writer.

The announcement said the planes manned by Netherlands and Australian airmen, spotted the submarines on the surface in different localities.

An eyewitness account of the sinking of one of the submarines was given by a Netherlands airman piloting a big American bomber carrying a crew of six men.

"I sighted the submarine suddenly on the surface," the pilot reported, "and opened my throttle and roared down, but my bombardier missed seeing the vessel.

"I pulled the plane down again for a low-level attack. This time the bombardier made no mistake. He loosed his bombs on the submarine's deck. The submarine tried desperately to escape, but came up after the bombing, her bows sticking straight up through the water and surrounded by oil."

Broadening the fast-developing Pacific war, the Midway raid followed by a day two raids of Japanese planes on Dutch Harbor, Alaska.

The Midway attack was the first the Japs had aimed at that island since Admiral Nimitz flew there last month to decorate four naval and marine officers for their bravery in previous raids. At that time he said the ground and air forces under Cmdr. Cyril T. Simard had demonstrated a commendable efficiency of co-ordination.

Japan's first, and previously their heaviest, attack was made by cruisers and destroyers Dec. 7, the same day of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor precipitating the war with the United States.

Shelling submarines and raiding planes carried on other attacks which reached five March 10, the last one delivered prior to yesterday's heavy assault. Marine corps aviators were decorated by Admiral Nimitz at Midway for shooting down a four-engined Japanese patrol seaplane in the March 10 attack.

Midway is the last United States' outpost in the Pacific to the northwest of Hawaii, Wake and Guam having fallen to the Japanese.

These Chinese circles claimed that they had received information that high Japanese diplomats recently submitted the following recommendations to Tokyo after a tour of south China:—

1. Dispose of the China incident—as the Japanese call the war in China—at any cost.

2. Shelve the Russian problem until the China affair is settled or well on the way to settlement.

3. Minimize the effect of future Allied warfare against Japanese shipping by insuring overland communications with French Indo-China and other occupied areas.

These Chinese sources said it was most likely that Japan would first seek to obtain full control of the Peping-Hankow and the Canton-Hankow railways, thus bisecting China.

Thomas Hughes Charged Beating Wife

Thomas Hughes of North Monaghan pleaded not guilty before a jury and Judge Coleman, o Whitby, causing actual bodily harm on the eve of last Easter, as the hearing of the final case on the docket of the County Criminal Court was begun this morning.

The prosecution was being conducted by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. and W. J. Arthur Fair was counsel for the accused.

Mr. McElderry briefly outlined the case to the jury, saying that Mr. Hughes was an automobile wrecker, living on Monaghan Road between Lansdowne Street and the C.N.R. His wife was Elsie Martin, daughter of George Martin, living a short distance further south on Monaghan Road.

Martin and Hughes both work as automobile wreckers. Mrs. Hughes said her father had brought Hughes from the farm. "Everybody thought he was a swell fellow," said she. She thought so, too, and married him in 1928. Eight years later Hughes started in the wrecking business for himself up the road. Six months later she left him and returned to her parents. Mrs. Hughes also declared that she tried to avoid passing her former home because she was afraid of her husband. There were three children to the marriage, the youngest one being taken by the mother.

In the evening of Saturday, April 4 last, Mrs. Hughes, first witness, said in reply to Mr. McElderry, that she had gone uptown, met some friends, including a group of two sisters and two brothers, and had three or four beers with them in a beverage room. The party later went to a restaurant, and about midnight the friends arranged for one of the men to drive Mrs. Hughes home.

"When we got near our house I heard an automobile horn blowing in front,' witness said. "I thought then it was my husband because he had been doing that often about that time.

"When I got out my husband called to me from his car. He said, 'Elsie, come here.' I thought he was going to give me the $20.00 which he said that afternoon he would pay me."

Maintaining Child.

To Judge Coleman, Mrs. Hughes explained that her husband had agreed to pay toward the maintenance of the youngest child who was staying with her at her father's home. "I took anything just to get away from him, but he was getting away without paying me anything."

"Where were you?" he asked me from his car. I told him I didn't thing it was any of his business. He caught my right hand and bent back my fingers so that I screamed. He punched me on the nose with his fist and on the side of my face. He grabbed me by the hair at the back of my forehead. Then my mother and father and sister came out. They heard me screaming. My husband grabbed my dress at the throat and tore it all down the front. He held me by one hand, stepped on the gas, and started his car. I had to kneel on the running board. The door was swinging open."

Hughes turned east on Edison Avenue, north on Park, west on Lansdowne and south on Monaghan Road to his own house north of the C.N.R. Witness said she was standing on the ground when her husband started his car, in front of her father's home.

To Mr. Fair, witness said the car in which she had driven home was facing toward Peterborough when it stopped.

"I wanted to avoid passing his place coming home, and we had gone down Park to Braidwood. The man who drove me home was Charles Guthrie. I did not know the two other men in the car, but Mr. Guthrie did. It was about 12.15 when I got home."

Mr. Fair: "Was there another man in the car of the accused?"

Mrs. Hughes: "Yes."

"What did he say. Anything?"

"He said, 'Tom, leave her alone'.'

'You got your money from him that night?"

"Yes?"

"He telephoned your mother

Commando Raid Rattles Hun,

WITH THE COMMANDOS OFF THE FRENCH COAST, June 5 — (CP).—British Commando troops, clad only in shorts, stockings and soft woollen hats, threw German defences into complete confusion whe nthey carried out a "smash-and-grab raid" on the French coast early yesterday, Reuter's correspondent said.

Here is the reporter's account:

The Commandos storming ashore between Boulogne and Le Touquet just before 3 a.m. had established themselves on the beach before the Germans opened fire.

The defenders were so rattled that at time they fired at one another.

Wading waist deep from their assault craft and cutting their way through barbed-wire defences, some of the raiders reached some distance inland.

A pillbox at the edge of the dunes put up stiff resistance until the Commandos concentrated Bren gun and anti-tank fire on it. Then, in a matter of minutes, it was silenced and never fired again throughout the raid, which lasted nearly an hour.

The defences tried to set up a cross-fire, but tracer bullets from one German machine-gun post could be seen streaking across the sands point-blank at fellow gun-posts.

Held Breaths

As we neared the French coast German searchlights were switched on and swung low over the sea. We held our breaths, for it seemed certain we must be picked up.

But after a few anxious moments the lights went out.

Later, when the Commandos were ashore, two searchlights again were flashed on the defenders. German machine-gun posts then directed their fire against assault craft lying offshore, obviously with the aim of preventing the re-embarkation of our troops.

But by this time the Commandos had carried out their reconnaissance and gathered information they were there to seek.

The army commander who led the assault up the beach ordered the withdrawal. A single bugle note rang out above the stutter of machine-gun and rifle fire.

The troops re-embarked under the cover of a smoke-screen. As the boats made their way to sea the German defenders still were firing wild and sporadic bursts.

When we were a mile offshore it was decided to send one boat back for a final look around to make sure that no one had been left behind. Finding no one waiting on the beach the commander of the craft gave the German defences long bursts from his Bren guns and every other armament on board.

R.A.F. Drops Bombs

His boat had only just off again when in the brilliant moonlight we spotted R.A.F. machines diving low over the coast. A series of heavy explosions followed as they dropped their bombs all along the foreshore in and around the defences.

Shortly after dawn we saw a squadron of Spitfires flying low over the water toward us and for the rest of the voyage they continually circled over our convoy.

One or two straggling craft fell a little astern and were made the object of a sudden swoop by four Messerschmitts which attempted to dive-bomb and machine-gun them.

The enemy aircraft received a torrent of fire from the boats, and after a few minutes were driven off.

Apart from this abortive attack the return voyage was without incident.

While the Commandos were on the beaches naval supporting craft encountered two German patrol vessels about a mile offshore. In a short, swift engagement one of the patrol boats was left in a sinking condition, while the other ran aground, burning from stem to stern, and providing a beacon which blazed for hours afterward.

bec—to bring them up to strength, had not the requisite 16 weeks' training.

Only 6 P.C. not Fully Trained.

Chief Justice Duff said he had found that all but 6 per cent of those added to the expedition had "more than 16 weeks' military training after enlistment in the Active Army."

Evidence was adduced to show that an efficient battalion "is and must be capable of absorbing recruits who have not fully completed their training up to a much greater proportion of its strength than 6 per cent without at all detracting from the efficiency of the battalion as a whole."

From the evidence the Chief Justice reported that 'I have reached the conclusion that there was no unfairness either to the battalions or to the expedition as a whole from the addition of this small percentage of men who had not fully completed the standard period of training at the time they were accepted by the battalion officers.

No Slip In Judgment

"I have found no dereliction of duty or error in judgment in connection with the additions made to the strength of the two units."

Decision to send the expeditionary force was declared to have been justified from all the information available to the commissioner, and he absolved Defence Ministers and Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, then chief of the general staff, of any error of judgment or dereliction of duty.

Only criticism of Canadian officials was in regard to failure of certain vehicles to reach Vancouver in time to be placed on the ship which carried the troops to Hong Kong, a small volume of cargo space having been available for such equipment.

"Had more energy and initiative been shown by the quartermaster-general's branch charged with movement of the equipment the availability of this space would have been ascertained earlier and the vehicles would have arrived in time for loading on Oct. 24.

"And there is in my opinion no good reason for thinking that had they arrived at that time they would not have been taken on board.

"There is no evidence, however, that the troops suffered through lack of them, or that they were not supplied at Hong Kong."

The report referred to failure of the United States vessel, which sailed later (November 4) with the mechanical transport for the expedition, to reach its destination.

This ship was diverted before reaching Hong Kong by the United States naval authorities, the report stated.

"Had she been allowed to follow her normal route she would have reached Hong Kong before the Japanese forces or before the Japanese attack opened.

"This miscarriage was not in any way due to any fault of mistake of any officer of the Canadian forces or of any official of the Canadian Government."

The Commissioner found that decision of the Canadian Government to act on the British War Office invitation of last Sept. 19 to send an expeditionary force to Hong Kong was "the only course open to them in the circumstances."

He had not been asked to pass upon the question of whether such a decision should have been referred to parliament.

The report referred to argument by Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader and Conservative House Leader Hanson's nominee on the commission counsel, that accession to power of a pro-Axis government in Japan on Oct. 16 should have prompted the Canadian Government to re-examine the proposal to send an expedition.

"My conclusion is that, having regard to the information of which the government was in possession derived from the best sources of information open to them, nothing emerged before the departure of the expeditionary force on Oct. 27 which could have been considered to be a justification for the withdrawal by Canada from the responsibility she had undertaken," Sir Lyman said.

Ralston Rights 3-Attack Story

OTTAWA, June 5—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons last night that latest reports indicate there has been one air attack on Dutch Harbor.

Earlier the Minister said in the House that reports from the Pacific indicated there had been three attacks, the third Wednesday night.

As the House rose at 6 p.m., the Minister said the latest news from the Pacific command indicated that the reports which had come through earlier concerning a second and third attack on Dutch Harbor were unfounded.

"There was only one attack," the Minister said.

In his first statement to the House the Minister said that "no further details have been received as to the extent of damage except those already published in the press.

"Raids of this kind were not unexpected and plans previously made by Canada and the United States for such a contingency are in actual operation.

"Certain additional dispositions have been made.

"The Canadian commander-in-chief, west coast defences, (Maj.-Gen. R. O. Alexander) is operating in conjunction with the commander of the United States forces on the west coast in accordance with the joint plans"

British, Indian Units Strike Hun Rear To Relieve French

CAIRO, Egypt, June 5 — (AP).—British columns and air squadrons drove off a tank-supported Axis force attacking Bir Hacheim, desert anchor of the Eastern Libyan defence line, for the second time in two days yesterday, a communique announced to-day.

British and Indian troops struck from the rear to relieve the Free French and Indian garrison at that southern outpost of a 50-mile line from the Mediterranean at Ain El Gazala, a line broken by a wedge of Field-Marshal Erwin Rommel's army at the centre.

"Our air forces were also very active in this area," British Headquarters announced, "destroying dive bombers and bombing and shooting up enemy concentrations.'

There was nothing to report from other sections of the front, it said.

Rommel, however appeared to be massing his forces for determined assaults upon both Bir Hacheim and Ain El Gazala to relieve pressure on the Axis-held corridor between them.

Growing Liquor Use Laid To King, Ontario

LINDSAY, Ont, June 5 — (CP). —Addressing more than 350 delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference here yesterday, Rev. Dr. John Coburn of Toronto laid the blame for the increased consumption of liquor on the Ontario Government and Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"Mr. King," he said, "is directly responsible for liquor conditions in Canada while the Ontario Government seeks to promote the sale of liquor rather than curtail it."

"We have been notified that tea and coffee must be rationed," stated Dr. Coburn, "but there is no curtailment of liquor."

The speaker alleged that valuable cargo space on ships sailing to England had been given to storage of liquor rather than to necessary munitions and supplies.

Rev. James Mackay of Toronto informed the Conference that Canada was facing a serious shortage of ordained ministers, and that there are now 116 charges in the United Church in Canada without ordained ministers.

"There is no inducement in the pitiable salaries now being paid in home mission fields," he said, "and ministers are not putting the challenge beore students attending college."

Rev. Dr. W. E. MacNeill of Kingston addressed the Conference banquet on the subject "The Sustaining Power of Noble Words."

Corporals Send Tray To Widow Of RCAF Man

COBOURG, June 5—(ENS).—Mrs. Harry McGuire of Division Street, whose husband, Corporal Harry McGuire, lost his life in a plane crash at Brandon, Manitoba, in April, has received a silver serving tray and cut glass serving dish from the Corporals' Club of No. 1?, S.F.T.S., Brandon, in memory of her husband. The tray bears the inscription, "In Memory of Cpl H. F. McGuire, R.C.A.F., from the Corporals' Club of No. 12, S.F.T.S., Brandon, April 30, 1942." A letter which accompanied the tray read as follows:

"Brandon, Manitoba, May 29, 1942—Mrs. H. F. McGuire, Cobourg, Ont. Dear Mrs. McGuire,—Under separate cover you will receive a small tribute from the Corporals' Club of No. 12, S.F.T.S. At a meeting of our club following the tragic death of your husband and our friend, it was the unanimous decision of the club to send you a tribute to help show in a small way the high esteem in which we held Corporal McGuire. We sincerely hope that you will be able to accept this token in the spirit in which it is sent, and we trust that this tribute will bring some measure of cheer in later years to you and yours. Yours truly, A. E. Rowbottom, Corporal, President Corporals' Club, No. 12, S.F.T.S., R.C.A.F., Brandon, Manitoba."

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock with Mrs. J. B. Reynolds presiding and extending greetings to the different societies present including Cobourg, Gore's Landing, Welcome, Port Hope.

Appointment of committees took place: Secretary, Mrs. Lane; press secretary, Mrs. Hastings; courtesy committee, Mrs. Gillespie, Cobourg and Mrs. Foster, Garden Hill.

The worship service was taken by Mrs. T. M. Wesley of Camborne. Mrs. Wesley stated that some people think a quiet life is a good life and in reality it is a selfish life, and that the women of today must not stay in shallow waters, but must launch out into the deep and that their are two ships which are needed to save our country, first, citizenship and secondly, friendship.

Missionary Reports

Reports of the Presbyterial secretaries were then given and the reports of what missionaries are doing were given by Mrs. G. Ward. India, reported by Mrs. Garland of Cobourg, Japan and Trinidad by Mrs. E. H. Martyn whose sister, Miss Luella Rorke was a missionary in Japan and is now stationed in Trinidad. Canada was given by questions being asked by Mrs. Joe Harris and answered by Mrs. George Harriss, both of Gore's Landing.

At 12:30 the session adjourned for lunch which was served by the Bethesda Women's Association to about 90 ladies.

At the afternoon session Mrs. S. J. Gray, the president, had charge of the Quiet Hour, stressing prepare yourself, be ready and the opportunities of these dark days.

Mrs. Reynolds then introduced Mrs. Mullett of Toronto, the guest speaker, who with her husband, Dr. Mullett, has resided in China for the last 25 years, and who returned to Canada only last year. Dr. Mullett who left for China last October 17 and whose trip took 1 month, 3 days to Hong Kong as his ship had to avoid all Japanese waters. Dr. Mullett was doing hospital work in Hong Kong when it was seized by the Japanese and is now a prisoner of war in Hong Kong.

Mrs. Mullett spoke on the inspiration that a gathering such as she was speaking to, gave her and spoke on faith. Missionary work, Mrs. Mullett stated, was one of the finest and most constructive programs in the world.

Mrs. Mullett spoke on the women of China and the changes which have taken place in the 25 years. The Coolie women have no education and all they do is beautiful embroidery work but the women of China can be divided into three groups. First the women of the old official class, who know their classics, are well educated but are of no good to the country, a negative company. Second class the wives of the war lords who keep the country weak with taxes and are really a curse to the country, they have many wives and many children, and these war lords use their power and their money to do as they please.

Thirdly the new women of China who are the loveliest of women and whom the missionaries can really help.

Mrs. Mullett stated that the slogan of China today is reconstruction and resistance. China is carrying on a wonderful reconstruction program along with the war. Mrs. Mullett told of the great suffering of the Chinese for over five years now and that the war was 70 per cent economic and 30 per cent military.

Mrs. Mullett in closing stated that two direct results of the Women's Missionary Societies faith were shown in: China for the democracies and that all the leaders of China today are Christian men and women.

A general discussion and questions took place followed by a vocal solo by Miss Marion Philp.

Mrs. Gray announced that next year's study book will be "The Church In Our Community."

Steel Shortage

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP).—The previously planned 10,000,000-ton steel expansion program will be cut 30 to 35 per cent two top United States War Production Board officials announced yesterday, because of material shortages.

American industry in general must prepare to "patch and pray" to keep its existing equipment at work, said William L. Batt, in a press conference at which he gave a frank and unencouraging review of looming shortages of steel, copper, and other war materials.

Twigg Gets Command

LONDON, June 5—(CP Cable).—Wing Cmdr. John Despard Twigg of Ottawa 28-year-old former commanding officer of an R.C.A.F. flying boat squadron, has assumed command of a Canadian bomber squadron, it was announced to-day.

He succeeds Wing Cmdr. A. C. P. Clayton, D.F.C. and Bar, of Vancouver, whose squadron participated in the 1,000-plane attacks on Cologne and Essen. Clayton is to be chief instructor of an officers' training unit in the United States.

Production Experts

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 5 — (AP).—The University of Buffalo will offer a new one-year course to train young men as production supervisors in war industries, beginning June 29. Seven large Buffalo war firms will sponsor the plan, approved by the United States Office of Education, in co-operation with the University, Chancellor Samuel P. Capen said last night.

Breaks Into Jail

GRENVILLE, S.C., June 5. — (AP)).—And now they're breaking into jail! Police said that a man scaled a 12-foot wire fence and climbed into the county bastile through a small window to steal a quantity of canned salmon and a box of matches from the pantry adjoining the quarters of jailer Frank Christopher.

Continuing her feats of capturing scholastic honors, Evelyn Phillips, former Cobourg Collegiate Institute student, has won one of the Board of Governors' prizes at the University of Western Ontario.

Practical Use Made Of Wartime Classes

PORT HOPE, June 5.—(ENS). — The second of the emergency in war class demonstrations took place on Thursday night in the Town Hall with a large attendance. These demonstration classes will meet once a month, on the first Thursday, to put into practice the knowledge taught during the eight lecture course.

Mrs. Britton, the convener of these classes, presented eighty-four acknowledgment cards for attendance of 75 per cent. or more of the lectures 'For Emergency in War Course.'

The demonstration on Thursday night was in charge of Mrs. Britton and covered 'the care of the patient in the sick room in regard to bedmaking, tray setting and general care.'

Miss Connie Scott acted as the bed patient for this demonstration.

Mrs. Britton demonstrated the bathing of a bed patient, the changing of the sheets, taking of temperatures and pulse, filling of hot water bottles and the making of mustard plasters.

The next demonstration class will take place on the first Thursday of July.

Convention Report Is Given Institute

HAVELOCK, June 5 — (ENS).—June meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the council chamber on Monday afternoon. The president, Mrs. C. Price, presided. The treasurer reported a bank balance of $24.53.

The Cemetery Committee presented various report, all showing the canvass was being completed. It was decided that the July meeting be held in the form of a picnic at the park, if the weather is favorable, and if not, then it is to be held in the council chamber. Roll call was "The prettiest place I ever visited," and many beautiful scenes were described.

Mrs. James Freeman gave a comic reading, "Liver Gets Into Society." The report of the 17th District Annual held last week in Warsaw was given by the district delegate, Mrs. William Woodbeck. An item of special interest was that the first, second and third prize-winner in the county finals of the oratorical contest at the Normal School, would be privileged to broadcast their speech over CHEX, Peterborough. The choice of short course for this district is "Uses of Whole Wheat," and will be given in September or October. A worth-while article entitled "The Ten Commandments of the Mail Order House" was read by Mrs. Price. The meeting closed with singing of God Save the King, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Roche, Mrs Colquhoun and Mrs. Quinn, and a social half-hour was much enjoyed.

LONDON—(CP).—In a surprise respirator test, telephone girls at the general post office donned their gas masks within 20 seconds. The masks are specially-made so that operators can run the switchboards while wearing them.

Three Men Apply For Naturalization

COBOURG, June 5 — (ENS) — Judge Smoke presided over a brief General Sessions Court yesterday afternoon. In the absence of any criminal cases, Sheriff John T. Field presented His Honour with the customary pair of white gloves.

"It is always a pleasure to preside here again over a court of General Sessions and it is an added pleasure to note that there is no serious crime in the counties. This is particularly welcome right now in view of the fact that through the illness of Judge Coleman, and the sad loss of Judge O'Connor, we are rather short handed right now," commented Judge Smoke.

Three men applied for naturalization and after being questioned by Crown Attorney Harry Deyman, the applications were duly received by the judge, who informed them that he would recommend their approval but could not state when the papers would be granted. The men were Wasy Kendruk, Port Hope, native of Russia; Kristian Pedersen, Orono, Danish and Jan Budicky fo Clarke township, a native of Austria-Hungary.

The Fair Way To Do It

No one will be surprised to hear that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has at last decided that coupon rationing is necessary in Canada. There has been nc suggestion that a crippling shortage of any important commodity is imminent, but it has been obvious for some time that our shipping and transportation facilities could not continue to distribute goods on a peacetime scale while performing a variety of heavy war tasks. Therefore peacetime luxury has had to give way to wartime needs, and very rightly so.

There is plenty of food for everybody. The first commodity to be rationed will be sugar, and the amount allowed for each person weekly will be sufficient if care is used in its disposal. There is absolutely no necessity now for anyone to buy extra sugar, and indeed those who do so are guilty of hoarding, and unpatriotic and foolish behavior. We in Canada have always been used to abundance of everything and we have been extremely wasteful in consequence. For this reason the word "rationing" has overtones of fear for some of us, and where fear exists conduct is not always of the best. There is no need for fear at all. Sugar will be rationed, but everybody will get enough to satisfy his needs, if not his desires.

We are glad to see coupon rationing come into being. Hitherto we have had the so-called "honor rationing" which works well enough where honor exists, but when food is concerned honor is by no means a universal characteristic. Furthermore, we do not consider that the Government is entitled to lay the responsibility for rationing upon the individual citizen; if conservation of food is necessary let it be conserved by a national plan administered in the proper way. Rationing is the only fair way to distribute a commodity which has ceased to be available in large surplus stocks.

Sugar is the first thing to be rationed; rationing cannot begin for some time, and in the interval no one should buy more than the weekly half-pound for each member of the household. In time other foodstuffs may have to be rationed; doubtless tea and coffee will be among them. But for that reason no one should attempt to build up a little private stock of tea and coffee now. In fact, no one should buy any food which is not required for immediate consumption. There is plenty of everything if we all behave sensibly and avoid panic buying; rationing assures that. Rationing means that everyone gets a fair share of what is to be had. That is why we are glad to see it come into being.

Mrs. Roosevelt Forgets

We all make mistakes, for we cannot always be vigilant. But when someone in a conspicuous position makes a mistake it is apt to attract the attention of the whole world. That is why it was unfortunate that Mrs. Roosevelt, the President's wife, should have told the graduating class of Washington College that "we are fighting for the American way of life, but the American way must become the world way." We are perfectly certain that Mrs. Roosevelt did not mean this remark in its most obvious sense. She certainly was thinking of many admirable things, such as respect for freedom and human dignity which are a part of the American way of life but not, very decidedly not, exclusively characteristic of it. Before the war there were many countries in Europe where life could be lived in happiness and freedom and the inhabitants of these countries certainly did not feel that they were enjoying the American way of life. They were quite sure that it was the Danish, or the Polish, or the Greek way of life which made their lot a pleasant one, and that is the way of life which they want to see restored. And we are sure that Mrs. Roosevelt, a widely travelled and cultivated woman, would agree that for Danes, and Poles and Greeks their own way of life was best.

This is not a war to impose a foreign way of life upon anyone, and we think that it might be a good plan to stop talking about "ways of life" altogether for the duration. No way of life is perfect; they all contain obvious disadvantages and illogicalities and absurdities. And it is particularly dangerous to make any suggestion that Europe should adopt the ways of the American hemisphere. Life and politics are comparatively simple for us on this continent, and we should refrain from trying to teach our grandmother to suck eggs.

It is easy for a large continent like this to get the idea that it figures more prominently in the war than is actually the case. We in Canada have been in the war since it began, and by this time we seem to have a just estimate of our importance in it. The U.S. is still in the throes of entering the fight, and although American troops have done some fine things already it is unwise to forget that the Russians and the British have done most of the work up to now. Let us, at all costs, avoid the idea that this great world war is an American crusade.

We repeat that we are sure that Mrs. Roosevelt had no intention of making a remark so open to misinterpretation, and we are equally sure that the American and Canadian press would not have commented upon it so widely as they have if they were not anxious that every man's right be established to be a Dane or a Greek, or anything he pleases, with the way of life most suited to his temperament.

Are You Too Busy?

Are you too busy to spare the time to train with the Reserve Army? Some very busy men are doing it. We should like to point out, for instance, that Alderman Max Swanston and Alderman Adam Sands have found time for Reserve Army training, and they are busy men. They are certainly among the most active of the Aldermen, and they both give leadership in this community in several other ways. And it might be pointed out that both are keen fishermen, and would doubtless choose to spend their spare time in their hobby if they consulted nothing but their own convenience and pleasure. But instead they are training. Are you busier than they are?

Peterborough offers a choice in the matter of Reserve Army training. You may choose either the Fourth Battery or the Prince of Wales Rangers. The former unit trains on Mondays and Wednesdays, and the latter on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Are you too busy to join one or the other?

Peterborough Students Chosen

This district may feel considerable pride in the fact that five of the better students of the Peterborough Normal School have been chosen to join the staff of the Toronto public school system. This is a distinction which rarely falls to girls who have just finished their training. The girls chosen are Eleanor Bigelow of Millbrook, Helen Foster of Campbellcroft, Eleanor Foster of Bloomfield, Marion Fraleigh of Bloomfield, and Greta Huffman of Peterborough; the Examiner extends its congratulations to these young teachers and thanks them for the honor which they have brought on this community.

It was in April that Dr. Goldring, the Superintendent of Schools in Toronto, wrote to Dr. J. A. Bannister, the Principal of the local Normal School, asking that four or five students go to Toronto to be interviewed for positions; the local girls impressed Dr. Goldring so highly that he recommended that they all be taken on the Occasional Staff at Toronto from which, as opportunities arise, they will be appointed to permanent positions. This is the first time in many years that Toronto has asked for teachers direct from the Peterborough Normal School; understandably, Toronto provides the highest rewards for Public School teaching which are available in this Province.

We should have been glad to keep these unusually competent young teachers in our own area, but there is no one in Peterborough who will grudge them their early success. Congratulations must also be extended to Dr. Bannister and the staff of the Normal School, for it is certain that without instruction and encouragement of a very high order these girls would not have been able to make such a propitious beginning in their chosen work.

Getting And Spending

At present there is a very large quantity of money being paid every week in this country in wages, and we are interested in what happens to it. We think that we know, in a rough, general way. There are many people who go on buying sprees with the unaccustomed wealth; getting and spending they lay waste their powers. And there are many others who use their money to live in modest comfort, committing the rest to War Savings Certificates and Victory Bonds. We think that the latter is the wiser class.

When we have a few loose dollars about us there is always a temptation to spend, and sometimes we have to look hard in order to find anything to spend upon. At present great numbers of manufacturing plants are busy with wartime production and have no time or materials with which to make luxuries. Luxury goods are gradually disappearing from the shops and the eager spenders must often spend foolishly in order to spend at all.

The wise ones are those who are putting away their money in government securities to be realized when the war is won. They are the ones who will be able to buy the new and improved household goods, the new furniture and the new car. They are the ones who will be able to enjoy well-earned vacations. Indeed, if their saving has been on a sufficient scale they may be able to make a marked and permanent improvement in their whole manner of living. And why? Because they have the strength of will to resist the temptation to spend now, and the acuity to see that government securities are the most advantageous of all investments. Their thrift will help to win the war and make the peace a genuine victory.

Flies In Summer

Although it would be premature to say that summer had arrived the time is definitely here to begin the annual battle with the house-fly. We all know more than is pleasant about this insect. We know, for instance, that it is an especially filthy carrier of disease, particularly associated with typhoid, tuberculosis and dysentery. We know that it breeds in filth, and that improperly cleaned and covered garbage pails are among its favorite haunts. We know that two flies, beginning to breed now, will produce enough progeny by August to cover the whole surface of the earth 47 feet deep, if they all live; fortunately we know that they will not.

There are a variety of ways, varying in effectiveness, of dealing with flies. First, see that your house is properly screened, so that as few flies as possible may come in. Second, see that your property contains no dirty spots which may become breeding-grounds. Third, never miss a chance to kill a fly; streamers of sticky paper are as good for this purpose as anything and if they are hung in the kitchen they will catch many flies. If you are particularly troubled a good fly-poison may be made of a pint of milk and water mixed in equal parts, to which two or three teaspoonfuls of formaldehyde have been added; a little of this set out in a saucer with a sponge or a piece of bread in it is effective. Be sure that you fly-trap is out of the reach of children and pets.

Of course, there are few indoor sports which can equal that of swatting flies, and the Nimrod of the fly-swatter will be expected to do his work as usual. Matching wits with a fly is every bit as exciting as trout-fishing or moose-stalking. But only a few hours a day can be devoted to swatting, and poisons and sticky paper are eternally vigilant. Let us rely chiefly upon these, then, and do all that we can to keep the earth from being covered 47 feet deep in flies; we have enough trouble without that.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Let's hope June brings fewer showers for the farmer and more for the bride.

The bombed Germans are being urged to show that they "can take it like the British." Quite a compliment from a sworn enemy.

NORDIC MASTERPIECE

(Search is to be made in Berlin for 40 citizens who "in spite of the harshness of war carry out their job with particular politeness, calm, and friendliness," and prizes are to be awarded to the selected paragons).

Let us see if Otto can
Be the little gentleman,
Friendly, calm, polite to all,
At his harassed country's call
Though he may be tense and tired
Forty of him are required
For to blaze the nobler way
Of the Herrenvolk today.
Lo! that race no more believes
In the cult of Forty Thieves;
Doubts have crossed the Nordic noddle
And it needs a newer model;
Now the call, though malice scoffs,
Is for Forty Perfect Toffs.

Hard,h a, hard 'twill be to find
Forty paragons designed
To go back on Goering's plan
And become the gentleman;
Well may outraged Nazis mutter,
"This, instead of guns, is butter—
Wanton butter that betrays
All the Aryan's cherished ways!"
Darker is the mood, not brighter,
Of the scandalized Gauleiter
Who perceives this edict trample
On his own approved example;
Nature red in tooth and claw
Is the proper Nordic law.
Streicher—he's the perfect type,
Round and ruthless, red and ripe,
He's the blue print and the plan
For the German gentleman.
Why this forty prizes whim?
Give the whole dam lot to him.

Hitler's Position Compared To Napoleon's

(Manchester Guardian)

THERE are certain interesting resemblances between Hitler's position in Europe today and Napoleon's position in 1812. Hitler has in his service armies from Italy, Rumania, Hungary, Finland, and contingents from France and Spain. Napoleon invaded Russia with an army that contained 150,000 Germans, 60,000 Italians, 60,000 Poles, Swiss, Illyrian and Dutch soldiers, and his flank was guarded by Austrian and Prussian contingents. Hitler's "new order" is represented as a great attempt to bring unity and method into the anarchy of Europe and to organize its life on some coherent principle. Napoleon was welcomed by Germans as fulfilling the same mission in the Europe of his day. They pointed to the selfish particularism of the German States and the need for some strong hand to deliver Europe from its petty passions. Hitler seeks to organize Europe as a great economic unit, able to maintain itself and to hold its own against the United States. Napoleon had the same plan, and he hoped to disable Britain by making Europe independent of her commerce. Hitler attacked Russia because he was not sure that he could keep her within the circle of his European obedience. Napoleon attacked her because her allegiance to the Continental system was doubtful and wavering, and Napoleon held, in his own words, that "without Russia the Continental system is an absurdity. Before attacking her, Napoleon, as the suzerain of seven kingdoms and thirty principalities, summoned his vassals to Dresden as Hitler sends for his vassals when he wishes to make some demontration to impress the world.

NAPOLEON'S power was waning before his Russian disaster. It was waning because Europe was finding the burdens of his rule harsh and vexatious. The Continental, system, the economic aspect of his "new order," imposed heavy sacrifices, and those sacrifices fell more heavily on the poor than on the rich. "In fact," says Holland Rose, "the Continental system was now seen to be an organized hypocrisy which, in order to ruin the mistress of the seas, exposed the peoples to burdens more grievous than those borne by England." Napoleon's rule had brought with it great improvements, but by this time its subjects were more conscious of their grievances. His fine bureaucratic service was deteriorating; corruption had crept in and was spreading; his necessities compelled him to press more and more hardly on the subject peoples and his exactions caused a steadily growing resentment.

In France itself there was no longer much enthusiasm; indeed, it was said by a good observer at the time that no war that Napoleon fought after Austerlitz was supported by the will of France. "We have had enough of glory" was a common saying. And the words of Metternich, writing to the Emperor Francis in 1809, when Austria had been driven to make peace, used the kind of language that a Vichy "collaborationist" who was opportunist" and insincere in his professions of friendship might use. "We must confine our system to tacking and turning and flattering. Thus also may we possibly preserve our existence till the day of general "deliverance." Napoleon might seem all powerful, but if this master of finesse and intrigue was thinking already of a day of deliverance we may be sure the same thought was filling many minds in many countries.

WHAT does Hitler's position in Europe look like when placed against this background? He has pillaged Europe in a manner much more thorough and merciless; he has conscripted men and women from all countries for slave labor in Germany; he has imposed himself on the industry and agriculture of almost every people in Europe; he has associated his rule, at no time popular as Napoleon's once had been, with famine and forced labor. As his difficulties increase he has to buy the support of the rich by concessions that alienate the poor. "Fascism" gives a description of the privileges bestowed on the great capitalist organizations in Germany, and shows how the great denouncer of plutodemocracy is strengthening the grip of big business on the working classes. The same thing is happening in France.

That the Nazis are concerned about the temper of the German workers is shown in Ley's warning to them to beware of contact with Marxian foreign workers and in the strict measures that are taken to keep them under the control of the Gestapo. Throughout Europe hardship increases; the Nazi spirit and methods become more odious; more hostages are shot; more threats are used. The Dutch are reminded, for example, of the conduct of the Japanese, who "transported all the Dutch men and women of Sumatra to a concentration camp... Perhaps this lesson will give many Dutchmen who feel obliged to incite something to think about." A German looking ahead and counting the chances has to face the unpleasant truth that there are more people in Europe today than there were a year ago who long for the day of general deliverance and believe that it is not too far distant. And with this famished and sullen Europe twisting under the Nazi paw, and hoping soon to twist itself free, he learns from Hitler himself that there is to be another winter of suffering. It is bad news for the gaoler of that Europe.

• Testing U.S. Defences

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

JAPAN'S air raids on the Dutch Harbor naval base, Unalaska, can be written off as scouting forays on the basis of information so far available from Washington. They had none of the earmarks of an operation of greater scope than to find out what was going on at that potential springboard for American attack on Japan.

That appears to be the Washington conclusion. The fact that no bombs were dropped during the second enemy flight over the base tends to confirm it. The six-hour time lapse between the two daylight sweeps also strongly supports the navy conclusion that the planes involved were launched from a small carrier.

PREPONDERANCE OF FIGHTERS

Only four bombers and a protective screen of fifteen fighter craft, a remarkable disproportion, were noted in the first flight. The type of bomber had not been described as this was written. The implication is, however, that they were small ships, able to take off from a flight deck, and the whole group represents about the strength and proportions of what a small merchant craft, converted for carrier use, could carry and let loose.

There had been no official mention of the incident from any Japanese source many hours after it had been disclosed in Washington. Axis broadcasters in Europe made much of it, picturing a virtual invasion panic was on the west coast of Canada and the United States. It was obvious, however, that they had no information other than that broadcast in the United States.

The two daylight sweeps may have provided the raiders with notes on the scope and progress of the American base building operations.

Dutch Harbor must be of special interest to the Japanese. While there remains any doubt as to Russia's future role in the Pacific war theatre, it must be of keenest interest to Tokyo, for Alaska is an American bridgehead for contact with Russia for joint operations against Japan when the time for that comes.

SIBERIA NEXT GOAL

And that time might be far closer than surface indications in Europe yet disclose. Assume that the Nazi attack in Russia has bogged down, that the Axis attempt to take the initiative against the British in Libya ends in disaster, and that British or British-American air forces keep up a sustained battering at German targets from the west. Japanese-Russian peace pacts would then be a feeble reed for Tokyo's War Lords to lean upon.

Out of the Dutch Harbor raids Tokyo might hope to learn the true degree of American readiness to use that avenue of attack either alone or in co-operation with Russia at some future time.

Chinese reports insist that Siberia is likely to be the next Japanese target of attack. Signs are not altogether lacking that Hitler is again pressing his Nipponese accomplice for help, as he did when Russian resistance forced him into a bitter retreat in Russia last winter.

The Dutch Harbor raids, while inconsequential in themselves, might prove a clue to momentous developments in the Orient affecting the whole global design of the war.

• "The Law Is a Ass"

TO some extent bureaucratic methods are necessary in a democracy during wartime. And because many new rules and regulations have to be applied quickly there are inevitable and, within reason, excusable mistakes. At the same time it is difficult to escape the conclusion that some ordinances, wisely planned in themselves, are being carried out improperly and even ridiculously.

There is, for instance, a regulation of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which says that it is illegal for anyone to use ungraded gasoline. The intention of this provision is clear. But out in Richmond, B.C., a young employee of an air line was caught using leftover gasoline drained from airplane tanks. He was sentenced to six days in jail and fined $25. No doubt he was breaking the law, technically speaking. But it will seem to most people that the fact that this same gasoline would otherwise have been thrown away should have exerted some extenuating influence.

Other regulations are even more stupid if applied literally and without common sense and good judgment. Take, as an example the quaint ruling which, if taken strictly, makes it illegal for a market gardener to bring his wife in to town in the truck and, presumably, rules that if she is to come in to town at all she must either walk, wearing out shoe leather and wasting time, or drive another car, which would be patently silly and extravagant. Once more the intention of the ruling is clear, but the wording is not specific enough to prevent senseless interpretations.

More could be said about such things as price ceilings where almost fantastic inequalities and injustices exist. In defense of this, it must be remembered that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has had to handle a colossal job in a great hurry and has been under the necessity, moreover, of approaching some problems in a cart-before-the-horse manner. Most of the difficulties and inconsistencies thus created are far from being insuperable. It is not reasonable to expect the Board to make all its systems perfect over night. But Mr. Donald Gordon and his colleagues must beware of allowing letter-of-the-law absurdities to undo some of their good work. Regulations, to accomplish their full purpose, must be salted with plenty of common sense. Otherwise one can only concur in Mr. Bumble's memorable opinion that under some circumstances "...the law is a ass, a idiot."—Brantford Expositor.

TIMOSHENKO'S SADDLE

A cavalry saddle for Marshal Timoshenko is being made by London saddlers who supply the harness for King George's State carriage.

A birthday present for the marshal from British schoolchildren, it is among the gifts going to Russia as the result of the Five Arts campaign for providing comforts and medical supplies for the Red Army.

The saddle will be representative of the best British craftsmanship. In wartime these craftsmen have little saddlery work to do. Instead, they are working almost exclusively on harness for Britain's agricultural and transport industries.—British Industries Bulletin.

PROPHETIC WORDS

A NEWS ITEM printed October 4, 1900, announcing Mark Twain's intention to return to the United States after nine years' residence in Europe and quoted a prophetic observation made in London by the great American humorist.

"After nine years' residence abroad," said Mark Twain, "I am convinced that England is the best friend we have in Europe and we are the only friend she has on earth. The time is coming when each of these two great peoples will need the friendship of the other. When the crash comes, it will be best for England, best for America and best for the world that the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes should wave together."—Kansas City Star.

ELEPHANT GUN-TOTERS

THE report that the Japanese have been using elephants for some of their transport has stirred the memories of old military men, who, says the Edinburgh Scotsman, recall the days when — as readers of Kipling know—some of the heavy guns in India were elephant-drawn. There is a legend that this came to an end after a famous march-past, when, as 24 gun-elephants approached the saluting-point where stood the Viceroy, they trumpeted in salute—and thereby scattered cavalry, with mounted officers of all ranks, for miles over the country side. Horses strongly object to the scent of the elephant, but his trumpeting just sends them mad.

Nevertheless an old cavalryman, commenting on this, writes to say he cannot imagine anything more upsetting to the nerves of the steadiest horse than a windmill in swift motion. In France during the last war he saw the march discipline of an Indian cavalry regiment completely set at naught by the whirling sails and the yet more alarming sweep of their vast shadows on the grass. Almost as alarming to his own mount was, he says, a small balloon which had broken away and, on recapture, was tetheret close to the ground.

Finally, he has ridden a horse which would not step over a hose, and, no farther away than Edinburgh, another which was reputed to fear nothing save perambulators! "Horses," he says, "are creatures of unaccountable whimsies, and in that fact lies part of the fascination."

FOOTNOTE ON MORALE

WE sort of like the little story of a contemporary about the lad who had just won his commission in the army. He is of impressive height and breadth, even in civilian clothes. The other day, in his new uniform, he went over to see his grandmother. His belt was polished, his shoulder insignia bright, his service ribbons gay, his regimental markings vivid, his buttons shiny. His grandmother looked him up and down in awed silence for a moment, then remarked, "My goodness, Charlie, I'm glad you are on our side!"—Minneapolis Star-Journal.

WMS Entertains Life Members

HAVELOCK, June 5 — (ENS). — Friday afternoon the Women's Mission Society of the United church entertained as their guests the Life Members of the Auxiliary and the Associate Helpers. There was a splendid attendance of guests and members. The President, Mrs. Geo. Chiles, presided for the program.

A most cordial welcome was extended to the Life Members and they were invited to be seated on the platform, when each one was asked to tell the date upon which they were made a life member and by whom it was presented. The Associate Helpers were also invited to the platform and welcomed, and a short memoriam was read for the two members who had died during the past year.

Mrs. James Freeman gave a comic reading "How Reuben Played." A piano duet "Airs from Scotland" was given by Mrs. Harry Watson and Mrs. J. W. Wilkinson. An address by Rev. S. A. Kemp on the work and extension of the Missionary enterprise since it was first organized in Canada in June, 1880, by Dr. Sutherland in Centeninary church, Hamilton, although it had been organized in U.S.A. in 1866, after the Civil War.

A lovely vocal solo "The Swallows" was given by Mrs. J. W. S. Clarke. Another piano duet "King of the Forest" was given by Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Wilkinson. An interesting talk on the aims and benefits of missions; the teaching and studying of mission work; and the co-operation derived from systematic givings, that all work together for the extension of God's Kingdom, were dealt with by Rev. J. W. Wilkinson.

A piano duet "The King's Review" was followed by a reading "A Committee for Strangers" by Mrs. C. Price. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction, after which supper was served.

The members of the Auxiliary quilted a quilt for the bale and with the remainder of the articles being donated, the bale is now ready for shipment to the West.

2 Men Arrested At Riverside Park

Two thirsty local men evidently do not read The Examiner very closely. If they did they would have noticed a recent item to the effect that the east end of the main grandstand at Riverside Park was considered unsafe.

It certainly did not prove to be very safe for them this morning for shortly after they had settled down in the stand back of home plate with a bottle of wine and were admiring the beauty of the verdant park and its river background. Officers C. J. McGillen and John Morrow climbed over the high fence at the back of the stand and arrived as uninvited guests at the party.

That was the payoff for the pair were arrested on liquor charges and the juice of the grape confiscated by the law.

New Entry Is Beaten By Score 17-5

Joe Blewett's hitting featured the City Softball League clash at the Bowl last night in which Plaza Billiards defeated the new addition to the loop, Lucky Strikes, 17 to 5. All the Plaza centrefielder did was to hammer out two homers, one with two on and the other with the sacks loaded, a triple and a single in five official trips to the plate and bat in seven runs and score four himself.

The Lucky Strike outfit in their City League debut had the bad luck to meet Plazas when they were turning in their best defensive card of the season and pouring the pine with a vengeance up at the plate and the result was a hollow win for the hockey squad. Big Tom Parsons pitched the first five innings for the winners, allowed Luckies only four scattered singles and shut them out during his term on the mound. Young Bob Crowe of last season's juvenile squad finished the game and yielded five runs and as many hits.

Southpaw Bill Lewis who pitched for the losers was wild, giving eleven bases on balls and when he got the ball in there the Plazas were swinging hard, getting a total of 22 hits. Joe Blewett led the attack but Eddie Starr had four hits in five times up, and Jimmy Ellis and Don Crowe had three hits each, two of Crowe's being doubles. Luke Jameson, first sacker for Lucky Strikes, had three of his team's nine hits, in four times up.

There was no outstanding fielding feature although the all-around good work of the Plaza infield stood out and they climaxed it with a fast double killing W. Starr to Crowe to Ellis in the eighth inning.

Plazas scored one in the first. Heal singled and Kingdon walked. W. Starr rolled to Lewis and was out and Heal was called out for leaving second too soon. Joe Blewett drove in Kingdon with a single to centre field.

In the third after Kingdon had walked he was forced at second by W. Starr, Blewett homered to deep centre to score two more runs.

The hockey crowd came back with seven in the fourth. Parsons was safe when A. Caccavella dropped his short fly. Lewis walked Heal and Kingdon to fill the bases and Parsons scored on an error on W. Starr's roller. With the bases loaded Joe Blewett hammered another long homer to centre field to send in four runs. Singles by Ellis, Eddie Starr and Heal and a pass to Parsons sent two more counters over before the side was retired.

In the fifth with one gone Blewett tripled to right centre to score on a single by Ellis. Crowe doubled to left centre, sending Ellis to third and after Johnson had struck out E. Starr scored the pair with his third hit of the night.

With Crowe pitching for Plazas Lucky Strikes scored their first runs in the sixth. M. Caccavella walked and was forced by McCormick and A. Caccavella also walked, the two moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Patterson's double to left centre. Patterson went in when Johnson dropped a fly by Lewis.

Kingdon's double, a pass to Blewett and a double by Ellis gave Plazas two more in their half of the sixth and in the seventh they added another pair on singles by E. Starr, Bob Crowe and Kingdon.

Lucky Strikes picked up two in the ninth when Loyst and Jameson opened with singles and Corrigan was walked to fill the bases and M. Caccavella doubled to left to send two in.

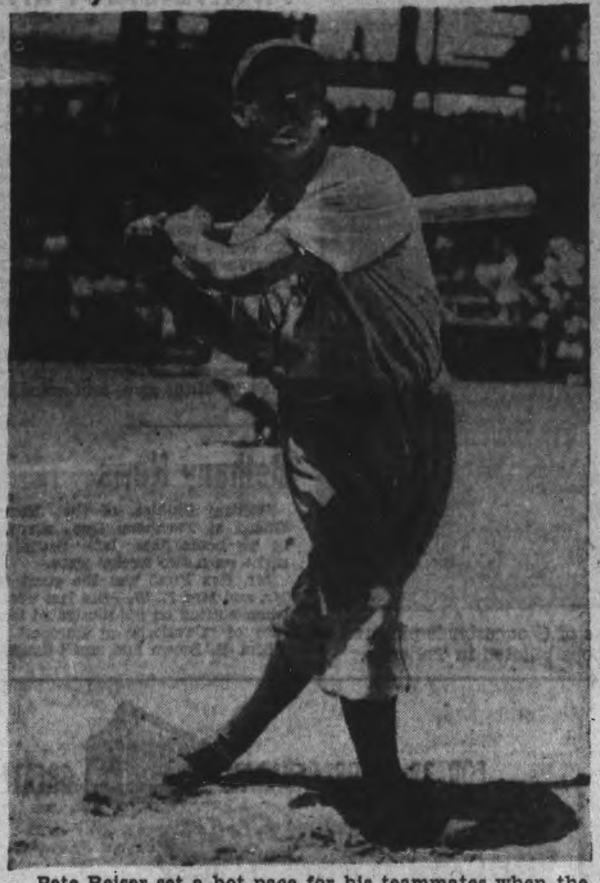
Nearly Broke Record



Pete Reiser set a hot pace for his teammates when the Dodgers handed the Pittsburg Pirates a 17-2 defeat in Pittsburg. Reiser made five consecutive hits during the game—a home run, three doubles and a single. He injured his ankle while sliding into the plate during the seventh inning and was forced to retire without getting a chance at the modern major league record of six hits in succession during one game.

Champion Cubs Beaten By All Saints'

In Wednesday night's game the Sacred Heart club defeated the champion Cubs 15 to 10.

The winners steadily overcame a lead of four runs in the first frame on the part of the Cubs, and ran a half dozen trackers over the home plate to put them well in front. It looked like a good night for the Cubs after getting six in the first; but the victors saw to it that they were held in check.

R. Garvey, on the mound for the losers, allowed 13 hits and walked two. Reynolds on the opposing mound, permitted ten nicks against himself and walked a quartette. Rev. Father Houlihan pounded out the only homer of the night.

Bailey, with a pair of doubles, Courneyea with a double and a single and Heffernan and Fleming with a pair of singles apiece, were best with the willow, facing the opposing pitcher. F. O'Toole, with a triple and a double, went best at bat for the Cubs. He was followed by Driscoll and Caccavella each with a pair of one baggers, and O'Donoghue with a double. Heffernan picked off a couple of nice long flies.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Everything is set for the opening of the Girls' Softball League tonight at the Bowl when the old rivals the Westclox team, last year's champions, and the C.G.E. will clash in the initial tilt of the season. The game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp. It has been decided to dispense with opening ceremonies and the league officials are asking both teams to be on hand in good time so that the game can get started at the announced hour. When the two rivals go into action tonight several players will be found to have changed allegiance and one switch is the signing by the C.G.E. team of Norma Strickland who was the first string pitcher of the Westclox team last season. She is no longer employed at the Big Ben plant but was expected to line up with the Westclockers. However the Electricians have landed her in their fold and she may get the twirling assignment against her old club tonight. Reports from the Westclox camp indicate that Marg Watson may be the Big Ben pitching choice for the opening tussle with Isobel Bullock in action behind the plate. The first game of the season in the Girls' Loop is expected to draw a real crowd to the Bowl.

Lucky Strikes made their City League debut last night and absorbed a 17 to 5 trimming at the hands of Plaza Billiards who as a result climbed to within half a game of the leading Royals. The newcomers ran into the Plazas when they were red hot both in the field and at bat and as a result the Lucky Strike outfit got away on the wrong foot. However they fielded some good looking ball players and the club is bound to improve and to provide plenty of opposition before the playoff berths are determined. The way the Plazas were fielding and hitting last night they would have been tough for anything in the loop. The hockey infield handled everything without the sign of an error and at bat Joe Blewett, Jim Ellis, Eddie Starr and Don Crowe were murdering the ball. Blewett drove in seven runs himself with two homers, a triple and a single and Starr's four hits were all on a line. The former baseball catcher had some difficulty at the plate when he first broke into softball but he is coming through with a vengeance now with eight hits in the last two games. Incidentally the Plazas have lost the service of Julian Wade who has gone to Toronto. The tall outfielder is the second gardener the Plazas have lost this season. Les Burton who would have cavorted in left field for the hockey outfit enlisted with the Rangers.

The Men's Softball League will move down into Riverside Park next week and stage their games on the baseball diamond inside the enclosure. The city parks' committee will put the diamond in shape and one improvement will be the removal of the baseball pitching mound that has been there ever since this city was represented in professional ball 30 years ago. The mound has always been a fielding hazard so far as softball is concerned and its removal will make the diamond much better. The City League officials predict that there will be better fielding in the ball park and that there will be no more of those soft doubles in left field. On the other hand well-hit balls are likely to go for homers instead of being cut to doubles by ground rules as is necessarily the case at the Bowl.

Rolling Right Along

Those Yanks simply roll along and there doesn't seem to be anything that anybody can do about it. They cleaned up on the Chicago White Sox again yesterday to the tune of 8 to 2, with Borowy, former Newark pitcher having an easy task in winning his third straight game without a loss. Smith started for the White Sox and it was his ninth straight defeat this season. Yesterday's triumph was the 23rd New York win in their last 27 starts and they have been doing it without a great deal of help from their power pair, DiMaggio and Keller. Joe Gordon has been leading the attack and he hit safely again yesterday to run his consecutive hitting streak to 20 games. Cleveland Indians staged a sensational rally in the final frame to defeat Boston Red Sox. The Cronin team was leading 3 to 1 when the ninth opened and it looked like a sure win for Ingersoll's Lefty Judd but the Tribe cut loose with an attack that pulled the game out of the fire. Les Fleming's double drove in two runs and later he carried the winning counter over himself. Up to the ninth a homer by Buster Mills had been the only Cleveland run, Dom DiMaggio also hit for the circuit.

* * * * * *

Detroit Tigers by scoring seven runs in the last two innings came from far behind to take the Philadelphia A's into camp 8 to 7. The Bengals used a flock of pitchers in turning the trick and the win finally went to Newhouser after Dizzy Trout, Gorsica and Manders had all seen action. Wolff who relieved Christopher was marked down for the loss. Rudy York helped out with a homer, his thirteenth of the season, and he is now just two behind Ted Williams in the circuit-hitting department. In the fourth American League game yesterday St. Louis Browns who are playing good ball these days had little difficulty in handing the Washington Senators a 7 to 2 trimming. Hollingsworth was the winning pitcher and Steve Sundra the loser.

* * * * * *

It was a battle of slugging rookies when the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs clashed yesterday. Glen Russell, sensational Cub freshman tied up the game with a homer in the ninth inning to tie up the game at 3 to 3. but that equally astonishing new star of the Giants, Marshall, produced a circuit rap in the eleventh inning that gave the New Yorkers a 4 to 3 win. Melton was the winning pitcher while Schmitz was the loser. In the other afternoon National League game Lon Warneke picked up his fourth victory of the season when the St. Louis Cards defeated the Boston Braves 6 to 2.

A Tribute To Foxx

The Detroit News hands out the following tribute to Jimmy Foxx upon his departure from the American League: "Anyway, the first base calibre in the American League isn't what is used to be when Lou Gehrig, Hank Greenberg, Hal Trosky and Foxx, at his peak, were playing the bag. With the stick, Rudy York, and in the field, Joe Kuhel, are the tops now. In the passing of Foxx, the American loop loses a colorful ballplayer—one who was among the great greats. Besides being an outstanding player, Foxx is a grand guy—popular with fans, scribes and players alike. He has left his print in the league. If you don't think so, take a gander at these achievements: He tied the runs-batted-in record three times. He won the individual batting championship twice. He tied the major league record by hitting home runs with the bases filled in two consecutive games. He tied the major league record by driving in 100 runs or more for 13 consecutive seasons. He was named on five all-star teams. He won the most valuable award honors for the American League three times. IS THAT ENOUGH?"

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Mel Ott has set a new National League record for runs batted in. When he drove a counter home with a long fly yesterday it passed the 1,582 run mark set by Rogers Hornsby who took 23 seasons to build up the record. Ott is only in his 17th season.... Chicago Cubs bought Jimmy Foxx to supplant Glen Russell at first base and the rookie has hit a homer every game since....Yanks bunched six hits in the second inning of their game with the Chicago White Sox yesterday and put over eight runs in that frame....The Toronto Maple Leafs and the Pittsburg Pirates will conduct a school for young ball players in Toronto from June 16 to 20....The Boston Red Sox are getting no hitting from Lupien who is playing first base in place of Jimmy Foxx.... Plazas have a great array of left-handed batters, Eddie Starr, Jim Ellis, Art Heal, Bun Kingdon, Webb Starr, Joe Blewett and Johnny Johnson are all port-side swingers....Detroit Tigers said it with home runs yesterday, circuit clouts by Rudy York, Don Ross and Ned Harris accounting for six runs....The Ontario Golf Association's scheduled spring tournament at Islington today had to be postponed because of the wet condition for the course....The Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club will play a return match against Grove School at Lakefield Saturday afternoon.

Urge Conn Fight To Help Joe Pay $117,000 In Taxes

NEW YORK, June 5—Billy Conn was suggested yesterday as a possible opponent for Joe Louis in the heavyweight boxing champion's "income tax fight," proposed to permit Corporal Joe to pay his $117,000 debt to Uncle Sam.

Boxing experts agreed that Conn's hand, broken in a domestic squabble with his father-in-law, Jimmy Smith, would mend in time to permit the Pittsburg boxer to fight in August or September, and estimated a Louis-Conn meeting at the Yankee Stadium could draw a million dollar gate.

Will They Give Him Time?

Whether Louis could get another stay from the Internal Revenue Department—he was given thirty days to pay the tax bill—was a matter of conjecture, and the army still had to decide whether to allow the proposed fight. The army's decision was expected within two or three days.

Meanwhile, it appeared Louis — who has earned more than $1,000,000 in the ring—could not raise $117,000 unless he was permitted to fight. He just doesn't have the money.

Why hasn't Joe $117,000 in view of his earnings of the past seven years?

The answer could be given by almost any individual whose income has consisted of several staggering pay days a year, rather than an annual salary.

Expenses High

This class, which includes theatrical personalities and many professional athletes, finds it a terrific problem to pay last year's taxes with current income.

Here's how that comes about:

While Louis' money was being earned the rate of his day-to-day expenses continued high. Once there was a layoff for a few months all chance to put away a cushion for the next year's tax was gone. And as in the case of all fighters of prominence, he cannot box more often than every few months.

In recent years a new and more difficult stumbling block has arisen, the high income brackets. Because of these Louis has had to borrow annually for the last few years to pay his Federal tax.

The remedy, as pointed out by Promoter Mike Jacobs, would be a duplication of the State system of income tax collection by the Federal Government.

The State Bureau of Taxation and Finance after each big fight deducts from the purses of both main-event boxers a proportionate tax. From fight to fight his tax is kept up to date. Thus there can be no running up of a large bill.

For some time Jacobs had suggested the adoption of this system by the Fedeal Income Tax Bueau.

The crux of Louis' money difficulties is his yielding to requests for help, his own instincts of generosity.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Probably the best played game this season, so far, was the one between E. L. Sackville and C. Renaud's rink, skipped by G. Spence. It was close all the way, featured by the playing of the Lakefield merchant. He was 2 down coming home and made a beautiful 'in turn' draw to get two points and tie it up—but only after an umpire was called in to make sure—and then again on the extra end the umpire was called to give the decision. It was a photo finish if there ever as one Another good game was the B. Chesler and G. Coleman, Sr. Tied several times and only on the last two ends did Benny's quartette pull away.

Harold Freeman, away down at the half-way mark, came down the stretch like 'Whirlaway' and nosed out Bob Hendry 23-21.

When the scores were handed in last night it was found that only two rinks in Group No. 1 remain undefeated, B. Chesler and E. Wall. But there's a long way to go yet.

In the ladies' section Mrs. J. Coursey and Mrs. H. Staunton have set a season's record for score—7-6 at the end of twelve ends. Just about one point per end.

It did look for a few minutes as if we would be rained out again, but it soon passed over.

Word came through last night that the men's open doubles tournament scheduled for Wednesday, June 10th has been postponed until July 15th

Don't forget the mixed tourney to-night at 7.30 o'clock. Be on time. It looks as if it will be fine weather.

St. Peter's Boys Defeat Barons

In a Catholic League game at Memorial Park Thursday night St. Peter's defeated the Barons in an interesting battle 11 to 8.

Barons took the lead early in the game, but the Saints showed again, as earlier this week, that they are a fighting team and can come from behind to cop a win. St. Peter's were short a few of their regulars and this gave Devine, Wade and Monaghan an opportunity to display their wares. These three, along with McIsaac, are school kids and are products of Rev. Father Wolfe's farm club at St. Peter's school. Players in the minor league and getting a chance to play in major ball so to speak.

Hayes on the mound for the Cubs had to be replaced by Reg. Mongraw

OTT QUIETEST RECORD-BREAKER IN HISTORY BATS IN 1583rd RUN

Marshall Slugs 8th Homer Giants Win 4-3

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mel Ott is likely to be remembered in baseball as the quietest record breaker on record.

Nobody gives it much thought any more, but every time the 33 year old outfielder-manager of New York Giants hits a home run or draws a base on balls he breaks the all-time National League record—which he himself holds, of course.

Yesterday he broke another record—the run-batted-in mark of 1,582 that Rogers Hornsby took 23 years to get while moving about among four clubs. Ott performed the deed in such a muffled way that it woud not even have been noticed if people hadn't been waiting and watching for the last week.

With Bill Werbert on third base in the third inning of a game at Chicago with the Cubs, Ott lofted a long fly and Werber scampered home with the run that brought Ott the record in his 17th season.

Ott did not get a hit yesterday and his record-breaking feat was largely obscured by the exploit of a rookie teammate, Willard Marshall, who hammered his eight home run of the season in the 11th inning to win the game 4-3.

Lefty Cliff Melton, pitching six-hit ball, gained his seventh victory but the struggle was touch and go and in the ninth inning Glen Russell, who had not hit a home run all year until the Cubs bought Jimmie Foxx to take over Russell's first base job came through with his thidr round-tripper in three days to tie the score.

Braves Whipped 6-2.

St. Louis Cardinals strengthened their hold on second place in the only other National League encounter by beating Boston Braves 6-2. The veteran Lon Warneke was touched for 10 hits but kept constant control and the Redbirds wrapped up the decision with a five-run rally in the second inning.

In the American League New York Yankees sent Edgar Smith, the unlucky southpaw, staggering to his ninth straight defeat with an 8-2 verdict over Chicago White Sox..

The Yankees waded into Smith for all of their runs in a turbulent second inning and then coasted on the eight-hit hurling of Rookie Hank Borowy, who has won three games without a defeat. During the afternoon Joe Gordon and Buddy Hassett extended their hitting streaks to 20 and 15 games, respectively, and the Yanks made three double plays to bring their total to 63 in 44 games.

Cleveland rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to beat Boston Red Sox 4-2 for Jim Bagby's first victory since May 17. It was his seventh of the season, however, and the Indians' second straight at Boston. Held to three hits for eight innings by Oscar Judd, one of them Buster Mills' homer in the seventh, the Tribe tallied twice in the ninth on a double by Les Fleming and again on a single by Ray Mack.

Detroit Tigers pushed across seven runs in the last two innings to beat Philadelphia Athletics 8-7 and the slugging St. Louis Browns battered Washington Senators 7-2.

Landis Thunders On Exhibition Game Sponsors

CHICAGO, June 5—(AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, cracked down yesterday on the commercial promotion of exhibition games that may interfere with the remaining series of major league contests devoted to army and navy relief.

In a memorandum to major and minor league club presidents, Landis ordered them not to allow the use of their parks, players or facilities to promoters of games "allegedly played for relief, but actually as commercial enterprises." He also advised that army and navy authorities will refuse to grant furloughs to players now in the armed service to participate in games for commercial purposes.

Landis' memorandum said in part:

"The activities of promoters of games allegedly played 'for relief,' but actually as commercial enterprises, misled the public into the erroneous belief that such games are for the army and navy relief funds and thereby interfere with games actually played for those funds."

The commissioner made no special reference to the so-called Dizzy Dean all-stars, who appeared against the famed Negro pitcher, Satchel Paige, and Kansas City Monarchs at Wrigley Field, home of Chicago Cubs, two weeks ago Sunday, drawing 29,775 fans and a $30,000 gate.

Three days later, on the same field, the Cubs played Cincinnati Reds in a bona fide relief game, drawing 9,996 with receipts of $10,455.

The Dizzy Dean All-Stars also played a team which featured Paige at Washington last Sunday with 22,000 turning out to form the biggest crowd ever to watch a non-major league game in Griffith Stadium.

Bob Feller, Cleveland's pitching ace, now in the navy, had been advertised to appear with Dean in the Chicago game, but was refused permission by naval authorities. However, Abe Saperstein, one of the promoters, said he sent $1,000 to Feller, regardless of his non-appearance, to fulfil a pledge he made to turn over his share to navy relief. Saperstein said the Chicago game was advertised as an exhibition, and no relief pledges were made.

Jimmy Learns Of His Sale To Chicago

2 Jockeys Split Eight Races At The Suffolk

BOSTON, June 5—(AP).—Jockeys Carroll Bierman and Ted Atkinson split the eight-race card between them yesterday at Suffolk Downs, each riding four winners for one of the most unusual sweeps in the last decade of American racing.

Atkinson started off by riding both ends of the daily double and later had the winning mounts in the fifth and sixth races for his quadruple. Bierman sandwiched his first double between Atkinson's four winners and then took the last two races of the day.

Atkinson booted home the Coldstream Stables' As I Ain't in the first race and then came on with Flying Ebony, owned by A. G. Tarn, Winnipeg horseman, in the second to clinch the daily double which paid $24.80 on 706 tickets. Is I Ain't paid $7.20 and Flying Ebony $8.80. Atkinson made it a triple aboard W. J. Sisini's Valdina Tout in the fifth, a $11 winner, and then got his final first in the sixth, scoring with Triplane, another Tarn-owned home, which paid the longest price of the day, $39.60.

Bierman started his quadruple with Spoon Bread in the third, which pair $5 and then came on to take the fourth race, the day's feature with Jerome H. Loucheim's First Son. First Son ran the six furlongs in 1:11 1-5, finishing three lengths ahead of the Elm Stables' Lull II to pay $4.

Bierman then took the last two races with Nopalosa Rojo and Vulcanus, which paid $8.20 and $4.80 respectively. He also had a second in the sixth with Briar Play.

Chabot Yells For His Lawyer

TORONTO, June 5.—"Get me a lawyer! Get me a lawyer!"

The patient slowly opened his eyes, coming out of his ether sleep. He recognized the visitor and immediately started shouting for the man with the law books.

The patient, Lorne Chabot, former netminding star for Rangers, Toronto Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks of the National League. The visitor, Bert Bowsfield, well-known Toronto sports enthusiast.

Chabot was run down by a motorist at King street and Atlantic avenue Wednesday night.

To-day he's confined to Toronto General Hospital, suffering from a double fracture of the right leg, just above the ankle. He may also have a fracture of the left leg, above the knee, not to mention sundry cuts and bruises.

"I thought somebody hit me with a goal-post," Chabot managed to offer as he blew phantom smoke rings with ether fumes.

Chabot, a resident of Toronto for several weeks, and employed at the John Inglis plant, will be a hospital guest for an extended period.

Rochester Red Wings Whip Giants Making Their Third Straight Win

By the Associated Press.

Reassured by a go-ahead signal from New Jersey's civilian defence director, the Newark and Jersey City teams of the International League will meet their opponents under the lights of their home parks to-night in spite of new United States Army regulations which threaten to ban nocturnal play.

Although orders to screen or extinguish all indoor and outdoor lighting on the New York New Jersey, and Delaware coasts were issued this week their enforcement hinges on State and Local Defence officials. And the civilian defence director, Leonard Dreyfuss, said there would be no tightening of the dim-out regulations before to-night because the orders have not reached local authorities.

So at 6:30 p.m. Jersey City will open a double-header against Rochester Red Wings in Roosevelt Stadium at Jersey City, with the first game scheduled as a seven-inning twilight affair.

At Newark's Ruppert Stadium, the Bears meet Buffalo Bisons in a single game, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Yesterday's Buffalo-Newark contest was postponed, along with a double-header between Toronto and Syracuse and single game at Baltimore between the Orioles and Montreal.

In the only game played, Rochester Red Wings defeated the Giants 4-1 for their third straight victory.

Connie Ryan of the Jerseys continued the hitting spree he started after being acquired from New York Giants by getting three of the six safeties.

The Sports Round-Up

NEW YORK, June 5—(AP)—With Jimmy Foxx gone, Joe Cronin figures on himself as the Red Sox regular first baseman. He has started seven games so far at third base, short and first and the Sox have won five of them...But old Double X claims tha the club's best first sacker is Paul Campbell, who gave up trying to get Jimmy's job and shifted to the outfield...Word floating around Belmont is that the Racing Commission is getting ready to throw the book at Wendell Eads for his rough riding tactics.

Canadian Sport Snapshots

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 5—(CP)—If any baseball technicians in the class will turn their heads the other way for a moment, Snapshots will bring you a play by play account of the first quadruple play in the history of the game.

This story never will make baseball's history books because of certain fuddy-duddies who will insist that only three put-outs were needed and the fourth was nothing but vulgar ostentation. But here it is:

Kitchener, Ont., Arrows were behind 9-6 in the fifth inning of a seven-inning girls' softball game. The opposition—St. Clement's—had the bases loaded with none out. The batter hit a screamer to centre field and all base-runners pounded merrily along the paths.

But the centre-fielder came up with the liner for Putout No. 1. She pegged to third. The third baseman touched her base to force the runner who had started for home, then touched the runner coming down from second to complete the triple play. But the best was not good enough for this conscientious operator, who whipped a throw to first to beat the runner trying desperately (why, no one ever will know) to get back to that bag. So if there had been anything wrong with one of the putouts in the triple play our pals would have had one in reserve.

Spurred by his feat, Arrows scored six runs in the last inning to win the game.

Biceps Boulevard

Retirement of Dave Castilloux from boxing set the torch to plans for a benefit show between Castilluox and Harry Hurst. Hurst had tried previously for some of the laurels (Canadian lightweight and welterweight championships) held by Castilloux without winning, but the fights were tough and interestin affairs. Both are in the RCAF.

Incidentally:

Winnipeg (Northern League) Maroons have lost a good pitcher to the United States Army—Chatty Etherton—he had won four, lost two...Tony Golab has added a soccer reputation to his other accomplishments...The Golden Boy of Ottawa Rough Riders football teams for the last few years scored the only goal for Aircrew in a 1-1 tie with headquarters in an R.C.A.F. game in Ottawa...It's unlikely Sam Snead will be around this year to defend his Canadian Open title...Tommy Armour may be among those present, though...John (Ottawa Citizen) McLean's wife has doped out a new way to catch fish...She caught a three-pound pike by hooking its tail...Keep it up, Mrs. McLean...Things like that confuse the enemy.

Retires, Dies In Week

OTTAWA, June 5 — (CP). — Miss Florence Marsh, 64, died here yesterday only a week after her retirement following 52 years as a typesetter in the composing room of the Ottawa Journal.

She began her career as a girl of 12 at a time when most typesetting was done by women and girls.

When linotype machines appeared the women disappeared from newspaper mechanical departments, but Miss Marsh stayed on setting type by hand.

Lakefield Lodge Members Are Honored

LAKEFIELD, June 5.—(ENS). — Three presentations featured the meeting of L.O.B.A. Northern Light Lodge No. 831, when they had as their guests the Vimy Ridge Lodge, No. 244, of Peterborough, on Wednesday night at the Memorial Hall.

Those who were honored were Worthy Mistress Sister Gill, Brother Allen Gill and Worthy Mistress J. Sarginson.

Sister E. Darling read an address and Sister L Hill on behalf of the local lodge, presented W. M. Sister Gill and Brother Gill with a rayon satin bedspread, in honor of their recent marriage. Sister M. Charlton presented the bride with a lovely bouquet.

A further surprise came when R. W. T.G.T. Sister Pilling, treasurer of Ontario East, made an impromptu speech and presented the bride and groom with a silver cream and sugar set on a silver tray, gift of the Vimy Ridge Lodge.

Both recipients expressed theier appreciation for the lovely gifts and the members sang 'For They Are Jolly Good Fellows.'

Sister J. Sarginson of the Vimy Ridge Lodge was then the recipient of a gift from the Northern Light Lodge, presented by Sister M. Nicholls, with best wishes for her term of office.

It was decided that the lodge would attend Regent Street United church in a body on June 21, and also place a wreath on the cenotaph.

Sister M. Nicholls thanked all those attending and lunch was served to about 50 members and guests under the supervision of Sister R. Nicholls and Sister H. Bullock.

Friends of Mrs. Charlie Waldon and Miss Minnie Stabler, who have been quite ill, will be interested to know that they are progressing favorably bring down the budget before the amendment of the Mobilization Act was considered.

Price-Fixing

Mr. Ilsley said early in the war the government attempted to relieve the pressure on prices by taxation and borrowing.

"By the summer of 1941 the price level was jumping from one to two points a month .... every month I was almost afraid to look at the cost-of-living index .... it showed that our fiscal remedies were not sufficient."

The finance minister said it was doubted whether such a "thoroughgoing policy" as that of price-fixing "was within the capacity of the administration."

Amazed at Response

"But nevertheless we put it in, tried it, and we have been amazed at the response of the Canadian people. We have been amazed at their willingness to assume sacrifices for a common end."

There had been complaints that were it not for the prices board certain people would be receiving more for their goods.

But said Mr. Ilsley "you cannot control prices without keeping prices below what they would otherwise be, and you cannot fight a painless or costless war, and win it."

The finance minister said Mr. Hanson had no alternative policy to offer, adding it was not "good enough" merely to indulge in destructive criticism and not enough to say the government hda no policy.

Mr. Ilsley recalled a speech he made in 1940, in which he had expressed the view that nothing in the world could stop inflation if $1,000,000,000 of new money were issued through the Bank of Canada.

Earlier in the sitting, Mr. Hanson had read from this speech to show that Mr. Ilsley then had claimed that price fixing could not be accomplished without a great police force.

Elaborating his standpoint, the Finance Minister said: "If we were now to try to finance this war... by placing $3,000,000,000 to our credit in the Bank of Canada, or by the issue of that much money in notes, so that everybody in the country would have a great big bank account, or their pockets full of money, and if then we were to try to reverse the present policy to keep prices down—I say we would not do it. Without a spy in every grocery store, a spy on every corner.

Pressure Be Too Much

"It would be impossible to do it, because the pressure of purchasing power and prices would be terrific."

Because it was not possible to impose taxes so heavy that a great many people would not accumulate money, the financial remedies had to be supplemented with direct control, and price-fixing was instituted.

"Bear in mind that our policy has worked and has been copied by the greatest democracy in the world (the United States)," said Mr. Ilsley.

store, a sp on ever corner.

is setting up young lawyers all over the country and a number of inspectors, and before this system is through we may get right down to the spy system," said Mr. Hanson.

He was opposed to the method employed in price-fixing.

Because prices began to rise, the government had suddenly brought into effect a policy freezing commodity prices at an uneven level, "and they have been tinkering with that level ever since."

The price-ceiling level could have been related back to a given period of time. He was willing to admit the evils following inflation, but there should be a definite plan or system adopted for dealing with it.

Up To Government

It was the responsibility of the government to produce such a plan.

Mr. Ilsley said that Mr. Hanson had placed himself unequivocally against price ceiling policy, but Mr. Hanson said his protest was against the methods adopted and he had been careful to distinguish between objectives and methods.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F. Vancouver East) said the advocates of laissez faire had been thrown into the position where they had been forced to use control. There had been a period in the late 30's when people were dying of malnutrition.

Labor Minister Mitchell interjected to ask Mr. MacInnis if he could mention a case of a person dying of malnutrition during the depression and Mr. MacInnis said the question was not worthy of an answer.

Mr. MacInnis said control should have been imposed for the benefit of the people in these years of difficulty.

His objection to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was that it had been put in the hands of "big business." The people in control had "not the slightest sympathy with the small average business man."

He said the prices board should look into cases like that of a Montreal department store where a $400,000 escalator system was being installed last fall using material which could be used in war production.

Mr. Ilsley said this construction project would be a matter for construction control authorities to look into.

A reduction from 33 1-3 to 10 per cent in the initial instalment payment on furniture was the only case of a relaxation in the whole range of commodities.

Cattle Advance 25-50 Cents, Hogs Hold Firm

TORONTO, June 5 — (CP). — A normal run of cattle was cleared briskly at prices 25 to 50 cents higher for the week, in trade on the Livestock Market here. Calves were strong with hogs, sheep and lambs steady.

Weighty steers made a new top of $13.25, with most sales between $12 and $13. Butcher steers were $11 to $12.75, with a few at $12.85. Heifers sold at $10.50 to $12.50. Fed calves were $12 to $14 cwt. Butcher cows eased up at the close with tops generally at $10 and a few up to $10.50. Canners and cutters sold at $5.50 to $7.75. Bulls were $9 to $10.65. Light stockers sold at $9 to $11.50 and stock calves reached $12. Good milkers and springers sold at $100 to $130 each.

Veal calves sold at $14.50 to $15 for choice, with a few tops at $15.50 Common lights sold downward to $9. Bulk of sales was between $12 and $14.50.

Hogs were unsettled at the opening with bids down to $15.25 dressed. Most settlements were made at $15.35, with sows at $11.25 dressed. Feeders sold at $11.50 liveweight with a deduction of $2.50 per head.

There were no feed-lot lambs offered. Spring lambs sold at $10 to $15 each according to quality and weight with the best prices paid for lambs weighing 75 to 95 lbs. Sheep were steady at from $5 to 8 cwt.

Desert Anchor

Strong Axis reinforcements, including a considerable number of tanks, were reported moving eastward in parallel columns, one along the Libyan coast and the other approximately 50 miles inland.

There were indications, too, of increased German aerial activity, suggesting that Rommel was about to throw his carefully-hoarded dive bombers in an attempt to smash British positions blocking his advance toward Egypt.

Big 9 Inchers Thunder On.

Over the large desert area southwest of Tobruk artillery ranging from anti-tank guns to big nine-inch pieces hammered out a grim, unending refrain as the battle of position went into its 11th day only slightly abated by the wear and tear on men and machines.

The Free French forces holding Bir Hacheim were said to have twice rejected German demands that they surrender their stronghold, a thorn in the side of the Axis forces.

From the other ennd of the front came a story of how a small group of troops, using two captured Axis field pieces, had thwarted an attempt by German mechanized forces to cut the coastal highway east of Ain El Gazala.

The soldiers—remnants of a South African platoon and 12 men from another group—held the Germans at bay until British tanks put in an appearance and drove them off.

It was announced that Royal Navy pilots, flying fighter planes, now are operating from bases in the western Egyptian desert and are giving the R.A.F. valuable support.

The navy fliers, who had been operating from aircraft carriers for two years, were striking at both shore targets and Axis shipping off the coast.

OBITUARIES

PAUL COURNEYEA

TWEED, June 5.—(ENS)—Paul Courneyea, an aged resident of this district passed away at the home of Leo Rashotte, French Settlement, on Monday. Mr. Courneyea was known by many in this immediate section. The funeral took place to St. Edmund's Cemetery, Stoco, on Thursday morning, where interment was made.

MARY MARTHA DAVIDSON.

HAVELOCK, June 5—(ENS). — The death occurred at her late residence, Delmonte Farm, Belmont township, on Monday, of Mary Martha Cornell, in her 84th year.

She had been ill for the past six weeks, but previous to that had been able to attend to her household duties. She was the youngest daughter of the late William Cornell and Ellen Switzer, and was born in Murray township in 1858, and her parents moved to this district eighty years ago, among the earliest settlers of Belmont township. In 1876 she was married to Henry Davidson, who predeceased her six weeks ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, (Luella E.) Mrs. C. Tucker, Toronto, and Miss Nellie M., Toronto; also four sons, William E. of Fort William, Winston O. of Port Arthur, Maurice W. of Welland and Frank F. of Deseronto.

Mrs. Davidson had a marvellous memory and her family and neighbors have been entertained many hours by stories of hardship and experiences of early pioneer days.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Wednesday afternoon, services being conducted at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Mr. Holmes of the Havelock Pentecostal Church, and interment was made in the Pine Grove Cemetery.

FRANK LYON

TWEED, June 5.—(ENS)—Residents of the Fernleigh district were shocked to hear of the death on Wednesday afternoon, of Frank Lyon, two miles north of the village of Fernleigh.

He was taken suddenly ill and passed away while out looking at some traps he had set for woodchucks.

He was born at High Falls, Ont., seventy years ago, and moved to the Fernleigh district with his parents at an early age. He had resided in that community since that time and will be missed by a wide circle of friends.

Left to mourn his passing is his wife, who prior to her marriage was Mellissa Brown; also two sons, Percy and Bill, and one daughter, Mrs. William Allport, all of Fernleigh.

Bedora Trucker Killed In Smash

TWEED, June 5—(ENS). — Carl Rose, thirty-five-year-old resident of Bedora, Ont., employed by the T. A. Wilson Lumber Company, was almost instantly killed when his truck left No. 41 Highway and plunged down a steep embankment, four miles south of the village of Denbigh.

It was understood that Rose had only recently been taken into the employ of the company and was making his first trip with a load of lumber. Apparently, he was proceeding down Eagle Hill and as he started the vehicle down the incline, he suddenly threw it out of gear. When the truck gained momentum, he was unable to control it, and it left the road. Rose was thrown partly out of the cab, and when the truck turned partly over, he was pinned beneath it. The side on which he was sitting suffered the worst damage. Two companions in the cab escaped with a few bruises. Rose was a married man.

Hugh Wilson, in charge of the company's operations in the Denbigh area, offered as the only explanation for the accident, the supposition that Rose threw the truck out of gear and lost control as it moved down the hill.

The general store operated by Mrs. A. Evans at Foxboro was visited by marauders this week, but the thieves were unable to force an entrance through the main door.

Lightning struck the gravestone of the late W. H. Hudson in Roslin cemetery during the severe electrical storm which swept over the district. The stone was partly shattered and hurled to the ground. It will be repaired as the damage was not great. Mr. Hudson was a well-known carriage-maker at Roslin at one time. Fortunately, no other serious damage occurred during storm, which was one of the worst in the district for some time.

Spring Chickens Reach Market

TORONTO, June 5 — (CP). — The dressed poultry market remains about the same as last week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports.

Fowl of good quality are arriving in quantities sufficient to take care of demand and broilers are arriving in fair volome. Small lots of spring chicken continued to arrive up to 4½ lbs. and were readily absorbed.

There was a good demand for chicken generally which enquiry was filled from storage holdings.

A few old turkeys continued to arrive and moved slowly into retail channels. The movement of storage turkeys was very slow.

Local demand was about normal and out-of-town movement about the same as the previous week with approximately the same volume going forward to Newfoundland.

The department states the present time would appear opportune for poultry dealers to call attention to poultry meat.

Dealers are quoting producers and country shippers, nominal:

Spring chickens—4½ lbs., 27c lb.

Broilers.—Grade A milk-fed, 27c lb, B milk-fed, 26c; B, 24c.

Fowl.—Grade A, 5 lbs and up, 23c; 4 to 5 lbs. 22c; 3 to 4 lbs. 20c; B, 5 lbs. and up, 21c; 4 to 5 lbs. 20c; 3 to 4 lbs., 18c.

Old turkeys.—Hens, 22 to 23c lb; toms, 18 to 20c lb.

Old roosters—16 to 17c lb.

His address will be "High Explosive and Incendiary Bombs" and it will be illustrated.

BAN ON MACHINES.

Displays of farm machinery will be missing from fall fair and the provincial plowing match this year by an order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The regulation does not prevent farmers from using their equipment or that of another farmer at any plowing match at which he is a competitor.

POOR INSURANCE MEN.

A lot of people are snickering these days and kidding the insurance men about war restrictions. The salesmen now are feeling the pinch for gasoline and tires, and a few of them have joined the ranks of the bicycle pedallers. Stanley Houlihan is the latest insurance man to purchase a bicycle.

COMPULSORY WORK.

"I don't know how you are going to make a man hoe turnips when he doesn't want to hoe turnips," was the remark of Hon. Jas. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, in the House this week in a discussion of control of farm wages It might be possible under national service to force certain workers to work on farms at a fixed rate of pay, he added.

CAR IS DAMAGED

As a car driven by Ivan E. Sutton, R.R. 2 Cavan, was backing into the curb in front of Hall's Store on George street yesterday it came into contact with a parked automobile owned by A. E. Knott, 103 Maria street. The left rear fender of the parked machine was damaged.

PAVEMENTS REPAIRED.

A Board of Works paving gang has just completed a good repair job on the south side of Hunter Street between George and Water Streets. The sidewalk there, laid many years ago, had sagged badly. To-day a similar repair job is being carried out on the north side of the street.

NO BANDS.

From now on rubber bands are to be a minus quantity as far as Peterborough is concerned. The present supply has been exhausted and it is not expected that there will be any more shipments until after the war. So guard those few remaining bands that may still be lying around the house.

TWO CARS COLLIDE.

Reaching to get a cake out of a bag, Mrs. Edith Richardson, Lakefield, momentarily lost control of her car as she was driving south on George Street this morning, she told police, and the vehicle collided with the back of an automobile owned by George Palmateer, 467 Edison Avenue, parked on the west side of George Street north of Dalhousie Street. The left rear fender and bumper of the Palmateer car were damaged and a tire flattened. The front left fender of Mrs. Richardson's car was badly dented and torn.

C.G.E. Workers Donate $53 To War Victims

About six months ago when the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund was aiming at sending a double donation for Christmas to the sufferers from air raids over Britain, the maintenance department of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. made a contribution to the fund which amounted to $14.

From this beginning, they set steadily to work to give further aid and by making a box, covered with a small Union Jack, ever the symbol of freedom and liberty of thought and action under democratic rule, they invited the workers to place their givings to continue giving assistance in this worthy cause. On April 9 at a broadcast program from Radio Station CHEX, the contents of this box amounting to $25 was presented to the secretary of the fund by H. H. May, the foreman in this department with Louis Simpson in attendance representing the employees.

In his presentation of this second donation, Mr. May promised that they would be back again with further help for the people sticken through air raids over Britain, and just how well that promise has been kept is very evident from the splendid contribution of $53.21 which appears in their name today. This was raised in the self-same manner as the former contributions, and to add zest to it, they formed what was known as a two-bits club, which donors became a member of by depositing 25 cents in the box. and then to give a final zip before the box was opened, a guessing contest at five cents a guess was held, for which a prize of a silver dollar had been donated for the person guessing the nearest to what the box actually contained. This added a further $5.00 to the box contents, and the prize was won by Miss Ivy Watkins, and to conclude the whole event, the total proceeds as stated above was handed in to the fund management by L. Latchford, an employee in that department, and this ever-increasing scale of assistance in the cause the fund seeks to carry on is indeed very much appreciated.

Three nice personal donations are listed in today's report, one for $10 under the name "With Sympathy" and the other two from names that have been noted every month for some time, Mrs. William Shannon, always turning up with her contribution regularly near the first of each month. Every day now witnesses damage to property and life on a wider scale than for some months past, all of which in the words of the Lord Mayor of London to His Worship Mayor Hamilton will require continuous aid, and with yours and your assistance, the fund seeks to carry this message that the residents of this city and district are standing behind them, through this practical help and sympathy in their time of need.

Nazi Tank General Captured

Gen. Ludwig Cruewell, deputy commander of the German Afrika Korps, is shown in this cable photo as he climbs out of a British tank after being brought to headquarters for questioning. According to Cruewell, he was taken prisoner on May 26 when his pilot mistook British troops for Italian and landed in their midst on the desert.

Recruits Select Units On Enlisting

Every day young men come to the Peterborough Armouries to offer themselves for enlistment with the Active Service Forces and be medically examined. In this way they can select whichever branch of the service they wish, and after passing the medical they are given transportation warrants to carry them to the spot where the units are in training.

Obviously this method of seeking enlistment has an appeal. Some men pay their own way to Toronto, or hitchhike, spending money for meals and to meet other expenses, have to wait long periods to see recruiting officers, and then seldom get satisfaction. On the other hand they can come up to the Armouries at their leisure, sit down and discuss the various units with men who know all about them, then choose the one they think will suit their particular ability, and they are in the Army without spending a cent of money.

Following is a list of young men who have presented themselves for enlistment and have been rejected on medical grounds:

Allan James Oakley, Peterborough.
Leonard James Towse Peterborough.
Albert Cary. Keene.
William John Brooks, Peterborough.
Perry Wade Jopling, Peterborough.
Gordon Harold Garrison, Peterborough.
William Arthur Roberts, Peterborough.
Bertram George Woodcock, Peterborough.
Percy Vallentyne. Grove, Lindsay.
V. C. Scott, Hastings, Ontario.
Henry Whiteman Marlbank, Ont.
Sydney Hugh Smith, Peterborough.

Given Temporary Category.

The following men have presented themselves for enlistment have failed to meet the medical standards for active service, and have been given a temporary category:

Joseph Frederick McGee, Peterborough.
Gordon Russell Edwards, R. R. 2, Lakefield.
Bernard Dilling, Bowmanville.
Donald Frank White, Peterborough.
Ralph Garfield Campion, Peterborough.
Eric Philip Junkin, Peterborough.
Roy Herbert James Langton Peterborough.
William James Boyce, Peterborough.

Wild Pitch Smashes Girl's Spectacles

Miss Patricia Coss, 1 Wallace Ave., Burnham's Point, was the victim of a painful accident while watching the City League softball game at the Ashburnham Bowl Thursday evening.

She was sitting high up in the bleachers behind home plate when a wild pitch cleared the screen and the ball struck her in the right eye, breaking her spectacles, blackening her eye and cutting her several places with broken glass. Fortunately none of the particles entered the eye itself.

Miss Coss had just purchased the spectacles a few days before.

Appeals On Vacancy Of Properties Reviewed By Court Of Revision

Most of the 18 assessment appeals before the Court of Revision Thursday night were based on vacancy of properties. Thomas Ephgrave presided as chairman, with Fred Finnie and Fred Morrow, the two other members of the court.

Bank of Montreal was granted refund of $24.82 of 1941 taxes paid last year on the premises at 336 George street, under lease and previously occupied as a branch of the bank, vacant from January 1 to June 30, 1941.

Barries Limited was granted remission of $150.69 of 1942 taxes on ten suites vacant for periods last year.

For the same reason Charles Coleman received reduction of $3.40 in business tax; H. H. Dinsdale remission of $15.75 in business tax on the property at King and Louis street, bought by the Dominion Governement as the site of a proposed customs-postal building.

Dr. Reg. W. Frank, $15 remission on his office at 372 George street. He enlisted in the Canadian Army Dental Corps.

James Guiry was granted refund of $6.24 for vacancy of his premises at 390 Water street.

S. S. Kresge Limited, granted $63.25 remission of taxes on vacant suites in their building at George and Simcoe streets.

The Board remitted $8 of the taxes on the store of the F. L. Robinson Estate at 232 Charlotte street, formerly the McClennan hardware, vacant last year from April 1 to November 15.

The Mary Rush Estate received $5.52 remission of taxes for vacancies of two apartments at 182 McDonnel street.

M. A. Wesley was granted $12 remission of business tax on his tobacco and news stand in the Centre Theatre building on the ground that he did not begin business until November 1, 1941.

Hydro Objection

The Hydro-Electric Commission's Auburn property, including land and electric generating plant, was assessed for the first time for garbage collection, with the recent extension of the collection area to the complete boundaries of the city.

Total assessment was placed at $205,500 on which the Commission would have had to pay $170.57 tax for collection of garbage. Their contention that they should be assessed for this purpose only on the land value of $6,500 was sustained. As a government utility the entire property is otherwise exempt from municipal taxes.

Cut Business Tax

The business tax on Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company (Johnson Motors) was reduced from $1,328.40 to $606.60, for the reason that the company did not occupy its new building until after January 1, 1942.

The business tax of $606.60 is levied on the former assessment of $22,220 instead of on the present and new assessment of $44,280 for the whole plant, including the new unit.

It may be pointed out again that the present sitting of the Coutr of Revision are concerned chiefly with adjustment of taxes which become due and payable this year, but were based on the assessments made last year.

In the meantime the assessment department is at work on the assessment which comes into effect for taxation purposes in 1943.

The assessment rolls are returnable to the city clerk at the end of September, and ratepayers then have 15 days to present any appeals against the new 1943 assessment.

The Court virtually completed its work in one busy session. Several appeals for adjustments were deferred.

earlier that night, and she said you were in bed?"

"I told mother to say I was in bed any time he telephoned."

"Well, he went to your parents' house to give you the $20. Do you believe that?"

"No. I don't believe that at all."

Mr. Fair remarked that Hughes had reason to think his wife was at home that night when he pulled up and blew the horn of his car.

"Were you intoxicated?" he asked.

"No; I was not. I don't drink very much."

"Where was your husband taking you, when he drove off with you?"

"I don't know."

Living With Another Woman

"Did he object to you being with Guthrie?"

he'd been living with another woman he'd ben living with another woman for the last six years."

Mrs. Hughes said she told Constable Bruce Menzies to arrest her husband for assaulting her, but he didn't do so.

"Mr. Menzies told me to get in his car when we were in front of my husband's place. I wouldn't get in until Dad did. My husband had beaten him up before, and a lot of other people, too."

Mr. Fair: "When you were down at your father's house before that, did your mother come out and grab you and say 'You've been with him again'?"

"She said nothing of the kind. She wasn't near us."

"Your father and your husband were once in business together?"

"My husband worked for my Dad. He took him off the farm and gave him a job."

"Hughes has been quite successful?"

"Yes, after practically robbing my Dad."

"Your father hasn't been so successful?"

"Because my husband is doing everything against him."

"Did your father approve of your marriage?"

"Yes, he did. He thought he was a swell fellow; everybody did."

"You remember when your husband started in business for himself?"

"Yes. I think it was 1936."

"About the time you separated?"

"Yes. We moved there in March, and separated in August."

"Did your father say anything to Hughes in front of his place that night?"

"He told me to leave him or Hughes would kill me. My husband said that night he would get me. He even stuck his tongue out at my Dad, the way a child would do."

Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan related that the band was playing "God Save the King" at Rye's Pavilion that Saturday night, when he got a telephone call from Mr. Martin, father of Mrs. Hughes. He drove over to their home in Monaghan Road, and started out in search of Hughes, taking the same course, as it happened, and coming across Hughes in front of his house. A man who said his name was Ken Morgan of Campbellford, was in the car with him. Mr. Menzies said both men had something to drink because he could smell off them.

"Hughes' car was on the west side of Monaghan Road. He and his wife came from behind the car. I thought they might have been sitting on the other side of it. I noticed a bruise on Mrs. Hughes' forehead about half the size of a robin's egg."

Continuing his evidence in reply to Mr. McElderry's examination, Constable Menzies said Hughes put one arm around his wife and said "You know, Elsie, I love you."

"I said to him—'If you love her why don't you take your wife in and let your housekeeper go home. You'll never have a better opportunity.' Her father said something to the effect that Hughes would kill her if she went back with him."

To Mr. Fair witness said he went on to Martin's house with Mr. Martin and Mrs. Hughes, a short distance down Monaghan Road. He saw a hatchet on a table in the house.

"Mr. Martin told me he would killed Hughes with the hatchet if he had got out of the house in time when he heard his daughter screaming. I understood him to say he tried to get out but the women held him in, his wife and another daughter. I told him that if I couldn't protect my child with my fists I'd use a hatchet."

Mr. Fair—"And would you?"

Both Judge Coleman and Mr. McElderry uttered an objection to that question, and Constable Menzies answered: "I don't think I have to answer that."

Asked by Mr. Fair why he had not arrested Hughes up in front of his house, witness said, "There was no breach of the peace while I was there that would cause me to arrest him. I'd certainly have done it if there had been. I asked the man Morgan if he had seen Hughes abuse his wife, and he said he had not."

Constable Menzies said Mrs. Hughes had shown him her hand and the fingers looked red. He dress was torn at a strap, but his recollection was that the tear was not as great as that of the garment produced in court.

The trial is continuing this afternoon.

Observe Birthdays

Two Small Boys Flirt With Jail Terms

Two small boys, around seven years of age, came close to starting a bad fire Thursday evening under the Beatty storehouse on Reid street, where a considerable amount of salvage is stored.

William Martin, 581 Payne street, who is in charge of the salvage, reports to the police that the boys were hanging around the place and he ordered them off. Some time later they returned with some gasoline or kerosene in a bottle and started a blaze under the building.

Fortunately Martin noticed the smoke and securing a pail quickly extinguished the frie with water from the nearby Jackson Park creek before any damage was done.

Chris Hughes Heads Board

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, the executive of last year was re-elected.

Chairman—Chris. Hughes.

1st Vice— Mrs. B. Tucket, Norwood.

2nd Vice—T P. Lancaster, Havelock.

Secretary—J. A. McKone.

Ass. Secretary—Alpine MacNab.

Treasurer—T. T. Rodger.

Convener of Welfare— Mrs. R. Whalon.

Publicity Committee— G. Wilson Craw.

It was reported that a considerable amount of work had been done during the year and that one aged lady who was totally blind because of a cataract now has 60 per cent. vision. It was also tentatively arranged that a picnic such as was held last summer would take place in July. The committee to be in charge of this undertaking is under Mrs. C. W. Moffat, convener, with Mrs. F. L. Robertson and Mrs. R Whalon assisting.

Eleven Recruits Enlist With Rangers

Recruiting for the reserve units at the Armouries is continuing at a merry pace, with eleven more men from the city and district signing up with the Prince of Wales Rangers 2nd Battalion on Thursday evening. Several others have been accepted by the Battery but are awaiting medical examination.

About 275 trainees who were called up for thirty days training were posted at the conclusion of the 30 day period to the Prince of Wales Rangers for further training. Only seven are turning out although many others have since enlisted. Under the Militia Act each one of these men who fails to attend parades can be fined, just as other soldiers have been fined at Havelock and Campbellford recently for failure to turn out for drill. So far the officers of the local regiments have not resorted to the laying of charges but they have the authority to do so at any time. There are also 125 former members of the regiment who are on the regimental reserve and who can be called up for training or duty at any time.

The recruits who signed up on Thursday evening and passed their medicals are as follows:—

Double Duty Playclothes

By ALICE ALDEN

PLAY CLOTHES this season can be demure enough to suit the most conscientious town council or brief enough to satisfy the most ardent sun bather. The outfit worn by Katharine Booth is an excellent example of this idea. It is a playsuit consisting of bodice, shorts and skirt. The ensemble is made of white waffle pique and bright red poppies are appliqued to the ripple side wrap over dress. Her large cartwheel hat and bag are matching white trimmed with poppies. Under the dress are matching side draped shorts and bra.

Seabrook–Hastie Nuptials At St. Catharines

HAVELOCK, June 5—(ENS).—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Thomas Anglican Church at St. Catharines on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Helen Margaret Hastie of St. Catharines, daughter of Mrs. Doig and the late Mr. Hastie of Listowel, Ont., became the bride of Donald Seabrook, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Seabrook, Havelock, the Rev. Willis G. James, B.A., officiating. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Donald Lonsberry, looked lovely in a street length redingote dress of Queen's blue crepe with white accessories, and wore a corsage of red Talisman roses. Mrs. Donald Lonsberry, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and she chose a rose redingote dress with white accessories, and a corsage of yellow Premier roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Harold Seabrook, St. Catharines.

Following the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seabrook for immediate members of the families.

The groom's gift to his bride was a Bulova wrist watch; to the matron of honor a silver bread plate, and to the groomsman a pen and pencil set.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Fordwick and Havelock, and upon their return will reside in St. Catharines.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Seabrook were tendered a miscellaneous shower in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening by their many friends and relatives here. Cards and dancing were enjoyed throughout the evening, and a bountiful lunch was served at midnight. The young couple received many costly and useful gifts, and best wishes follow them to their new home in St. Catharines.

Phyllis Darling Is Bride Of Harold Clifford

LAKEFIELD, June 5.—(ENS). — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Darling was the scene of a charming wedding on Thursday afternoon when their daughter Phyllis Eta became the bride of Harold Clifford, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford.

The bride, given away by her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of white sheer with long sleeves and round neckline trimmed with taffeta ribbon. The fingertip veil was of net circled with a band of white rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses.

The Rev. W. B. Walker officiated for the ceremony, which was performed amid a floral setting of peonies, ferns, roses and bridal wreath.

Rolleen Darling sister of the bride was bridesmaid, frocked in a long dress of pale blue sheer with long sleeves. She wore a wreath of blue flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Harry Clifford, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held the bride's mother receiving in a gown of blue figured sheer. The groom's mother assisted, frocked in navy sheer trimmed with white

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to Fenelon Falls and points west. For travelling the bride wore a dusky rose dress sand coat with white hat and accesories. On their return they will live on a farm near Warsaw.

A New Flower Favourite

By ALICE ALDEN

ROSES, forget-me-nots, and carnations have all had their place on the smartest hats. The dainty, demure lily of the valley has been somewhat neglected in the millinery trimming parade and it has been left to deft Lily Dache to do right by this pretty flower. And so for good measure she shows two lily-of-the-valley trimmed hats, one brief, the other big. The tiny calot is of black horsehair massed with the white blossoms, while the picture hat, of black net, has the edge of its graceful brim outlined with the flowers.

WEBBER DISAPPEARS

CHAPTER XXII

Captain Seth Pringle turned sour eyes on his two visitors. A large, square man, the sea was stamped indelibly upon him. He gave the impression that nothing was secret to him.

"So much for your side of the story, Halsey," he said bluntly. "But Talcott, I don't know what to do about you. I know you by reputation and I know your boss. And Naval Intelligence gave me your story before we left Saint Thomas. But I'm damned if I'll let my ship be turned into a shambles on your account!"

Talcott said, "There's none of it my doing."

Pringle scowled. "Why didn't you come straight to me and tell me you were attacked on the boat deck, instead of waiting until this morning?"

"Because when I returned to my cabin to clean up I found that MacDowell had been murdered, and then I heard Webber, supposedly outside, talking to the steward. I recalled his having eavesdropped before, and then I remembered that he was Baron von Stampf."

"If you'd come straight to me then we might have caught him. I've got the steward in irons and he's more afraid of von Stampf than he is of me. Won't say a damned thing except that he has relatives in Dusseldorf and von Stampf made him do it because he was afraid they'd be tortured. You say you and Halsey searched the ship?"

Halsey replied. "Every corner. That is, was couldn't go in cabins. But he certainly wasn't in his own, and we combed all the decks and lounges for hours without a sign of him."

"I've still got a few men I can trust," Pringle grunted. "We'll damned soon find out if he's jumped overside or not." Pringle got to his feet. "All right, Talcott. I'm placing you under technical arrest. That means you'll have your freedom, but any more funny business and into irons you go alongside the steward. I got enough trouble with hurricane warnings all around us without you bringing me any more!"

Full fury of the storm broke upon the Blue Petrel while dinner was in progress. The ship shuddered violently, began a climb which seemed endless, hung momentarily as if drifting in a vacuum and then plunged downward with dizzying speed. A terrific crash of dishes was the first casualty, and the dining saloon began to empty rapidly.

June Paterson, Bill Talcott and Halsey endured it until the problem of keeping dishes on the table became too acute. The chief engineer had long since departed when Pringle, in oilskins, came hurrying by. Barometer still falling," he reported. "We're in for a dirty time— Still no sign of that ball-headed—" He started to call him something else and at sight of June Paterson corrected himself by changing it to "bum."

Orders were up for passengers to remain inside, not that many would have wanted to venture on the slippery, tossing deck. But June Patterson was one of the few. Eyes sparkling in flushed cheeks she inhaled with excitement. "Let's get out coats. I wouldn't miss this for anything in the world!"

Halsey said, "Not for me. I'm going to utilize the time to prepare a document for the benefit of Old Man Winters. I think there are some things about his new secretary that he ought to know!"

Talcott, desiring action above all else, agreed to accompany her. A reckless, reactive spirit had him in its grip, and as he battled down the passageway to C Deck his mind know only great relief. The net was fast dissolving; Webber, if still on the ship, would never escape the sharp eyes of the captain's trusted men. The steward was in the brig and his admissions made in order to avoid full confession were enough to clear Talcott. Things were beginning to break the right way at last.

His blood pounded with the joy of living when he reached his stateroom and retrieved his coat. A wonderful girl was waiting for him so that they, together, could buffet a storm. It was symbolic; they had come through one storm together with colors flying. A moral and spiritual storm that made this action of the elements seem like child's play. For through it all, even in that darkest moment when he had told of MacDowell's murder, she had believed in him.

His coat was a rough tweed, ironic Christmas present from Old Man Winters the year before; it was like the Old Man to give Palm Beach suits to Eskimos.

An expensive garment, tailor-made; his arm was in the sleeve when an exclamation of pain escaped his lips. Angrily he withdrew his hand and saw an ugly scratch from knuckle to wrist bone. Swearing wrathfully he turned back the cuff and saw the offender, a common pin, lodged in the lining.

"That's damned funny!" he muttered. "Wonder how that got in there?"

He'd worn the coat only once before. It had never been to the cleaners. Could the pin have been there all the time and just now worked loose? He sucked at the scratch and spit blood in the wash basin. The wound was deep, hurriedly he searched his jumbled effects of antiseptic; he could have sworn he'd brought iodine, but there wasn't any evidence of it.

"Mustn't keep her waiting," he said and, grimacing, stepped into the deserted corridor.

Like a shoebox in the hands of a schoolboy, that corridor tossed. "This is a honey," he muttered. Maybe it wouldn't be such a good idea to try the deck in this sea. They'd better talk it over first— Shuddering sidewise motion threw him against the wall and he grapplied desperately for the handrail, braced, caught balance and tried walking again. It was no go. Only by pulling himself along the handrail could he make headway.

He had gone half the distance to the companion stair when giddiness assailed him. His head seemed swollen to the size of a basketball; his stomach was a leaden knot. "Funny," he though. "Never been seasick in my life. But they say there's always a first time—"

The handrail had suddenly become as rubbery as an innertube. He was holding it tight, could feel his own fingernails as they bit into the heel of his palm. But the rail was stretching like a snake.

His legs wouldn't work, try as he might. And his stomach was on fire; blazing with increasing intensity, sending fumes that swelled his head to a point where it threatened to leave his body.

The corridor floor was hundreds of feet below him and down there he saw a pair of enormous feet. "Are those my feet?" he giggled.

It was uproariously funny. Gurgling with laughter he reached for the rail, missed by a yard, and crashed to his face on the carpet.

BLACKOUT SANDWICHES

Emergency Food For Hungry Families

ALL the family will praise your sandwiches if you will just avoid "flat taste" by the addition of H. P. Sauce. This is the secret to appetizing sandwiches.

"Blackout" Sandwiches are the latest wartime "newey". To make them, whip together ½ lb. of cream cheese with 1 tablespoon of H. P. Sauce and ½ tablespoon of horseradish; then sauté a 3½ oz. can of chipped beef and a tablespoon of butter until frizzled. Break up fine and add to cheese mixture. Spread on buttered brown bread.

H. P. is a fine old English type, thick, fruity sauce. It is economical because it is concentrated. Try it on meat, fish, fowl, salads, soups, stews, etc. You'll be surprised at the wonderful flavour it gives foods.

Elegance In the Evening

By ALICE ALDEN

LOUNGING PYJAMAS are favorites for home entertaining this season and some of the most popular evening ensembles are styled with trousers instead of a skirt. This dramatic costume is worn by Jane Wyman. The unusually full white silk jersey trousers are gathered to the long white jersey bodice which is styled with a fitted midriff, and low-cut halter. The jacket, exactly as long as the bodice, is printed in flaming reds, vivid blues, and bright golds on chalk-white, the design picked out with tiny gold sequins.

Mary Cleary Bride Of William Towns

DOURO, June 5.—(ENS)—A lovely summer wedding took place on Tuesday morning, May 2, at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's Church, Douro, when Mary Cleary, daughter of Michael Cleary and the late Mrs. Cleary was united in marriage to William George Towns, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Towns. The ceremony was performed and the nuptial mass said by Rev. J. J. McCarthy. The wedding march was played by the organist, Mrs. Victor Kennedy and the choir sang several hymns. Serving the mass were Joseph Moher, cousin of the bride, and Joseph Heffernan, nephew of the groom and Bart Moher.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white mousseline de-soie floor-length and falling into a train. The finger-tip veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was Johanna Hill roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Isobel Towns, sister of the groom, wore a gown of blue embossed mousseline de-soie with headdress of the same material and forget-me-nots. Her bouquet was pink roses and sweet peas. The groomsman was Mr. Hugh Cleary, brother of the bride. Ushers were John Cleary and Richard Walsh. After the ceremony dinner was served and a reception held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. About sixty guests were present. Later Mr. and Mrs. Toms left on a motor trip the bride travelling in a redingote style frock of cocoa and beige with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Towns will reside in Douro.

"TRIERS" BADLY NEEDED TO INCREASE HAPPINESS

Every Marriage Could Be Successful If Couples Made Real Effort.

The Australians have given us a new word for which we tender them our grateful thanks. It is "trier." It is a swell word. A grand word. A heart-warming, inspiring word. A word to take for a slogan, for it is a symbol of our intestinal fortitude.

In the Australian vocabulary the "triers" are the men and women who have the courage to buck life and wrestle with it for whatever they want. They do not accept defeat and sit down with ashes in their hair and whine over their sad fates. They try to do something about it. Sometimes they fail. Generally they succeed. But whether they fail or succeed they have the consolation of knowing that they have put up the good fight. They have not been quitters. And that's something to wear on their breasts like a medal of honor.

When you come to think of it, everything that has ever been done in the world that was worthwhile has been done by the "triers." They kept on trying to do the impossible until they did it. They sailed on and on over trackless seas until they found new continents. They fooled with gadgets until they brought the lightning out of the skies and turned night into day with electricity. They kept on peering through microscopes until they found the germ of diseases and the cures for them.

They kept on trying to make the ships that would sail in the air until at last an argosy of white wings soared into the sky. They were generals who fought on after they were beaten and turned defeat into victory. They were the pioneers who carved empires out of the wilderness. They were the men who climbed the ladder of success rung by rung. They were the men who amassed fortunes penny by penny.

These men had a thousand disappointments. They made a thousand failures. But they didn't give up. They kept on trying and at last some one of them accomplished his purpose and blessed the world with knowledge, or an invention that made it a better place for everyone who lived in it.

True of Everybody

If it is true of humanity at large that only those who have the grit and determination and stick-at-iveness to be "triers" accomplish anything worthwhile, it is equally true of the people who make up our circle of personal acquaintances. There is Tom who is above the average in intelligence, who has had a good education, who has a pleasing personality, but who has never been able to make a living.

He has tried half a dozen different occupations and failed in every one of them. Now he is old and broken and shabby and he lives by sponging on his friends and borrowing small sums from them. When those who knew him when he was young discuss Tom, they say they can't understand why he is such a failure, but the answer is plain.

He wasn't a "trier." He never made an honest effort to succeed. He never put his heart into his work. He had no pride of craftmanship. No ambition to rise to the top. He had set himself no goal that he was struggling to reach. He just slacked through life and got a slacker's pay, which is nothing.

Many Homes Wrecked

One of the great tragedies of the world is the amount of domestic unhappiness and the number of divorces. All of us know dozens of quarreling husbands and wives. On every hand we see wrecked homes and half-orphaned little children. And we are appalled at the number of boys and girls whose marriages did not last as long as the trousseaux.

These warring couples are not brutes and viragoes. They are fine and honorable men and women, beliked by all who know them, and we wonder why they make failures instead of successes of their marriages. The reason is because they are not "triers." They have never attempted to adjust themselves to each other, or to use the diplomacy in dealing with each other that they use in their contacts with the outside world. They know each other's little faults and weaknesses, their prejudices and peculiarities, but instead of using this precious information to avoid friction, they make it the cause of perpetual warfare between them.

And because the young husband and wife find that marriage isn't the romantic idyl that they thought it would be but work and worry, and the curtailment of personal freedom, and doing without things they had been accustomed to have, and walking the baby with the colic at night instead of dancing at a night-club, they throw up their hands and quit. They don't give marriage a chance to jell. They don't give themselves time really to get acquainted with each other and to turn from lovers into friends. There is not one marriage in a thousand that husbands and wives could not make a success if only they would try to do it.

What a pity we haven't more "triers." We need them so badly in these wishy-washy modern times.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, June 6

Tension, agitation, strenuous and trying activities in an effort to put over some worthwhile projects or innovations, is indicated by the prevailing astral influences. But the culmination of such aggressive endeavors may be considered dubious because of a combination of treacheries and undercover tactics. Those come from individuals as well as corporations or big interests.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves keyed to high endeavor and energy for the accomplishment of big things, justified by sound programs and quickened executive ability, but there are to be several elements of opposition. Keep constantly alert in avoiding trickery and also refraining from excess generosity.

in the fifth because the Saints were pounding him a little too heavily. Gordon did the pitching chores for the winners and went all the way. He was nicked for 13 hits though and walked none.

Fitzgerald led his teammates in the batting box with a triple and a pair of singles in 4, Guerin and Reardon each produced a pair of one baggers and Reg. Mongraw followed with a double. Devine led the opponents of the above hitters with two singles and Monaghan aided him with a deuce.

Romeo Mongraw in right field for the Cubs certainly contributed his share in helping to stem the power drives of the victors. He was making shoestring catches right and left, having to go far for them.

All In The Triangle

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 5—(AP). — The German high command said British bombers attacked several localities in Western Germany, including Duisberg, and Oberhausen.

(Duisberg, Oberhausen and Essen —the main target on Monday night —form a tight triangle of cities in the industrial Rhineland.)

His Escape

ROCHELLE, Ga., June 5—(A.P.) —The local Draft Board received this letter: "I have been married for two months. Please help me to get in the Army next week, if possible. I want to get out of the h—— I'm in." The Board classified the prospect 1-A pending examination, and mailed him induction papers.

Case Under Review

COLUMBIA, S.C., June 5 (AP)— "Please take my husband into the service. He wants to fight all the time and I am not able to . . ." A Richland county selective service board, recipient of the plea, immediately began a review of the husband's case.

Need Vitamins for Health, Youthful Looks

We need all the vitamins to keep our youth and looks. But we specially need foods containing vitamin A—yellow fruits and carrots, sweet potatoes and parsley—if we'd resist infections such as the common cold.

Vitamin B1 helps keep up body warmth, vitality — so plan more meals with milk, whole wheat foods, liver. And include more vitamin C, to keep body cells and tissues up to par. Best sources are citrus fruits, tomatoes.

Vitamin D, needed for strong teeth and bones, is obtained mostly from sunlight. But you can also get it from fish-liver oils and, in a small quantity, from eggs and butter. For a healthy skin, more vitamin G, in green leafy vegetables.

Such a diet need cost no more than the meals you have now. Plan healthful, vitamin-rich menus for yourself and your family!

Our 32-page booklet suggests menus bursting with vitamins, gives "Keep Fit Diet" and a chart showing vitamin content of everyday foods. Explains role of vitamins in retaining health, energy, looks. Tells 10 ways to preserve vitamins in cooking.

For your copy of "Vitamins to Keep You Fit" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

HAS HE THE WEAPONS?

A PLAYER'S ability to cope with tactics used by his opponents does not depend primarily upon his shrewdness and general intelligence. In the bidding it is also important to him to have some way to tell his partner the facts about his hand regardless of what the enemy may attempt. In some situations he may lack the necessary weapons to combat them.

East: ♠ 9 8 5; ♥ 9 8 7 3; ♦ 9 6 2; ♣ A K 9

South: ♠ A J 10; ♥ 5; ♦ K J 7 5; ♣ 8 7 5 4 2

East and West had announced that their opening bid of two in a suit was on a weak hand, not good enough for a sound bid of one. With a hand strong enough to guarantee game, they would merely bid one of a minor, which must be kept open, and would jump on the second round. That explains the peculiar looking opening call of 2-Clubs in the bidding sequence given above.

North might have done better if he had decided to treat his hand as a two-suiter, by bidding spades on his first turn, and then hearts later, perhaps after a spade rebid. Instead, however, he doubled to show the general strength of his hand at once. That opened the door for West to fenagle North out of the correct contract, by making that crazy-sounding bid of 3-Spades, which was not particularly dangerous, since he knew that the side had a club fit for an escape if doubled, and that the opponents were strong.

North's double of that showed a certain amount of strength in the suit, but he could not dare leave in his partner's double of 4-Clubs, and consequently had a hard job to do. Not knowing whether his partner had any spades, he was afraid to bid 6-Spades. He also feared that any lower bid might result in missing the slam which seemed to be present, and so he decided to bid it in his partner's suit with 6-Diamonds. South could not take this into 6-Spades, as North's earlier double of spades did not necessarily indicate any appreciable length in the suit.

The brilliant young man who did the opposing business in the West was Peter Leventritt, holder of several national championships, and he had the pleasure of seeing South beaten two tricks in the wrong contract of 6-Diamonds, after he led the spade 3.

If West bids 1-Diamond over South's original 1-Club and later 3-No Trumps are bid, what is the correct defense by East and West to beat the contract?

His hands are bound and his eyes bandaged as the executioners take up their position. Daily executions are now taking place in occupied France as the Nazis carry out their ruthless slaughter of hostages.

Goddard Parts With Chaplin

EL PASO, Tex., June 4 —(AP)— Paulette Goddard will be awarded a divorce decree late today from Charles Chaplin, Judge Javier Rosas Seballos of the Mexican civil court at Juarez announced.

The decree was to become final at noon.

The divorce petition, presented yesterday afternoon, disclosed the couple were married early in June, 1936, in Canton, China, and stated they separated in February of 1940.

Miss Goddard stated as her grounds "incompatability" and separation of more than a year.

Chaplin, in answer, denied the charges but consented to award of the decree.

East Victoria Women's Institute Holds Annual Convention

OMEMEE, June 5—(ENS).—The Women's Institute of East Victoria district held its annual convention in the United church, Omemee, on Tuesday, the morning session commencing at 10 o'clock.

Mrs McPherson, the president of the Omemee branch, brought a welcome to the delegates. The secretary, Mrs Barkwell, read the names of the departed members for East Victoria since last district annual and two minutes of silence was observed.

The president of the district presided during the sessions and at the morning session reports of standing committees were given as follows: Home Economics, Mrs. J. McLeod, Coboconk; Community Activities, M. E. Wood, Omemee; Agriculture and Canadian Industries, Mrs. Frank Smitherson, Pleasant Valley; Legislation, Mrs Bailey, Norland; Health and Child Welfare, Mrs. W. Dunn, Cameron; Peace and International Relations, Mrs. Milloy, Cameron.

Reeve Bent of the village, was present and extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, and Mrs. Moore of Powles' Corners, replied.

An address was given by Mrs R. E. Birdsall, federated representative. She spoke of the wonderful work that is being done by the Women's Institute in the province of Ontario and urged the need for new members in the branch.

The ladies of the Omemee branch served dinner to the delegates.

The afternoon session commenced with community singing, followed by the report of the nominating committee and the election of officers for 1942. President, Mrs. A. W. McGee, Fenelon Falls; 1st vice., Mrs. S. J. Moore, Powles' Corner; 2nd vice, Mrs. P. Corson, Coboconk; sec.-treas., Mrs. G. H. Barkwell, Norland; federated representative, Mrs. W. Dunn, Cameron; alternate, Mrs. Pogue, Fenelon Falls; district delegate, Mrs. McKague, Coboconk; alternate, Mrs. McGee, Fenelon Falls; war work convener, Mrs. Will Harris, Cameron; home economic convener, Mrs. McLeod, Coboconk; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. Moynes, Pleasant Valley; citizenship, Mrs. N. Perrin, Cameron; historical research, Mrs. Powles, Powles' Corners; social welfare, Mrs. W. Dunn, Cameron; publicity, Mrs. Handley, Burnt River.

Interesting addresses were given by M. H. Winter, agricultural representative of Lindsay. L. M. Frost of Lindsay and Mrs. Hayes, Women's Institute branch, Toronto.

Mr. Winters dealt with the problem of the farmer to-day. He said there are two main ideas in the mind of the farmer, namely, great shortage of help and wet weather The Department of Agriculture at Toronto realized that there would be a shortage of help this year, and they formed agricultural war committees, who sent out questionnaires for farmers to answer, to enable them to handle the situation.

There is a great necessity for this country to produce food. Owing to the shortage of ships it is difficult to have supplies shipped from one country to another.

This war committee recommended the exchange of labor on farms and increased use of tractors. "We are asked to grow more wheat this year so more can be shipped to Britain. In 1942 we are asked to export 900 million pounds of bacon, and a large increase also in the quantity of cheese and eggs." Mr. Winter in referring to the wet season, said that the farmers would likely have to sow buckwheat and millet as it was getting late for the other grains He urged the people to make the farming business as attractive as possible "Every cloud has a silver lining so keep up your thinking as well as your work, and we hope that the day will soon come when we will emerge from this war with better prospects for the future."

The address by L. M. Frost was based on matters of legislation of interest to women. He said women have a vote and they have a right to be members of parliament and on school boards, etc. Women are given the right to be everything except to sit on the jury and be ordained as a minister. He advocated women sitting on the jury The admittance of women, he said, would improve the administration of justice in the province of Ontario.

The address by Mrs. Hayes was based on the theme, 'Some responsibilities we should take on as Institute members. Five points were brought out: 1, An increased pride for our own organization; 2, Increased membership. Always be interested in hunting new members; 3, The responsibility for carrying on an educational campaign for young members; 4, That you take increased responsibility in the affairs of legislation; 5, The effectiveness of our program depends on its officers and members.

The convention closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE GIFT SCHEME

on

Pearl, Comfort, Surprise Soaps and Handy Ammonia Powder

WILL BE DISCONTINUED ON JULY 31st, 1942

Because of the War, because of the difficulties of obtaining supplies of gifts, and most important of all, the vital need to conserve metals, materials and manpower for the manufacture of essential war goods, it has been decided in the National interest to discontinue the Gift Scheme. As a consequence, we regret to inform the public that the Gift Scheme will be withdrawn on July 31st, 1942, and after that date no PEARL, COMFORT or SURPRISE SOAP, or HANDY AMMONIA POWDER coupons can be exchanged for gifts.

As soon as we are able to obtain supplies of new packaging material, these products will be sold in wrappers and cartons without the Gift Coupons, and such wrappers will not be exchangeable for gifts.

It may still be possible, however, to buy Pearl, Comfort and Surprise Soaps and Handy Ammonia Powder after July 31st, 1942, in packages bearing coupons. This cannot be avoided, but such coupons nevertheless cannot be accepted after that date.

To obtain gifts, coupons must be mailed before July 31st, 1942, to—

RCAF Lash 'Unhappy Valley' Again

LONDON, June 6 (CP)—A strong force of British bombers with Canadians in the forefront attacked objectives in industrial districts of the Ruhr last night in operations which cost a total of 13 aircraft, and R.A.F. fliers sped to attack Nazi coastal bases again after dawn, it was announced today.

Announcement that 13 aircraft were missing tended to confirm unofficial estimates that possibly as many as 300 planes participated, considering the usual ratio of losses.

A well-posted source said the R.A.F. had thrown more than 3,000 night bombers against Germany in the week ended with last night's raids. The losses were 113, and were estimated at just under four per cent. of the assault forces.

"Only the weather will halt the offensive," it was said.

The air ministry reported the night targets were within the Ruhr but did not identify the cities attacked. The arsenal city of Essen, hit by 1,000 raiders Monday night and a moderate force 24 hours later, is a major centre in that river valley.

A five-point daylight sweep by R.A.F. fighters against Nazi bases in Belgium and France last yesterday, which the Air Ministry termed "one of their biggest simultaneous offensives," set a fast pace for the fresh assault today.

The sound of heavy explosions echoed from the Boulogne area of the Nazi-occupied French coast.

Bad weather had forced a break Thursday night in the chain of assaults set off by the 1,000-plane raids on Cologne and Essen.

German airfields and other targets menacingly close to the English Channel—at Ostend, Abbeville, Le Havre, Lannion and Morlaix—were hammered late yesterday by huge aerial battle formations whose blows were timed together to confuse the defence.

The scope was indicated by the fact that more than 100 Spitfires struck the Abbeville area, in the Somme River valley, and this action was dismissed by a communique as a simple "diversionary sweep."

Some 50 German planes roared up to meet the Spitfires and dogfights developed directly above the Abbeville airdrome. One Nazi was shot down almost on his own runways. Another fell in flames on the town's outskirts.

LONDON, June 6—(CP Cable). A Canadian squadron which in the last eight days has flown almost 100,000 miles against the enemy, returned to Germany's "Unhappy Valley" of the Ruhr during the night, iding the vanguard of a strong R.A.F. bomber force.

The Canadian group was composed to upwards of 50 members of the squadron commanded by Wing Cmdr. John Fulton of Kamloops, B.C. The airmen dropped flares to guide squadrons attacking later, and incendiaries and high explosives.

It was Raid No. 13 for PO. Jack Freestone of Toronto, who though a wireless operator and air gunner, dropped bombs for the first time.

PO. J. B. Higham of Assiniboia, Sask., told of getting caught in heavy flak and searchlights. He was forced to cut his engines and dive 15,000 feet to duck the "hot spot."

Flt. Lt. Logan Savard of Quebec and Montreal made his first operational flight since a transatlantic bomber jaunt.

As the returning fliers checked in to Flt. Lt. Dan McCann, Ottawa footballer who now is the squadron adjutant, they agreed the attack was a "hot one" and met more than the usual target defences.

"All were satisfied they were on the target" was the report to headquarters on the raid, which prior to the last week's tremendous bomber surge would have been considered big stuff.

Savard, grinning, said, "it was a thriller, but I want to say our skipper was a marvel at keeping out of the searchlight beams."

He referred to Sqdn. Ldr. D. L. Wolfe of Regina, for whom he was second pilot.

Higham and Flt. Sgt. Ernie Burnett, Toronto; Flt. Sgt. A. H. J. Fawcett, St. Thomas, Ont.,and Flt. Sgt. Norman Dewar, Vancouver, returned ith fuselages well holed by flak.

Other Canadians on the foray were PO. A. H. Harris, Milner, B.C.; FO. John McCormack , Estevan, Sask.; Sgt. E. G. Peters, Westville, N.S.; Sgt. P. H. Rosenberger, Toronto; Flt. Sgt. M. L. Swanson, Edmonton; Flt. Sgt. A. MacMillan, Winnipeg; Flt. Sgt. R. J. Hubbard, Truax, Sask., and Flt. Sgt. Jack Wiggins, Winnipeg.

Britons Gain Armor Edge Over Rommel

Batter Axis Spearhead Back To Gap
Hun On Defensive

LONDON, June 6 —(CP)—British forces now have armored superiority in Libyan action and are pounding Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's battered Axis tank spearhead back toward the gap in the British lines, a military commentator said today.

Lt.-Gen. Neil Ritchie retains the initiative after driving the Germans out of Tamar, east of Knightsbridge and the attack which started the night of June 4 now is believed to have developed into a three-sided onslaught with Rommel's soldiers on the defensive, the commentator said.

Heavy British artillery fire from the south and north was said to be hampering enemy attempts to organize a counter attack, while the British force which thrust far to the German rear and seized the key enemy supply point at Rotunda Segnali is engaged in continuous attacks and raids on German communications and supply columns.

British Still Advancing.

CAIRO, June 6—(AP). — British tanks and infantry attacked Axis positions west of Knightsbridge on Thursday night, opening a drive which was sustained successfully throughout yesterday by armored forces, British general headquarters announced today.

The Beginning

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, June 6 — (AP). — The big-scale British attacks on the Ruhr and Rhineland this week mark the start of a huge scale British and United States offensive on Germany which will open an actual western front, the leading article in the Moscow News said today.

The newspaper, published here, said the attacks presaged "big battles—not only air battles—in which the initiative undoubtedly also will be held firmly by the Allies."

Beef Goes Higher As Roasts Get Scarcer

By The Canadian Press

Canadian housewives today had to pay a few cents more for their week-end roast of beef—if they could get it—no matter whether they shopped in Vancouver or Halifax.

A survey by The Canadian Press showed the price had gone up two to five cents a pound, everywhere but in Montreal, in the last week since announcement of the new Wartime Prices and Trade Board order establishing uniform prices to be charged by packers and wholesalers in 15 zones across the country.

When this order was announced May 29, it was expected that there would be a slight increase as retailers adjusted their prices in line with permitted rates for packers and wholesalers.

Where beef was short, consumers had no assurance of immediate easing of the situation. J. G. Taggart, food administrator for the Board, told Toronto newspapermen Friday that the shortage was due to the government's policy of shipping beef to Britain rather than retaining it for home consumption. He predicted a shortage for the next six weeks.

Some Vancouver retailers increased prices five cents a pound while others sought to keep to former levels pending clarification of the situation.

Scanty in East.

Beef was scarce in Halifax, where the price increase ranged from two to four cents a pound.

An increase of two to five cents a pound was general in Edmonton, where one source said the price might be increased again next week as he reported increased ceiling prices were expected soon.

Regina beef prices jumped 25 per cent since May 29, while at Saskatoon the boost was two to three cents a pound.

Prices in some small Winnipeg stores have increased six to eight cents a pound. One large retail store said it had not raised prices, but had the matter under consideration.

In Toronto, where the supply has been short for several weeks, one large retailer announced an increase of three cents. Toronto retail meat dealers have appointed a committee to confer with packers over the price question. At Ottawa beef cost about two cents a pound more.

Montreal prices, however, were unchanged from a week ago.

5,000 Acres Of Cologne Laid Waste

Major Factories Razed
Worker Area Burned
Hindenburg Span Hit

LONDON, June 6 — (CP). — British and Canadian bombers devastated more than 5,000 acres of Cologne in the first of the 1,000-bomber raids this week on the Ruhr and Rhineland, the Air Ministry disclosed to-day.

Railway workshops in Nippes, a supurb of the big war industry town, were hit hard, photographs of the attack showed.

An Air Ministry source declared taht "the greater part of the old town of Cologne is finished."

(Cologne newspapers reaching Switzerland yesterday said the old Rhineland city, as its people had known it, was "lost forever" and described a scene of desolation with some sections still burning and "whole quarters of the town empty."

Among the big factories smashed by high explosives and burned out by the spreading flames, the Air Ministry source said, were the vast Vulcan Works, the Rheinfelz plant, and K. G. Mauser, producers of arms and steel for the German war machine.

He said an area of 660,000 square yards in the Ehrenfields district north-west of the city where thousands of industrial workers are housed, had been scourged and flattened.

Great Bridge Hit.

A close examination of reconnaissance pictures of the district showed nothing but row on row of ruined homes, he said.

The east end of the great Hindenburg Bridge which crossed the Rhine at the heart of the town was hit squarely with a heavy bomb.

Cologne's famed 14th century cathedral overlooking the Rhine near the bridge showed no signs of direct hits in the reconnaissance pictures, but three areas west of it apparently were devastated. These areas totalled approximately 521,800 square yards.

The Cologne Exhibition Hall in the "old town" section and many other areas of the city were heavily damaged.

Ruins would be total destruction of one-twelfth or about eight square miles of the metropolitan area, since Cologne and its suburbs total somewhat over 60,000 acres. Vast other areas of the city which escaped total ruin, however, were reported badly damaged.

The Air Ministry News Service said there were three other "major areas of devastation" in the city:

Finger On Vichy

MOSCOW, June 6—(AP). — A Tass dispatch from Geneva, Switzerland, said German Ambassador Otto Abetz had delivered a note to the Vichy Government demanding more effective steps against anti-German outbreaks and warning that Germany "reserves the right to take every measure it deems necessary."

The note was said to have demanded an improvement in the situation by the Vichy Government "within the shortest time." Intensification of reprisals and some "sensational trials" are expected to follow.

US Outproducing Nazis In Tanks, Feed All Fronts

By De Witt Mackenzie
Associated Press War Analyst

As the United States reaches the half-year mark of participation in the "Far for Survival," the Allies have the satisfaction of knowing that they are on their way to a victory from which they needn't be diverted except by their own shortcomings.

There are frightful dangers yet to be surmounted. But the Allies definitely can win if they go all-out.

In the first six months of United States participation that country's greatest individual achievement probably lies in producing, that is, in starting from scratch and in half a year making such strides that on May 19 Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Productions Board, was able to announce that the United Nations War Production was "greater than the Axis in every category."

That isn't to say the Allies have caught up with the Axis nations, because the latter are profiting by years of intensive effort. It does mean that the Allies now are set to overtake them—if they strain every nerve.

That is of vast importance because, as this writer has so often insisted, this is a war of resources, of which production and transportation are an integral part. Soldiers alone cannot win this war. Men on the battlefield are helpless without material.

Thus the worker in the factory and shipyard at home is playing just as important a part in the defence of his country as is the soldier at the front. Failure of the man at home to produce could wreck the war effort just as quickly as could a revolt of the soldiery. So upon the extent of Allied production depends the length of this war.

Patrol Ship Lost

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—The navy department today announced the loss of the U.S.S. Cythera, a small naval patrol vessel, in the Atlantic area and said that next of kin of personnel aboard the converted yacht had been notified.

The Cythera was commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. Thomas W. Rudderow of Highland Lane, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The total of men lost aboard the Cythera, which was described as overdue for more than three weeks, was not given although as a yacht the vessel had carried a crew of 28.

U.S. Victory Looms Greater Than Coral Sea Feat, Many Transports Damaged

Carriers, Battleships, Cruisers All Suffer
As Valiant Island's Defenders Lash Out
With Yank Fliers Playing Great Havoc

HONOLULU, June 6—(AP). — Crushing defeat of a big Japanese fleet which attempted to seize Midway Island in a desperate bid for control of the mid-Pacific grew in proportions today as the United States pressed home new attacks on an enemy which appeared to be limping away.

Possibly presaging a victory even greater than that of the Coral Sea, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said Japanese aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers and transports were dealt damaging blows by the alert and fully-prepared Midway defenders.

"While it is too early to claim a major Japanese disaster, it may be conservatively stated that United States control remains firm in the Midway area," the Pacific fleet's commander-in-chief announced last night.

"The enemy appears to be withdrawing, but we are continuing the battle."

No actual sinkings were listed in the cryptic accounts of the battle which the Japanese opened with carrier-based planes Thursday after delivering a possible feinting attack on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, with bombers on Wednesday. But Admiral Nimitz said a Japanese aircraft carrier hit by Midway's aerial defenders in the first stages of the fighting, later was struck by three torpedoes fired by a submarine.

"As more reports come in," he said, "it appears that the enemy damage is very heavy, indeed, involving several ships in each of the carrier, battleship, cruiser and transport classes."

On a Conquest Voyage.

It was the first mention made of transports, lending support to the belief the huge Japanese force, risking much in an assault so far removed from its home bases, had as its goal the actual conquest of Midway, 1,149 miles north-west of Hawaii.

In the desperation of impending defeat, the Japanese were reported by Admiral Nimitz to have machine-gunned fliers forced to bail out in parachutes during dogfights. Americans adrift in rubber boats were believed to have suffered similar treatment.

The size of and nature of the United States forces were wrapped largely in military secrecy beyond the Admiral's statement that "the brunt of the defences to date has fallen upon aviation personnel, in which the army, navy, and marine corps were represented."

But if Japan hoped to catch by surprise the Midway defenders who have beaten off five weaker assaults, dating back to Dec. 7, the surprise worked in reverse. Swiftly the preparations for just such a major blow, carrying with it a threat to Hawaii and even the Canadian and United States mainland, have gone forward in the few months since the war opened. They have been so exhaustive that Admiral Nimitz on returning a month ago from a visit to Midway, voiced praise for the effective coordination he had witnessed there.

Glory For Airmen

He said the Midway fliers in the present battle "have added another shining page to their record of achievevments" and "o nevery occasion when we have met the enemy, our officers and men have been superlative i ntheir offensive spirit."

Ship Toll Still Over Output Supplies Pile Up

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 6.—(CP)—Almost the only peace where Hitler is winning the war at the moment is in the Atlantic off North and South America where his submarines are sinking an alarming number of merchant ships, particularly tankers, and damaging many others.

German and Italian submarines are sinking ships faster than the yards of the United States, Britain and Canada can turn them out, aggravating a shipping shortage that already is acute.

(Announcement yesterday of three new sinkings brought the total number of ships sunk in the Atlantic since the United States entered the war to 247. However, naval authorities in New York said the submarine menace is steadily increasing. Of 2,500 vessels sailing from an eastern United States port since Dec. 7, less than one per cent were lost, they said.)

The immediate result of the sinkings is evident in sugar and gasoline rationing and diminishing supplies of other commodities.

But that is a comparatively minor angle because Rear Admiral Greenslade of the United States Navy recently gave a concrete illustration of the submarine's slow strangulation of the war effort of Canada and the United States.

"War goods are piling up at the docks on both coasts and are back-

Wider Control In Air Training

OTTAWA, June 6 — (CP). — Canada assumes more effective control over all air training operations carried on in this country and also over Canadian personnel serving with the Royal Air Force overseas under the new air training agreement signed on Friday by the Air Minister, Hon. C. G. Power, and representatives of Australia New Zealand, and the United Kingdom.

The agreement, as anticipated, provides a new financial setup for the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan and for continued training of air crews in Canada for the other three participating countries with larger numbers than be-

Dr. Hett Cleared On First Count

TORONTO, June 6 (CP)—Acquitted of a charge of supplying morphine for other than medicinal purposes, Dr. John E. Hett, 73-year-old Kitchener, Ont., and Toronto physician today was free on $5,000 bail while he awaited trial on a second and similar count.

Dr. Hett was acquitted Friday by a general sessions court jury which deliberated three hours after hearing nine days' evidence concerning the charge that he prescribed, sold, gave, administered or furnished morphine for other thna medicinal purposes to Mrs. Clara Merrick, alias Martin, alias Gauthier. Mrs. Merrick testified during the trial she obtained morphine from Dr. Hett, who specialized in cancer treatments, by telling him she was a cancer sufferer while in reality she was not.

The charge still against the physician is that he violated the Opium and Narcotics Act by supplying, furnishing or administering morphine "to one Ruby Webb for other than medicinal purposes." After the verdict, D. J. Coffey, defence counsel, asked the Crown to withdraw this second charge. The request was refused and the case was traversed to September.

2 Commandos Die to Take 50 Hun Along

Lead German Experts Aboard TNT-Laden Destroyer Knowing Death Sure

WASHINGTON, June 6—(CP).— Two young British Commando officers calmly stood on the forecastle head of the explosive-laden destroyer Campbeltown in St. Nazaire harbor, blandly assuring 50 to 100 German technical experts that all was well until the ship blew up and carried everyone to death.

The dark-haired Commander of the Commandos, Vice Admiral Lord Louis Montbatten, told the story here Friday as a detail of the raid on the Frenchh port March 23 when the St. Nazaire drydock was blown up.

"Those two boys stayed there and the fuse of a delayed-action charge commander. "They had guts."

The Campbelton, a former United States destroyer, had been rammed into the dock gates flush with the bridge. The crew disembarked while the fue of a delayed-action charge ticked away.

The Germans were not sure what was happening. They did not know whether the ship was free from explosive or a giant time bomb. They asked to Commando officers if there was any charge aboard.

"Certainly not," was the reply.

The Germans then suggested the two officers go on board as a guarantee of safety while a party of 50 or 100 technical men searched the ship.

The officers went aboard, knowing they went to their deaths.

"They stood there," Lord Louis recounted, "not showing a sign while the Germans watched them, watched the expression on their faces, watched to see if their hands turned clammy.

"Suddenly the time bomb went off and the ship blew up."

Lord Louis said he thoroughly believed the accuracy of the story which has spread all over France.

Rommel Was In Rome.

In uniform with a gold rope suspended over his right shoulder to indicate he is aide-de-camp to the king, Lord Louis also told how Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, commander of the German African army, escaped a Commando raid but lost his entire general staff.

It happened the night before the British offensive in the last Libyan campaign. A Commando party worked its way over the desert, behind the German lines, until it came to Rommel's base.

The place was captured easily and everyone inside killed or captured but Rommel was not there—he was in Rome attending a birthday celebration.

"You would think," Lorl Louis said with a wry smile, "that a General would be in his headquarters on the night before a battle.

Bombers Get Bigger—Real Boon to Russia

WINNIPEG, June 6 —(CP)—The heavy type of bomber plane will play a more and more important part in the war, Rt. Hon. Harold Balfour, British Parliamentary Undersecretary for Air, said in an interview here.

A heavy bomber, he said, can do the work of five smaller aircraft, effecting a saving both of planes and men.

Capt. Balfour, who arrived by plane from Ottawa last night, said "our air force is providing us with our second front, an integral and important part of our extended and enlarged war program."

He added that the recent British raids over Cologne are only the prelude to continued heavy assaults on Germany.

"The British raids over Germany are very definitely helping Russia," he said. They are keeping large forces of the German Luftwaffe "busy in their own backyard."

Capt. Balfour will visit air training establishments in Manitoba today, later leaving for Lethbridge and Vancouver.

Hun Lose 8 Tanks Fighting Reds In Their Rear

MOSCOW, June 6 —(AP)—Germany's central front army has lost several hundred infantrymen, killed or wounded, and eight tanks in a furious assault upon Red Army forces operating in their rear, the Soviet information bureau said today.

The action was one of a series developing recently in the area west of Moscow.

Soviet airmen were credited with knocking down two German planes, a Heinkel 111 and a Junkers 88 reconnaissance craft, by ramming. The latter yielded valuable documents, a communique reported.

Thursday's aerial operations resulted in destruction or damaging of 20 German tanks, 75 motor trucks, 60 supply carts, 18 field and anti-aircraft guns and five mortars and 40 railway cars. A munitions dump was blown up.

Red army scouts wiped out a 100-man garrison in an attack on a Kalinin front settlement, the communique said.

HUGE WAR EXPENDITURE BILL PASSES THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Dunkirk Loss Due Small Airforce

COBOURG, June 6 — (ENS). — Lauding the British war effort, Major H. K. Walker commanding officer of the 36th Battery of Cobourg, adressed yesterday's luncheon meeting of Cobourg Rotary Club. "The British are putting forth a more realistic war effort than we are. They realize that if they lose, then everything is lost with it."

Major Walker spent two years in the Old Country before returning to Canada to take over the command of the 36th Battery.

The speaker described the numerous tag days and special drives which have been held in Great Britain since the outbreak of war, and said that the support of the public has been most liberal and most unselfish. He expressed wonderment that so much money could be found for so many drives.

Describing the life of the civilian people in England in the present war, Major Walker told of people young and old riding on motorcycles and bicycles, with a few cars left on the road. He said it was nothing to ride a bicycle 20 to 40 miles in a day. He said the people are also developing into remarkable walkers, as they sometimes have to go four or five miles on foot from the nearest suburban train to their homes after their day's work is done.

Captain Walker described the English rationing system as very thorough. He said the Canadian troops overseas always seemed to have cigarettes, because of the many packages of tobacco they received from their Canadian relatives and friends. British troops and civilians, on the other hand, often went tobacco-less.

Commando training, given a few troops at the start, is now in effect throughout the entire army in Great Britain, the speaker revealed. It is called the new "battle course" and is designed to fit the troops for any activity. Physical training is very rigid, and a new type of fighting man is being produced, making the Empire soldier equal to any enemy.

"I am sure that with this training the British will be better soldiers than the Germans ever though of being," the Major stated.

The C.O. of the 36th was a member of a Canadian officers' mess which took care of 25 British officers following the retreat through Dunkirk. He said that these British men attributed the defeat in Belgium and France to the overwhelming air superiority of the Germans.

The officer said he and his troops had a grandstand seat for the Battle of Britain, and saw many heroic combats fought in the skies of the London area.

"We can't give too much credit to our fliers. They went up into the sky with less than 50-50 chance of coming back," the speaker stated. "This was especially true of bomber pilots, who went across the Channel on raids."

Major Walker's return to Canada was in company with 1,000 Axis prisoners, he stated. These German and Italian forces were mortally afraid of the voyage, having heard Axis propaganda to the effect that a very large percentage of all British ships are destroyed on the seas. He said that their terror was further enhanced by the fact that the boat set sail on Friday the 13th. However the entire group reached Halifax without incident.

Major Walker was introduced to the gathering by R. N. Mackenzie and the vote of thanks was adequately expressed by A. R. Willmott.

Penny Savings Drop

COBOURG, June 6 — (ENS). — Penny bank deposits of Cobourg Public School pupils at the end of April amounted to $1,874.98. The total for the same month last year was $1,910.14. During the months of March and April, the average weekly percentage of pupils depositing was 33 per cent. The West-end School had a weekly percentage of 38, and the Central School's percentage was 31 per cent.

Parents Fear Teachers Plan To Resign

PORT HOPE, June 6—(ENS)—An indication that fires were still smouldering beneath the apparently calm surface of affairs on the Port Hope School front was given today with a signed statement from J. L. Sheehan, secretary of the Parent's Committee investigating the dismissal of Mr. Brackenbury, high school principal.

The statement was released for publication on behalf of the teachers of the High School staff, and it is not only self explanatory, but forecasts some of the far-reaching unpleasant features which may possibly develop out of the affair which has tended to place the school board in a position where they are facing a barrage of criticism from civilians.

The item is headed "Beclouding the Issue" and is printed verbatim:

"We understand that there is a "conciliation" movement on foot whereby some arrangement of compromise may be made. The actual facts are: (1) that the principal has been discharged; (2) that the staff has refused to function under the present board.

It is known that, at the present, even under the most favourable conditions, that it would be almost impossible to secure an efficient staff. If the present board persists in their attitude, and the teachers are compelled to send in their resignations it is a logical certainty that the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation will blacklist the school, and, as a result, efficient teachers would not apply for positions advertised. Our boys and girls will be faced in September with inadequate and unsatisfactory school facilities. If this board has any regard for the interests of our boys and girls, and for the good of the High School, let them be men enough to resign in a body."

After six months United States fighting men are in all theatres, and Lt.-Gen. Brehon Somervell, United States Army Supply chief, says "We can fully equip any troops we can send abroad." American-made tanks —so vital in modern mechanized warfare—are working for the Allies from Australia to the smoking sands of the Libyan desert and the lonely steppes of Russia. Nazi tank production was surpassed months ago.

United States manufactured planes are battling in all zones. They are sustaining Australia in a moment of dire peril; they have materially helped slow Japan; they are fighting for China and for Russia; they are participating in the unparalleled British raids against Germany. This hump-backed vehicle is known in Army parlance as a Field Artillery Tractor, (F.A.T.). As the name implies, it is used by the Field Artillery for the hauling of field guns such as 18-pounders, 25-pounders, 4.5 howitzers.

The specialized steel body on a three-ton chassis holds a supply of ammunition and carries the gun's crew. A hatch in the roof enable the officer in charge of a section to see and be seen by all drivers.

Four-wheel drive mechanism gives the Field Artillery Tractor power enough to haul its heavy loads across country and a powerful winch enables it to haul guns into and out of difficult positions.

Street Lighting Cut Fifty Percent

CAMPBELLFORD, June 6 (ENS). — A delegation from the Library Board comprising the chairman, Harry Townsend, and Dr. O. C. Watson, addressed members of the Water and Light Commission at their regular meeting here on Friday evening and created something of a precedent since it was the first time a delegation from the Library had ever visited the Utilities. They asked the Commission to consider the matter of placing a couple of lights on the two posts which flank the steps leading up to the Library. According to Mr. Townsend the wiring for these lights had been installed at the time the Library was built but it had never been used. It was suggested that lamp standards which had fallen prey to accidents in town, could be cut off and utilized. On motion the matter was left with the manager with power to act.

The secretary read a communication from the Department of Canals regarding the renewal of license for poles carrying wires across the canal at a cost of $5 per annum. A motion authorizing the secretary to have the necessary by-law prepared and adding the fee to the pay sheet, was passed. Another communication of interest came from the Central Ontario Section of the O.M.E.A. which pointed out that all employees of public utilities would come under the regulations requiring contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund whether they were regarded as permanent full time employees or not Attention was also drawn to the annual membership fee in the Association. The $2 was added to the pay sheet, as was the fee for membership in the Ontario branch of the American Waterways Association.

Manager Denyes read a communication from the power controller outlining some of the rigorous steps being taken to offset a power shortage during the coming winter. The new regulations call for a fifty per cent. reduction in street lights, total elimination of outside signs for stores and places of business, and a reduction of window lighting to not more than 5 watts per lineal foot. Of gravest concern to the Commission was the order forbidding heating public utilities or other buildings by electricity. This meant that some alternative plan for heating the Utilities building would have to be found before winter and forshadowed a problem since it contained neither stoves nor a furnace. Action on the matter was postponed temporarily.

ing up at some inland war plants," he said. "For example, 40,000 military trucks are standing at a single East Coast port waiting for ships."

Delays To Russians

That means war supplies desperately needed by the Russians on the eastern front, the Australians in the southwest Pacific and the British forces in Libya or the Far East, are not getting there as quickly as they are being produced because of the submarine menace in the Atlantic.

Many reasons are advanced by the experts for the acknowledged success of the Axis submarine campaign but they all boil down to not enough patrol ships and planes to cover the vast reaches of the Atlantic from the bulge of Brazil north to Greenland and Iceland.

It is generally admitted that the United States navy had too many big ships and not enough anti-submarine vessels when suddenly called upon to fight two powerful enemies in the Atlantic and Pacific. That discrepancy is being remedied as quickly as shipyards can turn out small fighting vessels and Congress this week began consideration of a bill to appropriate $8,300,000,000 for construction of 500,000 tons of aircraft carriers, 500,000 tons of cruisers, 900,000 tons of destroyers and 800 small boats for patrol work mine laying and tender duty.

Most of the naval strength of the United States and Canada has been drawn for convoy duty on the North Atlantic to Britain and, in the case of the American fleet, on the Pacific to Australia, Hawaii and New Zealand. This has left relatively few ships to guard North Americna waters.

There have been charges of confusion and lack of co-ordination among the United States army, navy and air force commands, particularly in the Caribbean. These charges have been denied by those in authority who see no reason to combine the three services under a single command and are confident that the present system, with inescapable overlapping of authority, is the best under the circumstances.

30 Missionaries Remain In Jap Territory

LINDSAY, June 6. — There are some thirty missionaries from the Bay of Quinte Conference still in enemy territories, according to a report submitted to the conference here by Mr. T. C. Scott of Perth, representing the Foreign Mission Board. It was stated that the women were ordered to return home and the men advised to do so, but all remained at their posts.

T. C. Smith of Perth, chairman of the Foreign Mission Board, submitted the following names of missionaries still in Japan: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bott, Mrs. H. H. Cootes, Miss Sybil Courtice, Miss Mabel Classier, Miss Gertrude Hamilton, Miss May McLennan, Miss Katherine Greenbank, Miss M. Brooks-King, Miss E. Lediard ((interned).

In Korea: Rev. E. J. O. Fraser, Rev. William Scott; Rev. Dr. Florence Murray, Miss Beulah Bourns.

In West China: Rev. Mr. and Mrs. George K. King, Miss Bertha Hodge, Rev. R. Gordon Struthers, Mrs. G. G. Menzies, Dr. Isobelle McTavish, Rev. D. K. Farris, Rev. Andrew Thompson, Miss Winnifred Warren.

In South China: Dr. Victoria Ohoung, Miss Irene Moore, Miss B. Bessie Cairns, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Broadfoot.

In India: Dr. Walter G. Anderon (a prisoner of war in Singapore).

In West China: Dr. H. J. Mullett (interned in Hong Kong).

V. S. Milburn said he believed young people are leaving the church because the church has not looked after them.

"In the last three years agriculture has lost 65 per cent of its normal help, largely because even agriculturists failed to visualize the needs of young men," he added. "The same might be said of the church.

"Farmers have not had the standards of living they are rightly entitled to and prices have been low," the speaker continued. "Sometimes you think thata the very piece of butter you are enjoying on your table has been literally taken off the the farmer's table."

Mr. Milburn said farmers should organize along co-operative lines.

crossing about 15 miles southwest of Tobruk, is roughly 20 miles east of where British and Axis forces have been sparring in a seeming preliminary to resumption of the 11-day-old Libyan battle in which Field Marshal Erwin Rommel is said to have lost 340 tanks.

"The initial phase of the attack was successful," the war bulletin said, "and fighting by armored forces followed throughout the day (yesterday).

"Our air forces co-operated with our land forces. Details are not yet available."

On the northern part of the battle line, South African troops were said to have attacked Axis strongpoints and captured some prisoners. The southern end, at Bir Hacheim, the inland anchor of the 50-mile British line, apparently was quiet.

It was believed the Axis commander still had an equal number of tanks fit for action in the fighting zone, mostly concentrated in the "Devil's Cauldron" area east of the gap which his armored columns cut through the British minefields between Ain el Gazala and Bir Hacheim.

Fighter-Bombers Deadly

Bomb - carrying British fighter planes were reported constantly harrying the stalled Axis forces, however, in an effort to reduce Rommel's striking power still further.

The British land forces now are ranged in a huge semi-circle many miles deep around the pocket occupied by the Germans.

On the south of the gap, Free French and Indian forces holding Bir Hacheim were being reinforced after repeatedly beating off Axis attacks.

To the north and east, scores of British tanks were reported moving up to support the forces covering the Axis spearhead.

Military observers expressed belief the situation is developing in such a way as to force Rommel's hand and perhaps bring about a showdown in the conflict which has been swirling indecisively over the desert.

Because of the difficulty of supplying his forces pocketed east of the Ain El Gazala-Bir Hacheim line, these quarters said, Rommel probably will find it necessary to strike out in an attempt to win the initiative or to withdraw to the west.

40,000 Expected To See Alsab, Shut Out Today

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP).—The Belmont stakes, which has enriched horse owners by $1,331,540 since its inaguration in 1867, will boost that total by $44,000 to-day while providing the touchstone that may lure approximately $250,000 into the United States army and navy relief funds.

Alsab, Mrs. Al Sabath's Preakness winner, and Shut Out, the Kentucky Derby champion from the barn of Mrs. Payne Whitney, are favorites for the third big crown open only to three-year-olds. Alsab is the top choice, at 3 to 5 odds.

Six others are slated to start, but none is figured to keep near the two over the 1½ miles test.

Belmont officials expect anywhere from 40,000 to 50,000 spectators for the final day of racing on the spring program at the Long Island plant. If the latter attendance is reached, the betting may approach the $2,176,071 record of last Saturday.

The track's entire income of the day, less only the purses to the horsemen, will go to army-navy relief. Nearby Jamaica track has promised to duplicate whatever Belmont gives.

Eddie Arco, who chose Devil Diver as his mount in the Kentucky Derby instead of Shut Out, will be up on the Churchill Downs' winner to-day with Basil James astride Alsab.

Two Youths Face 16 Charges

COBOURG, June 6 — (ENS). — Provincial Police are confident that they have cleaned up the series of robberies of a large number of cottages in the Campbellford, Hastings area, with the arrest of Albert Ibey and Andrew Ibey of Campbellford. Provincial Constable Don Carruthers has been working on the case for about a month and yesterday brought in the two Ibey youths and locked them in Cobourg Jail on a charge of breaking and entering and theft in connection with the robbery of Hiram Revoy's cottage at Campbellford last month. They are alleged to have stolen a quantity of clothing from Revoy's. They were remanded in custody until next Thursday.

Provincial Constable Carruthers stated that they will be charged with the robbery of Harold Peters' store in Seymour Township, which occurred in May, in which $37 in cash and $25 worth of cigarettes were stolen. There will be about 16 charges in all laid by Constable Carruthers and the youths are said to be also wanted by Trenton police. The two are A.W.O.L. from Camp Borden for the past five weeks, it is said. Police stated that a large quantity of furnishings were stolen during the robberies of the summer cottages and in some cases there was wanton destruction of some of the contents of the cottages. There was evidence found that the marauders helped themselves to food found in the various cottages, such as canned goods, and spent the night in whichever cottage was being robbed.

"In other areas," it added, "entire blocks of buildings had been gutted, their remains showing only the ground plan. Roofs were ripped off and walls shattered, and fire has completed what the explosives began."

Cobourg Presbyterial Rally Held In Bethesda South Church

GORE'S LANDING, June 6 — (ENS)—The Western Section rally of W.M.S., Cobourg Presbyterial, convened in the Bethesda South Church, on Wednesday. The delegation almost filled the church, showing the keen interest in workers and members.

The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. Reynolds, vice-president presided.

Mrs. A. Bell, speaking for the Bethesda Auxiliary gave the welcome address which was responded to by Mrs. John Noble, Coldsprings, Camborne auxiliary gave a most practical demonstration for their worship service, which was brought to the members by Mrs. Lacey and Mrs. Wesley.

Sixteen out of 21 afternoon auxiliaries in this section were represented as well as three Mission Circles, three Mission Bands and one baby band. There were 140 members present. Practically all the secretaries who were able to make a report were able to show an increase over last year.

Mrs. Lackey speaking of the C.G. I.T. said that youth of today only needs to be challenged and they will respond. Religion is caught—not taught. The highlight of the morning session was a review, "What our missionaries are doing." Four auxiliaries each took a mission field.

Mrs. Ward of Port Hope read a letter from Miss Hazel Reysor, a nurse, who we have been offering special prayers for in Africa. Miss Reysor went out to Africa from Belleville area. Free treatments are given children in the mornings and an average of 70 are treated per day. All native churches are self supporting and the village schools receive government grants.

Mrs. Garland of Cobourg spoke of India, comparing the population. India had more than all of Canada, U.S.A. and Africa put together and only 34 missionaries there, working from 10 stations. She told of infants placed in a form of cradle and strung up in trees. They were given opium to keep them quiet so that their mothers might work.

Picture of Trinidad

Mrs. Martin, who is a sister of Miss Luella Rourke's with whom the members are so well acquainted, gave a first hand picture of Trinidad, and also referred to Japan where her sister had been before war broke out. Trinidad is only about 40 miles by 65 miles. The climate is very hot but the scenery is unsurpassed. Most of their food has to be imported. No potatoes grow there but yams are substitute. She said that in one of Miss Rourke's letter, she mentioned what a treat it was for them as misisonaries coming from Japan to hear a sermon in English. About 23,000 are educated on that island. There is a girl's High School at San Fernando at which 300 attend. At present it is very difficult to obtain their study books as they come from England and one boat had been sunk with supplies. Speaking about Japan, she referred to it as being a land covered with a blanket of snow but it will come forth in due time and yield a great harvest.

The afternoon session was commenced with a minute of silence in honor of deceased members. Mrs. S. J. Gray, Presbyterial President, gave a most inspiring devotional address, taking for her text: "Thou shalt shut the door upon me and my sons." She said there was a great lesson in this story from 2 Kings, 13th chapter, verse 14. As Josha came to Elisha so we can come to God. In Eph. 6, the word says: "Put on your armor." Our sword of the spirit is the Bible. As W.M.S. members we have consecrated women to defeat the enemy. May we be able to say: "We are ready to do Thy Work."

Mrs. Mullet of West China, said it was an inspiration for her to come and speak at such a gathering. There seemed to be such an atmosphere of friendliness. Mrs. Mullet and her husband, who is now a prisoner of war at Hong King, have spent the past 5 years in West China and returned to China last October. They were the last missionaries to enter into West China by the old way of travel up the Yangtse river. Mrs. Mullet said if it had not been the faith of our people both here and of the missionaries there, the work could not have continued as it has. She spoke of the old official class and of the war lords in their early days there and brought her story up to the present day with Generalissimo and Madam Chiang Kai Shek. She was very intimate with them. Guerilla warfare was oganized by an old illiterate woman of 70. There are now 10,000 women helping to fight in this form of warfare. Madam Chiang Kai Shek's mother was a very fine lady and once a week, 60 women met at her home for Bible study. The Madam is dynamic, has wonderful judgment in that she has the ability to get other women to do and follow just what she wants done. The slogan of the Chinese today is: "Reconstruction and Resistance." The leaders of China today are Christian. That is the difference between China and Japan. The Chinese now have the faith that Canadians have had in continually sending missionaries. Quoting from Madam Chiang Kai Shek again Mrs. Mullet said, "If wrongs are to be righted, we must have faith in God's guidance. You cannot change anything unless the heart is first changed. Today Christians feel a concern towards others. We have not been asked to love our neighbors more than ourselves but only as much."

Norman Brand Full Assistant

That consumer fuel funding conference in Toronto this week directed the spotlight of responsibility to a former Peterborough boy, Norman Brand, assistant to the fuel administrator, J. McGregor Stewart.

Born and educated here, Mr. Brand was employed by the late Robert Hicks about the year 1924 in his Charlotte Street office. After a year in that work he was sent to Cobourg to take charge of the lakefront office of the same company, remained there two or three years and then joined the Empire-Hanna Coal Company, the largest importers of coal in this country. He travelled considerably throughout this section in the interest of the company, and then was sent west, eventually becoming their general manager beyond the Great Lakes.

Most of the duty explaining the system of banking co-operation with the government and the public devolved to Mr. Brand. News despatches during the week set forth this policy which is designed to fill home bins during the summer months instead of waiting until the cold weather comes.

Charles H. Elliott of the J. E. A. Fitzgerald Company, who attended the meeting and met Mr. Brand, said today that the people of Peterborough have an old-established practice of stocking up with coal during the summer The government's concern does not apply especially to this community, but to others in which the trade has let the business follow seasonal demand.

War Expenses Of 2 Billion Are Approved

Party Leaders Seek Means Of Cutting Time Upon Debates

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 6—(CP).—The House of Commons adjourned for the week-end late yesterday after approving a resolution to introduce a bill providing for a war appropriation of $2,000,000,000, bringing to an end lengthy debate which started March 17.

First reading as immediately given the bill, introduced by Finance Minister Ilsley. It provides for payment of a sum not exceeding $2,000,000,000 in additio nto the ordinary grants of Parliament to cover requirements for the "security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada" in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1943.

In general the bill follows the style of a similar measure approved last year, but arrangement is made for the temporary payment under the War Appropriation Act of expenses that may be incurred by government-owned corporations set up to place orders for any British or Allied foreign country.

The bill gave no details of ex-fore coming from the United Kingdom.

A summary of the main points of the agreement which can be disclosed without revealing information considered of value to the enemy was given the House of Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King a few hours after the document was signed at the Air Conference Building to the accompaniment of brief speeches from the four principal delegates and an exchange of tokens of appreciation between the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Under the new financial setup Canada is to bear 50 per cent of the cost of air training operations carried on here. Australia and New Zealand are to pay the cost of training the airmen they send here and the United Kingdom is to bear 50 per cent of the cost less the payments made by Australia and New Zealand.

but this time our intelligence was evidently at fault. We didn't know about that party in Rome but it saved Rommel."

The youthful commander of the Commandos—he is only 43 but he has seen much naval service in this war and the last one—stressed the team work of his combined force of sailors, soldiers, airmen and marines. It is becoming a regular Allied force because American officers now are attached to his staff and four Commandos are coming to the United States for instructional purposes.

He referred to the fact that men and officers live together, getting to know each other and to the rigorous training they undergo. At a recent inspection, the 34-year-old brigadier in charge of a special service corps was dissatisfied with the way his men climbed an almost vertical cliff of 1,100 feet. Clad in his formal uniform, the brigadier went up the cliff like a cat, faster than any of his men.

Opposing Popular Opinion Is Not An Easy Thing

By REV. E. R. JAMES

A FAMOUS DEFIANCE

But, if not, be it known unto the, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up.—Dan. 3; 18.

As a child you thrilled when you read this story. With your imagination you saw the whole picture—the golden image, the multitude, the burning fiery furnace and the three men. To-day you are bearing manhood's responsibilities and cares. You have put away childish things. Yet this scripture is written for your encouragement and the strengthening of your faith. It is very modern.

The golden image. It was set up on the plain of Dura. It typifies wealth and a highly developed civilization not found on hills or mountains. Great cities and towns imply wealth and Hitler knows. Wealth means power. It makes a tremendous appeal to men. In our great cities there is set up the golden image. Mammon imperatively demands worship and religious sacrifice. "Thou shalt worship me," says Mammon, "and all those things will I give thee."

It is equally important to remember that Our Lord nowhere condemns wealth. He knows its place and power and also subtle danger. Nicodemus, a wealthy member of the Sanhedrim, is not asked to sell all that he has and give to the poor. That is not his weakness. He is a rich man born into a rich family. But he is proud of his social and religious privileges. Membership in the highest religious court of his nation fulfills his deepest desires. So Our Lord pointed him to the new birth which requires humility, which is the door to the Kingdom of God.

The golden image commands worship and strives to impose it in three different ways. The examples of everybody; the influence of art and culture; and, above all, the threat of the burning fiery furnace.

The example of everybody. "All the peoples, nations and languages fell down and worshipped the golden image." How popular is the proverb that the voice of the people is the voice of God. Multitudes of unthinking people cling to it as an excuse for their conduct. It is rarely true. "All the multiude cried: Crucify Him." The multitude was wrong.

It is not easy for the individual to withstand popular opinion. You live in a small village. Who are you to set up your opinion against the collective mind of the community? You will be looked at in anger by your neighbors. You are putting yourself above your fellows. You are but an average man, they say. You will not find it easy to withstand popular tradition and custom. Many accept these traditions and customs because they fear popular contempt. It takes a very strong minded man to set his face against popular opinion.

The influence of art and culture. "The sound of the cornet, flute, harp and all kinds of music." If you have been able to stand up against the opinion of your country neighbors—well. Later you live in a city or go to college. There you meet cultured, educated people. Charming men and women of the world. You are invited for the week-end to the home of such a family. You are very happy. On Sunday morning you slip away to church. On your return you are looked at with amazement. The influence of art and culture is being brought to bear upon you.

On the plain of Dura the massed bands are composed of musicians brought from the uttermost parts of the Empire—the very best. They are masters of music. They represent the culture of that day. They know the value of music upon the human soul. When the sound of the cornets and all kinds of music enter into the souls of the hearers they are moved beyond imagination. At the great pause they fall down and worship the golden image. It is very hard to bear the scorn of charming, cultured people who deny God and His Christ and scoff at righteousness and goodness. Can you face it?

The burning fiery furnace. If by the grace of God you are able to face the scorn of the cultured there is the burning fiery furnace for you. You will surely be cast into it. It goes deep into your soul to be openly cut and overlooked by cultured charming people. It verily burns. It may mean the loss of social position and advancement because of your "views." The rest of your life may be spent in poverty and hardship. It is truly the burning fiery furnace. But the same Lord who stood by the three men in that burning fiery furnace will stand by you.

There is a sentence which reveals deep and profound truth. "The smell of fire had not passed on them," writes the Chronicler. The acrid odor of fire had not passed on them. When in the strength and power of the Son of Man and the Son of God, Jesus Christ, you pass through the burning fiery furnace your friends will observe the result. There will be no smell of fire on you. You will not be bitter, hard, cynical. You will be sweeter, stronger, more sympathetic because you have been through the fire with Him It is the proof of His Presence with you.

When thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned: neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.

Bewdley Red Cross Tea Held

BEWDLEY, June 6 — (ENS). — A delightful tea was served from 5:30 till 7:30 on Wednesday, on Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Whitehead's beautiful lawn, at their home, "The Pines" on the Port Hope Highway. This tea was sponsored by Mrs. Whitehead's group of the Red Cross of Bethel. A special feature was the draw on a Dresden plate quilt on which tickets amounting to forty-five dollars had previously been sold. Mrs. Spencer Morton of Campbellcroft was the holder of the lucky ticket and Mr. Joseph Madill of North Monaghan made the draw. There was also a sale of aprons. The tea brought the gratifying amount of twenty-dollars. Three tables were set on the lawn and tea was poured by Mrs. Clunie and Mrs. Wilf. Lindsay. A number were present from Port Hope as well as the surrounding community.

Mr. Joseph Madill and Mr. Edgar Dainard of North Monaghan attended the tea and spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Gibbs.

Mrs. S. Perrin is in a Peterborough hospital where she underwent a serious operation. Her many friends are hopeful for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Little and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Little, also Bobbie Hopkins of Rochester spent the American holiday with Mr. and Mrs. William Little and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Little.

The W.A. of St. Anne's Church held their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alex Dixon. The afternoon was spent quilting.

Lodges Aid War Workers

HAVELOCK, June 6 — (ENS). — The final card party and dance sponsored by the Orange Lodges was held on Wednesday evening, with a capacity crowd. There was 11 tables of progressive euchre played and the winners were: First prize for highest score of 83 was won by John Adair, and was an aluminum griddle dish; second prize with score of 81 went to Mrs. James Wilde, and was a decorated cream enamelled cake box, and the consolation was captured by Mrs. Thomas Cummings and was a Dover egg beater and glass case.

Music downstairs for round and square dancing was provided by the Ellis family and Gordon Tucker.

The proceeds of the evening was over $35, and will be divided between the Red Cross, Women's Institute, and Patriotic Association for war activities.

The wartime community prayer meeting met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Wing with a good attendance, and Mrs. John Kinnaird in charge of the service.

Mrs. (Rev.) William Fletcher of Yarker is a guest at the United Church parsonage this week.

Miss Frances Loretta Marrin, a former student of Marmora High School, was in the graduating class of St. Joseph's School of Nursing, Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last Tuesday.

A dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reynolds on Tuesday evening in honor of their son, Private William Reynolds, who is home on leave.

Marmora Public School scholars have disposed of the second load of old newspapers gathered this year. The amount of $47.75 accruing from the sale of old paper will be given to the Marmora war workers.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Boudreau returned home on Tuesday from a visit to relatives at Farnham, Que.

The Chinese War Relief Fund has been granted permission by the Village Council to hold a tag day here on June 20.

Warkworth

Mrs. J. Plant of Enniskillen is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Diamond, Norham.

Mr. Walter Honey attended a judging class at Kemptville on Wednesday.

Mr. Clarence Boyce, Miss Emma Boyce, Mrs. Robert Denham, Mrs. Frank Boyce and Dr. J. R. R. Cooper visited Mr. F. Boyce, who is ill in Belleville General Hospital, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Kelly and Patricia of Brighton visited her mother, Mrs. J. E. Thompson, on Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Nicholls are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King, Dartford, and other relatives in town and vicinity.

Miss Margaret Ewing has been engaged as teacher for S.S. No. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer C. Willis returned to Lanark on Thursday after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Phillips.

The Golden Text

The crucifixion

"He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."—Isaiah 53:5.

Never Too Late To Repent Even of Life of Wickedness

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for June 7 is Luke 23:33-46; Mark 15:33, 34 (compare John 19: 25-30), the Golden Text being Isaiah 53:5, "He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed.")

THE PLACE where our Lord was crucified was called Golgotha, or the place of a skull. Some think it was so called because the mound at that place is shaped somewhat like a skull; others think it was given that name because it was there dead bodies were thrown.

Jesus was nailed to the cross, and on each side of Him were hung a thief—a common criminal, who was probably not only a thief, but a murderer. This was the final humiliation of One who had done nothing but good in the short time He was upon the earth. This punishment was probably planned by those who feared Him, so as to show their contempt for the Man who had dared to tell them they were hypocrites and scoundrels.

One of the robbers derided Him, saying, "If Thou be Christ, save thyself, and us." But the other chided him, saying, "Dost not thou fear God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation? And we indeed justly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiss.

"And he said unto Jesus, Lord, remember me when thou comest into Thy kingdom.

"And Jesus said unto him, Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Never Too Late

It is never too late to repent of even a life of wickedness, you see. This man could not have been wholly bad. He saw that he deserved his punishment and repented, and was forgiven.

Over Jesus' head a sign had been hung at Pilate's command, reading, "This is the King of the Jews." The chief priests and scribes didn't like this, and protested to Pilate, but he refused to have it changed. And the people stood looking at Him in His agony, and the rulers also, the latter jesting and sneering at Him, saying, "He saved others; let Him save Himself, if He be Christ, the chosen of God."

Four soldiers were detailed to guard the crucified men, and they took Jesus' garments, divided them into four parts, and cast lots for them. During the hours when Christ hung on the cross He spoke seven times. When the soldiers were nailing Him to the cross, He said, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." These words are typical of His teaching on earth, forgive your enemies, do good to those that despitefully use you.

The second was what He said to the repentant thief. The third was to His mother, Mary, who knelt at the foot of the cross, and to His most loved disciple. To His mother, He said, "Woman, behold thy son"; and to the disciple, John, "Behold thy mother." "From that hour," John tells us, "that disciple took her unto his own home."

The fourth saying of our Lord was apparently a cry of anguish, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me " Did He indeed feel that His Father had forsaken Him? I think not, only the man Jesus suffered as a man and cried out as a man would.

At the sixth hour the sky had darkened and some of the accounts say there was a great earthquake, which frightened the watchers. The veil of the temple, which separated the Holy of Holies from the rest of the temple, was "rent in twain from the top to the bottom."

"After this, Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst."

There was a vessel of vinegar or sour wine near by, probably put there for the soldiers who guarded Him to quench their thirst. One of them took a sponge on a long branch and held it to His mouth. John says that He received it; others that He refused it. And He said, "It is finished," which is His sixth saying, and then, "Father into Thy hands I commend My spirit."

At the ninth hour, when Jesus had given up the ghost, the centurion who stood near the cross said, "Truly this man was the Son of God." It would be interesting to know what impression this scene had on this soldier's after life. Did he, like the thief, repent of his sins and did he join the band of Christ's followers? We do not know, of course.

So ends the life of the Christ Man, Jesus, on earth. Only to His disciples and close friends did He appear again after the resurrection, and then He was with them only for a short time. We suffer when we think of this time, but by His death He brought life to the world—everlasting life.

The Week-End

Here it is, the end of the week. In time of peace we should call it the week-end, but in wartime, officially, there are no week-ends. There are few of us, unless we are very lucky (or very idle) who have not some work which we must finish tomorrow. We cannot afford a whole day merely for resting and enjoying ourselves. War makes work, and so the week-end must go.

But oh! when the war is over, shall we have the week-end once again? There was a time when all but the busiest of us threw down our tools at midday on Saturday and manfully resisted the temptation to do a stroke of work until Monday morning. That was the ordinary week-end. On extraordinary week-ends we stopped perhaps on Friday evening and spent Saturday and Sunday far away, fishing, hunting, skiing, or blissfully sitting still. We generally arrived back in time to spend Monday resting peacefully in the office. The Dutch, they say, make their week-ends include Monday. Doubtless a great part of their national sturdiness and prosperity are the result of this wise custom.

The English have really raised the week-end to the level of an institution. An English week-end involves going to someone's home, using their garden, reading their books, eating their food and drinking their drink, without troubling them unduly; they, as hosts, do not expect a well-bred guest to demand too much attention. This is entertainment at its most ideal.

We live in a time of great changes, as we are constantly being assured by the prophets of the future. After the war we must not expect things to be as they have been. Many time-honored institutions will be swept away and we shall all have to be much more alert than we have been. Now what we really want to know is this: will the week-end remain? If that cherished thirty-six hours is spared us we think that we can face the future with equanimity. We are ready for anything, but we must have a break at the week-end.

Peterborough Poets

Earlier this week B. K. Sandwell, the distinguished editor of Saturday Night, in an address to the graduating class of Nicholls Hospital, pointed out that in a forthcoming anthology of Canadian poetry three Peterborough poets were represented; the book to which he referred was Anthology of Canadian Poetry, compiled by Ralph Gustafson, which is reviewed in the Fourth Column on this page. Three poets from Peterborough you may say. Is it possible? Yes, it is quite possible. The first, Isabella Valancy Crawford, was not born here, but she spent a considerable part of her too short life in Peterborough in the middle of the last century, when this city was quite a nest of singing birds; certainly she was one of the best among those whom we claim as Canadian poets. The other two are W. W. E. Ross and Alan Brown, who are still living. They are genuine poets, all three, and not mere versifiers.

What a proud city Peterborough should be, with three poets to its credit! For, make no mistake, in five hundred years this city will be famous because they lived here, and not because we kept our streets clean, and burned our garbage, and were very prosperous in the twentieth century; these are worthy things, and admirable things, but they are not the things which make a city famous. A city must have poets if it is to have the admiration of posterity.

Here in Canada we talk a great deal about democracy, and since the outbreak of war we have been positively vociferous about it. But let us not be short-sighted in the matter. Let us have democracy in economics by all means, but let us strive for aristocracy of thought. Let us be content with nothing short of the best of which we are capable. Let us not legislate for social security and public health merely in order that we preserve our bodies to a great old age, neglecting the minds which give the bodies any meaning which they may have. Let us never return to the era of high living and low thinking which preceded the depression of 1929 in this country and which still shows many traces in our national life. And never let us imagine that we shall impress the other nations of the world by any publicity scheme, however ingenious it may be, unless we have something with which we can back it up. We must, in fact, have poets, musicians and artists of all kinds whom the world will respect before we may blossom out as a full-blown nation.

Peterborough has done its bit; it has three poets, and poets, as Tolstoy has pointed out, are "the high priests and traders of evolution, the real sovereigns who rule not by force of guns and arms but by moral authority." Peterborough may be proud of the woman and the two men who have made her name a proud one in Canadian letters.

Socialization Of Britain's Coal

Britain has taken another big step toward socialism; she has put her coal mines under governmental control for the duration of the war. Few people will doubt that this is a good move. For years the coal industry in Britain has been notorious for its inefficiency and for the bad relationship between the owners and the miners, and since the outbreak of war this has been aggravated. The public has always favored the miners' side of the argument, but the owners have had their troubles too; the human tendency to assume that rich men are necessarily more wicked than poor ones has done much to cast the owners in the villain's role, and they have undoubtedly been stubborn, greedy and unreasonable at times, but so have the miners. It was obvious before the war that something must soon be done to remedy the mines problem, and war has brought the matter to a head. Now the government has taken over the operation of the mines for the duration and, when the war is over, Parliament is to decide whether the plan shall be continued.

There can be no doubt that the owners will raise a clamor to have it discontinued. It was in 1919-20 that a Royal Commission, headed by Sir John Sankey, recommended the acquirement of the coal royalties by the State, the purchase to extend over a period of years. The battle has raged ever since and, although it was accepted by most intelligent people years ago that State control of the mines would have to come some time, the owners have fought a furious and often brilliant "delaying action."

The conduct of the owners recently has been severely criticized. They have been charged, for instance, with deliberately working poor seams of coal in order to decrease their output, leaving the rich seams until after the war when, presumably, the excess profits tax would be less severe. If this is true, it is nothing less than sabotage of the war effort, but as yet it has been impossible to prove it true. The owners, on the other hand, have charged the miners with refusal to make any extra effort to produce coal for war needs, and with deliberately slacking on the job in an attempt to extort higher wages. In all this pot and kettle controversy there is only one thing clear: the government must discipline both owners and miners if they are to get the necessary coal, and this is what the present plan will do.

It will do more. It will give us all a chance to see how state ownership really works in a British country. The probability is that it will work reasonably well, but with many imperfections. What everybody owns, nobody owns, and generosity with public funds is an old governmental failing. But certainly State ownership cannot create any worse situation than that which has been in existence since the last war.

American Dissatisfaction

Our esteemed Maritime contemporary, the Post-Record of Sydney, Nova Scotia, has published an editorial headed "Americans Are Not Satisfied," in which it says that our southern neighbor is not pleased with Canada's war effort. Canadian visitors to the U.S., it says, "are twitted, no longer good-humoredly, with the fact that Washington imposed conscription for a service anywhere immediately on the outbreak of war, while Canada, now approaching its fourth year of war, has not yet done so." If this is true it is unfortunate, but we do not think that it is anything to worry about unduly. In every country there are a great many people who enjoy criticizing other countries to nationals of those countries, and these critics are not always well-informed or particularly intelligent. Indeed, we may say that people who have nothing better to do than "twit" tourists do not matter very much anyway. And, in passing, we should like to know what the Post-Record means by "immediately on the outbreak of war?" That expression has different meanings in different countries; the Chinese, for instance, think that this war began quite a long time ago.

We quote our contemporary again: "An outcry has already been raised in the House of Representatives over Canada's action in refusing to allow war equipment to be transported partly through lower Ontario from Michigan to Buffalo, thus saving many miles made necessary by an all-American route, a further source of dissatisfaction in the United States with the way in which Canada is carrying out and co-operating in the United Nations' war effort." This is not the whole truth of the matter. The Canadian Government has refused to allow certain American trucking interests to haul freight in bond across Canadian territory; it will not grant a franchise to make this possible and it is perfectly right not to do so. The two Canadian railways and also the Wabash and Michigan Central — American lines — are quite capable of hauling the goods between Detroit and Buffalo. If any emergency hauling has to be done it can be done by U.S. Army trucks and we are sure that the Government will give them every assistance. But the Government wisely refuses to be bamboozled by pressure groups into granting a franchise to a commercial trucking company which could become a very large interest after the war. As four railroads, two of which are American, take the course which the trucks would take, the Government is certainly not guilty of interfering with the American war-effort in its refusal. It is, rather, taking a firm stand against using the war emergency to cover schemes which would not be tolerated in time of peace.

We admit that Canada has not been astute in her manner of presenting herself to the U.S. as a country at war. Canada has never been astute in her manner of presenting herself to Great Britain or the rest of the Empire either. Canada is backward about publicity, and few Canadians seem to realize the necessity for it. But we do not think that our American neighbors are displeased with us. In fact, a recent survey of opinion taken in Canada and the U.S. by the American magazine Fortune, gives quite the contrary impression. If it may be believed, Canadians and Americans favor mutual defence and free trade between the two countries, although they are not anxious for political unity. The feeling seems to be that a close co-operation of the English-speaking world would be more satisfactory than a Canadian-American union. There is little evidence that the U.S. is annoyed or dissatisfied with us and we think that any suggestion in Canada that this is so should be discouraged.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If the window cleaners in Montreal remain on strike much longer we fear that the outlook will become very dark.

Now that we have to give up our old tooth-paste tubes we may justly say that we are feeling the pressure of war.

A news report says that Hitler has ordered the seats removed from German street-cars. Now the men will have to stand up too.

Chess is being urged as a required tactical study in the Canadian Army. We thought this was supposed to be a lightning war!

Pedestrians are advised not to walk too swiftly these days. Walk half as fast and your rubber heels will last twice as long.

Italian officers in Libya are complaining of the "undignified subordination" of the Italian staff to the Germans. Having put themselves in a position of servility they don't like it.

A report says that a waiter in Hanover was recently jailed for insulting a woman customer with an obscene quotation from the classics. The perils of a classical education can hardly be overestimated.

MIRACLE

Sweeter than happiness
Yet sharp as pain,
The keen, keen stab that thrills
Through heart and brain,
When, startled, as we stare
On suddenly-silver air,
Leaps up a swift rainbow through the rain.

Nothing else in life—
Life, that is worth
Such tears of joy and grief—
Is like that birth;
Flower-hued, fire-bright
Live arch of light—
Springing bridge, the span of heaven and earth.

A moment, hardly more;
But while there stand
The curved colors
In one blazing band—
With what sweet change our eyes
Are clear and wise!
God is not far, and Heaven is no strange land.

New Anthology Of Poetry By Canadians

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

MESSRS. COLLINS, who are now publishing the excellent Penguin and Pelican books in this country, have brought out a first-rate "Anthology of Canadian Poetry," compiled for them by Ralph Gustafson and costing only twenty-five cents; there is, therefore, no possible excuse for not buying it. Any lover of poetry who has not a quarter will doubtless be able to find a friend who will lend him that sum.

To say that the anthology is a first-rate anthology of Canadian poetry is not quite the same thing as saying that it is an anthology of first-rate poetry by Canadians. It is of no use to pretend that this country has produced any volume of significant poetry. But it has produced some poetry which is excellent in its own way; great poets cannot be produced on demand, and Canada has done quite well with its second-raters. Like Australia and South Africa, countries with whom our artistic growth may fairly be compared, we have our minor poets, and their work has charm, polish and freshness. But they are not the men and women to stun us with new ideas or blind us with sudden flashes of Promethean fire. In Mr. Gustafson's anthology only the work of E. J. Pratt and Robert Finch stands out; the first because it possesses in a generous measure that quality which is best called guts, and the second because it reveals a really keen and deeply intelligent mind. Guts and brains are as necessary to poets as to other people, and only these two seem to have either in any degree sufficient to make them remarkable.

OF THE fifty-six poets whose work is included in the anthology thirteen are women. Every reader will find his own favorite in this group, and mine is Isabel Ecclestone Mackay whose lovely and deeply felt "First Love" is reprinted; on the whole the work of the women is undistinguished, as the poetry of men is apt to be. In all the centuries of English literature a bare hand-count of women have written poetry which anyone cares to remember. Grace and ingenuity they have, but rarely strength or a deep understanding of things. Of the men, Mr. Gustafson has included many now dead, for poetry in the Dominion is a good three generations old. But it is notable that there are only two poems in the book which are not serious in intention. These are "The Wreck of the Julie Plante" by Dr Drummond and "The Ahkoond of Swat" by George Thomas Lanigan, the founder of the Montreal "Star"; the others take life heavily. This is characteristic of our nation. We are nothing if not serious, in season and out.

Because the writer does not greet this anthology with noisy shouts of praise, let no reader imagine that he is an enemy of Canadian poetry. On the contrary, it is his desire to see this country produce genuinely great poetry which makes him critical of this. Canada, as a country and nation, had a difficult birth in the nineteenth century, and was forced to begin life in an era of almost unchecked materialism, without the background of a pastoral age to serve as a brake upon the dizzy speed of "progress." As a result our country has advanced most satisfactorily in the realm of commerce without any corresponding development in the realm of thought or the arts. Individuals have done their best, but the country as a whole has lagged, and spiritually we are still in the nineteenth century. None of our poets are strong enough to defy the age in which they live, and so they follow the trend of the times, instead of leading it. Is it any wonder then that our poetry is, in the main, timid and somewhat juiceless?

MR. GUSTAFSON, in his Preface, says: "In my task of compiler I have had to forgo, obviously, much good poetry; have had honestly to reject some material that had become falsely established. The yardstick in this task was plain and unvarnished. I have measured and judged my material not by historical significance nor by 'Canadianism' but in terms of vitality; is it alive or dead?" This sounds promising, and certainly Mr. Gustafson has omitted much time-honored trash from his book. But he cannot draw blood out of a stone, and he cannot get more life from Canadian poets as a whole than exists in them. There are honorable exceptions. Pratt and Finch have been cited as having vigor and unusual intellectual quality; Duncan Campbell Scott writes as a man whose voice would be heard anywhere; Louis MacKay has character more than strength, and A. M. Klein's poetry with a Jewish cast is richer than what we usually get in Canada. But the sound of big guns is notably absent.

It will be heard in time. But only when Canada has awakened from her nineteenth century dream; only when we have troubled to find out what is going on in the world of thought that lies beyond our own shores. Perhaps we may hope for that time to come after this war? But it will only come when the country as a whole wants it. Our poets are not strong enough to arouse a reluctant country.

• Blow For the Jap Fleet

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

DESPITE the formidable Japanese force engaging in the operations against Midway Island, it still is difficult to weave a logical pattern of enemy purpose in the North-Central Pacific that does not smack more of information-seeking than anything else.

That was the first official interpretation given the Dutch Harbor phase and presumably represented the opinion of Admiral Chester Nimitz, the American officer primarily charged with the duty of matching wits and fighting skill with the foe in that vast and once peaceful sweep of the sea. His Pacific Fleet command makes him the man on the job.

Whatever the Japanese design in ranging so far eastward in the Upper Pacific, Nimitz and the personnel of his command may have a glittering opportunity to avenge comrades who died on that "day of infamy" at Pearl Harbor last December.

STRONG TASK FORCES

Certainly, one or more strong Japanese naval task forces are operating in the northern segment of the great American defense triangle in the Pacific, Alaska-Hawaii-Panama.

If that portends a Japanese attempt to crack these outer bastions of American defense, the main strength of Japan's fighting fleet also must be involved. If so, an opportunity may be looming to come to grips with it in a decisive action — the day for which American naval personnel has yearned from the admiral's bridge to the sweating black guns which feed the furnaces.

While that is a possibility, it does not seem probable. It requires no military or naval soothsayer to deduce that the first mission of the Japanese Navy, as well as the American Navy, still must be to protect trudging cargo craft shuttling back and forth over thousands of miles of military supply lines.

Neither prime sea fighting force can yet ignore that duty to seek out for a dramatic and conclusive death grapple.

SCORN DEFENSIVE ROLE

Nevertheless, what Nimitz has revealed of the Midway Island clash is encouraging. A bruising blow has been struck at a Japanese sea-air force which included at least one battleship as well as cruisers and plane carriers.

Details were not yet at hand as this was written. Nimitz' report of a battleship and carrier heavily hit by bombs, however, implies that the enemy protecting forces screening carriers from which the air attack on Midway was launched were caught at sea and probably distant from the island itself. If that proves true, it means that the Midway garrison sprang to the counter-attack effectively, scorning a purely defensive role.

If, as some speculation on Japanese purpose has it, the Dutch Harbor and Midway raids were intended as preliminaries or diversions to cover an attempt to shatter the Hawaiian central cog of the American battle position in the Pacific, the stinging new repulse for the enemy at Midway has another portent. It is a certain foretaste of the sort of reception any Japanese force will encounter in Hawaii.

• Hitler's Psychology

BECAUSE Adolph Hitler is both a "paranoiac" and an "hysterical subject" he is bound to be "dominating, tyrannical, mistrustful, impulsive, aggressive" and at the same time to "live in a state of constant anxiety," Raymond de Saussure, eminent French psychiatrist, writes in the June issue of Free World Magazine. In an article entitled "The Psychopathology of Adolph Hitler," Dr. de Saussure, a former professor of the Institute of Psychoanalysis in Paris, probes into the recesses of the Fuehrer's subconscious mind and finds the character of a badly adjusted 12-year-old boy who bitterly hates his father and so lashes out madly at everyone in authority who opposes him.

"Hitler will bite carpets, throw books around, and give other hysterical manifestations," writes Dr. de Saussure. "I have been able to veri-SaSussure. "I have been able to verify these facts from eye-witnesses.

"The Fuehrer's personality is split into two beings, one of whom he hates and wishes to forget, the other of whom he seeks to perfect. In order to convince himself that he really is the second of these beings he is always on the lookout for compliments, and suffers cruelly from the least criticism. He avoids small and intimate circles where his weakness might be evident, but loves to show himself before crowds and make an impression. To capture the admiration of the masses, to make himself adored, to win applause are so many means of forgetting his imperfections."

The psychiatrist describes the hatred which grew in Hitler as a result of his early disappointments as "a flood which rushes up from the subterranean depths of his being and overwhelms him."

He warns that, whereas he seems impulsive, Hitler is in reality overcautious. Before every campaign his mind is full of imaginary battles, in which Hitler imagines himself wrestling with every adversary he is likely to meet. Thus "thanks to this period of delirium, he foresees most of the setbacks which he might suffer and takes precautions against them." This abnormal caution before launching one of his campaigns is, according to Dr. de Saussure, responsible for Hitler's sensational success.

In his railings against the Czechs, the Poles, and the British for their "aggressions" Hitler was not being hypocritical, the psychiatrist feels. Before he strikes out, Hitler works himself up into a passion in which he really feels that he is the injured party. But Hitler's type of mentality, though capable of brilliant military successes, is incapable of constructive accomplishment, hence "behind his collosal armies lie ruin, misery, and discontent."

"Yet the world should not gather too much hope from the idea of Hitler's madness," Dr. de Saussure warns, "for of all mental patients the paranoiacs are the hardest to confine in an asylum."

PREDICTION

ALMOST a century ago, in 1848 to be accurate, a French political candidate was hissed for making this prophecy: "Geographically Prussia has the form of a serpent, and, like it, she seems asleep, to gather her strength in order to swallow everything around her—Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and when she shall have swallowed all that, you will find that Austria will be swallowed in its turn, and perhaps, alas, France also." The man who prophesied this is not remembered as a politician but as an author. He was Alexander Dumas.

STRAIN OF ARROGANCE

PEOPLE with high ideals, who set up impossibly high standards for themselves, may unconsciously be "playing God," said Dr. Karen Horney, of New York City, speaking before the Association for the Advancement of Psychoanalysis, Science Service says.

The person who expects himself to be infallible, able to master every situation, and completely self-reliant, reveals an overwhelming unconscious arrogance, according to Dr. Horney, which amounts to believing that he is God.

This arrogance is a defense against the individual's fundamental fear of other people and belief in his own worthlessness. A deep feeling of hopelessness and despair, unknown to him, drives him to be self-sufficient, explained Dr. Horney.

LOS ANGELES. — Frederic William Goudy, who has designed 113 type faces during his career of more than three decades, is working on his last. Here to receive an honorary degree today from the University of California at Los Angeles, he said he would call it "Goudy 30," after the newspaper symbol meaning the end. He described the new face as as a roman type with a gothic influence.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth for ever....For the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hands unto iniquity....As for such as turn aside unto their crooked ways, the Lord shall lead them forth with the workers of iniquity: but peace shall be upon Israel.—Ps. cxxv, 1, 3, 5.

Wisdom crieth without; she uttereth her voice in the streets: she crieth in the chief place of concourse, in the openings of the gates: in the city she uttereth her words, saying, How long, ye simple ones, will ye love simplicity? and the scorners delight in their scorning, and fools hate knowledge? For the turning away of the simple shall slay them, and the prosperity of fools shall destroy them. But whoso hearkeneth unto me shall dwell safely, and shall be quiet from fear of evil.—Prov. 1, 20-22, 32, 33.

Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded....

Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.—James iv, 7, 8, 10.

CHALLENGE CHALOULT

THERE seems to us to be one sound way of dealing with people like Rene Chalout, M.P.P. for Lotbiniere in the Province of Quebec. Mr. Chaloult is the man who is advocating that Canada break with England "after the war." The thing to do is challenge Mr. Chaloult to lead a break right now. If he has the kind of courage that would entitle him to the respect of those whose cause he damages he would accept such a challenge. If he hasn't that kind of moral courage he should be shown up and hushed up.

If the showing up preceded the hushing up and if it were dramatic enough, there would be general approval we think even in the Province of Quebec. The majority of the people of Quebec may be anti-conscriptionists but they are loyal to the cause for which Canada is fighting. Once they realize the effect of Mr. Chaloult's talk, they will not approve of or tolerate statements that can be used against us by Dr. Goebbels propaganda department.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Canucks March 250 Miles In Tough Test

Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, June 6—(CP Cable)—In its largest, hardest and longest battle manoeuvre, a Canadian corps has gone through a gruelling 12-day endurance test which saw infantry march between 250 and 300 miles as the corps waged mimic war against a British corps over Southeast England.

The infantry move afoot without the usual transport and carried out almost incredible forced marches by day and night during this latest phase of the Canadians' attack training for operations on the continent. In many respects it was a workout in the type of fighting they would have while establishing a bridgehead in Europe before vehicles landed in numbers.

One regiment marched 56 miles in 50 hours and engaged British forces during this time in lengthy sham battles. Infantry of a whole division hoofed 40 miles in 18 hours in a marathon push after 10 days of steady marching of 20 to 25 miles a day.

Both Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Canadian Corps commander, and Lt. Gen. B. L. Montgomery, commander of Britain's southeast army, who controlled the exercise, told war correspondents they were highly pleased with the Canadians' performance.

PRACTISE ON BRITISH

Night after night after long marches small parties of Canadians stole through the British lines to eavesdrop on staff conference, to steal maps marked with British disposition, capture prisoners, including several senior officers, and bring back valuable information. The Royal Canadian Regiment did particularly good patrol work.

Gen. Sir Alan Brooke, Commander in Chief of the Home Forces; Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, the Canadian Commander, and Maj.-Gen. B. W. Browne, Inspector-General of the Canadian establishment outside the Corps, watched the exercises as observers.

Maj.-Gen. Gifford Maryel, Commander of the Royal Armored Corps, witnessed a tank battle between a British armored division and the Canadian Army Tank Brigade which saw the Ontario Tank Regiment and the Three Rivers Tank Regiment beat back several British armored thrusts. This was the first large-scale manoeuvre in which the Canadian Tank Brigade, using Churchill tanks, had worked against actual tank regiments.

Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons, under Gen. Crerar's command, provided air support for the Canadian Corps, with planes overhead most of the time.

As the "war" reached the climax British troops offered any soldier who captured Gen. Crerar a week's leave. Nobody collected.

80 Slot Machines Taken By Police

HAMILTON, June 6—Eighty slot machines, commonly known as "one-armed bandits," were seized here late yesterday afternoon in a swift raid on the premises of the Coin Craft Canada at 441 Aberdeen Ave., staged by the roving anti-gambling squad of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The raid, said to be the sequel to a case in magistrate's court this morning, was carried out by the headquarters squad headed by Inspector E. T. Doyle, assisted by local members of the Ontario Provincial Police. Inspector A. R. Knight, head of the Hamilton office of the Provincial Police, last night confirmed the fact that the raid had taken place but left other details to be divulged by Inspector Doyle.

The seized machines were taken by truck to the Provincial Police office here and unloaded. The raid followed closely the appearance in court yesterday of Eric Leibman, of 441 Aberdeen avenue, on a charge of keeping a gaming house. The Aberdeen avenue premises are listed in the Hamilton city directory as "Coin Craft Canada (Eric Leibman), Canadian Manufacturers and Distributors of Coin-controlled Equipment."

Leibman and Max Greenberg, of Willow Grove who is charged with him, pleaded not guilty yesterday. The case was adjourned a week over strong objection by William Schreiber, defense counsel, who demanded that the case continue.

Women Debunk Old Theory On Bookkeeping

By HAZEL DEAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 6 — (CP).—The wartime business world offers career-minded Canadian women a new choice of profession. It has placed welcome mats before the doors of several Toronto auditing houses which formerly considered a chartered accountant's career reserved "for men only."

The new order began last July when officials of one Toronto establishment, faced with losing male accountants to the armed forces, called upon the girls to help out.

The feminine mathematicians soon debunked the theory about a woman's inability to balance books.

Nearly 20 per cent of the auditing staff now consists of women and other firms have begun to follow the example.

Most of the girls took over their new positions temporarily, with no ambitions for a chartered accountant's career. Today, nine Ontario women are registered with the Institute of Chartered Accountants in downtown Toronto for a five-year university correspondence course.

The nine have honor matriculation standing—a necessary qualification for registrants. Several are university graduates. Two have Bachelor of Commerce degrees.

3 Exams, 5-Year Service.

Helen Stowe of Toronto is typical of the many women apprentices entering Canadian accounting houses. A high school graduate, she will write three examinations—primary, intermediate and final—through the correspondence course. During that time she will serve a five-year apprenticeship with an auditing company to gain practical experience.

Sara Merriman, B.A., of Cronby, Ont., is a graduate of Queens University. With her Arts degree she will serve only four years apprenticeship, but will write the three examinations.

Margaret Trench of Richmond Hill, Ont., and Beryl Farmer of Toronto have Bachelor of Commerce degrees from the University of Toronto. They are exempt from the primary examination and will serve a three-year apprenticeship.

Ontario can boast only one woman chartered accountant at present. She is Mrs. Helen Burpee of Toronto, who received her degree 12 years ago. Now she functions briskly in her own offices, inherited from her accountant-father upon graduation.

She and her apprentice, Nancy Doyle, of Winnipeg, are glad to see women entering the auditing profession.

"I can't understand why more women haven't tried it before," said Mrs. Burpee. "It's an excellent field for them—keeps them on their toes—and there is always plenty of work."

Mrs. Burpee thinks women will prove capable in this wartime career. She is sure there will be a place for them after the war.

"It's entirely up to the girls to make a success of it now."

What do auditing companies and their clients think of lady accountants?

"We haven't had a complaint yet," said one company official proudly.

Douro Council Cracks Down On Sheep Killing

DOURO, June 6—(ENS).—The ever-growing demand for more wool, more beef and more mutton to meet the war needs has brought forcibly home to farmers the serious losses that might be averted by controlling stray dogs. In recent months depredations of stray dogs have made serious inroads into Douro township flocks, and at the last meeting of the council on June 1, the councillors cleared the decks for action against all offenders.

Communications were as follows: From the department of municipal affairs advising that the province is continuing the payment of the one mill subsidy paid on the total municipal rateable assessment for the current year.

Another from the department of municipal affairs advising that a letter had been received from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board stating that during the coming winter Canada will face the possibility of a fuel shortage and while at the present time coal is available its transportation presents difficulties. The department asks that council advise all persons intending to purchase coal for winter, order same now, the Board advises that this will not be considered hoarding.

From John Allen, William McRewer and Edward Maloney, local sheep valuators. Reports of the killing of 33 sheep injuring of 12 sheep and a number of others could not be located.

Tax collector reported that about $1,700 of 1941 taxes were still unpaid.

Bolton-Moher: That whereas it had been brought to the notice of the council that the dogs which did the damages to Mr. Leahy's sheep on May 31 were owned by Joseph and Fred Nolan that the clerk be instructed to write Messrs. Nolan Bros., asking that they pay the damages amounting to $84 for said sheep.

Tedford-Moher: That whereas the government is stressing the need of more wool for war purposes and asking farmers to raise more sheep to help in this war effort and whereas the Family Herald and Weekly Star in a recent editorial informed its readers that it was their intention to communicate with the government with a view to having the Dog Tax and Live Stock Protection Act amended to curtail, if possible, the slaughter of sheep and livestock by dogs and asking municipalities interested to forward suggestions on the matter as a means in curtailing this dog nuisance. And whereas this municipality has paid over $700 to livestock owners during the past six months for damages to sheep and livestock done by dogs.

That the clerk be instructed to write the Family Herald and Weekly Star stating this council were heartily in accord with their effort to have the Act amended in order to have this slaughter of livestock curtailed, especially at this time when sheep and wool are so badly needed for war purposes. And would suggest a householder be allowed to keep only one dog. And the government give a bounty to the owner of livestock who destroys dogs caught killing or worrying livestock.

The following accounts were ordered paid:

General accounts: B. Q. Dench, salary as assessor for 1942, $90; John Allen, valuing sheep, $7.50; Department of Health of Ontario, insulin to Douro patients, $3.73; Municipal World, blank forms, $3.78; Peterborough Examiner, printing notice Court of Revision, $3.42; E. Moloney, 7 sheep killed and one injured by dogs, $108; F. D. Leahy, 8 sheep killed and 10 injured by dogs, $145; M. P. Coughlin, 12 sheep killed by dogs, $180; Daniel Delaney, 7 sheep killed by dogs, $120; T. E. Nelson, 1 lamb killed and 1 injured by dogs, $13; E. Maloney, valuing sheep, $1.50; J. J. Leahy, salary as relief officer for month of May, $5; W. McKeiver, valuing sheep, $6.

Relief accounts: P. G. Towns, $40.39; Spence and Sons, $16; J. McMahon, $10. Roads accounts, totalinig, $63.30.

Revision Court

The Court of Revision met at 10 a.m. The following members constituted the court: Reeve J. Mahoney, chairman, with R. Bolton, that the assessment on east half lot 8, concession 8, be reduced $200.

The following persons had one dog each struck off the roll: Stanley Condon, Martin Leahy, Mrs. E. Lee.

Before proceedings were opened by the court a resolution was passed that all persons having dealings with the court be required to take an oath to all statements made before the court in regard to their appeal. A number of parties having appeals filed did not appear at the hearing and no action was taken in regard to their appeals.

Clear Principal Of Part In Boy's Death

RIDGEWAY, Ont., June 6—(CP)—Fourteen-year-old Kenneth John Cutler died from inflammation of the brain and its covering and not from a blow administered by his school principal, Frank Savage, a coroner's jury found in a verdict delivered Friday.

The verdict, ending a lengthy inquest during which the testimony of several experts was heard, was reached only after members of the jury twice previously had reported their failure to agree.

The verdict, ending a lengthy inquest during which the testimony of several experts was heard, was reached only after members of the jury twice previously had reported their failure to agree.

Cutler died in the Buffalo General Hospital May 15, following an operation. He was removed to the Buffalo institution May 7, from Fort Erie Hospital, which he entered May 2

Savage, principal of Ridgeway High School, testified he struck the youth near the left temple with the back of his open hand, April 28.

He said the boy had been reported as refusing to obey a girl stationed near a traffic signal, part of the school routine. The principal said he questioned Cutler as to his failure to adhere to the rules and the youth had replied: "I won't take orders from a girl."

So He Slapped Him.

There was a further exchange, Savage continued, and it ended with the boy asking the principal: "Who do you think you are?"

Witness said this made him angry and prompted him to slap the boy and order him to his seat. He further testified Cutler was moody at times and not co-operative. The boy, he said, was a "fair" pupil.

Dr. Wallace R. Hambly of Buffalo said he believed the boy's condition was due to aedema, a softening of the brain although an operation showed evidences of internal hemorrhages in the area about the left temple.

"I do not believe the injury to his head was sufficiently serious to develop the actual pathology discovered," said the Buffalo brain specialist. "The whole trend of evidence could have taken place with or without an injury, but of course the softening condition of the brain could have taken place within a week or ten days before the operation."

Dr. Isaac H. Erb, Toronto pathologist, said a microscopic examination of the brain "definitely did not indicate "the hemorrhage was due to an injury. He said he found the left half of the brain considerably larger than the right and softer.

As a result of his examination, Dr. Erb said he came to the conclusion the boy died as the result of acute meningitis.

Five fellow-pupils of Cutler's testified. Donald Hoper 14, Harold Denner 14, Melvin Baker 13, and Marvin Baker 13 testified to seeing two blows struck. David Banatti, 12, said he had seen a scuffle during which the principal allegedly forced Cutler back to his seat.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, Chief Coroner of the Province, presided at the inquest and was assisted by special Crown Counsel W. B. Common, K.C., of Attorney-General's Department.

Another Bomber Leaves Canada For Britain

Fresh from the production lines, this American-built bomber wings its way out to sea and passes over a cargo vessel as it heads for Great Britain. From the ferry command station near Montreal big bombers like this have been pouring across the ocean in a steady stream since the start of the war. The ferry command proved its worth in the past few days when American-built planes took part in the bombing of the important German cities of Cologne and Essen.

The General Has Oodles Of Stuff

When Brigadier-General Ralph H. Wooten pitches a ball he puts plenty of oomph into it, as you can see. The general pitched the first ball in a game between service teams at Miami Beach, where he is commanding general of the first technical training command district. Umpire was Sergeant Hank Greenburg, former star of the Detroit Tigers, who is in officers' training school.

Cubs Swamped Knights 23-8

Cubs, last year's winners in the Catholic League, found some of their missing power Friday night and swamped the Knights of Columbus team 23 to 8 in a game at Memorial Park.

It started out like a real battle with no scoring in the first two innings but then the Cubs began to roll.

R Garvey led his own squad by swinging his willow to the tune of two doubles and two singles in six trips. Sullivan was right behind him with four singles in the same number and O'Donoghue whistled through with a triple, a double and a one-bagger.

With an outstanding turn in at bat by Rev. Dr Masterson of a full circuit and a pair of deuces, still the K. of C. couldn't overcome their antagonists' tide. Chimenti stood out also with a double ...d two singles.

On the mound for the winners, Garvey allowed 5 hits, walked 2 and struck out 2. Mills, for the losers, before he was pulled in the fourth, walked 6 and allowed 8 hits. Sheehan, when he took over, walked one, struck out one and was nicked for 11.

Casey Masterson and Reilly in the field turned in good performances and Sullivan in the garden also deserves credit.

Cubs—F. Garvey c, Heffernan cf, R. Garvey p, Brady 3b, O'Donaghue rf, Sullivan lf, Caccavella 2b, O'Toole ss, Driscoll 1b.

Knigts of Columbus—Galvin 3b, Reilly rf, Rev. Dr Masterson c, Wolfe 1b, C. Masterson lf, Baldwin 2b, Bennett ss, Chimenti c, Mills p Sheehan p.

Umpires—Prete and Guerin.

Office Staff Loses To Tool Room

General Pete McArthur's Office Team were outsmarted last night by a score of 9 to 7 when the Tool Room took time out to give them a well deserved beating.

The Tool Room strategy of hitting every ball the Office had to offer soon had a steady stream of pitchers going on the mound.

McArthur, Payne, Patterson, McGuire and Highland followed in quick succession. While for the Tool Room, Heffernan had perfect control and numerous strikeouts to his credit.

A slight spark of life was shown by the Office in the fifth when Kernighan hit a homer. The Tool Room is hoping a little stiffer opposition can be found in the shop or city at some future date.

Line-ups:

Tool Room: Heffernan, p; Fuller, c; Webb, ss; McIsaac, lf; Snowden, 3rd; Milliken, cf; Woodcock, rf; Rennie, 2b English, 1b.

Office—Highland, 1b; Payne, lf; Roode, c; McArthur, p; Patterson, 2b; Gibbons, 3b; Kernaghan, ss; Shaughnessy, cf; McGuire, rf.

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—Regardless of how much the sectional groups take in this week-end on the qualifying rounds, the Hale America Golf Tournament looks like a financial success already . . . The Ridgemoor Club has pledged itself to buy $7,000 worth of tickets and the other 64 Chicago district clubs are organizing a selling drive . . .

Indications are the gate will reach $40,000 or $50,000.

Kentucky Paper Pats Ontario Racing Breeders

By VERN McGEER.

TORONTO, Jnue 6.— If Canadian breeders of thoroughbred racing Hemstead's farm at Markham, and to Coloned R. S. McLaughlin's imposing thoroughbred establishment at Oshawa.

"It was a great disappointment," he writes, "not to be able to go up to Barrie, to the W. H. Wright place or to Frank Selke's, where Shoeless Joe is at stud, or to our old friend, Fred Selke's farm at Gormley, but these and other visits must await our return to the land of the Maple Leaf."

Arthur Siegel, sports editor of the Boston Traveller, who commutes between New England race tracks and the Boston Gardens hockey games, writes that Canadian boys and the 1-to-2 shots are taking charge of things at Suffolk Downs race track these days.
stock are walking around with chests out and hats at a rakish angle, don't blame them.

There's good reason.

The current issue of the Blood Horse, a Lexington, Kentucky, weekly magazine devoted exclusively to the turf, offers an unusual international salute to well-known Ontario sportsmen and their four-legged friends by word and by picture.

Adorning the cover is a fine full-length picture of Harry Giddings' King's Plate winning Ten to Ace, with Jockey C. W. Smith in the saddle.

Five pages of the magazine are devoted to a review of the spring meetings at Woodbine, Thorncliffe, and Dufferin; the King's Plate running; and the interesting observations of a Kentucky racing authority who had visited several Ontario breeding farms during a Toronto trip several weeks ago.

The Kentuckian, who writes under the name of "Nothing Venture," describes visits to the Oakville home of Harry Giddings, Harry Hatch's fine Agincourt breeding and development grounds, to Charley "Norm Charlton, the demon form chart operator." Rrt relays, "isn't the only pride of Toronto or Ontario, around here, Johnny Mann is riding for Pat Brady. Then there's George Alexandra, who used to travel the Ontario circuit, handling the horses for Mrs. Weston Adams and doing all right."

Herb Fisher, a product of Toronto's Woodbine Avenue district, who got all the attention when he rode Head Play in the 1933 Kentucky Derby and finished the race swapping swings with Don Meade, recently joined Alexandra as chief exercise boy.

"Alexandra may rate the most attention as the Adams' Stable trainer," says Siegel, "but a lot of credit belong to Herb, who gives the horses that final workout and knows when they're ready."

Fisher had been with Red Womeldorff, formerly of the Denemark Stables and this spring with T. P. Morgan of Texas. He married a Massachusetts girl about two months ago and elected to remain around Boston when Womeldorff shipped West.

Ty Melcohe, the Tecumseh, Ontario boy wwho quit a chief's iob to follow the horses, and developed in a pretty fair reinsman, is ready to rejoin the Canadian colony in New England. Meloche broke a collar bone in a spill at Narragansett.

Then there's Harold West, Woodstock riding product, now on the injured list as a result of an odd accident recently. West was working a horse, and in trying to take up the mount his arm went "numb". Track physicians discovered he had a muscle torn from the shoulder.

The newsy Mr. Siegel, who rolls out two long pages of typewritten wordage while yawning at the 1 to 1 shots,, switches from turf chatter to his other favovrite diet, hockey. Says Toronto-born Jack Crawford, the Bruin defenceman is working in a war industry plant near Boston. Passed up a racetrack job.

"If this war doesn't belt out hockey," Siegel signals, "Busher Jackson should be a star with Bruins next winter. He became tremendously popular down here, and it wasn't because he had a nice smile. He played great hockey, working either defence or the forward line. He helped keep the club together when injuries threatened to collapse the works. He dealt the practical present very neatly. He wasn't content to coast on his old record. He was creating a new one."

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Marilyn McCarthy's pitching was the outstanding feature of the opening game in the Ladies' Softball Loop at the Bowl Friday night. She blazed her fast ball past the bats of 18 of the Westclox batters during the engagement and held them to six hits with the result that the C.G.E. team took last year's champs into camp by 7 runs to 4. Considering the fact that both outfits were trying out new players and that the long spell of wet weather has cut down opportunities to practice the teams put on a good ball game to lift the lid off what should be a fine season. There were gaps in both lineups from last year's outfits. Two of last year's Westclox players, Elinor Craig and Norma Strickland were with C.G.E. and other absentees from last year's team were M. Allison, Marg Selkirk, Jessie Young and Barb Williamson. C.G.E. were minus the Hoskin sisters. M. Batley the fast-fielding left fielder and Bea McDowell, pitcher and infielder.

* * * * * *

However a number of likely young players have been drafted to fill the vacancies and when the newcomers get their bearings and the advantage of steady practice and the odd game they should arise to the occasion. M. McCarthy had too much on the ball for the Westclockers last night and only Marg Hawthorne had much luck in solving her delivery. She came through with a triple that was responsible for Westclox's first two runs and in the ninth opened the inning with a single that paved the way for the other pair of runs registered by the losers. Incidentally the Westclox third sacker also had the fielding gem of the night in the third inning when she made a jumping catch of a line drive from the bat of A. DeCarlo that screamed hit all over. Popularity of the girls' league was shown by the fact that one of the biggest crowds of the season was on hand to see the battle. Among them were many soldiers from the Military Training Centre and in the later stages they enlivened proceedings by organizing a khaki glee club and singing such soldier favorites as "Bless Them All," "Kiss Me Goodnight Sergeant-Major" and "Don't Walk Under the Appletree." The next game in the girls' loop is scheduled for Tuesday night when Brintons and Porcelain are scheduled to meet at the Bowl at 7 o'clock.

* * * * * *

The Men's City League game Monday night will be staged at the Bowl and the opposing teams are the Juveniles and Plazas. Both outfits are asked to note the change in the date as this game was first announced for Tuesday night. It should be quite a battle. Last time out the Juveniles surprised all and sundry by playing a tie game with the leading Royals and they will be out there battling Monday night for their first win. Incidentally they have dug up a promising young pitcher to toss in against the hockey squad and the youngster has been showing a lot of stuff in practice. Plazas played good ball against Luckies last time out and with the same team spirit that distinguished their hockey triumphs last winter strongly in evidence they are rounding into quite a softball outfit. They have all kinds of pep, chatter, fight and hustle and those are useful qualities in any kind of a sporting organization. The Plazas will likely use Dave Wilson on the firing line against the Juveniles in Monday's game which should be an interest tussle all the way.

Break Up Those Yanks

The New York Yanks are winning with such monotonous regularity in the American League these days that the chief interest is shifting from what they are doing as a team to the individual prowess of a couple of Yanks who are setting up consecutive hitting streaks. They are still far behind Joe DiMaggio's mark of last season of course but they are now high enough to attract general attention. Top man is Second Baseman Joe Gordon who yesterday hit safely for his 21st consecutive game and No. 2 is rookie First Baseman Bud Hassett who has now run his string to sixteen games without a miss. Hassett came close to missing the boat yesterday. He had been up four times without a hit but on his fifth appearance at the plate be shot a clothes-line single into right to keep his record alive. Incidentally, if you are interested the Yanks took the ball game from their nearest rivals the Cleveland Indians by a score of 6 to 3 and did the trick without the benefit of a homer. Gomez got credit for the win, although Marvin Breuer had to finish the game while Al Smith was the losing tosser. It was the Yanks 24th win in their last 28 starts.

* * * * * *

Boston Red Sox won the other afternoon game in the American loop yesterday, Yank Terry holding the Chicago White Sox to eight hits as the Croninites won 4 to 2. The big bat of Ted Williams had a lot to do with the Red Sox triumph. He came through with a triple with two on the sacks to set up the Boston margin of victory. Humphries was the Chicago selection and the Red Sox combed his delivery for 11 blows. Meanwhile in the National the Brooklyn Dodgers picked off the first half of a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs 6 to 3 with Whit Wyatt the winning pitcher. It was his fifth win as against one defeat. Olsen, McCullough and Bithorn were the Chicago pitchers and the first-named who had the starting assignment had to shoulder the loss.

* * * * * *

Cincinnati Reds who are beginning to cash in on their fine pitching more frequently than they were earlier in the campaign took a doubleheader from the Boston Braves yesterday. The first win was a close fit, the Reds taking it 3 to 2 on the strength of a couple of tainted runs. Johnny VanderMeer did the winning heaving and the gentleman who toiled gamely but unsuccessfully on the mound for the Boston outfit was Javerly. Ray Starr came up with another fine pitching chore in the second game keeping Boston's eight hits well scattered and the Reds took the decision 6 to 1, Earley being the loser. And the Pittsburg Pirates finally snapped out of their losing streak after dropping ten straight games by defeating the Phillies 6 to 4 with Ken Heintzelman the winning gunner and the loss going to Hoerst.

* * * * * *

Young Dick Fowler, product of Toronto amateur baseball came near being the pitching hero of the season last night, only to lose one of the toughest games of the year when he was beaten 1 to 0 in 16 innings by the St. Louis Browns. For fifteen innings the tall Toronto lad toiling on the hill-top for the A's had blanked the Brownies, allowing only eight well distributed hits. He had rarely been in trouble, mowing the St. Louis batters down inning after inning and until disaster struck in the 16th frame it looked as if he must inevitably win. Then Walter Judnich opened the final frame with a triple off the right field wall and carried the only run of the game over a little later when Chet Laabs raised a long fly to the outfield. It was about the best pitching performance of Fowler's career.

The juvenile section of the Church League schedule has been completed and finds St. James and All Saints, the two finalists of last season again in the playoffs. The two teams finished on an even footing with eight points each in six games. George Street who played five games had four points and St. John's had two points in the five games they completed In the bantam section there will be two games Monday night. St. James will play Mark Street at the Oval and George Street will clash with All Saints at the Queen Mary grounds.

Special The Examiner By a P.C.V.S. Student

War sales got out of the rut and into the groove this week with a total of $267—$235 in war savings stamps and $32 in certificates. This is a welcome increase of $53 over the sales of the week previous.

Totals for the year stand slightly below $17,000 or a decrease of approximately $6,000 if compared with last year's record. What can we do in the week or so remaining?

The Camera Club

The Collegiate Camera Club officially closed shop this week until next September. We say officially because it is hoped that the ardent camera fiends will continue their activities throughout the summer months in order that more constructive criticism may be held in future meetings. It was a successful season financially, thanks to the class picture and Christmas card sales, and the meetings were conducted by club members

An open competition climaxed the year's activities, but the judges —Earla MacVannel, Fred Cripps, and V. R. Henry were not overtaxed by a flood of entries. A handful of active members handed in their best efforts, for which they deserve hearty congratulations. The winners were announced at the last meeting on Thursday so here they are—The Landscape Class—First prize for Jack Hill's picture "Evening Glow," and the runner-up was Leslie Harvey, who contributed "The Sentinel." Bob Carley copped first in the Animal and Plant Studies with his picture "Tulip-Time." Jack Hill placed first again in the Portrait department and runner-up was Bob Carley. We wonder if it was the quality of the picture or the subject that won Jack his award? Bob Carley contributed the only Action shot, but there was no award made in this group. It is interesting to note that Jack Hill turned in but two photographs—both of which took first place in their department.

The thanks of the Junior and Senior Camera Club are extended to this year's executive: Walter Hanbidge, Monica Lawless, Bill Crowe, and Jim Richmond—and the very patient advisers—R. G. Corneil and V. R. Henry—who assisted this year's crop of aspiring photographers over the numerous bumps on the first road to success. New members can always look forward to the day when their own prize photos appear in the Camera Club showcase (which by the way has seen more action this year than ever before). If you wish to see the pictures handed in for the competition look in Elliott's drug store window soon.

Marksmanship

A fitting sequel to the season of the girls' shooting club came on Thursday morning when the bronze medal for marksmanship—or marksgirlship—was awarded to thirteen girls who had survived the finals and preliminaries from the original enrolment of one hundred and fifty. Their competent instructor, R.S.M. Chate, was introduced to the school by Miss Mildred Bailey and he presented the successful contestants with the medals.

Among the boys Alden Gourley and Carmen Chase received the junior shooting certificate. Too bad we couldn't add more to this list.

Teasettes

Salvage expert Rod Reed announced this week that 2,207 pounds of rubber had been collected in the recent drive at the Collegiate for which was received the sum of $18.25. The book exchange is being started already in preparation for next fall and students are requested to turn in old books to Miss White before school closes. Rod urged the pupils to save all sorts of salvage during the holidays such as records, paper, and tinfoil. We pass this on in order that everyone may do their bit to make our war effort next year the biggest and best yet.

An organization meeting was held on Thursday for the Messenger Service of the Civil Defence A.R.P. of this city. About forty P.C.I.-ites attended and will receive their arm bands' identification disks, and registration cards soon. A similar meeting was held a week ago for the boys planning to attend the Cadet Camp the last week in June and the first week of July. Nearly fifty Collegians hope to enjoy this camp.

The basketball crests arrived this week for the Lakeshore district champs—the P.C.V.S. senior basketball team. They are the same color as the rugby crests—orange background with black and green lettering.

Locker keys must be turned in by June 16, so why not fill that empty place in your pocketbook with an extra fifty cents. Mr. Zavitz would appreciate prompt clearing up of this business.

A huge amount of the Girls' Red Cross war work knitting, etc., is on display on the main landing. Yarn was distributed this week to the girls (and one boy) who plan to knit during the summer. Good work.

The Morse and Semophore Signalling exams will be held on Tuesday of next week. Capt. Bonner of M.D. No. 3 will be the examining officer. Morse at 9:45 a.m., and Semaphore at 2:30 in the afternoon ....don't forget the times.

A quantity of Freedom posters are on display in the corridors near Miss MacVannel's room. Girl artists of Household Arts X. did this excellent original poster painting.

And then there is the Fifth Form student who thinks that the couplet (last two rhyming lines in the Shakespearian sonnet) is called a hangover. Grade XIII.A found this very amusing. How about you?

The last assembly for this school year was held on Friday morning. Exams start next week and school officially closes on June 26.

Pins and rings arrive next week—don't forget to get your order at Room No. 79.

"The Echoes" executive saw just how the magazine was printed as they inspected the Review this week. A final meeting was also held that bristled with eats and reports. So much for that—.

Au revoir until our last column for the term next Saturday.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press.

Joe Gordon, Yankees — Hit two-for-three in victory over Indians, connecting safely in 21st straight game.

Dave Koslo Giants—Pitched his team into third place with four-hitter against Cardinals.

Lou Finney, Red Sox—Drove in three of his team's four runs in victory over White Sox.

Johnny Vander Meer and Ray Star, Reds—Pitched double triumph over Braves.

Walt Judnich, Browns—Tripled in 16th inning and scored only run to beat Athletics.

Joe Medwick, Dodgers, and Phil Cavarretta, Cubs — Each drove in three runs as teams divided twin bill.

Buck Newsom, Senators—Pitched his team out of cellar with six-hitter against Tigers.

Johnny Barrett, Pirates— Singled with bases loaded to lead game-winning rally against Phils.

18 Clockmakers Retired By Strikeouts

Marilyn McCarthy's pitching was too much for the Westclox team in the opening game of the Girls' Softball League at the Bowl Friday night and Mike O'Brien's Eectricians took the initial contest from last year's champions 7 to 4.

Eighteen of the Westclockers were retired by the strikeout route and they were held to six hits, three of them bunched in the final frame when they scored their last two runs.

Marg. Watson pitched steady ball for the losers, keeping C.G.E.'s 11 hits well scattered. A couple of errors behind her in the fifth helped the C.G.E. score three runs in that inning and that was really the break that gave the winners a substantial lead. Up to that time the teams had battled along with C.G.E. nursing a slender 1 to 0 margin.

Both teams introduced a number of young players and both will improve with practice. The fielding feature was contributed by Marg. Hawthorne, who went high in the air to spear a hard hit liner off the bat of A. DeCarlo in the third. Verna Patterson, shortstop of the Westclox, also came through with a couple of nice grabs of sizzling drives.

It was a good ball game considering the fact that the clubs introduced new material and both are short on work.

In addition to her fine pitching Marilyn McCarthy led her team's attack with three hits and Elinor Craig, former Westclocker, had two hits and drove in three runs. Marg. Hawthorne was the only losing player to get more than one hit.

C.G.E. opened the scoring in the first inning. A. DeCarlo singled to left to start the frame but was forced at second by May Wade. M. McCarthy rolled to the pitcher but Elinor Craig came through with a triple to send the run in.

There was no more scoring until the fifth when the C.G.E. registered three times. A. DeCarlo was safe on an error and went to second when M. Wade roled to third. M. McCarthy bounced a double off Verna Patterson's shin, scoring A. DeCarlo and on a wide throw to third the hitter also scored. Elinor Craig singled on a hard rap that hit the pitcher and Phyllis Bigelow walked. Both advanced on a wild pitch and scored when M. Snowden doubled to left centre. The next twwo were easy.

In the sixth the winners added two more. Norma Strickland was safe on an error, an dafter A. DeCarlo had lined to second, M. Wade and M. McCarthy singled to fill the bases. Elinor Craig drove a fly to right which was caught by B. Rome and Norma Strickland and May Wade both scored after the catch.

Westclox broke into the score column in their half, With one out, V. Patterson beat out a hit. Eunice Armstrong struck out, but Marg Hawthorne tripled to right scoring V. Patterson, and she continued across the plate on Norma Strickland's wide thro home.

E. Perdue walked to open the C.G.E.'s eight. P. McQuaide rolled to the pitcher and Norma Strickland went out the same way. E. Armstrong, however, threw high to the plate and E. Perdue scored.

Westclox bunched hits; M. Hawthorne, D. Walker and V. McLean all driving out singles to send in two runs in the final frame.

C.G.E.—A. DeCarlow, c;; M. Wade, 3b; M. McCarthy, p; E. Craig, lf; P. Bigelow 1b; M. Snowden, cf; E. Perdue, 2b; P. McQuaide, ss;; N. Strickland, rf.

Westclox.—I. Bullock, c; V. Patterson, ss; E. Aarmstrong, 1b;; M. Hawthorne, 3b;; M. Watson, p; D. Walker, 2b; V. McLean cf; B. Rome, rf; A. Pluard, lf; A. Armstrong lf.

A's CANUCK ROOKIE FOWLER BEATEN 1 TO 0 BY A TRIPLE IN 16th

8 Hits To Browns Senators Take Tigers 3-2 In 10

By AUSTIN BEALMER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sympathetic baseball fans can shed a tear today for Rookie Richard Fowler of Philadelphia Athletics, who might have been pitching yet if it hadn't been for Walter Judnich of the surging St. Louis Browns.

For 15 innings last night, the 21-year-old Canadian-born right-hander blanked the Browns on eight hits. At the same time, however, his mates were finding Johnny Niggeling just as tough. Then George Caster relieved Niggeling after 12 frames, and he proved even tougher.

So the teams moved into the 16th inning in the longest game in the major leagues this season and Judnich opened with a triple against the right field wall, only extra-base hit of the game.

Chet Laabs scored him with an outfield fly, Caster retired three men in order in the last half of the inning to gain the 1-0 decision, and the Athletics dropped back into the American League cellar, passing Washington Senators on their way.

It took the Senators 10 innings to wrest a 3-2 verdict from Detroit Tigers in another of the three night games on the major league slate.

Buck Newsom, winning his second game from his former teammates and his fifth of the year against eight defeats, held the Tigers to six hits but helped them tie the score in the ninth on two walks and one hit.

Rookie Hal White succeeded starter Al Benton on the mound for Detroit in the last of the ninth and walked in the winning run in the 10th.

The Tiger defeat helped New York Yankees and a full game to their American League lead. The Yanks stopped the second-place Cleveland Indians, 6-3, stretching their margin to 9½ games over both Cleveland and Detroit and notching their 24th victory in 28 games.

Boston Red Sox protected their first-division berth, ½ game ahead of the fifth-place Browns, by turning back Chicago White Sox, 4-2. Lou Finney drove in three Boston runs.

In the National League's only arc light tilt, New York Giants moved into third place by whipping St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1, on the four-hit pitching of Dave Koslo. Mel Ott, Mickey Witek and Johnny Mize led the eight-hit attack on Max Lanier and John Beazley. Mize hit a home run in the sixth, his sixth of the year.

The Cardinal loss boosted the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers to six and a half games, although Brooklyn split a double bill with Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers ran their winning streak to four games as they downed the Cubs, 6-3, in the opening game, but the Cubs came from behind to tie the score in the eighth inning of the nightcap and push over a 10th inning run to win, 4-3.

Joe Medwick led the Brooklyn attack in theopener, driving in three runs, and Phil Cavarretta duplicated that feat in the second game, including both the tying and winning markers.

Cincinnati Reds pulled Boston Braves down into a fourth-place tie with them by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-1.

A two-run rally in the ninth inning brought the Reds and Johnny Vander Meer the decison in the first game, but the second was a breeze for Ray Starr after Cincinnati scored six runs in the first frame.

At Pittsburgh, the Pirates broke a 10-game losing streak, but they had to come from behind twice to nip Philadelphia Phils, 6-5.

"We Want Foxx, We Want Foxx"

Absence of Jimmy Foxx, Boston Red Sox first basemen sold to the Chicago Cubs, from the line-up against the Cleveland Indians at Boston, prompted this over-excited spectator to convert seventh-inning stretch into a pep rally. He jumped onto the Cleveland dugout and shouted, "We want Foxx, we want Foxx," until ushers and police led him away.

Frick Uncertain Of Ball In 1943

CINCINNATI, June 6 — (AP) — Ford Frick, National League president, isn't sure what 1943 holds for the major baseball leagues in view of the war. Here to help General Manager Warren Giles of the Reds in details of the Army-Navy Relief Fund game against Chicago Cubs, June 30, Frick remarked:

"We'll be able to get through this year all right, I think. I don't know what next year will be like, so I wouldn't know what to say about it."

Frick said most clubs wouldn't make much money this year, but added: "We never expected to." He reported that National League attendance was off about 100,000 from the corresponding 1941 period.

Edmonton Grads, queens of basketball for 18 years, disbanded at a banquet in Edmonton two years ago tonight. Thirteen triumphs in their last season brought Grads' all-time record to 530 victories and 24 defeats, including the Canadian championship every year they competed since 1922, North American except 1933, and 24 straight game victories at four successive Olympic Games.

Syracuse Clips Leafs Twice 4-0 and 3-1

By the Associated Press.

They played night baseball at Jersey City and Newark last night, but the Bears, league leaders dropped a 9-6 decision for their third straight loss and probably regretted tuning on the lights.

The Newark management said it had received no formal order from the United States Army against the arc-light games and would continue playing them until told to stop. Jersey City civilian defence officials also said they had received no communications from the Government.

Jersey City's crowd of 4,049 was the largest night turning of the year.

The Giants won twice defeating Rochester Red Wings 1-0 and 5-2. Johnny Wittig had a no-hitter in his grasp during the abbreviated opener until Dusty Cooke came to the plate as a pinch-hitter in the sixth and singled.

At Newark, the visiting Buffalo club had two big innings, scoring four runs in the fifth inning and five more in the seventh. Gene Corbett and Aaron Robinson homered or the losers.

Biggest home run spree of the evening, however, was turned in by Les Burge, Montreal Royals first-baseman. He clouted three in the second half of the bill with Baltimore which his team won 9-3. The Orioles took the first 4-3.

For the first time this season Syracuse Chiefs gathered in both ends of a twin bill, knocking off Toronto Leafs 4-0 behind Red Barrett's four-hit pitching in the first game and then winning 3-1 in the nightcap.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, June 6 — (CP). — We could use something in Canada like the hale American open golf tournament the United States Golf Association will give to the public at Chicago in a few weeks.

Because the proceeds from Hale America will go for Army-Navy relief funds, it has a definite wartime function.

Canadian golf has made a few good contributions to war funds by local exhibition matches but national leadership has been lacking. The Canadian open will be held as usual this year, but it will be the same old open—come and watch the Canadians come second (at the best).

If this thing were handled properly, it would become the most representative Canadian golfing event we ever had—and it would represent Canada. Provincial golf associations could run the qualifying rounds, with proceeds to local war charities. The condition book would allow four Americans, who would emerge from a qualifing round held somewhere in the United States—the same courtesy paid Canadians by Hale America.

The logical site for such a Hale Canada tournament would be Vancouver, if the travel angle could be solved. Golf interest there is strong. Otherwise one could choose between Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

Unhappy day.

Grant Knowles pitched a no-hitter for Canadian Car against Great Lakes in the Lakehead Senior League but infield errors gave the opposition one run. Score was 8-1. Knowles is a student pilot in the R.C.A.F.

Lindsay To Try For Salica Title

VANCOUVER, June 6 —(CP)— Fight Promoter Jack Price announced yesterday he has signed Lou Salica, world bantamweight champion, for a bout with Ken Lindsay of Vancouver. Price said the California fighter's title will be at stake in the 15-round bout here July 4.

Lindsay dropped a decision to Salica in a non-title fight here last Wednesday.

Price said his contract provides for a title defence not more than 45 days after July 4 if Lindsay wins the championship.

"And We'll Build a Home of Our Own!"

That's the dream of every young couple . . . but it's a dream that's often put off from year to year. But whether you have just set the day or have celebrated many anniversaries, NOW IS THE TIME TO BUILD! Figure out the amount of rent you are going to pay in the next 10 to 25 years. At the end of that time wouldn't you rather have the deed to a home of your own than a pile of rent receipts? Build now and live in a home made to the measure of your dreams!

Clifford-Darling Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clifford, whose wedding took place in Lakefield on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Clifford was formerly Phyllis Darling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Darling of Lakefield, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford. They will live on a farm near Warsaw. (The Roy Studio Photo.)

Barnes-Clark Nuptials At Murray Street Church

Murray Street Baptist Church was the scene today of the wedding of Audrey Doreen Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark, to Jack Arnold Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnes. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe performed the ceremony and the church was decorated with ferns and baskets of flowers. Wedding music was played by Arthur Collison and during the signing of the register Mona Gibson sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of silk net and chantilly lace made with a sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves. The skirt was net with lace insertions and extended into a long train. Her veil of white silk net billowed the full length of the skirt and was caught with a net halo and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of premier roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Later the bride and groom left on a wedding trip. For travelling, the bride wore a redingote ensemble of blue wool over a printed crepe dress, with white accessories. On their return they will live at 3 Cottesmore avenue.

Monday being a statutory holiday the Public Library will be closed.

No Happiness in the Home When Mother Is Sick

The tired, worn out mother cannot make a happy home if she is sick and worried by the never ending household duties.

She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, downhearted and discouraged, can't rest at night, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as when she went to bed.

Women suffering in this way may find in Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills a remedy with which to help recuperate their health, build up the run down system, and assist them back to health—happiness again.

Price 50c a box, 65 pills, at all drug counters.

Of Interest to Women

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 7

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of unusual adventures, with much stability and solid effort applied to accumulating material possessions, reward for labor, industry and duties well performed. While increase of lands, property and probable inheritance or gifts are favored, with preferment from public or community organizations, yet there are hazards of loss or fraud through carelessness.

Those whose birthday it is may look for surprising gains either through the ordinary business ventures, through inheritance, gifts, or the increase of value in investments or real possessions. Labor, industry and merit should meet recognition and reward.

A child born on this day should have exceptional talents sustained by sound and practical principles. It will be adaptable to many professions or industries.

For Monday, June 8

Monday's astrological forecast is for a moderate degree of activity and good fortune, with the prospect of promotion, favors, honors and preferment at the hands of superiors, employers, relatives or those holding influential positions. Travel, writings, publicity and agencies assist.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of satisfactory progress and activity, especially in connection with travel, writings, publications or agencies. Also those in position and influence are willing to assist.

A child born on this day should have much versatility in intellectual as well as commercial pursuits, gaining through travel or writings. Its superiors, relatives and those in high position will be found ready with honors, recognition and tokens of preferment.

Marjorie Ruth Entertained

Miss Marjorie Ruth, bride-elect, has been much entertained, prior to her marriage, which took place today. Mrs. Edmund Ruth, held a pantry and miscellaneous shower. The cash sales department of the C.G.E. presented the bride with a reversible satin comforter. The main office of the C.G.E. presented her with a silver water pitcher and hot water pot, both in old English reproduction. Mrs. Eric Gardner held a miscellaneous shower at her home, where the bride was showered with miscellaneous gifts and confetti.

To Hold Tea June 17

The June meeting of the W.F.B.C. was held in the parish hall on Thursday, the president, Mrs. H. Howell, in the chair. The representative to the Local Council of Women gave an interesting report on the meeting. Plans were made to take the first trip in July on the boats.

A tea is to be held in the parish hall Wednesday, June 17 from 3 to 5. There will be a silver collection, and the public cordially invited to attend. Throughout the winter and spring months the ladies have been busy making quilts, children's wear, and knitted clothing to send in a bale overseas, for the war victims. These will all be on display at the tea.

The monthly collection for the war victims fund was taken, and the meeting closed with prayer.

Irwin-Ruth Nuptials Pretty Summer Ceremony

George Street United church was the scene at two o'clock to-day of a pretty wedding when Marjorie Eileene Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ruth, became the bride of Frank Irwin, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Irwin. Rev. H. L. Roberts performed the ceremony and the church was decorated wtih baskets of early summer flowers. Mrs. C. Renaud played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of embossed white marquisette over satin, with long sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a full bouffant skirt flowing from a fitted waistband. Her halo-shaped finger-tip veil of similar material was caught with white gardenias and she carried a bouquet of bettertitme roses and stephanotis, with candy-tuft caught in the long white streamers.

Mrs. Eric Gardner was matron of honor in a gown of pink embossed marquisette, with short sleeves, and a fitted bodice. She also wore net mittens and her gift from the bride, a Coalport China flower brooch, her hat was of matching pink material and she carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and forget-me-nots. Mr. Donald Moore of Toronto, attended the groom and the ushers were Mr. Harry Irwin, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Gordon Darling.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Walkerfield house, at which the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of turquoise blue with a black redingote and a white straw hat and white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetpeas. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of copen blue crepe with a hat of navy blue and white, and white accessories, and a corsage of pink sweetpeas.

Later the bride and groom left on a trip to Ottawa. For travelling the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of blue printed silk, a broad-brimmed blue felt hat and blue and white accessories. On their return they will live at 116 Hilliard street, Peterborough.

DOROTHY DIX

SPOILED CHILDREN PAY FOR MOTHER'S FOLLY

Woman Is Praised for Determination To Raise Hers on Rational Basis.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband and I are both 25 and get along well together. We have a modest home and a fair income, but we have no children, although we have always hoped we would sometime. Here is my problem:

I have a very close girl friend who says that I should never have a child, feeling as I do about children. Now I love children and nothing would please me more than to have one of my own, but I believe they have a definite place in the home and should not monopolize it. I don't think it is right or fair to a child to drag it with you everywhere you go, sometimes keeping it up until midnight. Most mothers work hard enough during the day without having the children around their skirts the whole evening. I believe that a child should have regular meal times and sleeping hours, that it should be taught to obey and to have good manners and not to make itself a pest and a nuisance.

Am I an exception to the regular run of mothers when I say that it makes me nervous for a child to be constantly under my feet when I am working, breaking in continually on a grown-up conversation, and to have to scream my head off to get it to pay me the slightest attention? If this is the case, then I feel maybe I shouldn't have children.

Are my ideas old-maidish, or should children be allowed to wreck your house, nerves and your friendships because they are so sensitive they can't stand to be reprimanded?

I'M WONDERING.

ANSWER: From your letter I should say that you are just the sort of woman who should have children, because if you would stick to your theories in rearing them you would bring up youngsters who would make fine, upstanding men and women, instead of another crop of hoodlum boys and girls.

Child's Character Is Set Early

It is the weak, spineless mothers who haven't the courage nor the backbone to fight it out with self-willed youngsters who are responsible for the bratish children whom everyone fears and dreads and who are about as welcome in our houses as a band of bandits would be. Their mothers think that they are showing what good mothers they are and how tender and loving when they spoil them rotten and let them ride roughshod over them, but if they were their children's worst enemies they could do them no greater wrong.

For a child's character is set, as phychologists tell us, by the time it is 3 years old, and if by that time it has not been taught obedience, respect for authority and discipline, it never acquires them until life teaches them with a heavy hand. And often the poor weakling that mother has made is crushed by the blows that life deals it.

These women consider themselves good mothers because they indulge their children in their every whim. They never correct them. They never punish them for doing wrong. They let them grow up without guidance at the age when they need guidance at every step. But, in reality, these mothers are criminals because they wreck the lives of the children who were entrusted to their care.

You see the result of their work on every hand. Sickly little children whose stomachs have been ruined by living on lollipops instead of the proper food. Nervous little wrecks who have never had a regular bedtime, but have been dragged around wherever their mothers went and kept up half the night. Destructive children who broke your windows and smeared bananas all over your car when you took them riding. Mothers and children who screamed at each other because neither had any self-control. And you didn't need to be any prophet to tell how these children would turn out, and what a price they would have to pay for their mother's folly.

So it is cheering to hear of one woman who is going to bring up her children, if she has any, on a rational platform. And don't be afraid it won't work, for happily there ARE mothers who teach their children manners and morals, obedience and respect for other peoples' property. These children will inherit the earth when petted darlings are on the scrap heap.

MINERAL SALTS BASIC TO HEALTH

—say modern food chemists

Of all recent, tremendously significant discoveries in dietetics, none is more startling than the vital importance of mineral-salts to human well-being. Says famous author Rex Beach: "Certainly our physical well-being is more directly dependent upon the minerals we take into our systems than upon calories or vitamins." Alfred McCann, eminent food chemist: "In a few years all the scientific men of the world will have accepted the indispensable, ever-precious and ever-more wonderful mineral-salts as the keystones of the arch of nutrition, resistance to disease, growth, endurance, vitality and normal life."

Millions of acres of our soil from which fruits, grains and vegetables are grown have become depleted, demineralized. Lang's Mineral Remedy restores vital minerals direct, particularly iron and sulphur, the two most important minerals for cleansing and enriching the blood.

Lang's Mineral offers the same splendid results for Stomach Ailments, Weak Kidneys, Rheumatics, Nerves, Colitis, Piles, Female Ailments, Eczema, etc. Get the truth about what it has meant to others. Free information write Lang's Mineral Remedies, 946 Robson Street, Vancouver, B. C.

Bell-Andrews Wedding

Adamson-Kelbrick Nuptials Pretty Lindsay Ceremony

St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, was the scene on Saturday of a pretty wedding when Mary Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelbrick of Lindsay, became the bride of John Byron, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Pryice Adamson of Peterborough. Rev. Father Earl Grant performed the ceremony and Raymond Kelbrick served the nuptial mass. The church was decorated with pink and red peonies and wedding music was played by Miss Ruth Shannon. Howard Baker sang "Ave Maria," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of white sheer chiffon with a gathered bodice and full skirt. Her halo-shaped finger-tip veil of white silk net was caught with tiny white flowers and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and lily-of-the-valley. Mrs. Cleve Babcock, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor in shell pink sheer chiffon, fashioned in a similar style to the bride's. She wore a coronet of pink flowers from which fell a shoulder-length veil of the same shade and a corsage of pink roses and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Marie Kelbrick, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid in a similar gown of romance blue sheer chiffon with a coronet of blue flowers and a veil of the same shade. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Arnold Kelbrick, brother of the bride was best man and Cleve Babcock, the bride's brother-in-law, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held for immediate relatives and friends of the couple at the bride's home in Lindsay, following which the happy couple left on a trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a dusty pink frock with white accessories.

PRICES AND SUPPLY.

George H. Rennie of Toronto, regional prices and supply representative of the War-Times Prices and Trade Board, will be the speaker at the regular luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club on Monday. His subject will be "Prices and Supply."

AGAIN REMANDED.

Two charges against Martin Gahagan of assaulting Pte. McFadden and Mrs. McFadden were called before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning but at the request of the accused there was a further remand until Thursday of next week.

GETS THREE DAYS

A young girl who pleaded guilty in police court a few days ago to a charge of vagrancy was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., to three days in the county jail. The court was informed that an uncle of the girl had agreed provide a home for her and the sentence was merely to allow time for the arrangements to be made.

SEVEN FOOT RYE.

John Williams of North Monaghan showed the Examiner this morning some seven-foot rye grown in one of his fields south of Lansdowne street and west of May's school. He told the Examiner this morning that he planted this field to rye intending to plow it in as fertilizer after it had made some growth, but with all the moisture the grain got out of hand. "It grew too fast for me, and I couldn't catch up with it." Mr. Williams saaid. "It's a grand looking field, seven feet from side to side and this only the sixth of June."

DOING THEIR BIT.

The younger generation of this city believes in making its contribution to the war effort. Friday afternoon four little boys, Frank Marino, Raymond Griffin, Billy Marino and Leo Howren, ranging from six to ten years of age, walked into the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund office at 287 George street, and proudly presented a dollar which they had earned selling old magazines at the corner of George and Lake streets.

BUGS AGAIN

Summer must be here. All the little shad flies and other minute bugs are here once again. In the evenings lighted store windows are a mecca for hundreds of tiny black insects and they make it rather difficult in some places to see clearly.

IT ALL HELPS

More than 865,000 cigarettes have been sent to the soldiers in Britain through the donations of Peterborough people to the local Buckshee Fund. Bob Hotrum reported today that the collections to date amounts to $1,858.30.

ON THE AIR

Two soldiers from Peterborough and one from Lakefield will be heard on the radio broadcast "Greetings From The Beaver Club" on Sunday between 12.30 and 1.00 Eastern Daylight Time. Those on the list include Sgt. Wildman, and Sgt. W. E. Loucks from Peterborough, and Spr. T. Junkin of Lakefield.

FOR SAFETY'S SAKE

The danger spot at the old Coughlin Monumental Works on Hunter street is being eliminated by the action of the Board of Works in putting a stout permanent barrier at the spot. There was no railing to prevent a pedestrian from topping from the shaky platform into the waters of Jackson Park creek, and the building of a fence will take care of the hazard.

KING'S BIRTHDAY.

Letter carriers will make a morning delivery only on Monday, June 8th, King's birthday. There will also be a delivery by rural route courier. All the wickets at the post office will be open during the regular hours and mails will be received and despatched as usual. The regular collections will be made from the street letter boxes and special delivery messenger service will be as usual.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

A gentleman driving up Water street felt more than a little foolish recently. As he drove along, he heard a couple of impatient honks and pulled over. As the honking continued and nobody passed him he poked his head out of the window and then sheepishly pulled it in as he realized that it was his own horn making all the fuss. It took the driver about ten minutes to get his horn back to normal behaviour.

Men At Training Centre Aid Red Cross

Officers and men of the Military Training Centre at a battalion parade on Friday afternoon presented a cheque for $178.84 to the Peterborough Red Cross. The presentation (at RIGHT) was made by Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer in command of the Centre, to Mrs. R. Turner, president of the Red Cross. At the same time R.S.M. George McKenna on behalf of the Sergeants' Mess, presented (LEFT) to Ken. Smylie of the Kinsmen Club a cheque for $20 for the Milk for Britain Fund.

Officers, Men Of Training Centre Present $178

A donation of $178.84 to the Red Cross Society from the officers and men of the Military Training Centre was made on Friday afternoon by Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., officer commanding the Centre.

A cheque for the above amount was presented by Col. Keeler to Mrs. Reg. Turner president of the Peterborough Red Cross Society in front of the entire personnel of the Centre, including members of the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Corps. The presentation took place on the battalion parade ground at 1:30 o'clock.

In presenting the cheque Colonel Keeler expressed to Mrs. Turner the interest the officers and men of the Centre have shown in the past toward the Red Cross Society. The commanding officer stated it gave him great pleasure to present such a substantial contribution to this world-wide organization, and all the ranks on parade knew it would be used to the best advantage.

In reply, Mrs. Turner thanked the officers and men for the contribution. It was an honor to accept the cheque on behalf of the Society, and until formal recognition is received from headquarters in Toronto, Mrs. Turner requested the thanks of the Red Cross Society be tendered all ranks through the commanding officer.

Milk for Britain Fund.

Following the presentation of the Red Cross cheque, R.S.M. George McKenna was called to the front of the parade and on behalf of the Sergeants' Mess of the Training Centre he presented Ken Smylie of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club with a cheque for $20.00 for the Milk for Britain Fund. In accepting the cheque on behalf of the service club, Mr. Smillie stated the donation was rather a surprise, and asked Sergt.-Major McKenna to render the thanks of the club to the members of the Sergeants' Mess.

Marksmen Honored.

The third presentation of the afternoon followed when Lt.-Col. Keeler presented cheques to six soldiers for marksmanship. The two best shots from the three training companies were represented in the six and in each case the men had made excellent scores during their training. The winners by companies follow: No. 1 Company, Pte. L. D. Sawyer, Pte. T. W. Ross, No. 2 Company, Pte. I. F. Snider, Pte. C. E. Hubble; No. 3 Company, Pte. R. E. Williamson and Pte. K. R. Hall.

A certificate of the St. John Ambulance Association in first-aid was also presented by Lt.-Col. Keeler to Pte. J. M. Keylor.

North Monaghan Faces Expenditure Of $25,000

An expenditure running close to $25,000 faces the ratepayers of North Monaghan Township to provide adequate school accommodation for the pupils now living in the fast-growing suburban area, designated in school terms as School Section No. 2.

The problem came to a head on Friday evening when the ratepayers held a meeting at Confederation School to discuss the question in all its various phases, and they talked it over for upwards of three hours, receiving specific data from R. F. Downey school inspector, School Board members, and others who had assisted in preparing building plans. The plans were prepared privately with a view to arriving at a cost and to keep the expenditure as low as possible.

In brief, the decision reached was to build a two-room, two-storey addition to Confederation School, and to alter a large cloak room, a kitchen and an old teacher's room at the rear of May's School, so that it would become two large size school rooms. This would give both schools an additional two class rooms.

The meeting was unanimous in giving the School Board authority to ask the Council for $25,000 to proceed with this work during the summer months, and as it will not only have to pass the Council but the Municipal Board, and the War Priorities Board at Ottawa, the members of the School Board have decided to call for tenders at once, so that when approval is granted the work can be rushed to completion.

Bruce Payne, a resident of the township, was named chairman for the meeting and he handled it in a competent manner. Walter Bannon, chairman of the School Board, explained that during the past decade, there had been a steady increase in the suburban population, but the overcrowding at the schools had just started seven years ago, and had grown steadily worse until now there were classrooms with more than sixty pupils in them. In one room at Confederation School there are 62 pupils and two teachers are trying to carry on the teaching in the same room.

R. F. Downey school inspector, described the conditions and pointed out that they were getting worse each year. H. H. May explained the plans which had been drawn, describing the proposed construction of the buildings and the approximate cost, with a summary of the obstacles that might be met due to wartime building.

Harry Welch, secretary-treasurer of School Section No. 2, acted as secretary for the meeting.

LAC F. F. Watson Winner Of 2 Major Awards

An unusual honor came to a Peterborough flier on Friday, when LAC. F. F. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson, 299 Lake street, received two major awards for efficiency. The story was told at No. 4 Wireless School, Guelph, when a large class of air gunners received their "sparks," and this former King Edward School boy is standing shoulder to shouder with the other Peterborough fliers who are fast carving places of honor for themselves in the realm of wartime flying.

Winner of these two awards for the first time in the history of the school, he was given command of the graduating squadron in recognition of his record-breaking scholastic achievement. On the parade ground he showed keen ability in presenting the squadron of his fellow-graduates in intricate manoeuvres as they performed a smart ceremonial drill. The Commanding Officer's Trophy was presented to him by Group Captain Russell.

A popular figure in the south-end crowd, LAC. Watson was a graduate of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute. He served as a member of the Prince of Wales Rangers for some time and was at camp with them last August when he received his call to report to No. 1 Manning Depot, Toronto. After a splendid showing there, he moved to Mountain View and finally to Guelph, where he continued to gain recognition. The unusual thing about this honor is that this 23-year-old boy has only been training for about ten months and he has received the tribute of a veteran.

The squadron of 130 men has now left for Poulson, Manitoba, to continue their training, after which they will receive their wings.

A brother, Tim Watson, has been serving in the Ordnance Corps in Kingston since January.

Missing Flier Reported Safe

Good news reached George McCague, 309 Boswell avenue, manager of the Imperial Life Insurance Company this morning when a cable came through advising that his brother, Pilot Officer Jas. McCague, R.C.A.F., was a prisoner of war in Germany. He had been posted as missing on April 25, following operations over enemy territory and his relatives here have been anxiously hoping for word that he might have survived after his aircraft had been shot down. Mrs. Margaret McCague, mother of the flier, is now living with her other son, George McCague in this city.

Legion Total Is Now $850 For War Victims

Eight hundred and fifty dollars is a lot of money, and if anyone had suggested less than eighteen months ago, that the local veterans of the last Great War, banded together into what is known as Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion, would in that space of time contribute that much money to assist the distress of air raid victims in Britain, there probably would have been quite some doubt on that score. Yet to-day, with the total brought up to $850.63 by the regular monthly contribution which this time amounts to $33.69, that is actually an established fact, a feat which is well deserving of more than passing notice and praise.

While a portion of this has been raised by special effort, for the most part it represents a share in the net proceeds from the Wednesday evening bingo games conducted by the Legion on behalf of its own welfare work, this share having been promised to the Peterborough and District War Victims' Fund on behalf of the Legion by its president, G. Gimblett, and true to its promise this has been maintained ever since. It would not seem too over optimistic to predict that some day before so very long, this contribution on their part will reach the four-figure mark, having now reached 85 per cent of that total. As may be surmised, there is considerable work behind all this, and to Andy Rutter, Bob Hotrum and Robert Mitchell goes considerable credit for the part they play in the steady work which makes this possible, combined with the general support which they receive from the members of Branch 52 and the general public.

At Bridgenorth United Church there is a class of youngsters known as the Primary Sunday School Class, any they have made many a contribution to the fund through their teacher, Mrs. W. J. Robinson, which has all been gathered by them bringing their pennies when they meet for instruction, and once again they are heard from, this time with a donation of $2.00 to help things along. At the most impressionable age, these children are learning something that has both a moral and spiritual value, and in so doing are rendering a service to those placed in unfortunate circumstances as well as adding an assist to the war effort.

Obituary

JOHN WHITE.

A life-long resident of Bailieboro, John White, died after a long illness at his home Saturday, at the age of 77.

The son of the late Samuel White and Jane McCallister, he was a general storekeeper for over thirty years. He was a prominent member of the community, and will be sorely missed.

Surviving him are three daughters, Mrs. John Deyell (Cora), Mrs. Harry Brown (Lettie), both of Lindsay, and Mrs. Roy Rutherford (Viola), of Toronto, and one brother, James, and one sister, Minnie, both of Bailieboro.

The funeral will take place on Monday at 2 p.m. from Centreville Presbyterian Church to Bailieboro Cemetery. The Rev. A. H. McConnachie will conduct the service.

Miss M. Stratton Passes Away At Her Home

Daughter of one of the early proprietors of the Peterborough Examiner, Mary Louise Stratton died Friday at her home, 373 Park street.

Miss Stratton was born here seventy-eight years ago, daughter of James Stratton and his wife, Rosanna Armstrong.

James Stratton was the publisher of the Examiner during a period of years when it was issued weekly. He was appointed school inspector in Peterborough, and it is also recalled that at one time he was a school teacher in Ashburnham. Lingering reputation spoke of him as an exemplary citizen, active layman in church work and also interested in civic affairs.

Members of that family were the Hon. J. R. Stratton, who was publisher of the Examiner in its change to a daily, William A. Stratton, lawyer, and Albert H. Stratton, owner of the Review in his latter years.

Miss Stratton is survived by her sister, Mrs. T. Frank Matthews of Toronto. It is recalled of her youth that she worked for a time in the office of her brother who also conducted a bookstore next to the Examiner office on George street. She then took up nursing, graduating from Kingston General Hospital, and for years was supervisor of the operating room of Hamilton General Hospital. Miss Stratton returned to Peterborough about twenty-five years ago.

The funeral will take place Monday at 2:30 p.m. from Miss Stratton's late residence, 373 Park street, to Little Lake Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church, of which Miss Stratton was a member.

Thomas Hughes Of North Monaghan Is Acquitted By Petit Jury Of Having Assaulted His Wife Last April

The June sessions of the county court closed late Friday afternoon with the acquittal of Thomas Hughes of North Monaghan whom a jury found not guilty of an indictment of having assaulted his wife on the night of April 4 last causing actual bodily harm.

Judge Coleman discharged Mr. Hughes without comment, thanked the jury for their services and adjourned the semi-annual court which meets again in December.

The members of the jury were: W. D. Cavanagh, Ennismore; George H. Rutherford, 580 Reid street; Wray Moore, Douro; D. A. Hamilton, Moore; Victor Hunter, Kinmount; Charles Wease, Chandos; Alex Thomson, Keene; Edgar Buck, Asphodel; Howard J. Ralph, Ware street; Alexis McCormack, 875 Water street; A. S. Fraser Watson, 305 Rogers street; Thomas Starr, 656 Rogers street.

Opposing counsel were Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., for the prosecution, and W. J. Arthur Fair for the defence. Concluding witnesses were George Martin, father of Mrs. Hughes, and Mrs. Dorothy Maguire, Police Matron, for the Crown, and Mrs. Hughes and Ken Morgan of Port Hope for the defense. The jury was out about an hour.

Mr. Hughes gave his version of the occurrence in front of his house on Monaghan Road south of the C.N.R. about midnight of the eve of Easter Sunday when Hughes drove into the yard and blew the horn of his car about five minutes.

"A few minutes later my daughter came home with some friends. Their car stopped out on the road and my daughter got out. Hughes backed his car out of the lane. I heard my daughter and went out. When I got close to Hughes' car he stepped on the gas and drove away up the road and turned east at Edison avenue. My daughter was beside the car. He had hold of her arm, and she was holding on to the running board or in some way on the left side of the car. The left door was open at her back."

Witness said he went with Constable Menzies around by Park street and Lansdowne street to Hughes' house where his car was standing at the side of Monaghan Road. Hughes gave Menzies some money for her. Back at his own house, Martin showed Menzies a hatchet. "I told him my wife wouldn't let me go out. Menzies said, 'that's what I would have done; I'd have broken every window in his car'."

Mr. McElderry: "Did you notice any marks on your daughter?"—"Yes, a lump on her forehead, a bruise on her cheek and the side of her nose. Her hand was all black and blue; her arm too, and there were bruises on her legs.

Friendly To Hughes

Cross-examined by Mr. Fair, witness said he had always been on friendly terms with his son-in-law.

"The difference between husband and wife had nothing to do with you?"—"Not a particle."

"You had no grievance against your son-in-law?"—"I don't hold spite on anybody."

"Did Hughes complain to you his phone rang at all hours of the night?"—"He never mentioned it to me. Our own phone has rung a lot and nobody answered."

Witness said he thought Hughes was doing it.

Mr. Fair: "Did you phone Hughes a blind lead that Saturday night and he took a truck five miles into the country for a car that was supposed to be in the ditch?"—"I don't know anything about that."

Martin said Hughes did not put his arm around his wife at the round up later. He went to put his arm around her making out to the policeman he was trying to love her."

"Do you say you heard screams as you approached Hughes' car in front of his place?"—"Yes."

"If Menzies says he heard no noise do you say he is not telling the truth?"—"I'd say he wasn't listening as closely as I was."

Mrs. Dorothy Maguire, police matron, briefly testified she saw Mrs. Hughes on Monday, April 6. Her forehead and the right cheek were bruised and discolored; and there were marks on her legs.

Defense Evidence

Testifying in his own behalf, Mr. Hughes, in examination by Mr. Fair, said he had been paying his wife $20 a month for the maintenance of their youngest child, and he was taking care of the two boys, the elder of whom is thirteen years old. In a conversation with her Saturday afternoon, April 4, he agreed to leave the money at the police station, but business intervened and he did not keep that appointment. That evening he had a telephone call from Mrs. Martin, "but I didn't pay any attention to that. I went and read the paper. Some one kept on ringing, but I left the receiver off."

Mr. Hughes said his wife telephoned him about five minutes prior to his going to the Martin house, and asked why he had not left the money at the police station. He declared that he went to Martin's to give his wife the $20. While he was in the yard the other car came up and his wife got out. Her greeting, he swore, was: "What in hell brought you here?" and his reply: "You phoned about the money and I've got it here."

From the way she walked and talked, he realized "she was pretty well on. She told me I knew what I could do with the money."

Ken Morgan of Port Hope was in the front seat with Hughes. He suggested that Mrs. Hughes take the money, but "she told him to mind his own business, and reached into the car trying to hit him."

"My wife's father and mother came out of the house. I saw her father had something in his hand. Her mother accused her of "being out with me that night," and tried to pull her away from my car. I saw Mr. Martin had a hatchet in his hand, and I moved toward the centre of the seat. It is the wide seat of a Buick. My wife jumped into the car and grabbed the steering wheel. I told her to get out or I'd take her to the police station. I pulled her hand off the wheel, and she grabbed the steering post."

Hughe said he drove off holding the door open with his left hand. His wife said, "I'm going wherever this car is going." She said she had as much right in the car as Mrs. Zimmerman, my housekeeper."

Started Back Home

Hughes said he drove along Edison avenue about eight miles an hour. His wife was sitting at his left on about a foot of the seat, and facing the windshield, with one foot out of the door.

At the Ovaltine corner, accused continued, he stopped the car and his wife asked him to drive her home.

"I said I would, and I told her I wished she didn't act so foolish. At my place she said she would get out there. We both got out. She seemed anxious to go into my house. She asked me where Mrs. Zimmerman was. There was some argument about the telephoning, and then Constable Menzies and Mr. Martin drove up. Then she started to scream. Martin was going to jump on me. He said he'd put me out of business in more ways than one."

Hughes said he finally asked his wife if she wanted the money. He gave it to Menzies next to him, and the constable passed the $20 to Mrs. Hughes.

Accused declared he did not tear his wife's dress. "I never put my hand on her at all, except to take her hand off the wheel.

Born In Wales

In cross-examination, Hughes said he was born in Wales, came here when he was twenty-four, worked on several farms near Jackson Park, and was then employed by Mr. Martin—for a week, asd stayed about nine years. After the first year he married his employer's daughter, and ultimately moved up the road and went into the car-wrecking business for himself, although he said he was only the manager of it. A next event was the engagement of a Mrs. Zimmerman as housekeeper "but there was trouble before she came."

"All this time your wife complained you were abusing her," Mr. McElderry said.

Hughes said there had been only one fight.

"And you never struck her at any time?"—"There might have been one time."

Hughes said that an early cause of trouble were some occasions when his wife went away for a time and didn't come home at night.

"Well, you've got that out to the jury at last," Mr. McElderry remarked. "You were trying to tell me that before."

Mr. Hughes admitted that he was father of a child born to Mrs. Zimmerman two years and four months ago.

"Do you remember Ken Morgan saying 'leave her alone'?"—"No, I wasn't doing anything to her."

Hughes testified that Martin, with a hatchet in his hand, said "get out of that car and you won't get in again."

"Were you jealous of your father-in-law's business?"—"Not a bit."

"You have a better business than he has?"—"I'm just the manager."

"Who owns it?"—"Mr. Parry."

Says Mrs. Hughes Sober

Ken Morgan, concluding witness, said he used to live in Campbellford. He had known accused several years through deals in used cars. He called on Hughes April 4 to talk about another deal. His evidence broadly corroborated Hughes' story of the midnight evidence. One addition that Mrs. Martin told Hughes he was not fit company for his wife, when she was trying to pull her away from Hughes' car, as alleged by the defense.

"Was there any screaming in front of the Hughes' house?" Mr. Fair asked. Morgan answered "No." He also said: "As far as I know, Mrs Hughes was sober."

After the fracas he spent the night at the Hughes' home, and also Wednesday night this week.

Recalled by Judge Coleman, Mrs Hughes said she had no injuries or bruises before meeting her husband that night.

"I've had no bruises since I left him," she added. The jury retired at 5:30 after addresses by Mr. Fair and Mr. McElderry, and explanation of the revelant law by Judge Coleman.

Peterborough Rural School

First Settlers of S.S. No. 2, Burleigh Arrived in 1862—James Golborne Built a Grist Mill on Eel's Creek—Robert Clifford Was the Third Settler.

S.S. NO. 2 BURLEIGH

This school section is situated in the northern part of Burleigh township. The first settlers in this community made their way into the country when it was a wilderness of trees. They came with oxen and carts over rough bush trails. Here, they cleared for themselves a few acres, and built their log homes.

In 1862 James Golborne came from England, and settled on lot 12, concession 11. He was the second settler north of Stoney Lake. He built a small grist' mill on Eel's Creek. John McColl now lives on this lot where he operates a sawmill. Mr. Golborne later moved to Apsley where he built another grist mill.

Robert Clifford was the third settler in North Burleigh. In 1862 he settled on the lot next to where Thomas Lean now lives. In 1864 Washington Coones hewed out a home on lot 24, concession 5, opposite the present place of Frank McFadden. In 1866 John Lean began farming on the lot where Joseph Lean's farm is now situated.

In the same year Thomas Harris settled on lots 26 and 28. His grandson, Howard Harris, now lives on the same farm. In 1867 Cyrus McFadden cleared and improved lot 11, concession 11, where Mr. Edwards no resides. William White came to lot 9, concession 10, in 1869.

Thomas Wilson was the first settler on the farm where Archie Wilson now resides. Alexander Brown came from Scotland and settled on lot 17, concession 12, now occupied by Herman Harris.

The first school was built in about the year 1866 on part of the property owned by John McIlmoyl, lot 19, concession 12. It was a small log building, 16 feet by 22 feet, furnished with homemade desks and benches paralleling the side walls.

Miss Margaret Meyers was one of the first teachers. She later married Thomas McIlmoyl. The school term at that time was only six months, May, June, July, September, October and November. In 1885 the teacher was Miss Dean, succeeded in 1886 by Miss Sutton.

In 1890 the log building was replaced by a frame one on the same site. It was 24 feet by 18 feet, and was equipped with desks made by Charles Hales. They were arranged in two rows facing the wooden blackboards.

Harry Anderson was a teacher in the old log school, and is now Dr. Anderson, specialist in Toronto. His younger brother, Duncan Anderson, was one of the first teachers in the new school. He is also a doctor in Toronto. The average number of pupils at that time was twenty-five.

In 1897 Miss Gertrude Thompson was engaged as teacher, and the term was changed to eight months. Most of the winter season was omitted. Miss Thompson's salary was $17 a month. In 1911 the old desks were removed, and were replaced by second-hand ones bought from Westwood School. Five maple trees were planted in front of the school and when they were cut in 1935 the stump of one measured 24 inches in diameter.

Some of the former pupils of No. 2 Burleigh were: Gladys Kilborn, a Red Cross nurse in England and France in the last war; Bertha Kilborn; Mildred Kilborn, Myrtle McFadden; May and Alma Hales; all of whom were nurses. Miss Alma Hales was matron of Pembrooke Hospital.

Annie McFadden went to Bermuda as a Salvation Army captain, and worked as a missionary among negroes. She married and still lives there. Duncan Brown was reeve of Burleigh for a number of years.

Boys of the school who saw service in the Great War were: Herman Harris, John McFadden, Bert McIlmoyle, Zedock Hales, John Coones, Roy Coones, Thomas Coones (killed), Wilbert Lean (killed), and William Hales.

John Lean was secretary of the school board, and probably the first secretary of the section. He was succeeded by his younger brother, Isaac Lean, who held the office for forty or fifty years. He died in 1939 at the age of 93.

In 1925 consolidation of schools in the Apsley area was attempted. Roy Brown of Apsley acted as secretary. Two years late consolidation was dissolved and Wellington Lean became secretary. In 1926 the school term was extended to ten months.

The attendance in 1931-2 was three pupils, the lowest in the history of the school. In 1934 Highway No. 28 was constructed from Young's Point to Apsley. The road past the school was straightened, and thereby was moved away from the school, which, in 1935, was moved to Lot 18, Concession 12, on the highway, at a cost of $225. This one-acre lot was bough from Duncan Brown for $70.

The old school site was transferred back to Bert McIlmoyle, grandson of the original owner. A Red Cross outpost hospital was established in Apsley in 1927, and Red Cross health supervision was organized in the school. The nurse makes two annual visits, one in the spring and the other in the autumn.

Hot lunches were started in the school in 1925, and the study of agriculture introduced in 1933. When the school was moved to its present site the school gardens were discontinued, but agriculture was still taught.

The teaching of music was begun in the school in 1935 with Mrs. George Kilborn as special teacher. It was discontinued in 1940, but was revived in 1941. Music festivals were held in Apsley in 1936-7. In 1938 the pupils joined with the pupils of neighboring schools and presented the operetta, "The Land of Dreams Come True." In May, 1938, Mrs. Kilborn took three pupils from this school, Ruby McColl, Jean Bullied and Audrey Windsor, with eigth others from neighboring schools, to sing at the Ontario Educational Association's convention in Toronto.

On May 22, 1939, the pupils and teacher, Laura Ashenhurst, accompanying a large number of other pupils and teachers from the county, went to Toronto by special train to see Their Majesties, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. In March, 1941, religious instruction was begun with a period of half an hour a week under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Cathcart of Apsley.

Herbert Huffman was the teacher in this school in 1896; Gertrude Thompson in 1897; Lillian Middleton, 1898; Hattie Eastland, 1901-2; Emma Eastland, Agnes McGarth; Ruby Windsor, 1917-18; Miss Sanborn, 1919; Midred Hales, 1920-21; Ella Brown, 1923; Bessie Hunter, 1925-6; Sadie Younge, 1926-7; Miss Batten, 1927-8; Gladys Harper, 1928-9; Viola Short, 1930; Miss Orrill, 1930-31; May Pollock, 1931; Helen Troupe part of 1931-2; Marjory Purdy, 1932-3-4; Miss L. Ashenhurst, 1934-41.

Presbyterians Set Goal At $500,000

MONREAL, June 6 — (CP). — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to-day approved a plan to raise $500,000 to place the finances of the Church on a sound footing.

Proposed by an elder, John M. Thompson of Owen Sound, Ont., chairman of the Board of Administration in the recommendations of his Board, the plan provided for paying off accumulated deficit of $178,466 in addition to the carrying out in full of the Church's work.

Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, St. John's, Nfld., asked the Assembly to designate the fund by a "colorful name such as the 'Victory Fund,'" and debate on the suggestion lasted until Very Rev. Stuart C. Parker of Toronto asked delegates not to obstruct the scheme because of discussion over a name.

"I would like to see the Church go forward for $1,000,000, and I think we could get it," said Rev. W. B. Mitchell of Dundas Ont., in asking for details on the means proposed to raise the money.

Dr. Robert Johnston of Ottawa said that his own congregation in Knox Church had no trouble in financing their church work during 1941.

"There is not a bit of use indulging in pious talk if there is not a sacrificial effort behind it," he said. "We have not the sacrificial spirit in Church. We are a lot of glorious humbugs with regard to the sacrificial spirit."

MARTHA SHOWS HER COLORS

CHAPTER XXIII

He was conscious, first, of a buzzing in his ears, and then a light in his face. The light was very near. Its heat sent needles of pain through his closed lids and burned his brain. He tried to raise his hand to shade his eyes but the effort was too much.

He lay still, eyes closed, forcing air into his dry lungs. The heat was a little less and the light a little less intense, but he became conscious that his body was heaving and bouncing as though tied to a burro's back. Slowly the buzzing faded from his ears. Again he tried to raise his hands and found he could not.

His mind seemed to be functioning pretty well. He remembered being sick, and falling. And he could hear: there was a rustle of silk nearby. He could smell, too, an exotic perfume. But move a muscle, even to opening his eyes, he could not.

He lay for a long time, listening to the rustle of silk, trying to identify the perfume and connect it with the sound. He attempted to speak, but his tongue gave no response. He gave that up, gave up trying to move, content only with listening. And then he heard a barrage of knuckles on wood.

"Who is eet?" a voice called from his side.

"Pringle, ma'am. We're searching for Mr. Talcott—" The door hinge creeked. There was a feminine scream, and Pringle's "Excuse me, ma'am!" in hasty, embarrassed withdrawal.

Talcott tried to call out, to open his eyes, to move his hands. His mightiest effort succeeded only in raising one indescribably heavy eyelid A glaucomic flash revealed to him only part of a stateroom; a wardrobe blocked his view. But he did see the back of a woman who was in complete negligee. Her glistening dark hair was a cloud on her shoulders and her dark eyes were hard with anger from the interruption. He was only mildly surprised to recognize Martha Swenson..

The effort was too much; his lid dropped back and he lay, listening to the rustle of silk. The sense of feel was returning; he could feel the warmth of Martha Swenson's nearness—

"This man is strong. He just opened an eye!"

A man's voice. From behind and beyond Talcott. It was low, almost whispered. He heard Martha Swenson respond, "You should not remain here, Carl. It is not safe. I sent the captain away, but that fool doctor will come in soon. And the girl. She will be looking for him."

There was movement but no answer. A new presence. Fingers on Talcott's wrist. "Don't try to play possum," the low voice said. "Open your eyes!"

With trenmendous effort, Talcott opened them. He was lying in a lower berth; the light that had blinded him was a reading lamp. Its rays glinted on the bald, ugly head of Gerhardt von Stampf.

The baron smiled mockingly. "Surely you had not shared the opinion of the others that I had left the ship!"

Talcott couldn't have answered even if he had desired. No. He hadn't shared that opinion— His body was numb. Only his brain and his eyes were alive.

"That pin," the baron chuckled. "You are very careless my friend. I could just as easily have poisoned you. Can it be that I overrated you? It is no matter. You have caused me a great deal of trouble. I am not one to take loss lightly. I am prepared to bargain with you—"

"Carl! Please go! The others will come back and this time I cannot save you. They will hang you for murder—"

"Silence, fool I come and go at will. No one can touch me. And you, Lieut. William Talcott— My patience is only so much. That envelope you stole from Halsey. What did you do with it?"

You are a fool yourself, Baron von Stampf, Talcott thought. You know I can't answer and yet you ask me questions. Well, maybe I can speak but I don't dare just now—

As if reading his mind, von Stampf said softly, "You are worried? In an hour you will be your normal self. I have spared you because to save my work I wish to bargain. I offer you your life and that of the blonde girl for the contents of that envelope."

The man was made. Trading with the life of June Paterson — What tortures had he devised for her if Talcott refused? And how could he assent? He couldn't even speak!

"The baron said, "That hurt you, eh? Good! Now, you will do as I direct. You will not return that envelope and its contents to Halsey. You will take it instead direct to the office of Federal Chemical Company and there hand it to Mr. Winter's private secretary. You and she are to be alone when the transaction takes place. There will be no tricks. That is my bargain. You understand?"

A raving maniac. I want to smash your grinning face. I want to see the blood start from your nose as it started from Sebastien and MacDowell—

"Ah, you close your fist! You are very strong. It would be a pity to kill you—" He moved, swiftly, beyond the wardrobe; beyond Bill Talcott's vision. Minutes or perhaps hours passed, and then the sound, as of the scratching of fingernails, came from the bathroom door. Swiftly and unceremoniously Martha Swenson pulled a blanket over Talcott's eyes. When she removed it the bathroom door swung idly and von Stampf was gone.

He awoke suddenly, suprised that he had been aslep. He heard the sound of angry voices and lifted his head to stare with bleary eyes at a full-blown argument between Martha Swenson and the ship's physician. It didn't occur to him immediately that he was able to move again. The tableau was too itneresting.

Miss Swenson was dismissing her erstwhile swain in no uncertain terms. Telling him off for a fool, a sap, a sucker and a lecherous old dope.

Talcott grinned. It was very interesting to see the doctor's stuffiness being beaten out of him like dust out of a carpet. He stopped grinning quite suddenly when the door swung open to admit Captain Pringle, Halsey, Professor Constantine and—June Paterson.

Her eyes were frosty and she showed that she had heard enough of the argument to allow her to form some thoughts of her own. But Bill Talcott had no time for explanations.

"Pringle!" he called hoarsely. "Webber's still on the ship. He was just here—threatened June—"

"Martha Swenson turned. Her eyes, cold, furious, warning, blazed at him. Slowly she moved away, backing toward the bureau.

"Webber doped me with something," he continued doggedly. "On a pin in the lining of my sleeve. Not sure yet if I can stand— Watch that woman!"

Professor Constantine was nearest and he moved with remarkable sped for one who was usually so bewildered. Smashed the revolver to the floor, and with eyes averted, smothered the struggles of the insufficiently-clad Miss Swenson.

sion toward their homes, their families and even the communities in which they live? Here is a case in point:

I have some friends who have a daughter whom they sent to a private school. She had seven years of music lessons and then went to college; while the father never had more than one suit and one pair of shoes at a time, and the mother was equally shabby, but they always managed somehow to give the girl the clothes she wanted. This girl's roommate at college is from the moneyed class and she and the girl have a crush on each other.

Recently the girl's mother received a letter from the rich girl telling ing her what a bad mother she has been in not giving her daughter more spending money and fine clothes, and so on and so on. The daughter now believes her parents are at fault and, though she is and will be dependent on them for at least two years, she seldom writes and does not come home unless the roommate comes, too.

The girl is leaving college soon to go in training to be a nurse. Do you think she will get over this estrangement and come to appreciate the sacrifices her parents made for her? How should the parents act toward such a disloyal daughter? A FRIEND.

ANSWER: I have always thought that when parents make these sacrifices to give their children a better education than they had and advantages that they never enjoyed, they do one of the most heroic things in the world. For with their own hands they dig a chasm that separates them far more than death would. For with their love they could follow their dead child into the Other World and still have it belong to them, but into the New World into which they have lifted their live children they cannot go because they are not wanted.

Almost invariably the children are ashamed of them, of their lack of culture, of their homely ways, of the way they dress and eat, of their beliefs and opinions, and they want to get as far from them as is possible. They have no appreciation of the love that made the old father wear patched and out-of-style clothes that they might splurge in modish finery. They see no beauty in mother's knotted old hands that grew hard and stiff toiling to keep them in swanky schools.

They are too young, too callow, too ignorant to sense how fine the old people are and to be proud of having such a father and mother. A millionaire might love to sit at Mother's table and eat some of her home cooking. A savant might listen with delight to Father's homely wisdom. But not they. They would only see that there was just corned beef and cabbage for dinner and that Father's grammar was faulty.

There is no help for the situation. The parents have opened the door and the youn gbird has flown. Nothing will bring it back. Nothing will make the ungrateful grateful. Nothing will put love in the heart of the selfish. The parents' only consolation is hoping that somehow they have given the child they loved better than they did themselves a better chance in life than they had.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

It was a balmy summer's evening,
And a goodly crowd was there.

A nice crowd of our members turned out last night for our first local mixed tournament and while maybe the number was not as large as anticipated, nevertheless, for the first time, it was not too bad.

Playing on greens that had just been newly mowed and rolled, the competition was very keen, and some excellent bowling could be seen on anyone of the greens.

Introducing a card system, a new way of selecting rinks from the board, the committee is hoping of striking on an idea that will eventually eliminate so much writing, and while one try out is hardly a fair trial, yet we could see merit in the system as well as some difficulties. However credit must be given to a committee that is at least trying to do something for the good of all.

The winning skips were: J. Harrison, T. McMillan and Geo. Soulby. Tonight at 7.30 o'clock the usual week-end mixed tournament will be held. J. Baird is the convener of this tournament, so phone in your entry, early.

Nurse Escapes Japs

PERTH, Ont., June 6 (CP)—Mrs. Harry Johnston of Perth said last night she had been notified by cable that her daughter, the former Mary Johnston, is safe in the interior of China. Mrs. Johnston's daughter, a nurse, was in Hong Kong when the Japanese attack started but escaped to the mainland before the Island Fortress fell December 25. Her husband is an officer in the Chinese army.

Visiting Kai-Shek

CHUNGKING, June 5 — (AP).— Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell, American Commander of Chinese Forces which fought the Japanese in Burma, and Maj.-Gen. Lewis Brereton, Commander of United States Army Forces in India, arrived by plane to-day for conferences with Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek.

No Music After Curfew

CORNWALL, Ont., June 6 (CP) Local By-law which forbids Cornwall restaurant operators to have "jute-boxes" playing on their premises after 11.30 p.m., is to be amended. The new law will forbid all music after the curfew-hour. In the past, radios have been turned on in the restaurants after the record machines were closed down.

BETTER PAY FOR CHINESE

LONDON—(CP).—An agreement improving wages and condition of Chinese seamen serving in British ships was reached by representatives of the Chinese and British government, Chinese seamen and British shipowners.

This Week In Radio

Now that President Roosevelt has announced that Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle took off for Tokyo from a flying base at Shangri-La, the exact location of Shangri-La can now be revealed. Shangri-La, some experts at Radio Cities have deduced, is located at a point half way between Fibber McGee's Wistful Vista and Guiding Light's Five Points. The bustling city of Summerfield, center of the Great Gildersleeve's activities, is the chief metropolis. Further information can be obtained from Fibber and Molly's Uncle Dennis (if you can find him); Myrt, the telephone operator; Yehudi; Gracie Allen's missing brother; Vic and Sade's Aunt Bessie; Carmichael, the polar bear, or even Charley McCarthy's pal, Skinnay Dugan.

Nelson Eddy will return to cope with Charlie McCarthy on Sunday (CBL, 8.00 p.m.) The last time they met, Nelson tried to steal the show by taking over Charlie's comedy lines and Charlie hasn't forgotten.

Allan Wilkie, C.B.E., who has been associated with Shakesperian plays for over 40 years as actor and producer will be featured in the new "Dramatic Cameos" series starting Sunday, at 11.00 p.m. C.B.L. Scenes from Shakespeare and also from modern playrightsw ill make up these Sunday night bills.

"Cheers from the Camps" new and thrilling kind of radio program, this one by the nation's fighting men to their folks at home, has its premiere over C.F.R.B. on Tuesday at 9.30.

It's poor economy to abandon vacation altogether, but it is patriotic to make the holiday inexpensive. In a series heard on Thursdays at 4:00 entitled Wartime Vacations an outline will be given CBL listeners on how to have fun this summer without overburdening your budget.

CFRB announces that Madame Chiang Kai Shek will address radio listeners from China at 10.45 Saturday, June 13.

"It Runs In the Family" is a new story to be heard Saturday morning at 11 a.m. over WEAF. It is the story of the Creightons, a madcap "family next door", whose weekly adventures should provide lots of fun for radio listeners.

Nature sketches a radio course in natural history which has been a regular summer feature of WEAF for several years will return Saturday, June 13 at 3.00 p.m. The program will be heard weekly and will be built around a nature study field tour conducted in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colo.

Walter Huston's versatility will be demonstrated on Monday night when the veteran actor will be starred in "The Colossus of Panama", WEAF at 8.00 p.m.

The Examiner Carriers have volunteered to do their bit for the Defense Program by bringing War Savings Stamps right to your home.

25c WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

This Makes It Easy For You To

SAVE ENOUGH MONEY TO BUY A WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATE

Buy War Savings Stamps Now!

To those who ask, "What can I do to help in the present emergency" the Government answers—"Make the continued purchase of War Savings Stamps a regular part of your budget. Start now to invest in the future safety of your country." In offering these Stamps, our Carriers are co-operating with the Government—without profit or remuneration. For your convenience, you may buy one or more stamps each week—they are 25c each. You will be given an Official Folder that will hold 16 twenty-five cent War Savings Stamps that can be exchanged, for a $5.00 War Saving Certificate.

EACH WEEK you can buy from your Carrier one or more 25c War Savings Stamps. You pay him when he delivers the Stamps to you.

Fill in this Coupon and give it to your Examiner Carrier.

Order Blank for War Savings Stamps.

THE EXAMINER CARRIER:—

I want to do my bit for Canada by buying War Savings Stamps regularly. Bring them on your regular collection day.

I would like to have......War Savings Stamps each week.

Play Bang-Up Tennis—Expert Tells How

Footwork Is Important

Really learn to play a good game of tennis this year! You can, if you know the right way to clean up your weak points—that backhand, for instance!

Next time anyone plays to your backhand be able to smash back boldly! You don't have to be tricked out of position, running around the ball to hit it forehand.

Facing the left side line, with weight on left foot, hold head of racquet even with your waist and then swing it up and back as in top sketch. Turn your shoulders, pivot to gather power for your swing and bring your racquet round in an unbroken circular path.

Keeep racquet facing net until it hits the ball hard, waist-high. Then turn face of racquet gradually toward ground.

If your backhand still lacks power, you may be bringing your hand through ahead of the racquet. This cant happen if you backswing with your whole arm and keep your wrist firm. Or is your trouble slow footwork, poor timing?

Whatever it is, our 32-page booklet by George Agutter, famous tennis teacher, can help correct it. Gives diagrams, instructions to show how to hold the racquet, how to practise. Explains forehand, backhand, service, volley, footwork, lobbing.

NOTICE THE LOW CARD

PLAYING or discarding a high card, when your partner knows you have several lower ones, virtually screams at the top of its voice for your partner to lead that suit under all normal circumstances. Use of a small card, which your partner can tell definitely is your lowest, may not be so spectacular, but is just as definite an indication to him that you wish a different suit led, especially if some previous bid, lead or play by you has directed his attention toward some other one suit. Bear this in mind when your partner gives you a low card, and obey the injunction unless you have solid reasons for doing otherwise.

That weak bid of 1-Diamond by West was to interfere with the opponents, and was not particularly risky, as he had good distributional support for any suit his partner might bid. When West failed to keep his opponents out of game, and then led the spade 6 instead of a diamond, East should have been thinking about the possibility that his partner had a good spade suit, especially since the opponents did not bid it. But he did not think of that.

As soon as South won the opening lead with the spade Q, he finessed the club J, the K winning. On this trick, West discarded the diamond 6. Between his own hand and dummy, East could see the 5, 4, 3 and 2, and therefore should have known the 6 was West's lowest diamond. Consequently West must have been asking for a spade return. He, however, switched to a diamond, to the A, and the chance to beat the contract was gone. When the heart K later was lost to the A, East could have set the contract with a third spade lead if he had led the spades at his first chance. As it was, the show was over, South taking two tricks in spades, one in hearts, two in diamonds and four in clubs, a total of nine.

Bandit Perishes Bucking 100 Guards In Bank

OTTAWA, June 8 — (CP). —less robber who looked more like a circus clown than a desperado stalked into one of the largest banks in the United States yesterday in a foolhardy foray that was terminated quickly by a burst of gunfire which left him dead on the marble floor and sent two guards to hospital with bullet wounds.

The slain bandit was identified by investigators as Henry Karstens, alias James (Shotgun) Cummings, an ex-convict.

Scene of the bizarre attempt to snatch a share of the huge fortune stocked in drawer and vault was the banking department on the second floor of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Company on Le Salle Street in the Loop financial district. The time was shortly before 1 p.m., when the room teemed with score of patrons transacting business under the eyes of some of the 100 marksmen employed to protect as much as $2,000,000 in cash the institution sometimes has on hand.

Karstens was conspicuous as he made his entry. A white stocking cap slitted for the eyes served as a mask for his powdered face. His hands were encased in rubber gloves. He wore a topcoat over a hunting jacket. Suspended from his neck was a valise. In bag, belt and pocket were 150 shells and bullets, a pistol and a knife. He carried a shotgun under his arm.

Witnesses gave this account of the fantastic affair:

The gunman walked toward a cashier's wicket near the head of the stairs leading up from the street entrance. John Whelan, a guard, approached. he robber told him: "Drop your gun." Whelan ignored the order. Another guard, Thomas Lyons, stole up from behind with his revolver in hand.

The masked man, trapped, wheeled on Lyons and pulled the trigger of his shotgun. It failed to discharge, so he threw it against a wall and produced his pistol.

Men and women in the huge room scurried behind pillars and tumbled under desks while bullets whizzed.

When the hue and moil ceased, Karstens lay dead. Whelan was wounded in the jaw and shoulder and Lyons in the neck.

penditures required as they would depend on the course of the war, but the National Defence and other departments receiving payments under the measure were mentioned.

Want Debate Reduced.

Party leaders in the House will consult as to means of reducing the time spent in debate following a suggestion of D. A. McNiven (Lib. Regina City), who urged that the House sit on Wednesday and Friday evenings, and on Monday, Friday and Saturday mornings Mr. McNiven said the House should finish its business as quickly as possible and facilitate this by longer sittings.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the effect of prolonged sittings before the House was near the end of the session would probably result in members being so fatigued that there would be the danger of sittings being protracted. He thought the solution would be found in having an organized effort among the parties to have discussion limited in some way so that it would not take up an indefinite amount of time.

Conservative House Leader Hanson, Angus MacInnis (C.C.F. Vancouver East), who spoke in the absence of C.C.F. House Leader Coldwell, and New Democracy Leader Blackmore all said that members actually worked long hours, reaching their offices in the morning and often remaining until the House rose at 11 p.m. The party spokesmen agreed that some method of limiting debate might be arrived at.

At adjournment time, Resources Minister Crerar said that on Monday Finance Minister Ilsley would take up either the war risk insurance bill or a resolution standing in the Finance Minister's name to raise $750,000,000 by way of loan.

Not On Monday

Mr. Hanson asked: "Is it definite we shall not have Bill No. 80 on Monday?" (No. 80 is the government bill to amend the national resources mobilization act to empower the government to introduce conscription for military service anywhere.)

Mr. Crerar said "that may be understood," adding that the time when the bill was introduced would "depend on the progress we have made on the other measures."

In the course of the debate on the war appropriation measure, Mr. Blackmore said he believed the government could issue new money to the extent that many debts could be paid off while the war was continuing.

Mr. Ilsley said the government felt that it had in the issue of money because of the danger of inflation. Such issue of money would "burst the price ceiling," and "by a miracle," the ceiling held it would mean the indefinite continuance of the ceiling after the war because if this were not done prices would soar "desperately."

Mr. Ilsley informed John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) that the amount paid for subsidies to maintain the price ceiling up to June 2 was $4,482,308, with 7,746 of the 9,039 claims filed being for milk.

Mr. Diefenbaker inquired why the government had not placed a ceiling on interest rates under the program.

"The reason is that the risk varies so greatly that we did not think we could put a price ceiling on it" Mr. Ilsley said.

"Money is worth six per cent when it is lent on one class of risk and only three per cent when it is lent on another."

Tweed Principal 25 Years In One School

TWEED, June 6—(ENS)—A quarter of a century as Principal of Tweed Consolidated School, will be observed by S. H. Connor at the end of June. This is an enviable record as a school instructor, equalled by few teachers. Howard Connor came to Tweed twenty-five years ago from Moira, previous to which he had taught at Remington and Gilmour. A son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Connor, Madoc, he attended Normal School after having graduated from Madoc Public and High Schools.

He came to Tweed as Principal of the Public School and Consolidation of the local area took place in 1921. During that lengthy period, thousands of children have received their instruction from Mr. Connor, and all of them had the highest respect and regard for him. One of the outstanding examples was Herbert "Buck" Leal, Rhodes Scholarship winner at McMaster University. At least ten of his pupils have captured the Warden's Medal for the Inspectorate of Centre Hastings.

During his long residence in this village, Mr. Connor has been one of the most popular citizens. He joined the choir of the Methodist Church immediately after his arrival, and for the past ten years has served as leader at the United Church.

Always interested in athletics, he was a member of Tweed's famous baseball team in the early days. He has served on the Board of Directors and held the presidency and secretaryship of the Horticultural Society.

He is considered one of the most efficient principals of this section of the Province of Ontario, and is held in the highest regard by the local inspector, Mr. A. W. McGuire, and his colleagues on the staff of the school.

Obituary

JAMES J. FITZPATRICK

MARMORA, June 6 — (ENS) — News of the sudden passing of James Jeffrey Fitzpatrick of Stirling on Thursday afternoon was received in Marmora with feelings of deepest regret.

Mail carrier between Stirling and Marmora for the past 21 years this genial servant of the public enjoyed a popularity with all classes with whom he came into contact. He seemed to enjoy the requests for his weather forecasts and his ready wit and willingness to render favours added to the esteem in which he was held. A heart attack occurring after he had completed his daily run to Marmora proved fatal.

In his 65th year he was a native of Holloway, his parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick. He had resided for about 26 years in Stirling. An ardent sportsman and angler, he was known over a wide area in Hastings County. He was a faithful member of St. James' Church, Stirling.

Surviving are his bereaved wife, formerly Sarah Burke, one son John Fitzpatrick, Belleville; two daughters, Marguerite, Reg. N. and Marie of Stirling; also one sister, Mrs. Mary Shea of Stirling.

Requiem Mass at St. James', Stirling on Saturday with Rev. Father LeSage officiating was followed by interment in St. James' Cemetery.

LONDON, June 6 — (CP). — Another 21 Czechs have been put to death in reprisal for the shooting of Reinhard Heydrich, gestapo chief of Czecho-Slovakia, the Nazi-controlled Prague radio announced yesterday.

These deaths raised to 132 the toll exacted by the Germans since Heydrich was shot just a week ago. Twenty-three of the 132 were women.

Tweed Driver Is Given Month

TWEED, June 6—(ENS)—Convicted of drunk driving, George Pattison of Tweed, was sentenced to serve one month, in the common jail by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd. In addition Pattison was assessed costs amounting to $28.75.

The increased jail sentence resulted after Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., revealed to the court that it was the second time Pattison had been convicted of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The accused man's driving license was ordered suspended for a period of three months.

Pattison was apprehended while driving a motor vehicle in Tweed last Saturday evening by Chief J. C. Hayes, after the officer had followed the accused for some considerable distance before he could bring his car to a halt, the officer related in court.

Without appearing in court, Russell Lucas, of Tweed, paid $10.00 and costs after being apprehended by Chief Hayes and found to be in illegal possession of game fish (pickerel) out of season.

A.R.P. Wardens To Receive Bands

A.R.P. wardens who have just completed a series of lectures dealing with the various phases of their work will receive their reward on Tuesday night at the Lyceum when they will receive their registration cards and arm bands, so that they will be identified in their work during air raids and blackouts. This ceremony will follow a special showing of a film entitled "Working of a Warden's Post" and the swearing in by His Worship Mayor Hamilton, who is also chairman of the Peterborough Civil Defence Committee (A.R.P.).

The registration cards and arm bands carry the same number which has been allotted to each warden from the 3,000 numbers allotted to Peterborough A.R.P. area by the Ontario Civilian Defence Committee. Last week the wardens met by divisions to complete their organization and they were placed in their posts and their sectors outlined and they were requested to make careful surveys of their sectors for the various factors entering into a warden's work. They were also given an outline of their task of visiting the householders in their sectors in which they will obtain some information from each householder as to the number of invalids and aged persons and the number of children under five years of age in each house, so that these persons can be easily evacuated in conjunction with the transportation service in case of necessity. On their visits to the householder they will also leave a card which in addition to giving the information as to the location of the sector post in that area, will also give a great deal of useful information regarding "what to do in a blackout or an air raid," "how to deal with an incendiary bomb," "how to equip a refuge room," etc. These cards will be ready for distribution shortly it is hoped, and the wardens who are all giving their time freely and cheerfully in the important task of A.R.P. will no doubt be greeted cordially by all citizens, while making their rounds.

Midway's outpost is poised like a dagger over Japan's Marshall Islands to the southwest and the enemy's big gamble its first with such heavy and costly armament in all the battles it has waged at sea to date, is indicative of its determination to knock out the possible stepping stone to a westward resurgence of the United States in the Pacific.

YOU CAN STILL BUILD!

Essential Building Materials Are Still Available—
Building Costs Are Only Slightly Increased

Over recent months there has been a great deal of mis-information circulated about the cost of building and whether or not contractors can complete houses for civilian occupation—

HERE ARE THE FACTS—

1—You can still build homes under $5,000 without a license from the Controller of Construction—over $5,000 a license is necessary.

2—A contractor can still get all materials necessary for home construction

In addition to the foregoing, any building which you do will help to relieve the housing shortage and thus allow out-of-town workers to find accommodations.

Midnight, 2 a.m. Raids Do Little Damage, German Only Casualty

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 8 — (CP). — Japanese ocean-going submarines, slipping into New South Wales coastal waters under cover of darkness, shelled the cities of Sydney and Newcastle early today in an attack officially described as a "nuisance raid."

The shelling, second sea-borne attack on Australia's mainland since the start of the war, caused minor damage and one casualty. Edward Hirsch, 40, a refugee who left Germany five years ago, suffered a broken leg in Sydney.

At least two submarines took part in the attack as the short time gap between the shellings made it impossible for one submarine to have carried out both jobs.

Coastal artillery fired at the raiders, aiming a. the submarines' gun flashes, with undetermined effect.

Sydney was attacked first. A submarine there opened fire at 12.05 a.m., hurling a small number of shells into the east Sydney suburban area. One damaged a block of flats. The enemy fire ended after 15 minutes.

At 2 a.m., gunfire aroused Newcastle, 80 miles to the north, where the enemy fired a few rounds at intervals during a 15-minute attack. Three or four shells crashed into streets near the beach but caused little damage ap from broken windows, and no casualties.

(Exchange Telegraph said the shells were of German origin.

Not Helping Britain

LONDON, June 8—(AP)—The B.B.C. today quoted a newspaper published in Frankfort as admitting that the German Air Force is unable at present to strike back at Britain with full force.

"The German Air Force is engaged on many fronts and is not going to do England the favor of altering its plans, thereby relieving pressure on the Russians," the paper said.

3-Day Nazi Blitz Crumples On Sevastopol

MOSCOW, June 8. —(AP) —Despite massive German efforts to batter down Sevastopol by land and air assault, the Russians announced today that the Soviet naval base-fortress which has withstood seven months of siege still stands as Russia's last stronghold in the Crimea.

The Nazi were said to have paid heavily for their three-day onslaught, apparently a supreme effort to erase the final barrier to total conquest of the Black Sea peninsula.

The Soviet information bureau's midnight communique which said 528 German planes had been destroyed against 151 Russian losses in the week ended yesterday indicated the weight of the Nazi air assault on Sevastopol since there had been no report of major air activity on any other sector.

The droves of German planes were backing up a sustained land offensive but the Russians said the Nazis had suffered heavy losses and had been stopped by combined Soviet land and air defences.

The Nazi have a two-fold furpose in striving ot reduce the Sevastopol stronghold which would justify the huge cost of men and machines piled up on its unyielding defences through repeated stabs.

Capture of Savastopol stronghold would eliminate a dangerous Russia position on the flank of any German attempt to jump the narrow Kerch Strait from the Crimea for a drive into the Caucasus.

Loss of Sevastopol would deprive the Russians of their last Black Sea naval base within short striking distance of the German invasion route through the Crimea.

Other sectors of the long Russian front were marked during the week-end by lively scouting as both sides apparently kept sharp watch for signs of any major new offensive.

Although hampered by bad weather, the Red Air Force destroyed 43 German planes and damaged 17 to 20 others in raids on enemy air bases in the far north where the Nazis have been concentrating air power in an attempt to disrupt Russia's Arctic supply line from Britain and the United States.

U.S. Destroyer Is Lost; 2 Jap Carriers Take All Planes Down

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PEARL HARBOR, June 8 (AP)—Six months after their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, the Japanese were reeling back today under the most humiliating defeat in their naval history, with American forces in relentless pursuit.

At least three enemy warships were sunk; 13 or more damaged.

Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander in chief of the United States Pacific fleet, in a brief communique, said the enemy, which launched an aerial attack on Dutch Harbor Wednesday and an attack by fleet and air arms on Midway Island Thursday appeared to be withdrawing. Contact was lost during the night, he said, but this did not mean pursuit had been abandoned.

The communique announced the sinking of a Japanese destroyer and additional damage on two enemy cruisers. Sinking of a American destroyer was announced.

This was the first mention of the sinking of an American warship in the four-day battle. Most of the personnel of the destroyer was picked by other ships. Previously the only reported damage to an American ship was a hit on an aircraft carrier, with some of its planes lost.

Nimitz in earlier communiques reported the sinking of two and perhaps three Japanese aircraft carriers and the destruction or damage of at least 13 other enemy warships.

Carriers Take Planes Down

He said that all planes on the two definitely sunk carriers were lost and that one or two other enemy carriers were damaged with the loss of most of their planes.

Other enemy warships listed as casualties were three battleships damaged, one heavily; four cruisers damaged, two heavily; three transports damaged, and the destroyer reported sunk in last night's communique. The same announcement said it was not yet determined whether the two cruisers were in addition to cruisers reported damaged in earlier reports. Nimitz said some of the enemy warships damaged were so thoroughly battered they may not be able to reach their bases.

US Seaboard Gas 4 Gals. a Week

WASHINGTON, June 8—(AP)—Motorists of the United States' eastern coast will get an average basic ration of nearly four gallons of gasoline a week under the regular coupon-book system starting next month, Joel Dean, ofifce of price administration fuel rationing administrator, said to-day.

Under the present temporary program non-essential drivers are allowed about thee gallons weekly.

(The amount of gasoline which may be purchased under Canada's rationing plan which went into effect April 1, ranges from 300 to 380 gallons a year for non-essential automobiles and to almost an unlimited supply for all types of commercial vehicles. Motorists are allowed a specific number of units according to category).

Dean told reporters the additional ration woud be permitted because of tighter control made possible under the new plan. Considerably fewer 'B' coupons will be issued, Dean explained, since motorists will be required to prove need for supplementary allowances.

They must show to the satisfaction of local rationing boards that

Red Spearhead Worries Hun

Fear Soviets Now Past Smolensk May Swing Either Way

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

KALININ, Russia, June 8 (AP)—The Russian army is holding a spearhead deep in Germany's side on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow.

This explains why the Germans are making repeated reconnaissance raids and desperately resisting Russian attacks here, a Red army officer told me on a visit to this base, one of the most active along the entire 2,000-mile Russian front.

The Germans fear a Russia threat from the salient stretching farther west than Smolensk, and are making every effort to find out the Soviet strength. They are trying to keep meticulous check on troop movements.

The latest attack reported over the week-end was a reconnaissance in force, one of the largest local engagements in recent weeks. The Russians repulsed the assault, made by an infantry battalion supported by artillery and tanks.

The terrain of the Kalinin front still is held in the grip of a long, wet spring and is not yet suitable for large-scale operations. Rains continue and rivers still are at flood stage over low-lying fields and swamps. Only the main road can be used for transport.

The cause for the Germans' concern about the Kalinin spearhead salient is that it may twist north or south and cut out the roots of their communications lines.

The city of Kalinin lies far behind the front despite a recent Rome report of fighting in its outskirts.

The officer to whom I talked was Col. Andrei Kharchenko.

He said that he drove 75 miles from the Hzhev sector the day before to reach Kalinin and that the village he left was only barely within hearing distance of the front line artillery.

The nearest living German to Kalinin, he said, was about 70 miles away. The only signs of battle he saw on the way were remnants of the German army left behind in the winter campaigns, he said. The only activity were German planes which tried to bomb a bridge at Staritsa. Two were shot down.

Want Better Employer-Staff Tie To Beat Man Shortage, Up Output

TORONTO, June 8—(CP).—Elliott M. Little, director of National Selective Service, declared today that Canada is approaching an "extreme labor shortage," criticized "front-office" methods of business management and appealed for improved employer-employee relations based on mutual confidence.

"Make your men your teammates," he told a meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association," and nothing can stop the people of Canada from attaining a production rate that will surprise us."

Naming time as the "number one element of them all," Mr. Little urged employers "to do something about it and do something about it fast" because every minute wasted was a minute donated ' Hitler.

"The answer is in getting your employees to help you run your job," he said. "You must go actively after their advice and the full use of their experience."

Employer-employee relationships h: to be improved. With good relations, "near miracles" could be performed. This was t "coddling" or "some new-fangle idea."

"As employers, we have been very bright about getting the new machinery or adopting t new technique," Mr. Little said. "Yet too many of us ignore the man who operates the machine. The man on whose co-operation depends its maximum efficiency.

"We try to run everything from the front office. Yet the key to correct this nistake hangs in the front office. Whether you have good employer-employee relations depends almost entirely on the attitude at the top, and must stem from there."

B.B.C. Hints Liberation Near; Strip Belgium to Pyrenees Labelled As "Danger Area"

Inhabitants Advised To Hurry Departures, British Heads Decline To Interpret Tip As Broadcast Warns Of Menace To Civilians

LONDON, June 8—(CP).—The B.B.C. warned residents of the German-occupied French coastal regions today to evacuate to the interior.

The broadcast said the occupied coast would become "more and more a theatre of operations."

British sources, however, would not discuss the meaning of the broadcast, saying it would have to stand for itself without interpretation.

The warning was made in the French language news program and said that operations of "capital importance" in the struggle for the liberation of France would start in due time—at the moment when they would be of the greatest advantage to the Allied cause.

It added that they "obviously" would involve danger for the civilian population.

Frenchmen were advised to leave the coastal strip from the Belgian border to the Pyrenees — the mountain frontier with Spain—which has been marked off by the Nazis as a military zone.

This was the second such bulletin of instructions to the French since the British commando raid on St. Nazaire late in March.

It emphasized that evacuation was the only "effective precaution" and urged inhabitants of the coastal areas to hurry their departures as much as possible.

Britain's Notitce No. 2.

Following is the English text of a French broadcast by the B. B. C. to-day warning the French populace to evacuate German-held coastal areas of France.

After the St. Nazaire raid we issued a notice to all Frenchmen and especially to those of the coastal region. That notice was No. 1.

Here is notice No. 2. It is addressed to all Frenchmen resident in the prohibited zone from the Belgian frontier to the Pyrenees.

The coastal regions of occupied France are likely to become more and more a theatre of war operations. For obvious reasons it is not possible to specify in advance either the moment or place of such operations. They will be executed at the most opportune moment and everywhere they will be useful.

They will inevitably bring with them the gravest dangers for the civil population. Consequently, we urge all Frenchmen in the prohibit-

Czechs Goaded Out To See Heydrich Rites

BERLIN, (from German Broadcasts), June 8. —(AP) — The body of Reinhard Heydrich, assassinated "protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, arrived here to-day and was borne from an analter statiton through the streets with a motor escort and a blackshirt guard to Prince Albrecht palace in the Wilhelmstrasses.

The body will be taken tomorrow to a hall in Hitler's Reichschancellery for a state funeral.

The body of the Gestapo purge master, who died of his wounds four days ago, was taken to Berlin from Prague where his coffin was carried yesterday through streets lined with silent Czechs commanded by the grim Gestapo to turn out for the ceremony.

Thirteen Czechs, shot by execution squads during the week-end, brought to 216 the number put to death in the hard-handed Nazi reprisals for the attack on Heydrich.

Hanson Asks All Hong Kong Facts

OTTAWA, June 8—(CP).—A full-dress debate on circumstances surrounding despatch of the ill-fated Canadian expedition to Hong Kong appeared likely today to be added to conscription and other issues which promise to keep Parliament in session all Summer.

The Conservative House Leader, Hon. R. B. Hanson issued a statement Sunday to the effect that he would ask for such a discussion if he decided that an indictment of the report by Lt.-Col George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, was supported by facts.

Mr. Hanson, Sunday, issued the following statement:

"When I read in the press Col. Drew's very definite and categorical challenge to the report of the commissioner, Sir Lyman Duff, on the Hong Kong expedition, I immediately called upon Col. Drew to supply me with the facts upon which he indicts the report. It will be recalled that the Colonel was named counsel on my nomination.

"In the course of the inquiry, Col. Drew complained to me that very important information was being refused presentation to the commissioner by the Government and that, as a matter of fact, never was produced. To this extent, I was previously aware of the points raised in Col. Drew's published announcement of Saturday.

2 Hun Generals In Canuck Camp

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP)—Behind barriers of internment camps in Canada today were thousands of additional prisoners of war, among them two German generals.

Announcement of the arrival in the Dominion of the prisoners came last night from the office of Defence Minister Ralston. Movement of the captured men was completed before anything was made public about it.

It was assumed that the contingent of prisoners came from Libya and that the men were captured in engagements fought in its arid

Naval Action Still On Off Dutch Harbor

Little News Comes Out Of Far North As Japs Try For 2nd Major U.S. Outpost

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The victory over the Japs at Midway—an atoll that is minute in size but vast in military importance—must have far-reaching effects on the Battle of the Pacific, which the men of Nippon started six months ago and now are finding difficult to finish.

On the face of returns thus far, the punishment administered to the enemy off Midway would justify rejoicing. However, naval operations also are proceeding off Dutch Harbor, Alaska, and it would be well to restrain enthusiasm until the whole story become available.

While some points still are obscure, a fairly comprehensive picture of the general situation to date can be had by combining the statements from Admiral Ernest King, Command in Chief of the United States Fleet, and news dispatches from headquarters.

The Japanese, combining necessity with strategic speculation, picked Midway and Dutch Harbor as the subjects of their attention. In making this selection, the Japs figure they could at least carry out a hit-and-run bombing of these two bases, and if things went well they might develop the attacks into major operations. The point is that both islands are of vast strategic value.

The midget Midway is the outpost of Hawaii and Pearl Harbor, and since the latter is the key to the Pacific, the little atoll becomes a mighty important part of the defences of North America. If the Japs could capture it they would have obtained a base from which they could raid Pearl Harbor. What is more important, they would have a base from which they could launch an offensive, with the west coast of North America and the Panama Canal as ultimate objectives.

But that isn't all. Midway is a sentinel over the supply line to Australia, and possession of the island would facilitate Nipponese efforts to cut Allied shipping routes and thus cripple this continental base which is a rapidly-growing menace to consolidation of the Mikado's conquests.

Dutch Harbor, set down amidst the fogs and violent storms of the Far North, bars the northwest route to Alaska. In other words it is the guardian of the northwest approach to this continent.

Thus, in attacking Midway and Dutch Harbor the Niponnese were aiming blows at vital spots. The enemy naively hoped he could spring a surprise and capture at least Midway.

Women Step Into The Scene

Now Handle Two-Thirds Of All Rifle Factory Work

OTTAWA, June 8. —(CP) — The onus of replacing men in war industry rests with young unmarried women or married women with no children, says Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver.

As newly-appointed assistant director of the National Selective Service Directorate, women's division, Mrs. Eaton declares younger women who can stand the gaff should enlist in industry with the same spirit of self-sacrifice as young men who have enlisted for fighting service.

If Mrs. Eaton has her way, married women will be let in the home to carry on Canada's family life as long as possible.

But if women generally must meet the needs of war industry, they'll do it eagerly and enthusiastically, Mrs. Eaton said in a interview. Hundreds of letters have already poured into her office, from women in all parts of Canada demanding to know what jobs they can do.

In January, 1942, two-thirds of all factory employees in rifle manufacture, two-fifths in machine guns and one-quarter of those making anti-aircraft guns in Canada were wom-

Hitler Knows He Can't Win

1st Doses Of Defeat Already Given Says Halifax

SYRACUSE, N.Y., June 8 (AP)—"I feel pretty sure that Hitler himself knows that he cannot now win this year," Viscount Halifax declared today.

The British Ambassador to the United States pointed to the Allies "real and crushing" air superiority, the Russian campaign, and progress in combatting enemy U-boats as grounds for United Nations' confidence and "misgivings in the Axis camp."

The war has demonstrated air superiority to be "the precondition of a large scale action on land and at sea," he asserted in a prepared address at Syracuse University's 71st commencement exercises. He added:

"Lubeck, Rostock, Cologne, Essen and Tokyo are the first real doses of a pretty potent medicine that we have long been brewing for Hitler, Hirohito and other members of the gang."

Chancellor William Graham bestowed Doctor of Laws degrees on Lord Halifax, and Brazilian Ambassador Carlos Martins Periera e Sousa.

BRITISH ARTILLERY UNITS STOP ADVANCE OF ROMMEL'S FORCES

Libyan Tank Battle In 14th Day

Artillery Again Stops Rommel's Units At Knightsbridge

CAIRO, Egypt, June 8—(AP). — The great tank battle in the Libyan Desert roared into its 14th day today with British and Free French forces apparently holding the upper hand after repulsing new Axis attacks at Knightsbridge and Bir Hacheim.

British Headquarters reported that artillery fire had smashed another attempt by Field-Marshal Erwin Rommel's columns yesterday to break through toward Tobruk, 15 miles north-east of Knightsbridge.

At the same time a communique said. the Free French at Bir Hacheim threw back a tank assault at that bastion menacing the right flank of Rommel's forces.

It was the second time in as many days that the Axis chieftain had been repulsed in an attempt to break through at Knightsbridge.

Yesterday, British Headquarters said, Rommel twice hurled his full remaining armored strength into the British positions in this sector, only to be driven back with losses.

Military quarters said the Axis mechanized forces still were being reinforced through the gap in the British minefields between Ain El Gazala and Bir Hacheim, but it was believed that their lines of communication were severely strained under

Hard Fighting

CHUNGKING, June 8—(AP). — The high command declared today that fighting was continuing at the outskirts of Chuhsien, the rail line town in western Chekiang Province, and said Chinese forces were putting up stiff resistance against a Japanese drive to close in on the Chekiang battlefront from Kiangsi Province to the west.

(The Japanese claimed Saturday that they had taken Chuhsien and said they were mopping up resistance in that area, within bombing range of Japan).

Deny Poison Gas

TOKYO (From Japanese broadcast), June 8 (AP)—Tomokazu Hori, Japanese spokesman, denied today the Japanese are using poison gas against the Chinese.

"Japan has never used poison gas so far and does not intend to use it unless international laws are violated by the enemy," Hori said.

Indians Stand Firm

LONDON, June 8 (CP) — The British Broadcasting Corporation said today an Indian Brigade, containing many troops who had never before been in action, stood up against two German divisions in the first attack against Bir Hacheim and blunted the Nazi drive.

The BBC said the Indian troops had "few arms" in their stand against the German forces.

The brief statement from Col. Ralston's office said the prisoners included two German generals. They were not named.

But from information received from other sources it was believed that they were Maj.-Gen. Arthur Schmidt and Gen. Von Ravenstein.

Schmidt at one time commanded the Libyan port of Bardia and Von Ravenstein was in command of an armored division in the western desert. After their capture they were taken to South Africa last March.

I.O.D.E. Collects $210 for Navy League

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8. — (ENS). — Members of the I.O.D.E. exceeded by a bare two dollars the amount collected for the Navy League last year. They gathered a total of $210 from citizens of Campbellford and district in their daylong canvass here on Saturday in which nearly the entire membership of the Bemersyde Chapter with the assistance of several from the Trent Valley Chapter patrolled the business section and residential areas. It was eleven o'clock in the evening before a complete summary of the returns was released by the Regent, Mrs. G. A. Ironside, who expressed her appreciation on behalf of the Chapter for the generous support citizens gave to the drive.

(4) THREE-TON DENTAL SPECIAL

This mobile dental clinic is designed to follow the armies right into the field. Now in use by the Dental Corps overseas, it is Canadian dentistry's answer to war of movement, where, if treatment was to be available to troops close to the line, the "Dentals" would have to be equipped to move with them.

This three-ton, four-wheel drive lorry accommodates a fully equipped dental office and a fully equipped dental laboratory. It can go anywhere, by road or cross country. Both office and lab, including tables, chairs, drills and cabinets, are so compact they may be contained entirely in four trunks. The windows on either side of the clinic are of armor-plate glass set in rubber molding. Usually one chair and its equipment are used but it is possible to have two. The trunk also carries X-ray apparatus. The body is insulated against weather and noise.

Kinsmen Double Milk Objective

TORONTO, June 6. — The Association of Kinsmen Clubs of Canada have purchased and shipped 3,000,160 quarts of milk to Britain's children in the past nine months. Last September the Kinsmen National War Services Committee pledged their organization to deliver 1,500,000 quarts of whole Canadian milk before July 1st, 1942. To-day's announcement shows that objective fulfilled, and doubled, nearly a full month ahead of schedule. Shipments will continue as long as the need exists, the Kinsmen's War Services Committee state.

On August 6, 7, and 8th the Kinsmen Clubs of Canada and Newfoundland will meet in annual convention in Vancouver, B. C. It is confidently expected that the Milk-for-Britain fund will be reported to the Convention as having purchased and shipped, at that time, close to four million quarts instead of the million and a half originally promised the British and Canadian government authorities.

The large sum of money necessary to buy, insure and deliver this huge supply of vital, sorely needed milk for Britain's children has been raised through Kinsmen activities, the contributions of other organizations and the dimes, nickels and dollars dropped into the familiar Milk-for-Britain bottles in 21,000 neighbourhood stores in all parts of Canada. Men, women and children; business organizations, public and private school groups, women's organizations, clubs, fraternal societies and many large and small patriotic groups have all shared in the prompt and impressive response to the appeal of little children in Britain. Ten cents buys a quart of milk and every dime contributed by these organizations is spent entirely on the purchase and delivery of the milk, Kinsmen state.

Girl Injured By Bicyclist

Edna Robbins, 15, of 107 Rubidge street, was struck and knocked down by a hit-and-run bicyclist as she walked south on the C.N.R. tracks between Westcott and George streets on Saturday morning.

The girl was on her way to work at the Brinton Carpet works when the cyclist also riding south ploughed into her and knocked her down. She struck her head on the rails, had one tooth knocked out and several others loosened and was rendered unconscious for a short time.

Another Brinton Carpet Company employee assisted her to a house on Westcott street where she received first aid.

The cyclist failed to stop after the accident, riding his wheel away from the scene.

More This War

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—The Belgian government announced today more persons have been executed by the Gestapo in Belgium in this war than were put to death by the Germans in the last war, when 250 fell before firing squads.

A government spokesman said that the names of 83 persons executed, including three women and an 11-year-old child, have been published by the Nazis but that "we know of many times this number."

Weekend Toll Takes 8 Lives

By the Canadian Press.

Eight fatalities were reported in Ontario over the week-end— four from traffic accidents, two from drowning and 2 from other causes, Five of them occurred in the Niagara Peninsula.

Most unusual of the fatal accidents was the death at the Deer Park Golf and Country Club, Grimsby, of A. J. Williams, 30, of Hamilton. A spectator at a golf tournament he was killed instantly when struck on the head by a golf ball as he stepped into the path of a 100-yard iron shot on the first hole.

Pierrette Servais, 22-months-old child, was killed on Saturday by her father's truck when he was backing out of a laneway in Cornwall.

Gilbert North, 19, died on Sunday of injuries received in St. Catharines when he was thrown from his motorcycle in collision with an automobile.

Thomas Blaskevitch, 28, of Hamilton, was instantly killed on Sunday when thrown from the tandem seat of a motorcycle.

Roy Duffy Livingston died on Saturday after the car he was driving collided with two other machines on the Queen Elizabeth Way Beach cutoff near Hamilton.

Ann Bruce five, drowned in Hamilton Bay on Sunday when she fell from an abutment into the harbor.

The body of Mrs. Jenseffa Pavan, 20, an Italian, was recovered on Sunday in the Detroit River. Police believed she became despondent because of her inability to find work, and her classification as an enemy alien.

Donat Menard died in a Hawkesbury hospital on Sunday after being struck by a piece of lumber while feeding wood into a saw.

ed zone to take precautions from now on.

The only effective precaution is to evacuate in the shortest time the prohibited coastal zones as delimindated by the Germans. We do not underestimate the difficulties of such an evacuation nor the obstacles which will be presented.

If we urge you to overcome them it is because it affects the success of operations of capital importance in the struggle for the liberation of France.

It has been shown on several occasions that the presence of a civilian population on the scene of active operations hinders the action of the troops and particularly, of friendly troops in a very grave manner.

Don't wait until the last moment. It would be too late. Go away at the earliest possible moment. For those who don't have the possibility to go we repeat with new insistence some of the instructions contained in Notice No. 1.

Holstein Men Hold Field Day

More than three hundred farmers of Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Northumberland and Peterborough Counties attended the district Field Day of the Holstein Breeders' Association here on Saturday.

The morning program, centred around the judging of three classes of cattle, six animals in each class, from the herds of local members of the association. Sixty-four men competed in their section, 52 women in a section assigned to them, and 24 boys in the junior group.

Prizes were cash to the first nine competitors in each group, contributed by the association, a halter by Dr. H. A. Worton, and bags of dairy rations donated by local feed dealers, to the first two boys, first two women and to the second, third and fourth in their group.

A set of scales received from the DeLaval Company was allotted to Arthur Ward of Dartford, winner of the men's group, together with the association's cash prize. The other prize-winners in this section in the order of scoring were:

James T. Brown Bowmanville; Gordon Stalker; J. Cruikshank, Hampton; Roy Ogleston; Ivason Tamblyn, Orono, and Harold Hancock, Oshawa, tied; Robert Snowden, Bowmanville; L. Metcalfe, Bowmanville.

Winners in the women's group were:

Mrs. Wesley Thompson; Myrtle Tamblyn, Orono; Mrs. C. E. Moore; Mrs. J. T. Brown, Bowmanville Mrs. E. L. Anderson, Campbellford and Mrs. Stewart Nelson, Campbellford, tied; Mrs. R. Ogleston, Mrs. Fred Ormiston, Brooklyn; Phyllis Moore.

Burritt Mann of Bridgenorth turned in the top score in the boys' competition, and was awarded Dr. Worton's halter and a cash prize. The other boys in the first flight were:

Maurice Taylor, Burketon; Alan Drummond; Gordon Isaac, Ontario County; John Edmison; Harold Beatty; Clare Collins; Francis Jose, Newcastle; Donald Hall Reaboro, tied with Glen Tamblyn, Orono.

The judging competitions were held at the farm of Norman W. McConkey, and arrangements for the morning program were highly commended by the visitors.

Weather was delightful for the picnic dinner at tables on the east side of the canal below the Lift Lock. Stewart Nelson, president of the Peterborough County Association, was chairman of the after lunch program of speeches featuring Miss Agnes Macphail.

Other speakers were Bruce McNevin, M.P., Victoria County, Roy Ormiston, Ontario County president; James T. Brown, Bowmanville, Durham president; W. J. Murphy, Lindsay, president of the Victoria Branch; and Robert Holtby of Port Perry who presented several R.O.P. certificates, one of them to Ray McLaughlin.

The consensus of the Holstein officers was that Peterborough's Association had managed one of the most successful field days in the history of the district.

Find Detective Shot In Garage

HAMILTON, Ont, June 8. —(CP) —Detective Joseph Duffy, found early to-day in the garage at the rear of his home suffering from a gunshot wound in his left side, was stated at hospital to be in satisfactory condition.

He was found by members of the family who notified the detective department. They were told that Duffy attended mass yesterday as usual and was scheduled to go on duty at 4 p.m. yesterday. After returning from church he went out again and said he would be back home before going on duty, but did not return and the family assumed he had gone directly to the Central Police station.

It was not until the garage door was noticed open this morning that the family investigated and found the officer lying unconscious.

Dr. J. C Eager said the detective's condition was favorable.

11,000 to 12,000

LONDON, June 8—(CP)—Reuters said in a dispatch datelined "at the French frontier" today that Otto Abetz, the German "Ambassador" in Paris had acknowledged in conversations that 11,000 to 12,000 persons were killed in the R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. bombing of Cologne, and that 180,000 persons had been ordered evacuated.

Day of Reckoning Close—Arnold

MOUNT PLEASANT, Ia., June 8—(AP).—Lt.-Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the United States Army Air Force, declared here today that "for every one of our planes shot down, the Japs have lost four."

In an address prepared for the 100th annual commencement of Iowa Wesleyan College, at which he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, the general said "the day of reckoning is not as far off as some people think."

The general, who recently returned from Europe, said he "did not fly to London to go on the defensive."

"Raids like those on Cologne and Essen were just starters to those which are to follow where U.S. and R.A.F. fighters and bombers ride the skies as a team"

H said, "The Axis knows that the next six months will spell victory or defeat for their forces. For the Axis it is now or never."

By the end of this year, the general said, the army air force will have "over 60,000 officers and close to a million men. By June of next year, if it becomes necessary, we will double that."

No More Stamps

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP)—Government officials have received a telegram from the Twin-City Labor Council at Kitchener, Ont., saying it would request all members to cancel subscription to war savings certificates today if the government "continues to withhold action against Dumarts Ltd., for illegal lockout," it was learned today.

A spokesman for the labor department said it was not anticipated there will be any reply to the wire.

Bomb Lies Year Blast Kills 19

LONDON, June 8 (CP Cable)—An undetected German bomb which lay long unexploded caused a blast that wrecked a large section of the Elephant and Castle district of London Saturday night, the government announced Sunday.

Casualties totalled at least 19 dead and 59 injured while scores of families were rendered homeless when five three-storey tenements were demolished and many smaller buildings damaged.

Searchers probing the ruins for buried victims found a 20-foot crater in a basement where the bomb had been concealed, at least since May 10, 1941, the date of the last Nazi attack on the area.

R.A.F. Shoots Up Holland Base Pounds Emden

LONDON, June 8 (CP)—British planes attacked targets in Northern France and Holland last night and damaged a German ship off the Frisian Islands, the Air Ministry announced today, but bad weather over the continent kept the R.A.F. from following up its Saturday night assault on Emden with another massed raid on Germany.

All the planes which participated the overnight operations returned safey to their bases, a communique said.

Fighter command planes which carried out the sweeps over France bombed a railway yard near Caen and shot up a train at Montdidier, 21 miles southeast of Amiens. A lone Boston bomber also attacked the German airdrome at Leeuwarden, Holland, 70 miles from Amsterdam.

It was the second time within a week that weather had interrupted the R.A.F.'s offensive, bad conditions likewise having kept the air armadas away from Germany last Thursday night.

There was only light German aerial activity over Britain during the night and this was confined to the southwest coast, where, a communique said, bombs caused a few casualties and damage to residences.

Hundreds of British planes — among them many four-engined craft capable of carrying tremendous bomb loads—participated in the Saturday night assault upon Emden, one of the main bases for German submarines harassing the Atlantic shipping lanes. Canadian airmen participated in this raid.

No Fighters, Light Flak

Sgt. Art Hammond of Fort Frances, Ont., whose navigator was Sgt. Murray Brown of Toronto, said "great fires" were burning when he left Emden.

"We didn't see a single fighter and the flak didn't bother us," said PO. Robert Teillet of St. Boniface, Man., a navigator.

One target was the Nordenseewerk submarine factory and another

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, June 9

PERPLEXING as well as conflicting auguries are found in this day's astrological forecast. While there are several excellent prospects for a progressive and prosperous state of affairs, yet there may be dangers of impulsive, rash, tempestuous acts of a ruthless or drastic suddenness. This might precipitate violent or passionate deeds bound to negate the benefic influence.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves deep in a year in which their progress and good fortune depend upon individual restraints, moderation and control, with a shrewd and capable manipulation of excellent prospects for constructive enterprise with sound and enduring fulfillments. There may be suddenly arising situations calling for decisive or drastic action, but such should be pursued with temperate and wise methods, not tempest, turbulence and confusion.

A chid born on this day should htve excellent abilities and initiative for enduring success and good fortune.

Nazi Friction

LONDON, June 8—(CP). — The Belgian Government reported today that fights have broken out between German troops returned from the Russian front and German occupations forces in some places in Belgium.

The Government said 5,000 Nazis recently arrived at Binche from the Eastern front and that the fights occurred after the front troops criticized the occupation forces in the town.

Spring Fair Big Success At Millbrook

MILLBROOK, June 8 —(ENS)— For over fifty years no Spring Fair has been held at Millbrook, although this used to be an annual event in the community, but on Saturday, there was a successful revival of this popular exhibition, under the auspices of the local Agricultural Society, which was reorganized within recent weeks, and now has representatives of a number of the breeders' clubs of the district on its directorate. Robert McCamus is the new president.

It was estimated that fully one thousand people passed through the gates on Saturday, the receipts being approximately $200 and over $100 received in entry fees. All classes were well filled, and the quality of the exhibits of horses, cattle, and swine, was in the top register. Loud speaker service was provided by Johnston's radio service, of Peterborough, and a feature that added much to the enjoyment and interest throughout the fair was the announcing, by S. S. Staples, which went on continuously, giving the various classes being judged, and mentioning particularly outstanding exhibitors, animals shown, and any other items of special interest; between the announcements, music entertained the onlookers.

Unfortunately J. A. Carroll, general secretary Fairs and Exhibitions' Board, Toronto, was unable to keep his appointment to be present and address the gathering, but among those who came to the 'mike' and spoke briefly, warmly congratulating the Agricultural Society on the excellence of the fair, were M. Mumford, president of the Durham County Shorthorn Association; Frank Rickard, M.P. for Durham; Garnet Shield, reeve of Cavan; and Bert McLean, president of the Lindsay Central Exhibition, the latter stating that he, and other members of the Lindsay Fair directorate, "have been amazed at what we have seen here today; I doubt if such a showing of livestock could be gotten together at any other point in Canada. I cordially invite you all to attend our fair, September 17-19, and if I am at the front gate I promise you it won't cost you a cent to enter. Come as my guests; this year we are again splitting the receipts with the British War Victims' Fund. Since there is to be no Canadian National Exhibition in 1942 we must all try and do what we can to fill its place."

Parade of Livestock

A highlight of the afternoon was the parade of fine horses and cattle, which kept interest on tip toe as announcement was made from the loud speaker of the animals, by name in several instances, with complimentary reference to their owners, when they passed the stand. The place of honor at the head of the parade was accorded to Harry Patterson, veteran horse breeder, leading one of his noted stallions, and in second place was a magnificent animal, "Strathmore Guard," belonging to Nelson Wagg, of Claremont, which twice won the grand championship at the Chicago International Livestock Show, and which has many other prizes in his record. Third came P. Farrow with another handsome stallion, and in fourth place was "Bloomfield's Best," from the widely-known stables of S. S. Staples, which has just been sold to Sadler and Williams, of Port Perry, ownership being taken over after the show. Gordon Might, of the younger exhibitors, had the winning colt in the Clydesdale class, Bob Larmer and Willis Hall being other winners among young owners interested in the breeding of Cyldes.

As the Percherons came in their turn, "Buddy Surprise," owned by Roy Ferren, of Cavan, grand champion at the C.N.E. in 1941, was given a good hand by the onlookers, and among several others, Mrs. Kelly's (Peterborough), "Duke of Norfolk," a hackney stallion, got its meed of popular appreciation, a first at the C.N.E., being included in its record of prizes carried off at various shows. There have never been as many fine Durham cattle on the Millbrook fair grounds as were shown on Saturday, the Peterborough and Durham clubs having decided to make fifteen entries each; Jerseys, Shorthorns and Polled Angus were the three classes shown, all well filled, and all exhibits of top ranking quality. The society was sorry, that owing to conlicting dates, the Holstein breeders were not represented at the fair.

Among cattle owners who exhibited and had their animals in the parade, were: Jerseys: Reg Armstrong, president of the Jersey Breeders' Club, and Son, Bailieboro; Percy Neals and Son, Peterborough; Harry Young, secretary of the Jersey Club, who had in his exhibit "Glamourous Peggy," a fine calf which will be drawn for at the Club's Field Day, Wednesday, June 10, at Lorne Reynold's farm, Highway 7; In Shorthorns: H. H. Dimsdale, Lumber Co., Peterborough; M. H. Pammett and Sons, "Elm Valley," Indian River; R. Matchett, Cavan; Edgar Leask, Seagrave; Beith Farms Oshawa; Fred Christie, Port Perry; and in Polled Angus, Malcolm Bailey, Uxbridge. A fact that did not go unnoticed by the crowd during the parade was that Perry Neals had two of his daughters, with himself, leading Jerseys from his fine herd; also that Frank Rickard, the popular member for Durham, had prize winning Shorthorn from his farm on the leading rope.

A number of the young girls of the village, looking natty in white blouses and blue skirts, with blue and white arm bands, were busy on the grounds, and all over the town, on Saturday tagging for the Navy League; and in the dining hall, the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church served both dinner and tea to an unexpectedly large number of guests.

The list of prize winners follows, and any errors or omissions may be adjusted by calling at the office of the secretary, J. N. McGill.

Capt. John Evans Noted Veteran Dies In Havelock

HAVELOCK, June 8 —(ENS).— Death claimed another war veteran in Havelock in the person of Capt. Jack Evans, in his 50th year, who passed away on Friday evening after seven years of suffering from chronic bronchitis with asthmatic conditions contracted while serving in the Great War in 1914-1918.

Captain Evans enlisted in the 93rd Northumberland Regiment with the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles, on May 4, 1915, and accompanied the unit overseas immediately. He saw active service in France in the Battles of Ypres, Messines Ridge, Mons and Plug Street. In the second Battle of Yures he was one of 59 survivors of a battalion of 1,100 soldiers. Those left alive were taken German prisoners and after they spent 16 months in the "Black Hole of Germany," a horrible prison camp in the coal regions of Westphalia, they made several unsuccessful attempts to escape, but the fourth time they reached freedom at the Holland border.

He had been severely gassed and suffered shrapnel wounds in his knee and left shoulder while on the battlefield. After receiving his discharge in Toronto on January 26, 1918, he entered the police force in Oshawa andi n 1919 he entered the service of the Investigation Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Toronto, and was sent to Havelock, where he has resided ever since, although failing health forced him to relinquish his position seven years ago.

In August 1918, he and Cpl. Fred McMullen wrote a book entitled "Out of the Jaws of Hunland," published by G. P. Putman's Sons in New York in 1918, which is a very descriptive history of the horrors of German prisons, and presents an astonishingly vivid picture of the desperate conditions existing among the German people in the agricultural and mining districts, among which these prisoners were forced to work. If it had not been for the Red Cross parcels of food and clothing which these prisoners received regularly, they would have perished from hunger and cold.

Captain Evans also wrote a series of articles on German prison life for Maclean's Magazine, and he touried cities in the United States for four months after his discharge, giving lectures on "An all-out war effort" in connection with the Victory Loan Campaign.

He was born in East Plumstead, Kent, England in 1892, son of the late James Evans and Mary Anne Evans, now in Toronto, and he came to Canada in 1905, and received his education in Toronto. In his early manhood he was with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in British Columbia until he joined the Army in the last Great War.

In 1919 he married Miss Margaret Johnston, Toronto, who predeceased him 14 years ago. He leaves to mourn him one daughter, Marjorie, Peterborough, and Jack a High School student at home, his aged mother, Mrs. James Evans, Toronto, and six sisters, (Nellie) Mrs. J. Myers, (Daisy) Mrs. E. Hopkins, (Kathryn) Mrs. E. Page, all of Toronto (Mary) Mrs. W. Wingrove, Dartford, England, (Elizabeth) Mrs. E. Bedwell, Gravesend, England, and (Alice) Mrs. A. Way, Plumstead, England. One brother James and one sister Hannah died in Australia.

Captain Evans was always interested in military life and when in attendance at Camp School of Instructions at Cobourg in 1924 he was made lieutenant and in August of 1927 he was promoted to the rank of captain.

His coffin was draped with the Union Jack, and on his left breast were four medals—Mons Star, Military Medal for bravery in the field, General Service Medal, and Victory Medal.

His funeral was conducted by the Canadian Legion, and was very largely attended to-day at 10 a.m. from St. John's Anglican Church, Rev. R. E. Lemon officiating, and thence by motor to Toronto where a short service was held at the Necropolis Cemetery by Chaplain Berkeley of Christie Street Hospital.

Pall-bearers were all war veterans and members of the Canadian Legion: Harold Matheson, Carman Coon, Thomas Page, William Forsythe, Lorne Scriver, and Harry Watson.

Many beautiful floral tributes adorned the casket.

2 Women Hurt As Car Crashes

TWEED, June 8. —(ENS) —When the motor car in which they were riding went out of control and turned over along No. 7 Highway east of Tweed on Friday night, two Ottawa young ladies sustained serious injuries and were subsequently rushed to Belleville General Hospital. The injured are Miss Anna Stirk and Miss Eva Roberts, both of Ottawa.

The two girls were injured when the automobile which was driven by Miss Stirk, went out of control on the gravel of No. 7 highway and skidded into a rock embankment causing considerable damage to the vehicle. Miss Stirk suffered from shock and undetermined internal injuries, while Miss Roberts sustained a fractured leg and body bruises. Chief J. C. Hayes of Tweed investigated the accident and assisted in taking the young ladies to the hospital.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Suitably Marked

PORT HOPE, June 8.—(ENS). — On Friday evening, June 5, fifty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abrams, 43 Ward street, gathered at their home to celebrate with them the 25th anniversary of their wedding.

A beautiful five-piece silver service was presented Mr. and Mrs. Abrams by little Miss Marie Abrams from their four daughters and two sons.

Mr. R. Quemby read the following address which was signed by the friends present:

Mr. and Mrs. Abrams,—We your friends and neighbors have gathered together this evening to greet you on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of your wedding.

Having known you for so many years we feel after 25 years of married life you should have much satisfaction in having made the world a better place in which to live and are still doing it. Credit is due to both of you for your successful, whole-heatred devotion to your labors in life and to each other as well as to your family which is radiated to all others who come in contact with you. The fact that your friends have assembled in your home on this occasion is the best evidence of their esteem for you.

We have much pleasure in presenting you with these small tokens of our friendship and with the sincere wish that you may long enjoy the use of them together. May God bless you both with health, comfort and happiness for many years to come.

At this time Mr. J. McCullough, Mr. H. Robinson and Arleen Frazer presented Mr. and Mrs. Abrams with a coffee table, hassock, silver rose bowl, silver entree dish, silver plate a corsage to Mrs. Abrams and a carnations to Mr. Abrams.

The evening was spent in games and community singing, after which lunch was served. The table was decorated in pink and white, overhung by a large white bell and centred with a three story wedding cake.

Two Minor Fires On Saturday

PORT HOPE, June 8—(ENS).—At 7.35 p.m. on Saturday the firemen had a call to the New Service Cleaners, where an overheated tank had ignited. However, owing to the prompt work of the firemen, the roof of the building was the only portion damaged, and this was slight.

Hardly had the firemen returned from the first fire, when a second alarm came in. This time it was a car, owned by Mr. Ed. Rose, which had caught fire at the head of Walton Street. The car was slightly damaged.

I.O.D.E. Plans Aid To Ladies Softball

PORT HOPE, June 8 — (ENS).— The regular monthly meeting of the Colonel Arthur Williams Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held in the Library Hall on Friday night.

A very interesting report of the Dominion convention was given by Mrs. J. A. R. Elliott.

In the financial statement Mrs. Halford reported $129.14 in the general fund nad $370.69 in the War Service Fund. A donation of $10.00 was given to the Hospital Mission.

The meeting at this time extended apreciation to Mrs. Halford who so ably convened their tag day on May 23, when the proceeds amounted to $201.15. There were 35 taggers, who will be given theatre tickets arranged for by the I.O.D.E.

A $5.00 donation was reported from pupils and teachers of the Public Schools, and $5.00 from Miss Brownlee's Grades 3 and 4.

Plans were made and conveners Mrs. G. Halford and Mrs. Hill appointed for a tea to be held on June 12 at the home of Mrs. H. G. Jex, 36 North Street, at which will be a display of work in charge of Mrs. Barber and a talent table in charge of Mrs. Brickell, Mrs. Sainsbury, and Mrs. Roberts.

Mrs. Halford announced that a sale of tickets on furs was being sponsored by the I.O.D.E. from July 1 to October 17, and it was decided that this Chapter would cooperate and Mrs. Halford was appointed convener.

The Chapter has also been approached by the girls' softball team for assistance in getting organized and located and the Chapter is behind this organization fully and is doing all it can to assist.

Salvage Effort Yields Plenty

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8. — (ENS).—Result of the initial salvage effort made by members of the Rylstone branch of the Women's Institute was even more favourable than originally expected according to the final summing up of returns completed by Mrs. F. M. Rutherford on Friday. The branch, which announced its intention to stage a collection a month ago, realized $36.55 and the whole hearted support of residents of the Rylstone district yielded a pile of junk that required three trips by a local trucker to move. An accounting of the salvage disclosed 1,500 pounds of rubber, 1,200 pounds of iron, 1,700 pounds paper, 170 pounds rags and various other items had been turned in to net the branch a tidy profit, all of which will go into war supplies. The Institute President, Mrs. Hector Arnold, who heads the salvage committee comprising Mrs. F. M. Rutherford, Mrs. Chas. Stewart, Mrs. James Barnett and Mrs. W. T. Allan announced that another collection was scheduled for early in the fall.

Girls And Women From City Can Play Part In Helping On Farm

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8 (ENS) —Under the general heading of "Agriculture" members of the Rylstone Branch of the Women's Institute held an interesting meeting at the home of their president, Mrs. Hector Arnold, on Wednesday afternoon. The topic, "How Women Can Help Win the War" by Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and some helpful suggestions emerging frow the response to the roll call "Hints for Gardeners" were highlights of the program. Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn, the 1st vice president, had charge of the meeting and revealed the collection of salvage in that portion of the township was making great headway thanks to the splendid co-operation of residents. Their first consignment was ready for shipping on Thursday and included principally papers, rags, old mattresses (evidence of spring house cleaning) and a quantity of rubber and metal. The secretary read a communication from the Navy League acknowledging receipt of a quantity of maple sugar and expressing thanks to the Institute. Mrs. E. Irwin reported that a supply of wool had been received from the Red Cross and duly distributed to members during the past month. The next meeting will be dedicated to the Grandmothers, and comes under the general heading of Historical Research. It will be held at the home of Mrs. John Simpson.

The motto of the day was "If we scatter smiles along life's miles we'll meet less failures, more worthwhiles," and under the topic "How Can Women Help Win the War" Mrs. Spencer drew attention to the part inexperienced help could play on the farm. She made a suggestion that girls or women from the city would be of greater value, if instead of trying to do outside work that they were unsuited for, they assisted the farm woman with her housework while she went about the actual toil of the farm.

Planting and Hoeing

In their response to the roll call members gave some timely hints to gardeners on questions of planting and hoeing. Most of the ladies felt that the average garden lacked in variety of vegetables. Other suggestions given were; don't plant too early; give the garden plenty of cultivation to keep down the weeds. Miss Esther Meiklejohn presented the current events which were prepared for her by Mrs. W. Spencer, and following this conducted a popular songs contest. A report of the District Annual Meeting at Ivanhoe on May 19th was presented by Mrs. Fred Barnum and the highlight of the message she brought back dealt with the Institute's war work program. She stressed the vital need for the continuance of the extensive program already undertaken, saying that its importance could not be over-emphasized. Only other item on the program was a vocal solo "My Task," by Miss Isobel Irwin.

Harwood W. I. Plans Euchre

HARWOOD, June 8 (ENS)—Mrs. Arthur Aldridge was hostess on Wednesday to the Branch of the Women's Institute at "Goodenough" farm on the Lake shore.

Twenty-four members were present. Roll call was answered by an exchange of bulbs.

Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. F. McCulloch opened the pockets on the patched apron and realized $3.61.

Plans were made for the euchre and apron tea to be held at the home of Mrs. J. N. Rosevear July 9. Quilt blocks were given out to be completed for the Red Cross, and $4.50 was turned in from the travelling bazaar box., Mrs. Russel Johnson will have charge of the box now. It was decided to fill three ditty bags for the Navy League. Some $3.00 was voted for the Milk for Britain Fund. The War Saving Stamp was won by Miss Alice Swift. Mrs. John Moore gave the prayer for peace.

Mrs. Cheyne was convener of the program. A paper "Agriculture and Canadian Industries" was given by Mrs. C. Burrison. Mrs. Cheyne spoke on "Canada's Great Waterway."

Mrs. T. Cheyne, Mrs. C. Burrison, Mrs. W. Bell, Mrs. J. Robson and Mrs. E. R. Drope attended the District Annual meeting held at Roseneath on Friday.

Mrs. Thomas Robson was in Toronto attending the graduation of her granddaughter, Miss Joyce Leveille, who has been attending Moulton College.

Mrs. T. Bates, who has been visiting her relations in Ancaster, has returned home.

Mr. John Lean attended the Judging Competition at Kempville.

Music Students Star At Festival

PORT HOPE June 8 (ENS) — Ten musical numbers were played by pupils from Port Hope at the Piano and Organ Recital of Miss Phyllis R. Challis, A.T.C.M., at Trinity United church, Bowmanville on Friday, June 5, when eighty-seven pupils took past.

Those taking part from Port Hope were: Irene Knight playing Bourrie by Bach; Muriel and Margaret Reynolds, Doll Dance, Doucette; Elizabeth McClelland, Ecossaise, Schubert; Margaret Winn, The Merry Go Round, Berlin; Margy Jane Hancock, The Contented Bird, Rowe; Doris Reynolds, Daisy Chain, Behr; Mildred Peters, Cantering, Baines; Janet Dayman, Sir Rupert, Schumann; Ruth Peters, Parade of the Wooden Soldiers, Jessel; Ruth Peters, Gwen Budd, duet, These Yellow Sands, Lee.

This concert was an outstanding performance of musical ability with several numbers being played with Miss Challis at the organ and two pupils at each of the two pianos, the final number being Miss Challis, organ, Pauline and Ruth Peters and Mary and Margaret Denault at the pianos playing "Witches' Flight" by Russell.

This recital was given by Miss Challis and her pupils under the auspices of the Queen street group of Trinity church W.A., and was attended by a large crowd of interested friends of the pupils and lovers of music.

Two Cars Collide

COBOURG, June 8 — (ENS). — Slight damage to both vehicles was occasioned when two lady drivers collided at the intersection of University and George Streets on Saturday. A southbound car on George Street, driven by Mrs. E. McMillen, was passing the intersection at University Avenue when a car proceeding along University came out of the stop street and met in collision with the southbound car. The second car was driven by Helen Bull. The latter driver is said to have told police that she didn't notice the stop sign in time to come to a halt. Two youngsters in the Bull car, Carl and Keith, escaped injury. Constable E. Houghton investigated.

Fall Fair Date Set At Oct. 2-3

PORT HOPE, June 8.—(ENS). — At the regular meeting of the Agricultural Society, with President W. Lights in the chair, the date of the Port Hope fall fair was again changed to October 2 and 3.

The reason for this change of date was that October 3rd was the only date on which the services of Russ Creighton could be secured. As this company put on the afternoon performance and also the floor show and dance in the evening, it was thought necessary to make the change and the fair will be held Otcober 2nd and 3rd.

At this meeting the entry fee was also lifted on horses and cattle, as it has been on practically all the entries, and will be worked on a percentage basis.

This meeting was well attended and the main topic of business was the discussion and plans for the fall fair.

DID PART WELL

WORTHING, England—(CP). — Two men wearing the uniforms of a German parachutist and a glider pilot, walked through the streets here, and not until a Canadian soldier spotted them were they nabbed. They were two Canadian soldiers en route to demonstrate to Civil Defence workers detection of enemy troops.

Report On Hong Kong

Sir Lyman Duff, Chief Justice of Canada and Royal Commissioner appointed to investigate the matter of the Canadian expedition to Hong Kong, has presented his report to the Prime Minister and the latter has tabled it in the House. The report is almost entirely laudatory in its tone, and it should allay the suspicions of those who felt that there had been gross mismanagement in the affair. The citizens of this community were as much concerned as any people in the Dominion, for about twenty local men were in the expeditionary force; they should find Sir Lyman's opinion interesting and, for the most part, reassuring. But those whose relatives are now prisoners of the Japanese will find little comfort in the fact that the expedition was entirely regular in its formation.

The accusation which led to the appointment of a Royal Commissioner to investigate the affair was that a number of the men included in the expeditionary force were imperfectly trained. The Commissioner finds that only 6 per cent. of the men had been trained for less than the minimum of sixteen weeks and, in his opinion, a seasoned battalion should be able to absorb a considerably greater proportion of partially trained men without impairing its efficiency. The situation was a difficult one; Canada was asked by Britain to send an expedition to Hong Kong and a refusal to do so was, under the circumstances, unthinkable. The expedition which was sent was the best we had to give and the fact that it was lost to the enemy was no fault of ours.

This is cold comfort for the loss of 2,000 men with all their equipment, but it is a great improvement on the story that the men were ill-trained, green troops, with insufficient equipment and that, such as it was, sent on another slow boat. If the Hong Kong expedition does nothing else it should teach us not to believe the stories which are circulated after every failure. The charges which were made respecting the Hong Kong expedition may have been made from genuine concern for the men in that expedition, or they may have been made in an attempt to discredit the Government; they may even have been a mixture of the two motives. But the report declares that all was well and that we have reason to feel proud of the Hong Kong expedition. The onus of proving that there was any neglect or incompetence now lies upon Colonel Drew, and we shall be interested to see what he can turn up which will throw doubt upon the report of the Royal Commissioner.

Army Week Approaches

In order that the Canadian people may become better acquainted with their citizen army the period between Monday, June 29, and Sunday, July 5, will be celebrated as "Army Week" throughout the Dominion. During that time special attention will be given to the men in the Army, and also to the Nursing Sisters and the Canadian Women's Army Corps; the people of Canada will be invited to see them at work and at leisure and will be given opportunities to do honor to this extremely important branch of the services.

Certainly since the beginning of this war the Army has been overshadowed by the Air Force and the Navy. The Air Force is a comparatively new service, its work is spectacular and romantic, and it has an attractive uniform. Some of the most daring exploits of the war have been performed by the R.A.F., they have received tributes from the King and from Mr. Churchill, and they are in many respects the darlings of the public. The Navy, as the senior service, has a romantic tradition, and from the time of Ulysses there has been something especially appealing about the sailor and the wanderer. We have never grudged admiration to the Navy; we have always given it its due, in this as in former wars.

But this time the Army has been the Cinderella of the services. There has been a tendency to regard it as a somewhat dull necessity and to assume that nobody would join it if he could be an airman or a sailor. Nothing could be more mistaken, and Army Week is designed to show us the full extent and stupidity of the mistake. The modern Army has undergone more drastic changes than either the Air Force or the Navy; the old notion of an Army man as a foot-slogger fighting with a rifle has gone by the board. The Army man of today is a highly skilled mechanic, working with weapons of extreme complexity; his rifle is carried for self-defence, and he does his real fighting with weapons of phenomenal power and accuracy. The days of trench warfare are gone, and the modern Army man is a motorized, mechanized wonder. When the attack on the Low Countries was made the German Army man was the wonder and the terror of the world. In the opinion of good judges the modern Army man—and our Canadian Army ranks as one of the most modern in the world—has him beaten in efficiency, striking power and resource. We must wake up and see our Army as it is.

Our chance to do so comes in Army Week. Monday the 29th is "Soldier's Day," when we are asked to do what we can to show our appreciation of the men in uniform; if possible, we may entertain them, or, if we cannot do this we may send messages to those who are at a distance. Tuesday, the 30th, is "Civilian Day," when we will be asked to prepare our home meals on a ration system; public eating-houses will serve foods identical with those given the Army. July 1—Dominion Day—will be celebrated with parades and patriotic demonstrations. This will be followed by three days during which the Army will keep open house, when civilians will be given opportunities to see what really goes on in the training camps. The Sunday will be marked by services in the camps which civilians will be permitted to attend.

We are glad that the Department of National Defence has hit upon this plan for acquainting the Canadian public with the Canadian Army; it has been clear for some time that a scheme of this kind was necessary. When the time comes let us take fullest advantage of it.

Brockington Joins Bracken

Canada might be loath to part with Mr. Leonard W. Brockington if it were not obvious that he is going to a job which will employ all of his special talents in a manner not possible here. At the invitation of Brendan Bracken, Britain's Minister of Information, Mr. Brockington will join that organization, there to work for a better understanding among the United Nations.

This is a type of work for which he is well suited. Mr. Brockington has the equipment of a diplomat: he is a brilliant lawyer and a brilliantly cultivated man; he is certainly one of the two or three best speakers in Canada at present; he has a grasp of publicity which any journalist might envy; and he has that invaluable quality of personality which raises him above the ranks of those excellent but undistinguished men who can do an excellent job in a completely unspectacular way. He is just the man to create good feeling and trust between the U.S. and Britain.

It is a pity that full use was never made of Mr. Brockington in Canada. He is a type which we need but will never encourage. Most of our public men like to impress themselves upon us as blunt good fellows, trustworthy and sound in their jobs, but possessed of no disturbing brilliance, no imagination and no fire. Not so Mr. Brockington; he was all imagination, all brilliance, all fire, and his speeches were nearer to poetry than most of the output of our Canadian versifiers. Mr. Brockington is a Welshman, and when he went to the microphone to speak to the people of Canada he made the loud-speakers of this country coo, and woo, and throb like 'cellos. He spoke in pictures and in analogies; his orations were works of art. And as a result we, who have been trained to regard no man as serious unless he is also deadly dull, discounted Mr. Brockington as a mere poet, when really in countless instances he was just the man we needed for a difficult job.

It is a pity that so much of Mr. Brockington's career in Canada has been mere plough-work for a Pegasus. But at the Ministry of Information he should find a congenial atmosphere. We shall listen to his broadcasts and, perhaps, realize what we have lost.

Smoked Tunney

We have nothing against athletes as such, but we like them to stick to their running and jumping and boxing; when they begin to write they are apt to be bores. Writing is our own profession and we dislike amateur competition. We were annoyed to see an article recently by Mr. Gene Tunney in which he roundly condemned smoking; Mr. Tunney is an extremist, and he urged parents to send their sons in the army, not cigarettes, but boxing gloves and skipping ropes to help them keep fit. In Mr. Tunney's opinion, anyone who smokes will live miserably and die early. And as proof that non-smokers are not what he calls "goody-goody" he cites as examples William Muldoon, Ty Cobb, the late Knute Rockne and himself. We felt that these examples were ill-chosen; Bernard Shaw and Ghandi are the only two non-smokers whom we can think of off-hand for whose intellectual powers we have any respect.

Now Mr. Tunney has been taken to task by a New York psychiatrist, a Dr. Louis E. Bisch; he thinks that smoking is not merely harmless but positively beneficial. He refuses to admit that it harms the wind, the digestion or the brain, and pooh-poohs the idea that it shortens life. He points out (a shrewd thrust, this one) that all the leaders of the United Nations smoke like chimneys; Churchill is never without a big black cigar, Roosevelt smokes cigarettes constantly and Joe Stalin is a pipe man. No mention is made of Chiang Kai-Shek but we don't mind betting that he is a smoker. On the other hand, Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito all scorn tobacco as a nasty, habit-forming drug. Dr. Bisch points out to Mr. Tunney that tobacco quiets the nerves and helps the head, and that it is good for most people even if it is bad for athletes.

We side strongly with Dr. Bisch. We can take tobacco in any form, including snuff, and do so regularly. Furthermore, we strongly object to all people who want to take something away from somebody else on the ground that is bad for them. Mr. Tunney's vice is excessive exercise, but nobody wants to stop him, if he gets his fun that way; but he must not try to interfere with other people's vices by threatening them with cancer of the tongue and early death. Such conduct is most unsporting. We all do a great many things which are probably bad for us, but we get a lot of fun out of doing them, and the fun makes us live long and happily. We suggest that in future Mr. Tunney leave writing to professional writers and thinking to professional thinkers, and as long as their pipes hold out they will manage very well. Meanwhile he can be getting on with his skipping.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A girl who would marry if the right man came along is often aged in the would.

War is war, but we note with interest that $240,000,000 were spent on beauty treatments of one kind and another in Britain last year.

Currying a mare will be different after years of washing a car which doesn't stamp on your toes when the flies are bad.

Fresh salmon is offered for sale in the Netherlands at $14 a pound. But judging by the number of Nazis who have disappeared there recently the Dutch have other fish to fry.

There were three "H's" in Germany—Hitler, Himmler and Heydrich. The Czechs have made them drop one of the H's, which makes them cocky but not Cockney.

The Hamilton Spectator notes that dining-cars have been removed from German trains "because of a shortage of rolling stock" and comments that "a shortage of live-stock is a more likely reason."

The Kingston Whig-Standard remarks, "Nobody can doubt the intensity of the desire of young folk to do what they can to win this war—not after seeing how many of them park along the road on moonlight nights to save gasoline."

Reports from Switzerland says that newspapers in Cologne and Essen have temporarily suspended publication. This may be taken as an indication of the extent of the R.A.F. raids there. No large newspaper ever suspends publication unless the sky falls; something rather like that must have been the trouble at Cologne and Essen.

ADAPTABILITY

The lady is calm and cool as an icicle;
If she can't get gas she can pedal her bicycle,
A vehicle none should presume to disparage,
And if that's in use she can drive the carriage.
Should the carriage be otherwise occupied,
Who cares when the horses are there to ride!
Motors, bicycles, carriages, horses—
Resourceful people are full of resources.
We'll walk, since there isn't a bus to take;
When you can't have bread you can do with cake.

Farming News And Views of Ontario Farmer

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

WE have been well supplied with rain in Ontario and while some days ago we thought it was being a bit overdone, an abundance of moisture in the growing season is always to the good. Some crops may have been covered with water and this reminds us of the necessity of a few "water-furrows" when seeding is finished. They may not be greatly needed but it never hurts to have them. It is better to bump over a few open furrows when cutting than to have some drowned. If a field is seeded to grass with the crop there should be a way for surplus water to get off or the grass seeds will probably suffer most.

In preparation for increased war production of crops England has spent large sums of money on drainage. Surplus water lying on the land is undoubtedly bad farming, and the farmers in England pushed for production have used mole drains, water pipes drawn into the soil by a mole draining machine and open ditches everywhere they are needed.

There seems to have been quite a heavy May rainfall in most parts of Canada this year and Southern Alberta has had rather more than its share. There must be a good deal of stored moisture in summer fallows so crop prospects are not discouraging. We used to count most on June rains in Alberta, the May supply has been quite good and if June brings a fair amount it ought to promise quite well for this year.

THE difficulties encountered in price fixing for beef and its effect on cattle prices seems to have been pretty well ironed out, and much to the credit of those in charge for the farmer end of this business. The value of the United States market is to be preserved for the cattle producers in Canada. The United States and Canada are allies in this war, both countries have to feed their own soldiers and make a considerable contribution of meat products to Britain where home production, even in peace times is far from supplying the civilian demands. The Argentine has been a large shipper of meat to Britain for many years but the difficulties of ocean transportation have intervened at the present time.

It is remarkable how all kinds of war supplies, including food, have been successfully shipped to Britain in spite of Germany's efforts to blockade the Atlantic. This is a great tribute to Britain's mastery of the sea, and the Canadian navy has played no small part in enabling food and munitions of war to reach the fighting forces in the British Isles and further afield.

SHEEP are a short crop in Canada and the call has gone out for sheep and more sheep. What we will be needing quite badly is wool, so the farmer who saves a few ewe lambs from this year's crop to include in his breeding flock will have the fleeces of these for next spring's shearing. Where small flocks are kept a farmer could easily add fifty per cent to his numbers of breeding ewes. Sheep do not require expensive buildings and the grass crop this year looks like producing an abundance of winter feed.

We are now in a hurry for sheep and the production could be speeded up by selecting the well grown ewe lambs this summer, feed them well and breed them in November and get another crop of lambs in the spring of "43." Good sheep breeders like to wait a year longer and give their shearlings a chance to grow, but I've seen quite a good crop of lambs raised in this way, and if weaned early and their young mothers fed rather generously the latter will catch up a bit and grow into quite useful sheep.

It is quite worth while taking this short cut to a few extra sheep at this time. These things must be done, and quickly, as it is more wool we want quickly as possible and from the present saving of fabrics which are necessary, we, may be wanting clothes badly before we get many new suits.

For some years now the price of lambs had been such as to make sheep profitable, and wool has been a fair price, so there has been some encouragement for the sheep industry and now wool gives a better return. Ontario is a dairy province, however, and dairy farmers are usually not sheep farmers, and so our sheep population has not grown rapidly. Wool is a production for war now which makes a difference and I have no doubt the farmers will meet this demand. It will be easier to add to flocks at present in existence than to establish new ones. Adding a few sheep to a flock makes little or no demand upon labor and so can be accomplished with less effort than most other lines of increased production.

The bands of sheep on the prairies can be increased in numbers by the same method and where considerable numbers are kept an increase of 25 to 30 per cent would make quite an addition to our wool production. The increase in wool is up to the sheep men as a war measure, in the same way as the increase in cheese is up to the dairy farmer. Each will take hold as he deems it his duty to perform such worth while tasks as to produce material for the clothing required by soldiers and civilians until the people are made free again.

A SKILFUL and successful English farmer in speaking of a field, broken from grass, which had been thinned by wireworms, and couch grass had appeared, suggested working it down to a fine tilth this spring, apply a liberal allowance of superphosphate and sulphate of ammonia, drill it with oats and seed it to rye grass and clover with a little white clover. He then added, "In sowing down to grass I have never worried about a bit of couch. It cannot survive for long in a really first class pasture." Undoubtedly the amount of seed used in England in seeding a field down to grass is a great help in choking out weeds or wild grasses. When about 30 pounds to the acre of grass seed is sown on land well worked and liberally fertilized the tame grasses will take possession. After all it is good farming practice that keeps land clean and productive.

• Hun Claims Are Wilder

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

AMONG cheering notes on the war for the United Nations as the first week of June passed without evidence that the Axis in Europe has anywhere regained the initiative is the drastic change that has come over German High Command statements.

Throughout the whole course of the war those progress bulletins always have dealt somewhat in exaggeration, but never before to the extent they now are consistently overstating Nazi military successes and understating Nazi reverses.

Just why this official German appeal to hyperbole is deemed necessary now can only be conjectured. Just when it started is easier to calculate.

It began to be a definite aspect of German High Command statements last winter, when Hitler took over supreme army command in Russia and purged, one way or another, senior professional soldiers.

BONE OF CONTENTION

There now is ample evidence from United States press observers who were stationed in Berlin before the United States entered the war that this resort to Hitlerian fiction was at least one bone of contention between the Nazi egotist and his generals. It violated their professional pride and conscience.

The change bespeaks growing uneasiness in Hitler's inner circle, perhaps in Hitler himself, over German public reception of war news that truthfully presented, even within the limits of military requirements, no longer could show smashing Nazi victories in every engagement reported.

Turning back to the German official bulletins from Scandinavia, the Low Countries, France and the Balkans as the victory tide swept onward, the striking thing about them was that they rarely proved inaccurate. The strategic battle keys reported taken invariably were already captured or so cut off that they soon fell to German armies.

They were always specific, not general. They mentioned cities, forts, important river lines. While the comment that enemy resistance on a given front had been broken frequently proved premature, all too often even that prediction was promptly verified.

CLAIMS NEVER REALIZED

By contrast, since Hitler took personal command in Russia none of the flamboyant claims that Russian resistance was wholly shattered have ever been realized. While his armies still were on the march eastward last year, the geographical data included in his bulletins later usually proved well founded, but not the claimed effect of the victory on Russian morale.

Now even the pretense of documenting a sweeping victory claim with names of cities or towns taken or river defense lines breached has been abandoned. It is such generalities in German official claims of a smashing victory over the Russians on the Kharkov front that, considered with Russian reports, warrant suspicion that Hitler received a jarring body blow at Kharkov which he dares not reveal to his people.

German exaggeration as to U-boat and bomber successes against British sea lifelines always has been obvious. Presumably the Nazi purpose was to steel German public opinion for war privations by telling it that Britain was or soon would be suffering similar or far greater pangs.

The war of nerves is a Hitler-patented technique. He has used it with threats and splutterings to attempt to frazzle the nerves of his foes. Now he seems to be using it to bolster German nerves with false or exaggerated claims of success. That does not bode him any good on his own home front.

NOT THAT BIG

When Thomas Mann was visiting America for the first time, one of Hollywood's literati abased himself before the novelist, emphasizing that he was nothing, a mere hack. His work not to be mentioned in the same breath with that of the master. Mann listened with infinite patience and courtesy. But when the party was over, he turned to his host, an old friend, and said: "That man has no right to make himself so small. He is not that big."

A 64-OZ. SILVER TRAY

THE Emir Abdullah of Transjordan has sent to the King of Saudi Arabia, as a personal gift, a try of pure silver, one metre in diameter and 643 oz. in weight, the largest of its kind in the world, together with five-branched candelabra and two single candlesticks, also of pure silver, and a red silk tent.

The maker, Sokolka, a veteran Jerusalem craftsman, has produced 35,000 pieces, including a dagger, as a Coronation gift from the Emir Abdullah to King George VI and medallions for the late Lord Allenby, writes our correspondent in Jerusalem.—London Times.

STICKIEST JOB

OF the total quantity of foodstuffs damaged in this country by air raids up to the end of last year nearly three-quarters has been saved. One of the best examples of salvage is a very large stock of sugar. The sheds in which the sugar was stored were hit by enemy action nad burned to the ground. The sugar was in the basement. "It is probably the stickiest job that men could be put to," said a Ministry representative. "When it rains a certain amount of sugar is immediately converted into treacle. Nevertheless, the work is going on and when the treacle or sugar is refined extremely little of it has to be discarded."—London Times.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations; thou hast established the earth, and it abideth....Thy testimonies have I taken as an heritage for ever: for they are the rejoicing of my heart .... Thy testimonies are wonderful; therefore doth my soul keep them....Thy righteousness is an everlasting righteousness, and thy law is the truth.... Thy word is true from the beginning: and veery one of thy righteous judgments endureth for ever....

Great peace have they which love thy law: and nothing shall offend them.—Ps. cxix, 89, 90, 111, 129, 142, 160, 165.

Mrs. William Taylor, Sr, who also received, chose navy blue sheer with matching accesories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses and sweet peas. Mrs. James Heffernan poured tea, assisted by Mrs Reginald Dixon and Miss Edythe Sanders of Toronto.

The groom's gift to his bride was a matched travel set

Later Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left by motor for Montreal. After a wedding trip by aeroplane to Quebec, they will live at 250 Frank street Ottawa.

Knox W.M.S. Holds June Meeting

The June meeting of the Knox W. M. S. was held in the church parlours on Thursday afternoon with a goodly attendance despite the unfavourable weather conditions.

Mrs. J. Ego and Mrs. S. Thexton conducted a worship service of praise responsively interspersed with suitable humns.

As June is the month when thoughts turn to the packing of W. M. S. bales. Mrs. A. Long, supply secretary prepared a timely paper on the extensive work of that department of the W.M.S. organization as a whole, and incidents were related where deep gratitude was expressed for the acceptable clothing and gifts.

A moments silent prayer for the missionaries in our own land, and others whose lives are greatly endangered, preceded closing prayer by Mrs. Gerrard, the president.

At the close of the meeting, the members of the mission band were tendered their annual treat by the senior society.

NOTICE

NESTLÉ'S PREMIUM PLAN WILL CLOSE AUGUST 1st, 1942

To Nestlé's Milk Customers:

During the past three years, you have received an "extra dividend" with Nestlé's Evaporated and Condensed Milk. Not only have you been able to enjoy the fine quality of these two superior products, but in addition you have been able to "Save Nestlé's Labels" and exchange them for many attractive and valuable premiums.

We have been pleased to offer this "extra dividend" as an appreciation of your patronage, and it is therefore with genuine regret that we announce we must discontinue our premium offer Aug. 1st, 1942, and Nestlé's Milk Labels will not be redeemable after that date.

Many of our premium items were made by manufacturers who have now converted their factories to the manufacture of war materials. It is therefore impossible for us to continue the operation of our premium plan. We urge you to redeem your labels immediately.

We hope we may continue to enjoy your patronage of Nestlé's Evaporated and Condensed milk. Even though the labels will not be redeemable after Aug. 1, 1942, Nestlé's Evaporated and Condensed Milk, as usual, will pay dividends in quality.

WAR SENDS YOUNG WIVES BACK TO PARENTS' HOMES

Situation Calls for Patience, Wisdom, Forbearance and Diplomacy.

One of strangest regiras that has ever taken place is going on now in this country. It is composed of young women who are trekking back to their old homes with their babies to stay with their parents until the war is over. Every train is crowded with them. Porters scurry back and forth all day long warming up formulas, and fetching bottles off the ice, and rescuing 4-year-olds from sudden death when they attempt to find out what makes the wheels go round. And the night is punctured with the wails of thirsty little bodies who wanna drink of water.

The tired young mothers carry bravely on, trying to keep up the baby's routine, trying to keep Susie amused, trying to keep Johnny from smearing his lollypop over the immaculate clothes of the man across the aisle, trying to forget the look in the eyes of the husbands they have just kissed good-bye as they were starting for they knew not where, to be gone for they knew not what length of time. Perhaps gone forever.

"Oh, sure," they had said, biting back their tears, "we'll be all right. You are not to worry over us a bit. Mom and Dad are crazy about our coming to stay with them for the duration. You know how silly grandparents are over their grandchildren. It will be lots of fun all being together. Just like old times. So don't bother about us. We will be fine."

But, no matter how courageously these young wives have lied to keep their husbands' morale up and make the parting less bitter, in their hearts they knew there is no going back in life, no slipping again into the niche they had once occupied, and that, thankful as they were for the sanctuary their parents offered them in their hour of need, their return to the old home would have many a disillusion and heartbreak in it.

Consider The Old People

And because this is true and because the situation is one that calls not only for patience and forbear-

Golfer Is K.O.'d Watching Game

By HAROLD GLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, June 8.—(AP).— The Hale American National Open Golf Tourney, being played to provide funds for the Navy Relief Society and the U.S.O., also has produced a golfer knocked out by a billiard ball

Charles (Babe) Lind, Big Seven Conference champion, led the qualifiers from the Denver district although made unconscious for 15 minutes when struck above the right eye by a wandering cue ball while watching a locker-room pool game during the lunch hour.

Before the mishap yesterday he duplicated his 70 of Saturday but after the blow the best he could do was a 74 for a 214 that was one stroke over par for the 54 holes.

Twelve of the 13 tourneys that determine the make-up of the final field at Chicago's Ridgemoor Club June 18 to 21 have been completed and the Los Angeles test gets under way to-day.

At its conclusion only 105 golfers from the 1,540 who started the three-tier competitions last month will remain. Eight will have worked their way through both local and district qualifying meets, two Canadains Bob Gray and Gordie Brydson, Toronto, will come direct from Toronto while 22 top-flight shotmakers and Crooner Bing Crosby are eligible by invitation.

Although he received one of the bids, Bob Jones competed in the district meet at Atlanta. The old master trimmed a dozen years off his swing and five strokes off par to lead the field with 67-71-67—205, six strokes less than his nearest Dixie rival.

Bob Gutwein, young Ohio pro, was the pacemaker for the big Cincinnati field with his 211 aggregate but two of the day's best shots were made by golfers surviving a sudden death playoff.

Fred Gronauer of Indianapolis, sank a 48-foot putt on the first extra hole and gained one of the berths while Billy Burke of Cleveland, the 1931 open champion, and Art Smith of Cincinnati, played until the fifth where Burke chipped in from 45 feet out.

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

THE PROFESSOR MOVES

CHAPTER XXIV

Brilliant sunshine, as if relenting for the storm, splashed the decks of the Blue Petrel as Bill Talcott sat in a deck chair and told June Paterson, for the twentieth time, he didn't know had he had come to be in Martha Swenson's cabin. She was beginning to believe him, too; probably she had all along, but you wouldn't have known it from the frigid way in which she endured his presence. She was about to speak now when Halsey came along.

Halsey dropped into a chair and sighed, blowing out his lips in exasperation. "Swenson still sticks to the same story," he said. "Claims she didn't know Webber, didn't know of him before the night he came to her here on the ship. She says that Webber, or von Stampf, take your choice: anyhow, baldhead frightened her half to death. Knew her right name, which incidentally is Swanzig; described her father down to the last wrinkle and threatened to put the screws to him unless she played along. Her job was to compromise Talcott so he wouldn't dare open his head; as if you, you poor dumb brute, weren't sufficiently compromised already."

Talcott squirmed. "Cut it out—It was a fool stunt, her starting that argument with the doctor and making so much noise she brought the whole ship down on her ears. It made me clean forget Webber's threats."

June Paterson sighed. "I guess you don't understand women. Which brings to my mind that despite the fact Mr. Webber hasn't been caught, I'm still unscathed. I wish I could bring myself to believe that you were as doped as you claim."

Halsey grinned. "You've been lucky, my pet. And you've had a big seaman trotting at your heels like a spaniel for the last two days."

"Yeah," Talcott said. "Where does he go when you sleep?"

"That's for you to find out, Mr. Casanova!"

From the companionway Captain Pringle's square figure loomed. A radiogram was tucked in his huge fist. His eyes twinkled pleasantly and he said, "I see everybody's on speaking terms again. You'll be interested to know, Talcott, the pin that doped you also cured my ship's physician. Some kind of stuff South American Indians use in hunting. It paralyzes the game and they walk up and finish them. Thought you'd like to know," and his eyes twinkled briefly as they rested on June Paterson.

"Thanks. No sign of Webber?"

"None. There must be some place on this ship I don't know about, unless he finally did jump overside. If he's still aboard, we'll get him when the immigration lineup starts. We'll be in at 4 o'clock. Despite the storm, we've made a record run, I believe. We're going to have quite a reception. Half the Army. But here, you might as well read your own messages."

"Probably from Saint Thomas about some woman you left stranded," June Paterson sniffed.

Talcott rubbed his nose. "Sorry to disappoint you. It's from your esteemed cousin. He says that one Jerome K. Winters is considerably embarassed to discover that his newest and most efficient secretary is a Nazi agent—serves him right! And Lowell says he'll be on hand with a squad of picked men to finish our unfinished business."

"Which reminds me," Halsey said. "Is that darned report still safely hidden?"

"Safe as a church. Unless a fire breaks out."

Halsey looked puzzled. "A fire?" he gasped.

Talcott chuckled.

It was just one more unscheduled thrill for the passengers of the Blue Petrel. As if a hurricane, a murder and a Nazi agent running around loose weren't enough, the Army had to take over the business of landing.

And take over they did. Not at the pier, but in quarantine. At least 20 of them; clear-eyed young chaps who looked and acted as if they knew exactly what they were about. Led by a lean, wiry young man whose uniform born the insignia of a captain. He stood at an impromptu desk in the main lounge, asking questions and performing an inspection which slowed down the immigration line to a snail's pace.

Other strange things were going on, too. For instance, a sad-eyed, sad-faced man who had taken over

Avenge Defeat Suffered Earlier In Year

The Peterborough-Whitaker team avenged the defeat by The Grove School on May 10, by beating a weakened school team by 74 runs and 4 wickets; the final score being P-W 111 for 7 wickets, declared; Grove 37; on Saturday.

The School was without Mr. Ketchum, who has been consistently successful against the locals with both bat and ball; B. Dobbin, who scored 43 on May 10, but is now in the Navy, and W. Urquhart and A. McTaggart on the sick list.

The winners opened with A. Pagett and G. Langhorne, and the former played his best innings for the club. He is a much-improved player and had scored 29 out of 43 when he was run out. Wild (16) and Langhorne carried it to 65 for 4. The latter had to retire with a damaged hand, but Smith, 26 not out, and Dyer 10 took it to 85 for 4, and at 5 o'clock with the total at 111 for 7, the innings was declared closed.

The School made a disastrous start against the bowling of Dyer and Colbran, losing 4 wickets before a run was scored. Carr-Harris, 15, and J. Arnoldi, 9, made a plucky stand, putting on 22 runs, but the rest did little, and the innings closed for 37. T. Williams proved an efficient understudy for Langhorne as wicket keeper.

After the fifth over Dyer had to retire with a badly bruised leg causing in stopping a hard return, but Wild, who took his place, was also successful. The final bowling figures being Colbran 5 for 11, Dyer 2 for 5, and Wild 4 for 18.

Fielding features were two catches at mid-off by W. Dyer.

There is no match next Saturday, but on June 20 the club will make a keenly-anticipated trip to Picton.

Among the spectators on Saturwas Archbishop Derwyn Owen of Toronto, Primate of All Canada of the Anglican Church, who was holding a Confirmation in the school chapel that evening. He took tea with the teams and showed a keen interest in the game. His boyhood days were spent in Peterborough and Lakefield, and he had then played some cricket, and he made a long stay on the grounds on Saturday.

Reported Divorced

Paulette Goddard is pictured as she left the hotel in New York City, where she is staying. According to rumors, Miss Goddard secretly divorced Charles Chaplain, her actor husband in the Mexican border town of Juarez, last week.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

Juveniles who have not been seen in action since they played the Royals to a tie will clash with Plazas in a City Softball League battle at the Ashburnham Bowl tonight and after throwing a scare into the leaders the youngsters say they will take a fall out of the runners-up and thus grab off their first win of the campaign. The hockey squad, of course, have other views on the subject. They are anxious to be the first club in the loop to pile up three victories and they hope to turn the trick tonight at the expense of the Juveniles. Dave Wilson is billed to do the throwing for the hockey outfit and the youngsters may call on Billy Jones who held the Royals fairly well under control in his first league start. Reg. Leether who hurt his hand in the last game will likely get back into action tonight and both teams should be at full strength. The game will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp and with the diamond in better shape than it has been for some weeks the tussle should be an interesting one.

The Girls' Softball League which opened its campaign Friday night with a battle between C.G.E. and Westclox, won by the former 7 to 4 will be the attraction at the Bowl Tuesday night when the two new teams, Brintons and Porcelain will be stacked up against each other. No announcement has been made from either team as to pitching choices or the probable battle array but it is certain that a number of new faces will make their appearance in the lineup of the two outfits. The game will give the fans a chance to size up the strength of the two clubs and to weigh their chances against the two old members of the loop. The addition of two new teams to the league membership has aroused a lot of interest and loop patrons will welcome the opportunity offered by tomorrow night's game to see the newcomers do their stuff.

Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club got a certain amount of revenge for the beating they took earlier in the season at the hands of the Grove School, by winning the return game, played in Lakefield Saturday by a wide margin. However, the Peterborough cricketers would be the first to point out that the team they defeated Saturday was minus several of the stars who helped materially to establish a Grove victory in the earlier match. In fact the two high scorers on that occasion were missing Saturday. However the Peterborough-Whitaker players performed smartly and earned their win. Going to bat first they declared their inning closed after seven wickets had fallen and they had piled up a score of 111. Pagett and Smith were the leading contributors to that score. The Grove team was disposed of for the small total of 37 runs so that the Peterborough margin of victory was decisive.

Stop Bonham At Last

Probably the outstanding feature of the many ball games played over the week-end in the big leagues was that the Cleveland Indians finally stopped the winning streak of Pitcher Ernie Bonham of the Yanks. Bonham had won eight straight games without anything that looked like a loss but the law of averages finally caught up to him Sunday when the Indians, pushing over a run in the final frame, secured a 5 to 4 decision. Bonham was not the same mystery as usual, the Tribe breaking through his service for 12 hits. The Yanks did their best to keep his winning streak going and Crosetti, Tommy Henrich and Charlie Keller all kicked in with home runs but even that barrage of long distance hitting was not enough to save the day for Bonham. The Yank defeat came in the first half of a Sunday double-header. Saturday Red Ruffing blanked the Indians 3 to 0 in a pitching duel with Chubby Dean, the Yanks' old jinx. The New Yorkers got all their runs in the first frame and after that Dean had them tied as tight as Ruffing had the Indians.

* * * * * *

Boston Red Sox showed how to make use of home runs to win ball games Sunday when they used that method to rob the veteran Ted Lyons of a victory that he had apparently salted away. Moses hit a home run with one on for the White Sox in the eighth inning and with Lyons working with smooth effectiveness that 2 to 1 lead looked ample to earn the decision. But in the ninth Bobby Doerr and Tabor came through with homers for the Red Sox and that pair of long wallops was enough to give Boston a 3 to 2 triumph. Phil Marchildon took another trimming yesterday when the A's were beaten twice by the St. Louis Browns. He pitched the opening game of the double-header and was greeted in the first frame by a homer from the bat of Chet Laabs with a runner on the sacks.

* * * * * *

In the National League the week-end feature was the clean sweep registered by the Cincinnati Reds over the Boston Braves. With Bucky Walters pitching seven-hit ball and helping his own cause with a homer, the Reds defeated the Braves 8 to 2 on Saturday and came back on Sunday to take both ends of a double-header. They won the first game 6 to 2 with Shoun getting credit for the win and grabbed off the second 3 to 2 with a homer by Ray Lamanno in the final frame turning the trick. Starr pitched for the winners and the loser was Javery who went in in the last inning and pitched the home run ball to the sensational Red catcher. Brooklyn Dodgers kept on winning over the Saturday-Sunday program. Curt Davis scored his eighth victory Saturday when he won a shutout victory over the Cubs and big Bill Lee 2 to 0—a real pitcher's battle. Sunday Kirby Higbe came back with a fine effort as the Dodgers doubled the score on the Cubs, winning 8 to 4. One of the nicest bits of pitching over the week-end was contributed by Tru Sewell of the Pittsburg Pirates who tossed a three-hitter as the Corsairs triumphed over the Phils 3 to 1.

Thirty years ago this week Peterborough fans saw one of the queerest ball games on record when London and the Petes met in a Canadian League battle on flooded Riverside Park. The water in the Otonabee was very high and invaded the outfield in the park, causing a lake in centre field that ran close to second base. However it was decided to play the game scheduled for that afternoon. Johnnie Cocash, former New York Giant outfielder, was playing centre field for the London Club and Manager Frank Bowerman surveying the flooded park in the morning suggested that a pair of hip rubber boots might be useful Cocash turned up with the boots in the afternoon and waded into the flood and caught several fly balls. On the other hand anything the London batters hit in the same direction went for homers as Jimmy Beard, Peterborough centre fielder, played in close and refused to hit the lake when fly balls were laced that way.

* * * * * *

Cocash had a lot of fun that afternoon. He hit two homers himself and capped a freak performance late in the game by wearing the rubber boots to bat, drawing a walk and then stealing second. After he was passed to first he called in to Catcher T[illegible] of the Petes that he was going to steal. That only drew a laugh, of course, but the former Giant edged into a big lead off first base and then as the Petes' pitcher wound up he broke for second and made it despite the boots. It was undoubtedly the first and only time in the history of professional baseball that a ball player was successful in stealing a base in hip boots. Cocash was an Indian and quite a comedian in his own right but the rubber boot idea must be credited to Frank Bowerman who suggested that form of footwear as about the only thing suitable for the Peterborough ball park as is was that day.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Roger Cramer of Washington needs only two hits to bring him in the charmed circle of American Leaguers who have made 2,000 safe blows. Only Charlie Gehringer of the Tigers and Manager Joe Cronin of the Boston Red Sox are in that class now....Toronto Maple Leafs were beaten three times over the week-end and scored but two runs in the three games. The Toronto club is getting great pitching but the attack has apparently folded up....Bill Harris who pitched the second game against Toronto yesterday for Jersey City will be 42 years old in two weeks. With a little experience he should be quite a pitcher....St. Louis Browns are battling for a first division berth and right now it looks as if the Brownies are going to make the climb....Shut Out's win in the Belmont Stakes Saturday in which Alsab was once more beaten gives the son of Equipose a tight grip on the championship of the three-year-olds...

Play Off Stage Reached In School Series

St. Peter's Baseball season is gradually coming to a close, but interest in the sport is daily increasing.

For the seniors (High School), the playoffs begin the week of June 7th. One team, the Aircobras, has already been elmininated, but not before making a name for itself. It lost to the Red Sox on Wednesday, June 3rd, by a score of 30-15. In spite of the fact that this team had a streak of bad luck it had four outstanding players— "Hic" McIsaac, captain, who showed skill at centre field and a splendid spirit of sportsmanship; Bernard O'Rourke, who played second base; and Bill Sheehy, who did a fine job at home plate as did "Pansy" O'Hearne at first base. The Red Sox, captained by Jim Monahan, will stand against the Wambats, led by Jack Wade. Wade's team is in first place in the playoffs, and they have, without doubt, earned this position. The captain turned in some excellent pitching and pop-fly nabbing; Tom Devine, a few home-runs; Dan McIsaac snagged several grounders and flies in left field. Monahan's team is a good second with the captain pitching, Mike Caccavella holding down left field, Joe Deran making some excellent "saves" at home plate, and Ted Lynch at centre field. Watch for the results of the playoffs.

The intermediates started into the semi-finals on Tuesday, June 2nd. The score up to that was:

	Won.	Lost.
Petes	5	0
Bombers	2	1
Spitfires	1	3
Flying Cats	0	4

A tough break! Petes, who won every game before the playoffs, were beaten by the Flying Cats who lost every game before the playoffs. Score 17-11. M. Caccavella whammed in two home runs. He is the "home-run king" of the season. However, Eric and Joe Basciano, Jack Brooks, Francis David, Gerard Peel, Ed. Hotts, Mike McIsaac, Red Sullivan, and Harry Russelle have some home-runs to their credit. Thursday night's game was won by the hard-hitting Bombers. They beat the Spitfires 13-5. Good fielding done by Joe Basciano and Mike McIsaac held down the score for both sides. The Bombers held down their opponents to no runs for three innings. Next week watch for the result of the playoffs.

The Juniors have had many exciting games with good batting and exciting play. The top-notch, nonstoppers were Clarke Ferren and Jack Maloney, with seven homers each. The semi-finals were played June 2nd. Yanks beat Hurricanes 26-18. Batteries for Yanks were Murphy and Strano; for the Hurricanes, Coderre and Mowry. Murphy topped all with seven runs, followed closely by Thirnbeck. Peel and Armstrong scored for the losers. On June 4th, Dodgers played Whirlwinds, the Dodgers winning 14-5. Yanks and Dodgers meet in best of two out of three in the finals next week.

The Midgets have been held back in some games. They will report all next week.

WINNIPEG, June 8—(CP)—Slip one over on a Scotsman? Ask (Moose Jaw Times-Herald) Brown.

Teams of former Old Country soccer stars chosen from Royal Air Force stations in Southern Saskatchewan played before 3,000 fans at Moose Jaw last week and England beat Scotland 6-0. Harold Roberts, centre forward from Bury, scored four goals and Ron Stainsby, former York City forward, shot two. After the game Brown wrote: "Everyone was feeling sorry for the poor Scots but who do you think picked up all the gate receipts? The Scots of course! Every cent taken at the gate went to the Queen's fund for Scottish air raid victims."

Incidentally:

Fighter Promoter Jack Price figures the Japanese air raid on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, cost him $1,500 at the gate when Bantam Champion Lou Salica decisioned Kenny Lindsay in a non-title fight at Vancouver Wednesday. Price said many fans, fearing a possible blackout in Vancouver that night, turned back their tickets and stayed home. He'll try a return bout July 4 with Salica's title at stake.

Lou (Halifax Chronicle) Zwerling: "When considering local golf enthusiasts it might be wise to place Carl Morash of Ashburn (Club) right at the top of the list. The young player, who was semi-finalist in the Maritime championships a couple of years back, works all night and then gives up his sleep each morning to play 18 holes before finally turning in.

Repaint Recipe:

Bill (Winnipeg Tribune) Frayne offers a war-inspired recipe for golf ball repaints: "Place the balls in a solution of washing soda till the paint is all removed. Be careful you do not leave in the solution too long as some damage to the rubber may result. Wash the balls in cold soapy water and dry thoroughly. Place a little paint (golf ball enamel) on the palms of the hands and roll the ball around with a circular motion. Give four or five coats, allowing a full days between coats to dry thoroughly."

Roll Call

Stan Heller, former Canadian Press and Montreal Gazette sports writer, plays the outfield with the R.C.A.F. Trenton station fastball team which includes Porky Dumart and Milt Schmidt, the hockey krauts from Boston . . . Jimmy McLean, member of a golfing family and former professional at the Lingan Club in Sydney, N.S., is with the R.C.A.F. at Lachine, Que. . . . Gerry Morrison, rated by Coach Carl Cronin as one of Calgary Bronks' greatest football players for his size, is in the army at Sussex, N.B.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

At the beginning of our lawn bowling season it seems rather difficult to write something that would be of interest to those who are gracious enough to take time out to read our daily columns of 'lawn bowling' news. True, we could elaborate on the rules of the game, we could give the records of the leading rinks in the schedule, we could boost this one's play or that one's and we intend to do all that as the season goes on, but as we said before, at the beginning of the season this makes, more or less, dull reading.

So we thought we would try a new angle, and happily we did hit on something that we think is good and we are going to pass it on for our readers consideration.

We were attending an A.R.P. lecture the other evening and as we were waiting for the lecture to commence we struck up a conversation with a chap who is a friend of ours, a worthy citizen, a good lawn bowler, and an all round real fellow. We asked our friend just what he thought about 'lawn bowling.' His answer to us was just as pleasing as it was surprising. He said: 'Pepper, I can't express in words just what I think about the lawn bowling organization, but I will give to you a little poem that just about expresses my opinion' So after reading it we decided to pass it on, and here is our friend's sentiments in verse form:

'Good Fellows.'

As I road here and there 'ere my journey's end,
May I always find friends just as true,
May Dame Fortune in kindness my daily path bend—
To a lot of good fellows like you.

In this life I have found that we get what we give,
We are done to, forsooth, as we do!
So my prayer is that I may live while I live—
With a lot of good fellows like you.

There is a glint in your eye, there's a clasp in your hand,
There's a tone in your voice always new,
I thing Paradise must be some sort of land—
With a lot of good fellow like you.

Here's a a pledge to your health, your joy, your success,
For folks of your kind are too few,
There is something to hearten, to gladden and bless—
In a lot of good fellow like you.

So I pledge you again, and can only say this—
And it springs from a sentiment true,
I shall always regret every hour I must miss—
From a lot of good fellows like you.

Pitcher Singles To Win Game Against Yankees

By Austin Bealmear,
Associated Press Sport Writer.

Nearly everybody in the Major Leagues, it seems, is working on a "streak" of some kind these days, but the ones who hope to keep them intact will take a tip from New York Yankees and steer clear of Al Smith, Cleveland southpaw.

Ernie Bonham is the latest to tangle with Lefty Al, whose portside tactics have made him an unpopular citizen in the vicinty of the Bronx.

Sporting a record of eight straight victories and topping the pitching ranks of both leagues, undefeated Ernie went after No. 9 against the Indians yesterday and 71,910 paying customers were on hand at the Stadium to watch him work.

Joe Heving lasted less than an inning against the American League leaders, who drove him to cover with three hits and as many runs. Then Smith came along to do his stuff. He checked the Yanks with a single run the rest of the way while his mates tore into Bonham and tied the score.

And when Lou Boudreau singled in the ninth for the 11th blow off the Yankee ace and moved to second on a sacrifice, Smith stepped up and lashed out a hit for the run that won the game.

Yanks Win Second.

Cleveland's success was short-lived yesterday, however, for the Yanks splattered home runs all over the place in the second game, winning 13-1 behind Spud Chandler's five-hit pitching and dumping the Indians into fourth place as Boston Red Sox moved into third. Joe Gordon poled a grand slam homer and hiked his consecutive game hitting streak to 24.

Detroit Tigers held on to second place in the American League 10 games behind the Yanks, by dividing a double bill with Washington Senators. Detroit took the first game 6-4 with the timely hitting of Pinky Higgins and Roger Cramer, but Walt Masterson blanked the Tigers on four hits in hurling the Senators to an 8-0 victory in the afterpiece.

The Red Sox tripped Chicago White Sox twice, winning both games by scores of 3-2 and scoring the winning runs in the final frames. Bobby Doerr and Jim Tabor clouted ninth-inning home runs for the opening victory and Lou Finney drove in the run which decided the nightcap in favor of Charlie Wagner, who limited the White Sox to three hits.

Browns Beat Athletics.

Continuing their flirt with the 1st division, St. Louis Browns knocked off Philadelphia Athletics in both games, 5-2 and 7-1.

In the National League, Cincinnati Reds took a pair from the tumbling Boston Braves and moved into third place, vacated by New York Giants who lost a twin bill to St. Louis Cardinals.

Four unearned runs helped the Reds win their first game, 6-2 but it took a ninth-inning homer by Ray Lamanno to decide the second, 3-2.

Howard Pollet pitched the Cards to a 4-1 triumph over the Giants in their opener and Mort Cooper made in unanimous with a four-hit 2-0 shutout.

Dodgers Win Two

Brooklyn Dodgers clung to their seven-game lead over the Cards by winning a pair from Chicago Cubs. Arky Vaughan, Dixie Walker, Pete Reiser paced a 16-hit attack which won the first game 8-4 and Reiser drove in the winning tally in the 10th inning of the second game, giving the Dodgers the verdict, 4-3.

Pittsburgh Pirates, who replaced the Cubs in sixth place and boosted their longest winning streak of the season to four straight, came from behind twice to whip the Philadelphia Phils, 5-4 in 10 innings, and 8-6 in a game held to seven innings by the Sunday law.

Charley (Red) Ruffing scored his 250th major league victory Saturday as the Yankees shut out Cleveland 3-0. Ruffing is the only active pitcher to win that number of games in a 19-year career with New York and Boston Red Sox. He has lost 212.

In other American League games, the White Sox beat Boston 3-1, the Athletics nosed out the Browns 6-5 and Washington and Detroit divided a twin bill, the Tigers taking the opener 9-3 and the Senators the nightcap 11-3. In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated the Phils 3-1, the Reds put on a power drive to turn back the Braves 8-2 and the Dodgers shut out the Cubs 2-0. New York at St. Louis was postponed.

Drop 2 Games On Sunday To Jersey City

By The Associaited Press

There aren't many pitchers performing in the minors who can boast of winning 100 games or more in one league, but Bill Harris of the International League Jersey City Giants, is one who can.

The 42-year-old player-coach boasted a record of 107 victories against 69 setbacks at the start of the season.

He made his first start of the present campaign yesterday as the Giants took a doubleheader from Toronto Maple Leafs, 1-0 and 2-1. After the Little Giants had won the opener behind the four-hit pitching of Rube Fischer, Harris annexed the seven-inning nightcap by allowing only three.

Newark Bears brought to an end their five-game losing streak as they defeated Buffalo Bisons twice, 3-0 and 5-1.

Milo Candini, young Bear righthander, had a no-hitter in the nightcap until Jim Levey singled in the sixth. He also lost his shutout as Johnny Welaj followed with another hit and Mayo Smith's fly brought Levey home. Aaron Robinson helped the Bears with his eighth home run.

Red Wings Win Two

Ira Hutchinson hung up his sixth victory as the tail-end Rochester Red Wings swept a twin bill from Syracuse Chiefs, 8-2 and 6-5. Dutch Mele homered in the eighth with one aboard to rob Hutchinson of a shutout.

The nightcap, a scheduled seven-inning affair, saw the Wings come from behind by scoring three times in the seventh to send the battle into extra innings. Rochester eventually won in the ninth.

Montreal Royals had to be content with a split, winning a 10-6 slugfest from the Baltimore Orioles before losing, 2-1, to Manager Tommy Thomas' crew.

Al Sherer, who went the distance in the first for Montreal, belted two doubles and a single which drove in two runs. Les Burge of the Royals hit his 13th homer in the second inning.

Baltimore broke even for the day when Joe Krakauskas spaced seven Royal hits, one of which was a home run by Tom Tatum, for his first victory since coming down to the club from the Cleveland Indians.

In Saturday's games Buffalo took a doubleheader from Newark, 12-9 and 5-3; Syracuse swept their three-game series with Toronto by notching a 4-1 decision; Montreal edged out Baltimore 4-3 and Jersey City defeated Rochester 3-2 in 10 innings.

Shut Out Wins By 3 Lengths Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK, June 8. —(AP). — You can mark Eddie Arcaro down down as the " I told you so" kid of the race tracks this year, all because Shut Out looks like the champion of the three-year-olds for 1942.

The little colt, who's named after all the whitewashings National League pitchers used to hang on the Brooklyn Dodgers, is in front for the title right now. And he's a cinch to stay there unless the International traveller, Fairaris, can come along to mop up the future features, or Alsab can regain his stretch kick.

All of which makes Arcaro a pretty fair prophet. Nearly a year ago, the little Kentucky Italian touted the chocolate son of Equipoise and Goose Egg as the real thing. He had his pick of Mrs. Payne Whitney's fashionable stable, and always chose Shut Out as his mount.

At the start of this year, his closest pals "sold" him on a stable mate, Devil Diver. Eddie listened to them and turned over Shut Out to Wayne (the cowboy) Wright in the Derby and Preakness. Saturday, Eddie was back in the driver's seat doing the steering, and the colt's three-length Belmont Stakes victory, on top of his Derby triumph, proved how right Arcaro was all along.

On top of everything else, Saturday's lawn party also wound up with $207,000 for Army and Navy Relief and the U. S. O. from Belmont and Jamaica race tracks. And Herbert Bayard Swope, who's directing the turf's national war efforts, indicated there might be some more when final returns from the day's program were in.

Greg Rice Sets 3-Mile Record

PELHAM MANOR, N.Y., June 8. —Greg Rice, track's perpetual-motion man, established an American record of 14 minutes flat for three miles Saturday in the Metropolitan A.A.U. meet to share the spotlight with Don Burnham, of Dartmouth, who defeated Leslie MacMitchell of New York University, by inches in a 4:14.6 mile.

Rice, representing the New York Athletic Club, wiped out the 14:10.4 mark set by Taisto Maki of Finland, at New Orleans in 1939 and lowered his own best outdoor effort of 14:13.

The stocky little former Notre Dame runner took the lead first time around the five-lap Travers Island oval and was a full lap ahead of Teammate Leo Casey, who was second, at the finish.

Burnham, a Dartmouth sennior but wearing the colors of the N.Y. A.C. to-day, tailed MacMitchell throughout, caught him 200 yards from the end and then answered the National Collegiate champion's finishing burst with one of his own.

Upper Canada Boys Win at Port Hope

PORT HOPE, June 8.—The Lower School eleven of Trinity College School were defeated by Upper Canada College Preps in a cricket game here Saturday. T.C.S. batted first and made only 34 runs. U.C.C. then went in and scored 72 runs for the loss of only five wickets.

Austin Kelk took five T.C.S. wickets and Melville took four. Jim Colley scored 28 not out, and David Gossage scored 23 for Upper Canada.

He has won more than 20 six-day races since, frequently teamed with his brother.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, June 8.— (AP). — Suggestion we'd like to see tried: Charles O'Connor, Cincinnati Times-Star gold expert, comes up with an idea for an open military golf tournament this summer, which undoubtedly would net a nice bit of change for the relief societies or other charity....He points out the service roster includes such crack amateurs as Bud Ward, Johnny Fischer, Pat Abbott, Willie Turnesa, Dick Chapman, Tommy Tailer and Charley Yates and Professionals Sammy Snead, Jim Turnesa, Vic Ghezzie, Porky Oliver and a flock of others.

Initial Error.

When the Red Sox made a trip to Washington recently, Thomas William Oscar (Lefty) Judd (Ingersoll, Ont., product) turned his luggage over to a porter while he went to buy a newspaper....Losing track of the prospective tip, the red cap approached Manager Joe Cronin and asked, "Where is that two jay man?"...."You mean Double X, don't you' asked Cronin, thinking of Jimmy Foxx...."No," insisted the red cap, "I mean two jay; here it is right on the bag."....Sure enough, the bag was marked T.W. O.J.

The Minnesota Boxing Referees' Association has worked out a new method of scoring fights by which one point will be deducted from a boxer's score for hitting low, hitting after being ordered to break from a clinch, using illegal punches, etc.....We've seen some scraps where both guys would wind up with out minus 40.

Japs Claim 4 Subs

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), June 8—(AP).—Imperial headquarters claim 1 today that naval units had sunk four enemy submarines in Japanese waters in the latter part of May and early June.

Headquarters claimed these submarines were cruising off Tokyo Bay, Shimonoseki, Wakayama and southwest of Kyushu, the southernmost major island.

Using of Honey As Substitute For Sugar Urged

Honey can be used almost without exception as a sugar substitute, and from now on the possibilities for its use will be endless, according to the Beekeepers Association which met Saturday afternoon at the Normal School, where there were 150 present including the Nature Club.

After speeches of welcome by Alan Brown, chairman, and Q. S. McKinney, of the Normal School, the program got under way with a practical demonstration of bees and hive life, which the audience, at a distance, found interesting. The speaker, Alan Brown, explained that smoke controlled the hives, because it drove back the guard bees and disorganized the workers.

Gordon F. Townsend, of the Agricultural College, talked on honey, what it is, how it is gathered and its value. He classed honey as a solution of natural sugars and said it was taken from the nectaries of the plant. It may contain as much as 70 or 80 per cent. water. After the bees finish with it in the hive the moisture is reduced to between 16 and 19 per cent., and this is done by passing dry air through the hives, in the finest ventilation system in the world. Humans have yet to contrive anything to equal Nature's efforts.

A description of the tremendous effort the bees make in getting honey, where it takes approximately 20,000 bees to bring in one pound of honey, and where one bee may make only 20 or 30 trips in a lifetime, before dying of exhaustion, was vividly given. Another little-known fact presented was that honey contains several minerals, such as calcium, copper, phosphorus and iron. This was given for the benefit of the Nature Club.

Four Grades of Honey

"Most honey," Mr. Townsend said, "comes from clovers, but there is also some gotten from buckwheat. Honey is graded by the packers into four kinds, white, golden, amber and dark. The only difference is the colour and flavor, everything else is equal. There are also three grades 1, 2 and 3, into which all honey is divided. No. 1 having the lowest moisture content and therefore not spoiling readily. It has a splendid food value, being even better than sugar because it passes directly into the bloodstream and radiates energy."

The equivalent honey measure to be used in place of sugar was given for the women. A cup, of honey should be used in place of a cup of sugar, and reduce the liquid by one-fifth. If this is found to be too sweet, it was suggested to reduce the cup of honey to ¾ of a cup in place of 1 cup of sugar.

Interesting sidelights of unusual facts about honey were presented by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., which included a few of the Old World superstitions. He was followed by Frank Paterson, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, who spoke of the havoc the weather is playing with the crops and of the future losses involved if the weather should continue in the next two or three weeks.

A members of the War Prices and Trade Board, Tom Shields, spoke to beekeepers of the efforts being made on their behalf to further the use of honey, both at home and abroad. Difficulty has been experienced in getting containers of any kind, but a substitute has been found, at least for the present. He explained that the shortage of fruit jars was due to a lack of zinc for production use, but that this has now been remedied and there will soon be a bountiful supply available.

The program concluded with the showing of four reels of pictures on bees and honey production. Ice cream and lemonade made with honey were sold, the benefits to be donated to the British War Victims Fund.

Eggs Plentiful On Farm Market

The farm produce market Saturday was light for the first week in June. Some of the longer benches upstairs were entirely vacant, and apparently the improvements affected by the property committee of the council in recent months have failed in respect to maintaining the volume of business.

Eggs were plentiful at 30 to 35 cents a dozen for the medium size. Pewees down to 20 cents and the top sizes ranged from 35 to 40 cents. The bulk of the selling was from 28 to 30, 32 and 35 cents. Butter was unchanged at 37 and 38 cents a pound.

Broiler chickens were uniformly 35 cents a pound, pullets 30 cent, and roosters 25 cents.

James Healey of Westwood reported he had reached the last of his crop of 1,200 bags of potatoes. J. J Leahy sold seed potatoes at $1.50 a bag, and table stock Katahlins at $1.75 and $1.80. The Healey White Stars were 45 cents a peck Herb Doig quoted Chippewas at $2.15 a bag and Green Mountains $2; asparagus at two bunches for 15 cents, and also maple syrup at $2.75 a gallon.

Market gardeners say they have sold most of their greenhouse seedlings. Tomato plants were again 90 cents a hundred, and the price of small boxes of vegetables and flowers was 20 cents or two boxes for 35 cents.

Fred Clifford of North Monaghan reported peas and potatoes in bloom last week.

George Benton still has a supply of rock garden plants and perennials at 15 to 25 cents each. Mimulas and semper vivum were some of the plants he featured Saturday.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NO COURT TODAY

This being the King's birthday there was no session of the police court this morning. Some of the regular attendants had apparently not heard of the development and were on hand as usual.

ATTENDS CRICKET MATCH

Archbishop Owen was an interested spectator at the Peterborough-Whitaker and Grove School cricket match at Lakefield on Saturday afternoon. The Primate watched most of the game and was in conversation with many of the players during the tea interval.

IN THE BUSINESS

Two youngsters about four years of age attracted considerable attention on Charlotte street Monday morning. The two children were calmly sitting in the middle of the sidewalk, ignoring passers-by, and working at putting together two airplanes out of odd pieces of wood and scrap material.

GETS ARTS DEGREE

John Earle Chase, R.R. 1, Peterborough, is listed with the graduates at Toronto University as obtaining his Bachelor of Arts degree. He took advantage of the Teachers' Extension Course while teaching at the Hartman-Jones Memorial School. He is now continuing his Officer's Training Course at Camp Borden having enlisted several months ago.

CARS DAMAGED

Cars driven by J. M. DeLong, 219 Caddy street and J. H. Beaumont, 161 Rutherford avenue were damaged considerably in a traffic accident on Queen street at the rear of J. K. Hughes' garage on Saturday. DeLong was driving north on Queen street and Beaumont south on the same street when the automobiles collided. Beaumont's car was damaged along the left side and the left rear fender while a tire on DeLong's car was blown out, the axle bent and other damage done. No one was hurt.

MUSICIANS WANTED

Musicians are being sought in Peterborough for a military band that is being organized in connection with the Officers' Training School at Brockville. The bandmaster of the new organization is E. A. Pound.

WORK MARRED

The men doing the work on the sidewalks around the post office work pretty fast, but not quite speedily enough to judge from appearances. While they were home at lunch, with the section on Hunter street only partly finished, someone came along and left a neat row of footprints on the still wet cement.

DECORATION DAY.

The Independent Order of Oddfellows will hold their annual Decoration Day service at Little Lake Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, June 28, at 3 p.m., when the Rev. H. J. Mahoney of Knox United Church will be the guest speaker. The parade will leave the Oddfellows' Hall at 2.30 p.m. The service at the cemetery will include the placing of a bouquet of flowers on the graves of deceased brothers of Peterborough Lodge No. 111 and Otonabee Lodge No. 13, and a large wreath will be placed in some conspicuous place in memory of deceased brothers of other lodges outside of the city who are buried here. Golden Link Rebekah Lodge No. 81 will also take part in the service.

South of Wolfe Salvage Area

The weekly salvage collection is gaining in volume every week. District No. 4 last week produced a tremendous quantity of everything asked for by the Salvage committee.

One feature of last week's collection was the volunteer help that greatly assisted in getting the collection cleared up in quicker time than usual. Among those who helped out were members of the C.W.V.S. and other ladies interested in furthering the war effort. They are not only doing excellent work in their own organizations but they were a great help to the salvage committee. The Chamber of Commerce through is members was also helpful. Six school boys did grand work during the evening. Y's Men's Club of the Y.M.C.A., Jas. Wharry, Henry O'Toole, Clare Collins, Richard Ford, and extra trucks from Stocks Bread and Silverwood's Dairy were also of great assistance. In some instances people passing the depot came in and offered their services.

This help and even more of it could be used to advantage on each collection day. Next Thursday's collection will be district No. 5, compromising every thing from Wolfe street south to the river and to Cameron street and west from the river to Wastern avenue. And if the volume compares with the previous weeks' collections there will be a vast quantity to handle.

Gun Shots Total Now $398 For War Victims

Starting last October with a contribution of $3.25, which represented the returns from the initial sale of a weekly news journal edited by Arthur Kittson in the Genelco Company Ltd. plant, it made very rapid progress in the matter of circulation and proceeds, so that in all with today's list of receipts for the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund, wherein $66.00 is credited in their name, a total of $398. 26 has come to this fund alone, and this represents but a part of what has been accomplished on behalf of various war charities, for all the gross receipts are given in rotation to very worthy war charities, in which this fund has its place.

This combination by the Company (who pay the costs of the issue) and the employees who pay 1c or more for each issue, has been a most happy one in raising funds, and considered in the light of its total achievement towards the war effort, ranks as a most meritorious one quite worthy of special mention.

This marks the seventh donation to come to the fund from this source, and that means an average of almost $57 for every contribution, and based on that same average, it would mean that some $2,000 has been raised through this one feature alone in the city to help along the country's war effort since last October.

On Saturday, while making the usual round of the farmer's market, the secretary of the fund was offered a jack rabbit which had been caught that morning by Billy Boyles of Cavan, whose father is a veteran of World War No. 1, and who has several times helped this fund along. Within less than half an hour through the spontaneous assistance given by the employees at the Examiner Office, and the manager of Radio Station CHEX, $1.85 was raised on this for the fund through a small draw, which was made by Miss Jean Stenton of the repertorial staff, and resulted in it being won by J. Davidson, the manager of the Radio Station, and this amount is included in today's list.

Two girls, Betty McIlwaine and Joyce Wilson, brought in $2.30 from the Queen Elizabeth Junior Red Cross of Confederation School, which is composed of Grades V and VI, and then they secured the necessary authorization to hold a bazaar at 609 Lock street in conjunction with Mildred Welsh and Margurite McGerity, which bespeaks a continuance of the splendid work done by the youngsters in the south end of the city, which was a big feature of the activities for the fund last season, in which these same girls took a part.

Relief Is Given In May To 31 Families

Thirty-one local families received relief in May as compared with 52 in May last year and the total number of persons on the roll was reduced to 156 from 257 a year ago.

These figures were included in the report of A. G. Metheral, relief officer, at the meeting of the relief committee Friday afternoon.

Cost of relief for the month was $1,203.96, as against $2,054.16 in May, 1941. Total expenditure for five months was $9,181.12, of which the Ontario Government pays a rebate of $4,563.76 and the Ontario Medical Association pays $39? total $4,960.76. This leaves $4,220.36 charged to the city treasury.

The council appropriated $12,000 for the year; expenditure to the end of May was $4,220.36, leaving $7,779.64 for the remaining seven months. Opinion of the committee expects this sum to be sufficient for all relief requirements for 1942.

One situation which caused considerable discussion was the hospital costs showing an increase for five months of $556.46 compared with the payments for the corresponding period in 1941. A complete statement will be presented at the next meeting of the committee to ascertain, if possible, the cause of this increase when the number of people on relief is 100 fewer than last year.

Alderman Glover, chairman, mentioned the wood piled on the city lot, Park Street South, which is being proposed for a playground for children of that section, and suggested the co-operation of the relief committee. Alderman Dutton moved, seconded by Alderman Sullivan, that the relief committee take care of any necessary charge for the repiling of the wood on the lot to provide ample space for playground purposes.

A secondary statement presented to the committee by Mr. Metheral showed that no fully employable man is receiving relief, and only five women in that category are being helped. In the partly employables there were four men and seven women; and in the totally unemployables—52 men and 88 women. That means the total of 156 persons on relief in May comprised 5 persons fully employable, 11 partly employable, and 140 described as totally unemployable.

Milk Tests Are Most Favorable

'I'd like to see another city with 97 per cent milk,' Sanitary Inspector MacPherson demarked to the Examiner this morning in reference to the report for May which will presented to the Board of Health Tuesday night.

The Department examines milk for general evidences of purity, absence of foreign matter, signs of sanitary and clean handling and so on.

'I think it is the best report that has come to the Board in my time, and it just shows how the dairy farmers, who are supplying the milk to the city, can turn out a fine product. They are faced with scarcity of labor, not on every farm of course, but generally, and in spite of that condition the tests made last month really deserve special mention.'

Mr. MacPherson said the Board of Health from time to time had expressed appreciation of the way in which the farmers were co-operating in trying to provide the best possible milk for city consumption.

'They excelled themselves last month according to our tests, and it is something I appreciate very much because I have been close to our dairy farmers, and I know what they have done,' Mr. MacPherson said.

Don Emery Elected Chairman of E.I.C.

Don J. Emery, of the Canadian General Electric Engineering department, was elected chairman of the new executive at the annual meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada, held Saturday. The E.I.C. is the largest and most influential organizaiton of technical personnel in Canada.

The following officers were elected: D. J. Emery, chairman; A. R. Jones, secretary-treasurer; A. J. Girdwood, chairman of meetings and paper committee; J. Cameron, chairman of social and entertainment committee; A. L. Malby, chairman of membership and attendance committee; G. R. Langley, chairman of the post-war problem committee and student guidance and counsel; J. F. Osborn, branch news editor of the E.I.C. Journal and publicity; W. F. Fanjoy, representative of H.Q. nominating committee; E. R. Shirley, auditor.

It was left to J. Cameron to arrange a date for the annual outing at Mr. Langley's camp, and June 20 has been chosen tentatively as the most convenient date. Members will receive notification of the final plans.

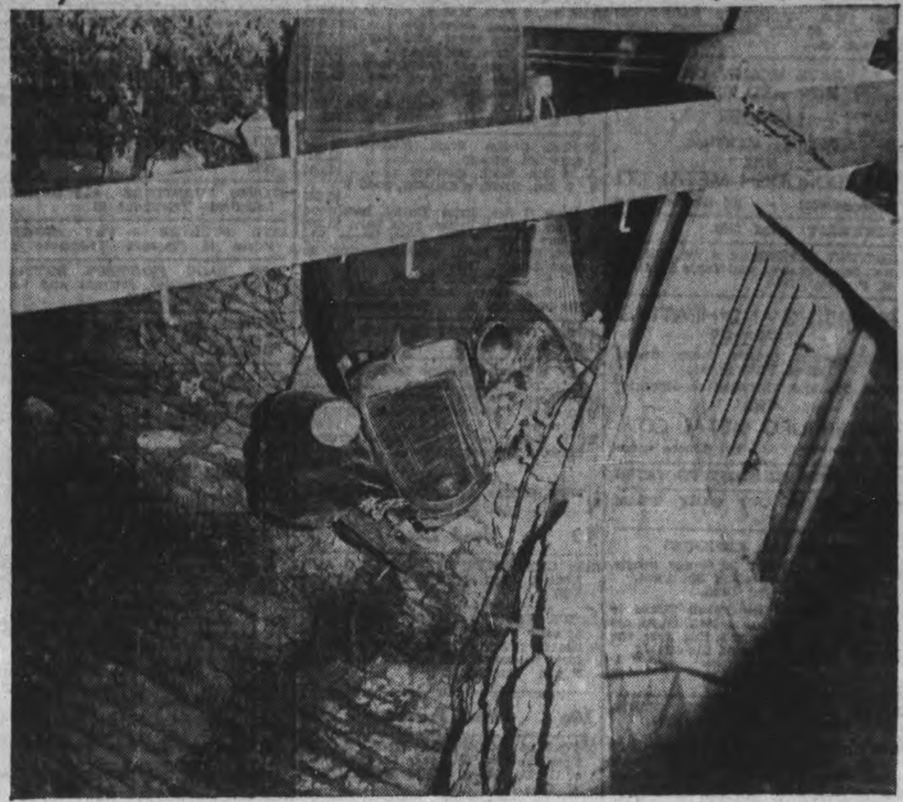
Lady Luck Rode With This Motorist On Saturday Night



J. H. (Harold) Lowery, Toronto, and formerly of Lakefield, had the fingers of death brush past his forehead on Saturday night when his car crashed through a narrow guard rail between the Lakefield bridges. Only one front wheel jammed against a concrete bridge abutment and a bit of broken post kept the car from hurtling about 30 feet into the turbulent waters of the Otonabee River, in its rocky channel. He received two bruises. The picture was taken from the south side of the concrete bridge, with the camera facing westerly, at two o'clock Sunday morning.

Car Comes to Rest Hanging Over 30-Foot Drop

LAKEFIELD, June 8 — (ENS).— J. Harold Lowery, 46 of Toronto, a former resident of the village, was apparently in such a hurry to reach his brother-in-law, Cliff Galvin's, home on Saturday night that his car tried a short cut across the Otonabee River, and didn't make it.

Lowery, acompanied by his wife's niece, Muriel Stabler, 23, of Chamberlain Street Peterborough, drove into the village about 11:30, got across the first bridge over the canal but failed to make the turn on to the second bridge over the river and Hydro reach, hit a 2-foot telephone pole and wound up with his car hanging over a thirty-foot drop to the river, the car pinned by the pole and one back wheel.

The crash took the pole down across Highway 28, cut the Hydro wires into Clarence Foster's garage, throwing it into darkness, and left danging live wires throwing a shower of sparks across the highway, charging the tangle of main trunk telephone lines to Peterborough.

Lowery and the girl were dragged from the wreck with some difficulty due to the danger from the hanging wires, Miss Stabler having a particularly close call in her confusion trying to open the left side door which hung directly over the river.

Apart from a cut across the bridge of his nose where his glasses cut in, and two welts on his forehead, Lowery apparently was only shaken up and bruised and the girl likewise got off as lightly. Force of the crash flung the driver against the wheel hard enough to bend the rim in over an inch.

Directed Traffic.

Clarence Foster produced two flares from his garage and placed them at both ends of the bridges, his little daughters taking over red flags and helping guide traffic until village Police Chief Harry T. Hill arrived.

It was about twenty minutes before Hilliard McCracken, local Hydro maintenance man, got the wires cut making passage on one side of the highway safe for traffic, the big pole handing over the other half of the roadway.

With the lines cut to Peterborough Ellis Simpson, night Bell operator, was forced to contact city repair crews via Warsaw and another circuit, the Bell man arriving about an hour later. Efforts to get to police in the city by the northern line were unavailing, and Doug Davis drove down, telephoning Provincial Constable Price Morris from the city and locating Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure on patrol on the Chemong Road.

Police investigation of the car produced a case of a half-dozen pints of beer, one bottle of which was smashed. A second case was located on Sunday noon by Chief Hill at the foot of the embankment under the car only five bottles, all broken, being found.

Lowery was questioned in bed at the Galvin home during the night by Provincial Constable Morris and Chief Hill.

Repair crews worked much of the night untangling the mess, but it was Sunday noon before a new pole was in and the old one lifted off the car sufficiently for a tandem of a tow truck and heavy sedan to pull the wreck off the edge of the bank.

Though th front of the car, a 1931 Plymouth coach, was a complete wreck, not a tire was blown and miraculously not a glass in it was broken.

It is understood a charge will be laid.

The scene of the crash is a particularly dangerous one due to a slight curve in the road between the two bridges, there being no protection against a plunge into the river except a frail bit of wooden fence. If one misses the telephone pole about ten feet east of the cement abutment of the bridge. It is the second accident to occur there in the past two years, no guy wires or protection being erected after the last crash.

3 Young Men Graduate At Air Schools

Three more young Peterborough fliers joined the ever-growing army of men with wings on Friday and Saturday.

D. E. Moorehead, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Moorehead, 621 George street, graduated at Guelph as a wireless-airgunner and now moves on to Paulson, Manitoba for advanced training. This boy is just 19 years of age, and enlisted in June a year ago after leaving the Peterborough Collegiate. He is one of the youngest boys from the city to get his wings.

Frank J. McNulty, son of Dr. F. P. McNulty and Mrs. McNulty, 289 Hunter street, west, graduated as a sergeant-airgunner on Saturday at Fingal Bombing and Gunnery School. He enlisted in March 1940 and was on ground crew until January of this year when he grabbed a chance to train in an air crew. He was placed third and expects to gain his commission. He graduated from St. Peter's High School and the Peterborough Business School and is 23 years of age. He is the oldest boy in the family.

Keith Wood, son of Mrs. M. Wood, 368 Water street was a graduate in the class at Guelph on Friday. He attended the Collegiate Institute and at the time of his enlistment was employed at the C.G.E. He joined up in August of last year, trained at Mountain View, Belleville and finally at Guelph. Now he goes to Paulson, Man., for a 26 day course which completes his training.

Feast of Corpus Christi Marked By Congregation of Sacred Heart

Doubts and questions of the divinity of Jesus were uttered by some men even in his own day and human generation, Rev. John T. Finn, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, recalled in his sermon at the Corpus Christi celebration at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Sunday afternoon.

"How can this man give us himself to eat? This is a hard saying and who can beat it!" That was one of the expressions, recorded in the gospel of St. John, heard while Jesus was teaching in the synagogue at Capharnam.

Men of His own time had seen Jesus becalm the storm on the sea. They had seen his power over animate nature in the restoring of sight to the blind and life to the daughter of Jairus, the young son of the widow of Naim and to Lazarus who had even been buried. The Catholic Church believed and taught those things, Father Finn said. It believed Him when He said "he that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath everlasting life, and I will raise him up on the last day."

The Church believed and taught that Jesus instituted the sacrament of the Blessed Eucharist at the last supper: "He that eateth my flesh and drinketh my blood hath everlasting life, and I will raise him up on the last day;" "as the living father hath sent me, and I live by the father so he that eateth me, the same shall live by me."

"We are here to-day to proclaim the faith that He taught," Father Finn said. "The faith that rests on His word that never once failed in accomplishment of its effect." The feast of Corpus Christi signified the 'body of Christ' pertaining to the Blessed Eucharist. "We here around the living body of Christ, risen to die no more, truly here in this world in the way of His own devising, in the Blessed Sacrament."

That faith and assurance demanded of the people the kind of lives worthy of so great a gift.

The annual procession to the altar on the church lawn was largely attended. The only change in the customary proceedings was the omission of kneeling during the benediction on account of the wet ground from rain in the morning. Rev. J. J. O'Brien officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. Masterson of Lakefield and Rev. Father Houlihan.

Cyclist Thrown To Pavement

Roy Fitzgerald, 282 Stewart street, received bruises and shock Saturday evening when the bicycle he was riding collided with the front of an automobile and he was thrown off.

Fitzgerald was riding his bicycle west on Charlotte street as W. C. Clegg, 260 Charlotte street who had stopped at a service station for gasoline drove across the northwest curb at Charlotte and Stewart streets, intending to drive south on Stewart.

The bicycle collided with the front of Clegg's automobile and was damaged, while the rider was thrown to the pavement.

3-Year-Old Girl Collides With Car

When she ran out from between two parked cars on George street opposite the Metropolitan Store on Saturday evening, three-year-old Dorothy Ketcheson, 185 Bethune street collided with the left front fender of a northbound automobile and was knocked down.

The little girl escaped with a bruised right shoulder and abraisons on her left leg.

The car was driven by William Ianson, 25 Drew street, Oshawa.

The girl's mother stated that as they were about to cross George street, Dorothy suddenly darted away and ran out into the street into the path of the automobile.

Readiness Shown By Dog Owners In Obeying Law

The executive committee of the Peterborough Humane Society reports that the work of looking after dogs in the city is being handled with satisfactory results and with the least possible friction.

Dog owners generally seem to realize how unfair it is to let their pets run at large, as in many cases dogs ruin flower beds and gardens on which others have spent considerable time and effort. It is gratifying to see so many dog owners read to co-operate with Gerald Dunford who is handling the city dog by-law for the Humane Society, which has been appointed by the City of Peterborough to supervise this work.

On the other hand, there are others who are not so thoughtful, and who persist in letting their pets run at large. That is where the work becomes difficult.

During the period from May 15 to June 3, Gerald Dunford gave 126 different warnings to owners to keep their dogs at home, but in spite of these warnings, 18 dogs had to be picked up.

There were 107 telephone calls from people complaining of dogs running at large, and whenever possible, every complaint is investigated.

The Humane Society would like to have it understood that there is no favoritism shown at any time, everybody is treated alike. Every owner of a dog seen running at large is duly warned once, and when that fails to bring results, the law must take its course. The Humane society does not make the laws, it simply carries on its work conscientiously, and the fewer the dogs allowed to run wild, the fewer will be injured or killed on the streets.

Results of the work being done to have the city dog by-law observed are beginning to be seen, as only two dogs have been injured on the streets during the last six weeks. Fifteen cats were picked up, or brought to the shelter, and destroyed.

Col. Park's Son Graduates As An Officer

Two cadets from the Peterborough district were graduated at the Brockville Officer's Training School on Friday, in a large class of young men for the Canadian Army.

Cadet 2-Lt. Allan Park is the only student from Peterborough to receive his officer's certificate in the class. He is the son of Lt.-Col. Maurice H. Park, and Mrs. Park, 531 Hunter street, west, Peterborough. His mother is Dorothy Allan Park noted singer. He graduated from the Peterborough Collegiate and entered Toronto University in Sept. 1939, winning the James Harris Scholarship in Latin and Greek. He interrupted his course in Honor English to enlist for active service in July, 1941, following in the footsteps of his father who is a veteran of World War 1, and now officer commanding the Prince of Wales Rangers, 2nd Battalion (Reserve unit). Lt. Park spent seven months at C.A.(B). T.C. 32, Peterborough and reported at Brockville for the officer's training course in March, 1942. He reports to Camp Borden at once.

The other soldier to receive his officer's certificate is Cadet Douglas J. Dart of Trent River, one of the best known young men of the district, and one who has been on active service practically since the war started. He was born in the United States but is now a Canadian and has lived for the past several years at Trent River, being known particularly well by the summer visitors, as he is an outstanding guide. He married Miss Margaret Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brown of Trent River, and he has been serving with the Midland Regiment as C.Q.M.S. He will now be posted to another unit as a junior officer with the rank of Lieutenant.

Just Into a Boat

TORONTO, June 8—(CP)—Seaman Urquhart of the Toronto Life-Saving Department was home eating his Sunday dinner yesterday unaware his mates were dragging the Don river for him. An excitable citizen saw Urquhart jump over the bank asd phoned in the alarm. What the citizen didn't know was Urquhart had jumped into a boat and pushed off downstream.

LOANS

$25 FOR $1.76 (TOTAL COST)
$50 FOR $3.58 (TOTAL COST)
$100 FOR $7.10 (TOTAL COST)
when repaid in six monthly instalments

WOULD a cash loan help you? If you have a job, you can borrow at Household Finance without fuss or bother—and at reasonable cost. You may repay your loan in monthly instalments which fit your own pocketbook.

Just this to do

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100 to be repaid at $9.46 a month. Twelve instalments of $9.46 each will repay your loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner in order to reduce the cost. Six monthly instalments of $17.85 each—a total of $107.10—will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $7.10. A $25 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $4.46 each costs only $1.76.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household—just the ability to repay in monthly instalments. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Household Finance loans are usually made on furniture or car. But we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in 24 hours or even sooner if necessary. If you should get sick or lose your position while paying on your loan, Household will show you every consideration.

Let Household help you

People borrow at Household to pay taxes, insurance, medical, dental, hospital and funeral expenses, school fees, and overdue bills of many kinds. Household service helps men and women, both married and single, to take care of emergency expenses and work their way out of debt.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. We are in business to make loans to folks with money problems. Phone or visit us without obligation.

IN MEMORIAM

SUDDARDS.—In loving memory of of our dear dad, Edward Markham Suddards, who passed away one year ago today, June 8, 1941.

Farewell, dear father, thy work is o'er,
Thy willing hands will toil no more,
A loving father, kind and true;
No one on earth we'll find like you.
—Always remembered by his Son and Daughter-in-law.

NORTON. — In loving memory of Mrs. Robert Norton, who died one year ago today, June 8, 1941.

Just when your life was brightest
Just when your years were best.
You were called from this world of sorrow
To a home of eternal rest.
—Sadly missed by her Husband.

Births, Deaths, Etc.

IN MEMORIAM

SUDDARDS.—In loving memory of our dear Dad, Edward Markham Suddards, who passed away one year ago today, June 8, 1941.

We have only your memory, dear father,
To remember our whole life through
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.
—Lovingly remembered by his daughter and Son-in-law.

JARVIS.—In loving memory of Walter Jarvis, who died two years ago, June 6, 1940.

We cannot clasp your hand, dear father,
Your face we cannot see,
But let this little token
Tell that we still remember thee.
—Ever remembered by his seven Sons and five Daughters.

CARIBBEAN

Cabin K with the full consent both of the late occupant, Mr. Leonard Halsey, and the ship's captain, Seth Pringle. There had been some kind of mysterious business in which the dashing and mysterious William Talcott had marched at the head of a squad of four to, of all places, the fire hose. He had opened the cabinet and, in the presence of the squad, removed therefrom a bulky envelope. Then the squad had right-faced and marched into Cabin K, and marched right out again. But without the envelope.

And it was much more puzzling when the cause of all the trouble, Mr. Talcott, had his turn and came face-to-face with the young captain. The startled passengers saw the supposed embezzler-murderer and the stiff Army officer in a combination bear-hug dance and Sioux Indian reunion, complete with war cries.

It dragged on unbearably. Dumpy, sniffing dowagers; doddering old gentlemen; returning college students; school teachers. The same question. The same sharp scrutiny.

There was an interruption; one of the squad superintending search of the fire hose compartment came marching up. Saluted smartly, grinned, said, "Formula Nine did it, sir. We got the goods."

And what on earth was Formula Nine? What could it possibly have to do with fire hoses and fat envelopes and a sad-eyed, sad-faced man who occupied a cabin just as if he were at home?

The line moved on. Thinner, now. Less crowding from behind. There weren't so many left. A man and wife, and then the hypochondriac, Professor Constantine.

The professor winked at Bill Talcott. "Style, eh?" he remarked with a grin. "Makes you feel important— You know, that man who who just passed. Perfect Neanderthal, don't you think? Notice the shoulders and arms—"

Talcott didn't notice the perfect Neanderthal but he did notice Professor Contantine. The professor possessed a mop of dyed, woolly hair. He also possessed violent and uncontrollable eyebrows patterned much along the lines of those of a famous labor leader. But behind his thick-lensed glasses he had no eyelashes!

"Professor," Talcott said, smiling grimly. "I believe you claim to have been picked up in Martinique by a certain smuggler named Jackson. It wouldn't be possible, would it, that you had been in Saint Thomas instead to secure certain defence plans which were recently revealed by the use of Formula Nine on Struthers' report to the company?"

Constantine deigned not to hear. He moved, shuttlewise, to the rail. His leg went up and over he went.

ance and wisdom but diplomacy in its handling, I would like to say a few words of advice to the daughters who are going back to Mama, with their bags and baggage and their kids, because they have nowhere else to go.

Because you are discontented and unhappy yourself don't take your temper and nerves out on the old people. You are sick with anxiety about your husband. You miss him and your own home and your pleasant way of living. Your parents are not to blame for any of that, and there is no reason why you should depress them by being a figure of gloom in their midst, or trying to alter their own cherished ways of doing things. Just bear in mind that you are a guest and that a guest has to earn her board and keep by making herself agreeable.

Don't interfere with Mother's housekeeping. It irritates her just as much for you to stick your fingers in her pies as it would you for her to have a hand in yours. Don't pooh-pooh and scorn all her opinions. Maybe she has a low opinion of all of this talk about nutrition and balanced diets, but she reared a husky family without ever hearing of a calory or a vitamin; and it won't hurt your children to eat Grandma's cooking.

Pipe Them Down

Try to make the children as easy on her as possible. Johnny's and Susie's yells and shrieks and the sound of crashing furniture may be music to your ears, but ever since their own children went off to college the old folks have been living in peace and quiet, and the racket of noisy youngsters nearly drives them frantic. You can't gag children, but you can pipe them down.

And be grateful. Never cease expressing in deeds and words your appreciation of the generosity of your fathers and mothers who have opened their homes and their hearts to you, without even waiting for you to cry to them for help; who have given up their own rooms so that the baby might have a sunny place to sleep in and are, perhaps, spending the little that they had laid up for their old age so that you and your children may lack for nothing in food and clothes.

All that I have said goes double for the daughters-in-law who are going back to live with their husbands' people.

"Nerves" May Be Cause of Tired Feeling

Her Energy Used Up in Worry

Too tired—no matter what gay plans are afoot! But why—if she's not ill. "Nerves" perhaps.

If you feel exhausted all the time, but have nothing organically wrong with you, you're probably the high-strung type, letting worry eat up all your energy.

And yet, just because you are high-strung, you could be one of the most charming and vital people if you would turn those inward energies outward.

How to do it? Try to understand what's making you nervous. Is there some problem you've tried to ignore?

An unsolved problem, you know, can be as alive and destructive as a disease germ. The thing to do is to force it to the surface. Out in the open it can be driven away.

But ignore it, grow still more tired and irritable, and you'll drive away friends and family instead. You'll be right on the road to a nervous breakdown.

Our 32-page booklet explains causes of "nerves" and "nerve" symptoms, such as indigestion, insomnia. Describes a physical and mental program to overcome them. Gives right diet, body care for sound nerves, vitality.

For your copy of "Overcoming Nerve" and Everyday Health Problems" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly you Name, Address and the Name of Booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THWARTING A SQUEEZE

MANY OF THE fanciest double-squeeze plays could be thwarted if the defenders realized soon enough what was being attempted by the declarer and used the correct methods. When a declarer begins to run his long suit and compel discards by the defenders, a high signal by one of them can sometimes tell his partner that he will protect a particular suit—the one which contains an entry card from one of declarer's hands to the other—so that the partner may then throw away his cards in that suit. This then enables the partner to retain protection elsewhere.

One declarer in a duplicate made that contract by means of a double-squeeze after West led the diamond 10 to the A. He figured out the double-squeeze he would build and then cashed the diamond K, club A and K and ran the seven spades. When the last was led he also held in dummy the heart 3 and the diamond J, his own hand retaining the heart A-8 and the club 7. Since East alone then guarded the club with the J, he could not throw that and so had to trash one of the two hearts he held. The club 7 was then discarded and West was squeezed. He had to keep the diamond Q to guard the J, and so could not also protect the hearts.

That squeeze was defeated at another table, where the declarer tried to build it the same way. When the diamond K was played by declarer to the second trick, East did not discard the heart 5, as at the other table, but the 10, to tell West he would protect that suit. This made it easy for West to hold on to protection in both minor suits, or that the squeeze did not work.

Farmers Are Urged To Build Up Their Own Co-operatives By Agnes Macphail Former M.P.

"I have no desire to contribute to the wealth of Lady Eaton one cent more than I have to," said Miss Agnes Macphail, touching on the topic of co-operative business in the main address at the district Holstein Breeders' Association field day at the Lift Lock, Saturday afternoon.

Farmers have built large parts of both the Eaton and Simpson merchandizing corporations, Miss Macphail said, and if they are sincerely interested in building up their own co-operatives, they must know "that you have to put up a slice of the capital."

Co-operation is democracy applied in the economic field, business of the people, by the people and for the people. Primarily it must be business of the people. They have to establish it, and that means they have to provide the money with which to begin operations. Their profits are distributed among themselves, and in the same way they assume losses if they incur any.

"Co-operation is the greatest idea of this generation," Miss Macphail quoted Henry Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture. Her "pep talk" to the Holstein farmers and their wives Saturday afternoon disclosed an ardent hope and faith in the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. In fact, in her survey of the requirements of the farmers of this country she placed organization first, education second, co-operation third, and legislation fourth.

To farmers who spend their spare time on the firing line of their occupation with its ambitions for a better deal and a brighter day, Miss Macphail's address was more or less old stuff. She herself made no pretenses about it, but to her audience it was sound and long tried convictions set forth with new glints.

To repeat, Miss Macphail wishes the utmost for the Federation, and now and again some of its other proponents wish that she might—at times—be a little less keen about it. What she said of the Federation Saturday Saturday afternoon was unwrapped from experience and wisdom, and was altogether stirring and wholesome.

Simcoe's Example

Miss Macphail asserted that education without action was mostly a wasted effort, something abortive. And so, the organization of the Federation was not enough. That is what the Simcoe County branch said two winters ago, and they started to do something. Miss Macphail recalled the accomplishments of that first winter. For instance that group of farmers conducted their own economic survey in several directions. They learned that eleven cream trucks were driving about in one district, and that struck them as just plain silly. They realized that as farmers they were paying for the upkeep and transport of eleven trucks, drivers' wages and so on; so they arranged among themselves to get their cream taken to the nearest factory. A similar enquiry was made into bread distribution, and that enterprise ended by all the farmers on one route agreeing to buy from just one bread truck. They established an egg grading station, operated by the Federation, and owned by them; they sponsored township weed control; and last winter, Miss Macphail was informed, the Simcoe Federation members expanded their initiative and study, resulting in more "learning by doing."

"Think Politics"

"Hang on to your seats," Miss Macphail remarked as she suggested that farmers were beginning to think in terms of politics; not that she wanted to see the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to go into politics, but that they would be doubly warned to keep out of it. Trying to peer into the future after the war and of prospective surpluses when nations return to production, Miss Macphail feared a severe reaction upon the farmers of this country with consequent discontent that might throw them again into politics.

"Remember the U.F.O. They weren't prepared to go into politics. They did not wish to do so, but their local or county officers all up and down the province were pulled into politics by the members."

Get ready for the aftermath of the war, but keep the Federation out of politics. Safeguard the Federation from political action. Think politics but don't repeat the U. F. O. mistake. That was some of Miss Macphail's advice. Farmers could join all one party if they felt like it and they could be powerful and stubborn enough to get something done. Or they could join a new party already formed.

"If we don't do something along those lines, I am afraid that when the time comes we will do something wrong. And when we are getting near that stage again, I hope we will all remember the U. F. O."

Put Industry First.

"Think of our industry first and our nation second! Some people might think that does not sound like the right order. The best thing we can do for our nation is to save our industry.

One of the impressive observations by Miss Macphail paid high tribute to the Farm Radio Forums with their new emphasis on thinking as not likely to make much real progress if if was not followed by action, that spirit of surveying and doing manifested by the Simcoe Federation groups.

Death Takes Smith Township Pioneer

Mrs. Joseph Milburn, who observed her 100th birthday on April 2 of this year, died at her home on the Chemong Road on Sunday, following a brief illness. She was a daughter of the late John Edmison and Margaret Hall, pioneers of the township.

Commandos Are Needed To Save Hay Crop

Every available man in urban centres will be needed in the harvest fields of Ontario this summer if the raw material for milk and pork products is to be harvested without waste, states W R. Reek, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, following a perusal of special crop and labour reports compiled by agricultural representatives.

"Hay and wheat crops are particularly heavy. Owing to moisture conditions these crops will be difficult to cope with and will require more handling than usual. The farmers have produced the feed necessary for vital wartime pork and milk products, but to get the most feeding value out of these feeds, they must be harvested at the proper time and without waste," said Mr. Reek.

"A labor survey compiled by our agricultural representatives shows that harvest help will be desperately needed from urban centres. The responsibility for the harvest lies with the people of Ontario as a whole. The time is short. Haying operations will be in full swing during the latter part of June and help will be badly needed."

"Fortunately committees have been organized in many urban centres and they are working with county war committees in an effort to provide needed help. Service clubs and boards of trade are taking the lead in many communities."

"I cannot stress too strongly the need for this 'Farm Commando' assistance. There is a place in the harvest field for every able-bodied man or boy in city, town or village. Help the farmers harvest the food, for yourself, Britain, and the United Nations. Get in touch with your local committee, or if there isn't one, see that one is formed at once. Delay may mean food wastage," declared Mr. Reek.

Mrs. H. Bullock Again Heads Lakefield's W.I.

LAKEFIELD, June 8—(ENS). — Mrs. Howard Bullock was again honored in her election as president of the Women's Institute, at their meeting on Thursday, held at the home of Mrs Roy Bullock.

The election of officers took up the most of the afternoon's session, with the following being chosen: President, Mrs. H. Harbor:—

"I am looking forward to dictating peace to the United States in the White House at Washington."

He also had boasted he would lead his fleet into San Francisco and London.

"It was on Sunday just six months ago that the Japanese made their peace-time attack on our fleet and army activities on Oahu," said Admiral Nimitz. "At that time they created heavy damage, it is true, but their act aroused grim determination of our citizenry to avenge such treachery and it raised, not lowered, the morale of our fighting men.

"Pearl Harbor has now been partially avenged. Venegance will not be complete until Japanese sea power has been reduced to impotence. We have made substantial progress in that direction. Perhaps we will be forgiven if we claim we are about midway to our objective."

The opening stage of the battle was a heavy raid on Midway, tiny but strong defence outpost 1.149 miles northwest of Hawaii.

U.S. Holds Control of Air.

This took place early Thursday morning by Japanese carrier-based planes. Army, navy and marine corps planes repulsed the raid, taking heavy toll of the attackers. American forces quickly took control of the air despite the fact the invading force had at least four aircraft carriers. One battleship and one aircraft carrier were damaged and other Japanese warships hit.

On Friday, the Japanese were placed on the defensive and sought safety in retreat, their four or more battleships being ineffective against American air superiority.

Several carriers, battleships, cruisers and troopships were heavily damaged as the retreat turned into a rout.

By Friday morning American forces in full offensive had inflicted losses and casualties upon the Japanese greater than those involved at Pearl Harbor.

American casualties, as announced so far, have been light.

Smith Township's Centenarian Passes Away In 101st Year

Mrs. Mary Ann Milburn, Smith townships only centenarian, died at her home on lot 6, concession 3, on Sunday. She was 100 years of age and the illness that culminated in her death was very short.

This kindly woman who spent practically her entire life in Smith township, attained her 100th birthday on April 2 of this year, and to a remarkable degree had retained the use of her faculties right up to the time of her death. She was born in 1842 in a humble cabin nestling at the edge of a new farm in Smith, and Mrs. Milburn died in a farm home on the land cleared by her father, a short distance from the spot from where she was born.

She was a daughter of the late John Edmison and Margaret Hall, and the last of a family of ten children. Mrs. Milburn's father had obtained a Crown land grant following the Battle of Waterloo, it was on this farm in Smith that Mrs. Milburn was born.

Mary Ann Edimosn married Joseph Milburn and there were five children from the union, all of whom are living, George Milburn of Peterborough; Dr. J. A. Milburn, and Dr. H. H. Milburn, both of Vancouver, Margaret and Eunice Milburn, both at home. There are six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. The late Joseph Milburn died 17 years ago at the age of 89.

Linked With Pioneer Days

Born five years after Queen Victoria ascended the throne of England, the symphony of Mrs. Milburn's life had few jarring notes, except for the last three decades when the manifold woes of a world gone mad with war and greed penetrated to her little home to make her worry. The history of Smith township is the history of the Edmisons and the Milburns, and with the passing of this fine Canadian pioneer, one of the few remaining links with the early period of development in the county has been lost.

Mrs. Milburn's father John Edmison came from Northumberland in England, and he was a Presbyterian. To him goes the honor of being one of the first members of St. Andrew's Church in this city, and from the earliest days, the name Edmison has been tied in with the church activities. He was the anchor which held a portion of the congregation together, when the minister and most of the congregation broke away and established St. Paul's congregation and church. George Edmison, the lawyer, who was junior judge and for many years county magistrate in this city, was his son, and a brother of Mrs. Mary Ann Milburn. Mrs. Milburn was a member of Bridgenorth United Church.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday June 9, at 3.30 in the afternoon from her late residence, lot 6, concession 3 Smith, on the Chemong Road. The Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church, and the Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Bridgenorth United Church will conduct the funeral services. Interment will be in Lakefield Cemetery.

Presentation Is Made Boy Who Lost Leg

FRASERVILLE, June 8—(ENS)— A group of friends gathered at Nicholls Hospital on Thursday evening to present Donald Snelgrove, who had his leg amputated on Saturday, with a handsome watch and bank book which represented a large sum of money. Those who were responsible for collecting this money were Percy Bothwell and Douglas Clarke. Everyone responded readily to this cause, which may mean so much to the boy in future years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pue attended the Masonic banquet at Keene on Tuesday night.

the continued pounding of British bombers.

It appeared that the British tanks were trying to forge a strong semicircle around Rommel's forces east of this gap preparatory to an attempt to cut the Axis leader off from the rear.

Retreat Menaced.

His line of withdrawal was threatened by British and Indian troops who established themselves Saturday night at Harmat, inside the Axis corridor, and were reported holding their position against repeated attempts to dislodge them.

Harmat is six miles south of Knightsbridge and about 15 miles east of the Ain el Gazala-Bir Hacheim line, base of the Axis salient.

Free French forces holding Bir Hacheim with the support of Indian troops were reported, meanwhile, to have beaten off two new assaults by Italian mechanized units during the week-end. They were said to have had dwindling munitions replenished and their position seemed secure for the moment.

Dispatches from the front declared that in the fighting around Knightsbridge further heavy losses had been inflicted on Rommel's mechanized columns — whose strength previously had been reported reduced by 50 per cent.

The R.A.F. participated in the action, blasting at the pocketed Axis forces and striking far to the west to bomb enemy airdromes at Martuba and Derna and shipping at Bengasi.

Berlin Admits Damage

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 8—(AP). — The German high command to-day said damage was caused by fires "in some places in an industrial area' when British bombers attacked several localities in Western Germany last night.

BRITISH SUB SINKS FIVE IN MEDITERRANEAN COUP

Hun Sacrifice 50,000 in Vain To Crack Sevastopol Forts Use Clouds of Dive Bombers

Tough Red Garrison Matches Stand Of 1854 Hurls Off Wave On Wave Of Assaults; New Gains Reported On Kalinin Sector

MOSCOW, June 9—(AP).—German troops, tanks and planes pressing an offensive against Sevastopol, the fortified Crimean seaport, were reported today to have been repulsed in fierce battles in two sectors where they attempted to deal death blows to the Soviet Black Sea fortress.

The army newspaper Red Star, in the first detailed dispatch from Sevastopol since the start of the offensive June 5, said the Russians broke a wedge which the Germans succeded in driving into one sector ar-d hurled t' enemy back in the other sector, improving their own positions.

Lesser assaults on other points in the ring around Sevastopol also were reported checked with immense losses for the G rmans.

ction on e sea approaches to Sevastopol was indicated in a Soviet information bureau bulletin which said Soviet fli- s sank three patrol ships and a cutter and damaged another patrol vessel and a transport Sunday.

Russian troops, seamen, marines and guerillas make up a motley garrison more than seven months along toward matching the record of Czarist forces who sustained an 11-month siege by British, French and Turk forces at Sevastopol in 1854.

50,000 Thrown Away

The Germans, reported to have sacrificed 50,000 men in vain attempts to take this last remaining stronghold in the Crimea, launched the new drive from their mountain lines Friday.

(A Moscow correspondent of the BBC said the Russians had big stores of food and munitions in underground vaults—immune from air raid damage—and continuation of the attacks "will cost the Germans an enormous price."

(At the same time he said Nazi fliers had an advantages because of the limited air field facilities for the defenders within the besieged city and its environs.)

Sevastopol dispatches said clouds of airplanes and waves of infantrymen were used in the attacks.

(Final occupation of the Kerch Peninsula area last month doubtless permitted the Nazis to reinforce the siege lines with shock troops transferred from the East.)

The Russian midnight communique reported another gain on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, saying "out units forced a river crossing and drove the enemy out of two populated places."

"In one sector of the Kalinin front," said a subsequent communque, "an enemy attack supported by tanks was repulsed by a Soviet cavalry unit, the enemy losing more than 800 killed and a large quantity of arms and equipment."

More than 350 more were said to have been killed on the Leningrad front in two engagements.

Soviet fliers demolished four enemy railways transports, nine tanks and two anti-aircraft guns and smashed the headquarters of a German unit on the central front, the communique said. Eight German planes were shot down in combat.

Sting Crippled, Beaten Japs Hide In Pacific

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The beaten and badly wounded Jap fleet seems to have hidden itself from pursuit in the vastness of the Pacific and to be slinking home from its rash adventure at Midway, but the Allies have the satisfaction of knowing that while the enemy hasn't suffered an overwhelming defeat his striking-power has been considerably lessened.

The full extent of the damage inflicted on the Nipponese at Midway may never be known, but at least three enemy warships were sunk, 11 more heavily damaged and virtually the whole accompanying air force destroyed. United States losses so far announced were one

May Blackout All Industries

TORONTO, June 9 (CP)—Blacking out of all Ontario industries during blackouts is under consideration, Attorney-General Gordon Conant, chairman of Ontario's civilian defence committee, said today in a statement read to the general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here. The statement was read by Judge Ian MacDonell, vice chairman of the Ontario committee, due to Mr. Conant's absence in Ottawa.

Industries are to be divided into two categories, Mr. Conant's statement said, one to include those that must black out for all raid warnings and the other for industries which may continue to operate by permit under certain conditions. These conditions were that such industries prepare comprehensive and detailed plans for blacking out and have available the necessary equipment. Lists were now being prepared of these industries and regulations would become effective in the near future.

Industries ruled to blackout could appeal to Ottawa, but subject to Ottawa's ruling the time was not far distant when all industries must either blackout or be ready and able to black out with necessary equipment.

Cheer for China

LONDON, June 9 — (CP). —British and United States air force units have arrived in China, Reuters reported today in a dispatch from Chungking.

(The United States units presumably are in addition to the American volunteer group commanded by Brig.-Gen. Claire Chennault which already is operating in China).

10,000 Bombers Soon Nightly Over Germany

LONDON, June 9.—(CP Cable). —Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris suggested to-day that 1,000 bombers a night might fly over Germany and that many might fly from America "with formidable bomb loads."

Speaking in a news reel, the commander in chief of the bomber command declared the present massive raids on Germany were but preliminary warm-ups for terrific punishment in store for Japan.

"One day in the near future, it might not be impossible to have 10,000 bombers over Germany in one night, including hundreds which could fly direct from America with a formidable bomb load, though of course this is only a surmise," he said.

Despite the massive raids on Cologne and Essen in which more than 1,000 bombers were used on each, Air Chief Marshal Harris declared that heavy bombing "hasn't been tried yet."

"Some people argue that heavy bombing will not win wars," he said. "To them I answer that it hasn't been tried yet. When it is, Germany will be the experiment and Japan will be the confirmation."

He likened the raids which laid the northern ports of Luebeck and Rostock in rubble to a "gentle zephyr."

The bomber command indicated the raids will continue at a dramatically increased scale and said when the United States' Army Air Corps get permanently into action, three or four times the number of bombers which raided Cologne will be used.

Building By Junks

OHUNGKING,, June 9 (AP)—The Minister of Communications announced today 2,163 Junks of an improved type had been built at government dockyards in the last three years and that private contractors were being subsidized to help develop transport for the waterways of warring free China.

Many of the new junks are equipped with motors taken from over-age trucks. These are run by charcoal or coal, rather than gasoline.

R A F Plasters Ruin Over Ruhr Again

Hundreds Of Sq. Miles Raked By Bombs, 18 Fail To Return

LONDON, June 9 (CP)—A "strong force" of British bombers dropped explosives over hundred of square miles of Hitler's domain last night, raiding the great industrial Ruhr, the Dieppe docks, and railways and airdromes in France and Holland.

The R.A.F. lost 18 bombers.

In "intruder" raids over France and Holland — aimed at diverting German defences from the R.A.F.'s main objective—Boston bombers exploded an ammunition dump on the Schipol Airdrome and pock-marked the runways with direct hits.

Another pilot derailed a freight train engine and a Hurricane fired cannon shells into six other locomotives. The raids continued the virtually-ceaseless attacks on German rail systems, so vital to Nazi control of western Europe.

The losses were the heaviest reported since the 1,000-bomber raid on the great steel city of Essen last week, but were believed well below the dangerous 10-per-cent figure which makes raiding unprofitable.

"Fighter command aircraft on intruder operations attacked airfields and railway objectives in northern France and Holland," the air ministry also said.

"An aircraft of the coastal command destroyed an enemy seaplane over the North Sea."

The recent average of losses of less than four per cent on British night operations indicated that more than 450 planes took part in the engagements.

New Law Coming On Room Rent

OTTAWA, June 9—(CP)—New regulations governing rentals charged for rooms which are occupied by more than one person are under consideration by rental officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, it was learned yesterday.

When most recent changes in rental regulations were announced a few weeks ago the board said rates for double and triple occupancy rooms would be scaled downward. Posting of cards in each room with the regular single occupancy rate was required and landlords were informed they would have to reduce the rate per person if another occupant were admitted to the same room.

A Shock Due

NEW YORK, June 9 (AP). —The Japanese Government may be preparing its people for bad news concerning the naval battle of Midway.

A Tokyo newspaper article quoted today by the Berlin radio, suggested strongly that the Japanese are being warned that they may have to learn soon of the loss of important warships.

A subsequent Berlin broadcast of a Tokyo dispatch said:

Complete silence is still preserved in Tokyo Tuesday night on the naval battle alleged by United States quarters to have taken place at the Midway Islands."

Chinese Retake Chuhsien, Threat to Tokyo

CHUNGKING, June 9 (AP) —An army spokesman said today that a Japanese force which penetrated the walled city of Chuhsien in Chekiang province had been wiped out after three days of violent fighting and that the Chinese were again in full possession of the city, but he warned that China's situation in general "remains grave."

He said the Japanese were trying to by-pass the town, chiefly important because of its nearby airfield which is within bomber range of Tokyo, in an effort to trap large Chinese forces by closing a pincers with forces 180 miles to the west in Kiangsi province.

The Chekiang-Kiangsi operation is the most important Japanese land operation, but he also admitted that the invading forces along the Burma Road have been reinforced and again are on the west bank of the Salween River after having once been driven back nearly to Lungling 25 miles from the river.

Mechanized and cavalry forces have bolstered the southwestern position of the Japanese, both at Lungling and at Tengyueh, north of the Burma Road, it was said. The spokesman denied the Japanese had forced a crossing of the broad Salween, but announced that Japanese had restored the situation to what it was two weeks ago.

The Chinese did not claim that the Chuhsien airfield had been recaptured. After entering the town on Saturday, the Japanese were engaged in hand-to-hand fighting in the streets and the suburbs until last evening when the Chinese said they regained control of the city.

LONDON, June 9—(CP Cable)—A Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadron has arrived in the Middle East to help knock the Axis out of the desert skies.

Though a number of Canadians already are serving in Libya and Malta with the R.A.F., the squadron headed by Sqdn. Leader Paul B. Pitcher of Montreal, is the first Canadian unit to join the Middle East fighting. In the Far East, in Ceylon, there is an R.C.A.F. squadron of Catalina flying boats.

Air Vice-Marshall Harold Edwards, Chief of R. C. A. F. headquarters in Britain, bid farewell to the airmen and their ground crews when they sailed from a British port wearing tropical kit and carrying big pith helmets.

"I firmly believe . . . you are particularly well suited to the type of fighting which will face you," he said. "The wide open spaces of Canada have something in common with the great expanses you will soon be encountering although the great stretches of sand and water will present some contrast."

Many members of the squadron came to Britain from Canada less than a year ago.

The two flight commanders of the squadron, Flt. Lt. F. B. Foster of Montreal, and Flt. Lt. W. H. Pentland of Calgary, both experienced fighter pilots have been mates since they started training in Canada. The squadron Adjutant, Fo. J. M. Rutherford of Montreal, sports First Great War ribbons on his tunic.

Fo. Graham Carpenter of Winnipeg, squadron engineer officer, was as eager as the fliers for a change of scenery.

"I've seen a lot of England, perhaps more than my share, in two years," he said.

For pilot officers Bob and Joe Patterson of Saskatoon, brothers who enlisted, trained and fought together, it is a new chapter in their wartime side-by-side story.

Flt. Sgt. J. Dutton Listed Missing

CALGARY, June 9—(CP).—Flight Sergeant Joe Dutton, 22, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, son of Mervyn (Red) Dutton, manager of the Brooklyn Americans of the National Hockey League, is missing as a result of air ope ations overseas the night of June 6, according to word received by his parents yesterday. The young airman, pilot of a bomber, had been overseas a year.

"2nd Tobruk" Batters Off All Axis Charges As R.A.F., Nazi Stukas Battle Above; Italian Destroyer Among Sub's Victims

LONDON, June 9—(CP).—The Admiralty announced today that the British submarine Turbulent had sunk one Italian destroyer, three medium-sized supply ships and a small merchant ship in the Central Mediterranean.

"Two Italian destroyers were escorting two heavily laden supply ships of medium size," the Admiralty reported. "The Turbulent attacked and sank not only both supply ships of this convoy but also one of the escorting destroyers."

The third supply ship which was sent down, the Admiralty said, was from another convoy.

The small merchant vessel was reported laden with explosives.

The Admiralty identified the destroyer as one of the 1,628-ton Navigatori class.

The Turbulent was commanded by Cmdr. J. W. Linton, wearer of the Distinguished Service Cross. Submarines under his command already have sunk four Axis supply ships, six large schooners and a motor vessel carrying troops.

2nd Tobruk Holds Out.

Free French and British defenders of the tiny oasis of Bir Hacheim, which is fast becoming the new Tobruk of the Libyan campaign, beat off one of the strongest Axis assaults yet unleashed on Allied positions in North Africa in a day-long battle yesterday, British Headquarters reported to-day.

For the sixth straight day the garrison's commander, Gen. Pierre Koenig, an Alsatian who fought at Narvik and in the Battle of France, flatly rejected a ceremonial Italian demand for surrender of the post, the inland anchor of Britain's Libyan line 50 miles south-west of Tobruk.

German armored units were rushed from Knightsbridge, 25 miles to the north to join Italian armored forces and Axis infantry in the attack.

The R.A.F. and German dive bombers fough hour after hour as the battle went on but the British Middle East Command reported officially to-day that the attack was repulsed.

Numerous Axis supply cars were destroyed or damaged by the R.A.F. in tense air raids over the battle area and its approaches, an Air Force communique said. Tanks and gun emplacements were bombed.

Nine R.A.F. planes were lost in widespread operations which included bombing Cagliari Harbor at the southern tip of Sardinia and the airdrome of Candia, capital of Crete. Fires were visible for 70 miles from Crete.

Five Axis planes were destroyed over the battle area and others were damaged, the R.A.F. said.

3 Ships Sunk

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 9.—(CP)—The loss of three merchant ships off the south-eastern coast of Africa was announced to-day by naval authorities at the Simonstown naval station.

(The ships may have been victims of Japanese submarines. The Vichy radio said last night that submarines had sunk three merchant ships off Portuguese Mozamique, opposite the French island of Madagascar, which British forces are occupying.

2 Blimps Collide 12 Drown, Only One Saved

LAKE HURST, N.J., June 9 — (AP). — Coastguards recovered today three bodies and wreckage from one of the two United States Navy training blimps lost in what apparently was a mid-air collision over the Atlantic Ocean while on an unexplained "experimental mission." The Navy declined to discuss the mission.

Only one survivor was known.

Still missing were nine of the 13 naval and civilian occupants of the G-1 and the smaller L-2 when they set out last night from the naval air station at Lakehurst. The airships plunged into the ocean about four miles off Manasquan, which is 16 miles north-east of Lakehurst.

Sheriff Lewis Menninger of Ocean County reported recovery of the three bodies in the gondola of the L-2 dragged ashort at Point Pleasant Beach.

Among the bodies was that of Lt. Cmdr. Clinton Rounds of Toms River, N.J., senior officer aboard the two craft, and a survivor of the dirigible Macon disaster off the California Coast in 1935.

Blimps 400 Feet Up.

All occupants of the blimps were equipped with life-jackets for use should the craft be forced down on the water. They were about 400 feet above the sea when they apparently collided.

Ensign Howard Fahey of Scarsdale, N.Y., was rescued and brought

Bomb Shifters Save Sub, Get VC

LONDON, June 9 (CP) — The Admiralty announced today that the Victoria Cross had been conferred upon two men who removed two unexploded bombs which had become imbedded in the streamlined casing of the gun of the submarine Thrasher.

Lieut. Peter S. W. Roberts, 25 and Petty Officer Thomas W. Gould, 28, pushed and dragged one bomb 20 feet through a narrow space of the gun casing until it could be lowered over the side.

The bombs were dropped when the submarine was attacked by depth charges and aircraft after it had sunk a heavily escorted supply ship.

Nazi Lives Cheap at Home as War Front

Death Penalty Handed Out Freely, Even Fur Theft Bringing Headsman

By LOUIS LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, June 9 (AP)—Life is as cheap in interior Germany as it is at the front.

Death sentences are imposed by Nazi judges as easily as a North American police court magistrate imposes fines for minor offences. Severe penitentiary sentences and high monetary punishments were the order of the day as we left Germany May 12.

No sooner had the Nazi regime appealed to civilians in late December to give up their furs and woollens for the soldiers fighting in wintry Russia, than Hitler issued a decree imposing the death penalty on anybody found guilty of stealing these offerings.

By Jan. 12 one man, Karl Sachs of Fulia, had been condemned to death and executed at Kassel for pilfering furs.

On Feb. 15 we learned of the execution of Johann Walter, a 24-year-old Vienna clothes thief. Two persons who aided him were sentenced to 16 and 12 years hard labor respectively.

The next day the press announced the execution of seven Germans who committed thefts during blackouts.

There followed an announcement that two Berlin industrialists had been sent to a concentration camp because they assigned several laborers in their munitions plants to do chores for them in their private homes. There was also published the story of a Frankfurt merchant who had 18,000 reichsmarks stolen from his safe. He was fined 18,000 marks and sentenced to three months in jail for hoarding money!

Johannes Zulauf, found guilty in a Kassel court of killing four pigs and one calf in violation of regulations, was sentenced to three years.

The list of offences punishable by death was extended in two important directions during the middle of April.

Heads of firms working on war contracts which made false returns regarding the number of laborers available in their plants, or regarding the raw materials in stock or ordered for fulfilling any assigned contract, were warned that death or the penitentiary was in store for them. They were given a short respite during which they might confess past sins, in which case these transgressions would not be charged up against them.

From explanatory articles it appeared that some firms, having learned from experience that the priorities boards will never grant them what they asked in the way of raw materials, arbitrarily demanded

No Bombs Cut China Movies

Cameras Grind On In Great Chungking Caves

NEW YORK, June 9 — (AP). — For five years in great man-dug holes in the Chungking hills, the cameras of China's motion picture industry have ground away— safe from the bombs of Japanese raiders.

Dr. Kinn Wei Shaw, here to represent his national government in co-ordinating a United States-China film exchange, said to-day the underground studios and laboratories were scooped out a year before Japan pounced on China, in anticipation of what was to come.

The studios—20 and 30 feet under solid rock—have turned out 30 feature pictures and hundreds of short subjects a year and prepared many imported films for Chinese distribution, while the workers and stars always could hear the crash of war above.

"During the bombing season, which seems to be always," said Dr. Shaw, who is adviser to the China Motion Picture Corporation, "the companies work near the dugout entrances while there are no enemy planes in the sky.

"But then they come, and swiftly —almost mechanically—the workers disappear into the well-ventilated dugouts where they resume their work without further interruption.

"But," he went on, "they will not be coming for long now. Perhaps a year. A year and a half at the most. Then it will be over."

Heydrich Martyr To Adolf

Holy Duty To Avenge Him Says Hitler At Funeral

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), June 9 — (AP). — Hitler termed Reinhard Heydrich, assassinated Gestapo official, "one of our martyrs" today at a state funeral shortly after Heinrich Himmler, head of the secret police, declared "it is our holy duty to avenge" the protector of Bohemia and Moravia.

Hitler made an unannounced appearance at the funeral, leaving his headquarters on the Russian front, to confer on the slain No. 2 Gestapo chief "the highest award of the German order."

He embraced Heydrich's two sons before leaving the funeral hall.

(Heydrich died last week after two undetected Czech assailants bombed his automobile and machine-gunned him. Already 234 Czechs have been reported executed in reprisal.)

"Heydrich flew without my knowledge against the Russians," Himmler said, declaring his assistant had been shot down by anti-aircraft guns but returned safely and took up another plane the next day.

Dr. Emil Hacha, puppet president of the Czech protectorate, and his entire cabinet arrived for the funeral in a special train. Himmler asserted that Heydrich fired twice at his assailants after he was wounded.

Conscription Debate Due Thursday

War Appropriation Bill Debate Slows Progress

By C. B. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, June 9 — (CP). — House of Commons debate on the conscription issue, tentatively planned for to-day, will be delayed by parliamentary business until to-morrow at the earliest and possibly longer.

This became apparent last night when after three hours of discussion on the $2,000,000,000 War Appropriation Bill, the House adjourned without making progress.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King yesterday repeated his proposal to take up second reading of the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act after the Appropriation Bill has been sent to the Senate.

The Appropriation Bill received second reading without question last night. But when it was considered subsequently in committee of the whole the discussion continued through the entire evening sitting, following lines similar to the discussion on the preliminary resolution which lasted more than a month.

Other Progress.

But the House made progress in other directions. Finance Minister Ilsley's Bill to empower him to borrow $750,000,000 in the current fis-

3 States Lead In Birth Control

ATLANTIC CITY, June 9.—(AP).—The first birth control exhibit ever shown at an American Medical Association annual meeting was given to-day.

Contraception was presented as a new instrument in preventitve medicine. Contraception, it was claimed, decreases: 1—Deaths in tuberculosis, heart, kidney and other diseases. 3—Hereditary syphilis and other hereditary diseases 4—Diseases of malnurition and vitamin deficiency by adapting family size to income. 5—Decreases induced abortions by making every child a wanted child.

The exhibit was by Dr. Clarence J. Gamble of Milton, Mass. It showed that in three States, South Carolina, North Carolina and Alabama, the Boards of Health have begun county programs in spacing pregnancies. In South Carolina a contraceptive service is available in every county in North Carolina in 81 counties out of 100, and in Alabama in more than half the counties.

Similar county contraceptive services are about to start in four other States, Dr. Gamble said. He withheld the names of the States.

Claim Orillian Kicked Arnold In Fatal Fight

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 9 —(CP). Cable) — A crown witness at the murder trial of Pt. Francis J. Martin of Orillia, Ont., testified on Monday Martin knocked down and kicked Pte. Edward Arnold of Oshawa, Ont., just before Arnold's death May 15.

Martin is accused of killing the other soldier, member of the same Canadian regiment, after a quarrel that began in a dice game at Lester's Field.

Pte. Michael Campbell testified that on May 15 Martin and Arnold, both of whom had been drinking, were engaged in the dice game. Arnold won a bet off Martin, the witness said, and an argument ensued in which Martin called the other man a "cheap skate."

Campbell testified the men came to grips and fell to the floor, but without blows being struck. He said he saw the neck of a bottle in Martin's hand.

Arnold went to medical quarters to have a cut on one hand treated, and Campbell said he led Martin away to their dormitory. Martin took a knife from his kitbag, the witness said, but another soldier took it from him.

Wanted To Continue.

He said Martin was "pretty mad" and expressed the intention of fighting Arnold again.

Later, Arnold entered the sleeping quarters with one hand bandaged. According to Campbell, the accused walked around a bed and knocked Arnold down with a blow to the nose.

When Arnold tried to get up, Campbell said, Martin knicked him three or four times. Campbell said he led Martin away but he broke clear, seized Arnold by the hair and kicked him twice in the chest.

Arnold had said nothing from the start of the encounter, Campbell said, and he realized the victim was badly hurt. He called a medical officer, who found the soldier dead on arrival.

Martin was lying on a nearby bed when he was placed under arrest.

In cross-examination, Campbell said Arnold had won all the money in the dice game, while Martin had lost all his. He added Martin usually went "haywire" when drinking.

The trial will continue to-day. The crown is expected to call about 18 witnesses.

Price Ceilings Require Full Cooperation

This policy must work; we must make it work, declared George H. Rennie of Toronto, regional representative of the War Time Prices and Trade Board in addressing the Peterborough Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon on Monday on the price ceiling plan of fighting inflation.

"It is the job of every man, woman and child in the Dominion of Canada to help make the plan work," Mr. Rennie stated, "and the responsibility of business and industry to extend the fullest co-operation.

"The price ceiling may bring hardships in some cases," the speaker stated, "but inflation would certainly bring ruin."

Mr. Rennie, who was introduced by W. E. Foley, local representative of the War Time Prices and Trade Board, said that the Board represented a new kind of war baby, quite different in species from those which flourished during the last Great War.

The speaker pointed out how the Government had been impressed by the rising cost of living during the summer of last year and had finally decided to abandon a selective plant of price control and instead to adopt an all-over price ceiling. The decision had been arrived at because it was felt that the price ceiling plan could be more quickly and effectively applied, it was applicable to all classes and it involved fewer and less difficult problems.

Question of Subsidies.

Mr. Rennie dealt briefly with the matter of subsidies, found necessary he said, as a means of securing supply as well as controlling prices. As the Government itself was the biggest buyer of many commodities this was a matter of great importance.

The speaker explained the organisation that had been set up to handle the price ceiling problem. There were four regional offices in Ontario, he said, as well as a number of branch offices. Eventually he estimated that there would a staff of 5,000 or more throughout the country. It was estimated, he said, that in the United States a staff of 100,000 would be needed to handle the price control problem. The regional offices and the district offices, such as the one located in Peterborough, and presided over by W. E. Foley, the speaker said, existed to serve the buying public and to render assistance to business men in carrying out the regulations and help fight inflation.

Cost Can Be Forgotten.

It might be complained that all these staffs cost money, but Mr. Rennie pointed out that the expense was small compared to the benefits obtained. If, for instance, the price of butter, uncontrolled, had climbed to 50 cents a pound, then the fixing of the price at 40 cents represented a saving to the Canadian consumer on the one item of butter alone of $40,000,000 a year. "If the plan works then the cost can be forgotten," the speaker said.

In dealing with the tasks that lie ahead, Mr. Rennie stressed the necessity of limiting expenditures, foregoing luxuries, and conserving materials and services. Basically the problem of price ceilings was one of human relationships, the speaker said, and it could not remain unsolved if every man, woman and child in the country did his or her part.

Public Enemy No. 1.

Speaking of rationing Mr. Rennie said that hoarders were Public Enemy No. 1. He predicted that the Government would soon have to adopt a lot more realistic action in regard to the rationing of a number of commodities. Where, for example, was our supply of tea coming from when the present reserves were gone? Where was the rubber coming from or the tin or the gasoline or the wool?

In conclusion, he made an earnest plea for co-operation with the War Time Prices and Trade Board in its battle against inflation. Hitler had said that inflation was inevitable in the case of democratic countries, and that inflation was ruin.

Canada's price ceiling plan was designed to defeat inflation and it was everybody's job to make it succeed.

John Fanning moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. H. L. Garner read a letter received from Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, officer commanding the Prince of Wales Rangers, from the ladies operating Hospitality House at Niagara for the benefit of soldiers from Camp Niagara.

Rotarian Garner pointed out that about the only source of revenue the organization had was a grant from the St. Catharines Rotary Club, and suggested that the matter might be looked into by the directors in view of the fact that the Peterborough men would be at Camp Niagara for some months.

The matter was referred to the club's War Service Committee.

Bereft Of Homes And Parents By Nazi War Machine

These children were found by the Red army amid the ruins of a Russian village in the Kharkov area after it had been recaptured from the Germans. The Nazis had destroyed every habitation in the village and had taken the parents of the children with them, probably as slave laborers. Hundreds of such war-orphaned children are being adopted by Soviet families if it is known definitely that their parents are dead. Where there is hope that the parents may still be found alive, the children are sent to child colonies behind the Urals.

destroyer sunk, an airplane carrier damaged and some planes destroyed.

That brings estimated Japanese naval losses since Pearl Harbor up to 68 warships sunk and 71 damaged. This is apart from a large number of secondary vessels and 146 transports sunk or damaged.

These losses are particularly serious for Japan because of her dependence on her navy not only to wage offensive war but to protect her ill-gotten conquests. Her whole future hangs on her control of the Western Pacific.

Trying to Hold Gains.

I believe that since the conquest of Indonesia the Japs have been primarily concerned with protecting and consolidating their gains. That is to say, apart from their determination to knock out the Chinese, they had bitten off all they could chew and wanted to get ahead with the mastication.

This means that the Japanese operations now, except for the Chinese theatre, are largely defensive. The essential reason for the attack on Midway was the obtain a strong point which would hamstring Allied activities in the Western Pacific and render Australia impotent by cutting the supply lines. Of course, the Japs would be prepared to exploit any weakness uncovered, but this doesn't alter the fundamental strategy of defence.

This doesn't mean the Nipponese are going to sit down and wait for attack. The Russians have demonstrated in an unforgettable manner that offensive frequently is the best form of defence and we may expect the Japs to be on the move. Apart from other considerations, Hitler undoubtedly is urging his Allies to strike now as a measure of co-operation with the offensive which he himself as preparing to launch.

McNaughton Sits Tight

TORONTO, June 8 — (CP). — Sgt.-Major Colin Baron, V.C., recently returned from Britain, said to-day that a few weeks before he left England a bomb fell within a few yards of the 1st Division Headquarters where Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian Army overseas, was working.

Barron said that he heard General McNaughton looked up from his work remarked, "That one was pretty close," and went on with his study of some papers. Barron said the bomb made an eight-foot crater and broke ceiling plaster in the Headquarters.

Hasty Marriages End for Canucks

LONDON, June 9. —(BUP) —So-called 'lightning marriages' of Canadian soldiers and Old Country girls from now on will be rare, if a new order by the Canadian military authorities has the effect intended.

More than 3,500 such marriages have taken place since the first Canadian division landed in Britain in December, 1939, but the new edict, which demands that a soldier have at least forty pounds (about $160) to his credit in his paybook, is expected to put an effective crimp in the military marriage market.

In addition to the monetary requirement, a ceremony may not be performed in future until three months after permission is granted.

The high rate of pay in the Canadian Army has proved attractive to Old Country girls, and it is known that most of the "proposing" comes from the feminine quarter.

It was pointed out that the financial stipulation is such that a soldier will have enough money to pay his wife's fare to Canada when peace comes.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, June 9 — (CP). — No export in wheat or flour since the close Saturday has been reported in business on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Offerings were light and July wheat remained unchanged at 80⅝. Chicago wheat was ½ higher. Trading was dull in the coarse grain pit.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 9 — (CP). — Grain prices tried to advance yesterday, wheat and rye gaining more than a cent at one stage, but the market turned downward after mid-session and net losses were posted in most cases before the close.

Rye tumbled almost 3 cents from early highs to show losses of more than a cent at one stage, reaching new lows for the year. Traders said prospect of a big crop and diversion of the distilling industry to industrial alcohol manufacture, with corn and wheat the principal grains to be used, depressed rye.

Early buying was associated with Washington reports that a bill will be introduced in the Senate to provide mandatory loans at full parity, instead of 85 per cent of parity, on basic agricultural commodities.

Wheat closed ⅝-1 cent lower, corn unchanged to ¼ cent off, oats ⅜-⅝ cent down rye 1¾-2 cents lower, soybeans 1⅝-2 cents lower.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 9 — (CP). — Cattle trade was fairly active at prices generally steady at Monday's close, up to mid-session on the Livestock Market here today. Veal calves were weak. Spring lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. Unsold from yesterday as 300 head of cattle. With local retailers eliminated from cattle trading on the Toronto Livestock Market under a recent amendment to the latest Government beef price ceiling order, fewer buyers were present to absorb the fair volume of cattle offering here yesterday. Prices on fed calves and plainer cows declined 25 to 50 cents a hundredweight and on other grades ruled steady. About 300 head were unsold at the close.

The amendment issued last week by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, according to the Dominion Marketing Service, reads in effect that no retailer can purchase or acquire cattle that will result in a higher cost on the dressed product than the present price ceiling, which for this district is 19¼ cents a pound on steers, heifers and baby beef, and 16 cents on cows. Currently, liveweight cattle prices are relatively higher than beef maximums, and as long as they remain so retailers, who because of short beef supplies had previously been in the market for cattle to cover their normal beef trade requirements, will be forced to seek their needs through other channels.

Most of the cattle buying yesterday was believed to be for the filling of military contracts. Numerous stockers arrived, however, and these met a ready demand at steady prices. Stockers go back to the farm to be fattened for later marketing.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 800; calves, 820; hogs, 950; sheep and lambs, 120.

Weighty steers sold at $12 to $13; butcher steers $11 to $12.75, with a few at $13; heifers, $10.50 to $12.25; fed calves, $12 to $13.25; butcher cows $7.75 to $10, with a few at $10.50; bulls, $9 to $10.50; and plain stockers, $10.50 to $11.

Calves sold at $14 to $14.50 for choice vealers with a few tops at $15 and common lights selling downward to $9.

Spring lambs sold at $12 to $15 each.

Sheep sold at $5 to $8.50.

Hogs closed previously at $15 25 to $15.40 dressedweight at yards or plants.

BACON-HOG PRICES

TORONTO, June 9 — (CP). — Prices were unchanged at baconhog markets reporting today:

Liveweight—Chatham, $10 75

Dressedweight.—Hamilton, $15.15 delivered; Brantford, $14.85, plus transportion; Hull, $15.00; plus transportation; Peterborough, $14.75 plus transportation.

For Wednesday, June 10.

The emphasis may be placed on purely private, social, domestic, cultral and sentimental activities on this day judging by the lunar transits in influence. All pertaining to private life may be benignly stimulated, promising much pleasure, gratification, and sociability. Also there should be success and profit in all phases of business that concern the more personal life, such as drama, entertainment, art, and more practical aspects of domestic or social interest. It might be well to be on guard against petty deceits, intrigues, or irregularities.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which the intimate affairs of private life dominate the activities. In social, cultural, domestic and affectional asociations there might be much satisfaction, with pleasure and excitement, parties, engagements, or marriages. All business enterprises concerning these may move into high grooves and prove lucrative as well as pleasant and sociable. It would be well to sidestep trivial deception, or intrigues or peculiar snares.

A child born on this day should be gifted with many social and cultural abilities, and be refined, sensitive and magnetic. It might make brilliant success in any of the fine arts.

much more than they needed, in expectation of being cut down to actual needs anyway.

At times, however, through some bureaucratic error the full quantity asked for was awarded, with the result the excess was used by the manufacturer to turn out highly-priced civilian goods at great profit to himself.

Industrialists also were in the habit of asking for more men from the labor exchanges than their actual wartime needs justified.

The death decree is to put an end to such practices.

Another decree provided the death penalty in extreme cases of a person's arrogating to himself prerogatives or functions belonging to government officials, officers of the armed forces, or the Nazi party heirarchy.

There were judges nevertheless in Germany, it appears especially pre-Nazi hold-overs—who lacked the severity deemed necessary by Hitler for the absolutist government of a people.

Hence, in his Reichstag speech of April 26 he demanded — and, of course, obtained without dissenting vote-extraordinary powers to set aside all process of law and himself to act as prosecutor, judge, jury and witness.

It is to be expected that judges now will be much more assiduous in handing out heavy sentences.

Hungary's 1st Duty

BERNE, Switzerland, June 9 — (AP).—Nicolas Kallay, Hungary's Premier, told the Chamber of Deputies after his return to Budapest from a meeting with Hitler in Germany that Hungary must consider participation in the war her "first great duty," the Swiss Telegraphic Agency reported today from Budapest.

The Premier declared that this summer the entire nation must work to push production to the maximum.

More Gas to East Furnace Oil Outlook Eases

OTTAWA, June 9 — (CP). — Munitions Minister Howe told the House of Commons yesterday that he expected an improvement in the gasoline situation in the Maritime Provinces before the end of June.

He also said that the oil situation in Canada might not demand such "drastic measures" restricting use of oil fuel in homes as he outlined in the House several weeks back.

Both statements came in reply to questions.

Conservative House Leader Hanson asked if Mr. Howe could give the House a statement to "allay the anxiety" of people in the Maritimes about the gasoline shortage.

Value of each gasoline ration coupon in the Maritimes was reduced last month from five to two gallons. Elsewhere in Canada the value has been five gallons since the ration system went into effect on April 1 last.

Mr. Howe said "the outlook for the future has improved considerably."

Some tanker assistance has been given by the United States Maritime Commission, "and I can say the situation certainly will not get worse, and I believe will improve."

Mr. Hanson asked if any indication could be given as to when the full coupon value would be restored in the Maritimes. He said that the understood the situation, but added that some people down there were engaged in "the old game" of "stirring up antipathy toward the central part of Canada."

Agitation in the Maritime Provinces was being stirred up "by one big dealer who apparently found himself in possession of very large supplies of gasoline."

Things Look Brighter.

Mr. Howe replied: "I cannot say whether the coupon ever will be restored to its original value, but I do think the situation there will improve, and if it is possible to restore the full value, certainly we shall do so. I think there will be an improvement before the end of the current month."

Mr. Howe's statement on fuel was in response to a question by Karl Homuth (Con. Waterloo South), who asked when a definite policy would be laid down concerning gas and oil heating systems.

The munitions minister replied that he expected to be able to make a statement on oil heating "within the next day or two."

"We have made a very careful analysis of the oil position and we

Salvage Drive Extends To South End

For the past four weeks in four separate districts the citizens of Peterborough have done a great job of contributing wartime salvage. The fifth and last district will have an opportunity on this coming Thursday to round out the effort for the whole city by going all out and gathering every bit of salvage material they can locate around their homes. Don't wait until the night before, but start right now and get it in shape for the collectors. If you will do this you can feel that although at home you are doing something very worthwhile to help the United Nations win the war.

Newspapers, magazines, and miscellaneous paper, rags, rubber and bottles will be collected starting promptly at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Metals will be collected starting at 6 o'clock in the evening.

More help could be utilized at the depot on Reid Street on Thursday next men, women and boys, and men to go with the trucks at 6 o'clock Some have had to do more than their share and additional help would lighten the load considerably.

Let the South-end of the city and the North-end of North Monaghan make this collection a huge affair.

Interest Limit Being Studied

OTTAWA, June 9—(CP). — The government considered a ceiling on interest rates but took no action Finance Minister Ilsley told the House of Commons yeserday. The question came up during the discussion of the war appropriation resolution.

J. G. Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) asked Mr. Ilsley why a ceiling had been placed on interest rates

"The reason is," Mr. Ilsley said, "that the risk varies so greatly that we did not think we could put a price ceiling on it.

"Money is worth six per cent when it is loaned on one risk and only three per cent when it is loaned on another.

"You cannot do that (impose a ceiling) unless you make it 10 per cent., 24 per cent. or somethink like that. You can have a ceiling like that but it would completely prevent lending in many places where lending should take place.

"I may say the matter was not overlooked."

Man Shortage Bogs Down A.R.P. Program

A fine talk on incendiary and high explosive bombs, with practical demonstrations and pictures was given by Fire Chief George Gimblett at the A.R.P. meeting Monday night, the last of a series of five. His Worship Mayor James A. Hamilton acted as chairman.

Chief Gimblett dealt with incendiary bombs first, and he had a facsimile there for the audience to examine. The bomb was about 14 inches in length and weighed just a fraction over two pounds and takes from half to one minute to explode. It generates heat up to 4,500 degrees Fahrenheit and it is not safe to go near it until at least two minutes after it has made a landing. Some of the later bombs used were of the delayed action type. A plane travelling at 200 miles at 5,000 feet drops a bomb at 350 feet per second and thus has a tremendous striking force. One out of every ten bombs dropped sets a fire, and in this way there is a fire set every sixty to seventy yards.

The audience was warned of the danger of keeping one of these bomb fires under control when the house was cluttered up with inflammable material, particularly in the cellar and attic. It involves extra work but if everyone would cooperate there would be a lot less difficulty in keeping things under control, the Chief said.

Firemen Needed.

The need for auxiliary firemen was also stressed, and men applying for this work must be 30 to 50 years of age and in good physical shape. Men serving in this capacity receive full compensation in case of injury. Before the war began in London there were about 2,700 regular firemen and now they have 2[illegible],000 regulars and 148,000 auxiliary firemen and this shows the importance of the work. Men with nerve are needed on this job.

A real 11½-pound explosive bomb served to illustrate the speaker's points. These bombs are used to wreck factories and docks and buildings. There are several types, two of which are called "general purpose" and pearl necklace." The latter is composed of a big bomb and several small bombs are attached to it and they explode first eventually setting off the large one. When these bombs are used there is only one thing to do for protection and that is to throw oneself flat on the ground If a person remains standing, the concussion from a bomb can tear him to pieces.

Stirrup Pump Helps.

A demonstration of the use of a stirrup pump was given. It consists of a stand, a pump and a pump handle and thirty feet of hose. There is a double action nozzle and by pressing the leaver on the side, a solid stream or spray can be had. If a solid stream is used there are sixty strokes to a minute in the pumping and there will be a 30-foot stream of water. With the spray there are only thirty strokes to a minute and the water goes for fifteen feet. There should be a team of three to work this pump. Chief Gimblett explained, one to pump, one to handle the nozzle and one to see that the water supply is maintained, and keep track of any other fires that may start. No matter how dense the smoke may be there is always from 10 to 18 inches of clear air just above the floor level. The Chief said to lie on the floor and hold the nozzle over your head with the right hand, leaving the other clear to protect the face or do anything else that is needed.

"These bombs can be taken care of without water with an emergency fire extinguisher or sand or other chemicals. Never use a solid stream on the bomb itself. And when a missile covered with sand has been put in a pail, it is not a wise idea to try and pick it up by the handle as it will be exceedingly hot. Get a shovel and lift the handle with that and carry the pail out." Pictures showing the handling of incendiary and explosive bombs were run off at the conclusion of the lecture.

Volunteers Wanted.

An appeal was made by Dr. Avison on behalf of the blood donors' clinic of the Red Cross. Volunteers from 18 to 55 are needed and they will not be expected to give their blood oftener than once every three months. This clinic is expected to open within the next two weeks and they need 2,000 more men and 500 more women above what they already have in volunteers. The Red Cross expects to use on an average of 100 donors a week.

Lt.-Col. M. Sloan stressed once more the need for messenger boys and also for cars and light delivery trucks in the transportation section.

His Worship Mayor Hamilton closed the meeting with a few words of praise for the splendid attendance and interest shown in the A.R.P. work and said that perhaps in the late summer or early fall another more extensive basic course would be opened.

Brian Bell Dies

WASHINGTON, June 9—(AP).—Brian Bell, 52, chief of the Washingtno bureau of The Associated Press and known by newspapermen from coast to coast, and throughout Canada, died at his Arlington, Va., home today.

He had headed the Washington office of The Associated Press since Jan. 1 1939, after serving in Atlanta, Ga., New Orleans, New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Widely-known a few years ago as a sports writer, Bell was stricken yesterday as he watched the Washington-Detroit baseball game.

Blind for 26 years, Miss Madeleine D. Brooks, 36, has taken her place in the United States war effort, being employed as an inspector on time fuse parts. Her work is as good as that of any of her co-workers, says her employer. Always with her is Verona, her seeing-eye dog.

1000 Farm Boys Move to City

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9. —(ENS).—The case for the farmer, who faces an even more critical labor shortage than we forecast a year ago, was forcefully presented to members of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their noon-day luncheon here Monday. R. Sedgworth of Cheltenham, now working out of Belleville for the Ontario Farm Service Force, was the guest speaker. He spoke for twenty minutes, but made no suggestion of what the club should do. His policy was to lay the facts of the situation before them and leave to Rotarians the question of just what they could do about it. Speaking as one who had made farming his life's work, Mr. Sedgworth declared there were just two vocations superior to all others, and "because of our failures to appreciate two things, the world is in the mess it is to-day." He first of all named the teaching profession, then hastened to add that all of the great teachers were not in schools. The second was described as the basic, and fundamental farming "where the master minds in all vocations largely come from."

Emphasizing the basic importance of the farm the speaker added that no civilization had been able to survive the decay of its farm industry. "Agriculture is sick at the present time and if it isn't sustained, then God help the rest of us." He referred particularly to the number of young men who had left the farm to find employment in the more lucrative war industries and concluded "you can't take the number of young men (that have been taken from the farm) from any industry without killing it. Who's going to feed the hungry people of Europe when the war is over? It won't be the men over 60 who are trying to run them now, but by an agricultural state which is virile."

H N. Carr, who moved the club's thanks, suggested that the executive should look into the question of setting up a means of registration for the district and take a lead in organizing the necessary work. District Representative Ian MacLeod, who introduced the speaker, gave a little more specific information on the question by declaring that on a basis of the returns made from the recent survey conducted among farmers of Northumberland, approximately 1,000 men (farmer's sons and hired men) had left the farm. Though the wettest May in a hundreds years had held up planting of late crops he said one of the best fall grain crops in years was in prospect. "To solve the problem requires local action" was the opinion expressed by Mr. MacLeod

Archbishop Owen Attends Hatfield Hall Closing Program

COBOURG, June 9—(ENS).—The beautiful grounds of Hatfield Hall was the picturesque setting Monday afternoon for the annual closing exercises when the prizes won during the year by the girls were awarded by the Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto. Mr. Henry Fullerton was chairman of the program, in the absence of Rev. Dr. T. S. Boyle. The program opened with a musical presentation by the girls of the school, consisting of piano and vocal numbers. After the distribution of prizes, the second part of the program was presented in which the girls performed in folk dances, interpretative and ballet numbers.

The Archbishop in a brief but inspiring address, summed up the principles of education both from the standpoint of academic and as character-moulding, and dispensed some excellent advice to the girls who were graduating. The principal, Miss W. M. Wilson, in summing up the year's work, stated that the school had had a very good year. In connection with the Old Country girls who were attending Hatfield Hall, she paid tribute to those who had sponsored them financially.

"We should like to thank the sponsors, American and Canadian, of our girls attending here from the Old Country. We feel particularly grateful to the Americans who took this way of showing their appreciation of the British war effort before they were themselves involved in the war. I also want to thank the Hatfield Women's Guild, declared the principal.

The musical program consisted of a duet by P. Agnew and J. Atkinson, "The Camel Train"; pianoforte solo, P. Ketchum, "Two Little Froggies"; pianoforte solos, J. Spranger, (a) "Musette" and (b) "The Jolly Roger." J. Spranger and D. Spranger were heard in a duet, "Down the Shady Path." Form V. sang the part songs, 'Pond Lilies' and "Hail to the Chief." A pianoforte solo was given by A. Whitfield, entitled "Ballade," and a pianoforte solo, "Sonatina" (first movement) by J. Atkinson.

Following the interval for tea, the following program of dances was presented:

English country dance—the senior girls, "Dargason" and "Sellengers Round"; Danish country dances — the junior girls, "Seven Jumps" and "Three Dance"; Hansel and Gretel—M. Boulden, P. LeBrooy, D. Dodd and D. Spranger; Hungarian dance —P. Curry, D. Hertzberg, T. Hertzberg and S. Ketchum; modern dance—seniors and A Dolls' Ballet—the juniors.

From Distant Places.

The following girls received commendation for subjects taken during the year:

Grades XI., XII. and XIII. — Patricia Curry, Nassau; Dagmar Hertsberg, Kingston; Pauline Atkinson, England; Sydney Fullerton, Cobourg; Susie Ketchum, Port Hope; Susan Ricardo, England; Thea Hertzberg, Kingston; Moyra McMaster, England; Elizabeth Spranger, England. Grades IX. and X.—Sybil Agnew, Kingston; Esme Bourinot, Ottawa; Marette Butler, Nassau; Patricia Knapp, Cobourg; Polly Knapp, Cobourg; Ann Whitfield, Kingston; Ruth Glover, Bridgenorth; Heather Hamilton, Aurora; Derdre Meth[illegible]n, Scotland; Jean Stewart, Ottawa. Grades VIII. and VII.—Jane Atkinson, England; Eve Brocklebank, England; Margaret Giles, England; Patsy Ketchum, Port Hope; Patricia Agnew, Kingston; Rosalie Griffiths, England; Gay Moodie, Scotland; Jane Spranger, England.

Grades V. and VI.—Imogen Dodd, Panama; Pamela Garlan[illegible], Port Hope; Iris Hamilton, Aurora; Una Brocklebank, England; Penelope Ketchum, Port Hope; Jane Gourlay, Cobourg; Margaret Boulden, Port Hope; Bedorah Spranger, England; Penelope Anne LeBrooy, Val Moran.

Toronto Conservatory of Music certificates were awarded to the following:

Piano—J. Fraser of Scarboro, honors; S. Ricardo, England, honors; P. Ketchum, Port Hope, honors; A. Whitfield, Kingston, 1st Cl. honors; J. Atkinson, England, honors; E. Brocklebank, England, honors; D. Spranger, England, honors.

Theory of music—S. Ricardo, 1st class honors; J. Fraser, honors, and S. Ricardo, Grade II. honors.

Elocution—E. Spranger, England, 1st class honors; J. Atkinson, England, 1st class honors.

Special prizes or certificates were awarded to the following:

Proficiency prizes — Elizabeth Spranger, Sydney Fullerton, Sybil Agnew, Marette Butler, Nassau; Margaret Giles, England; Eve Brocklebank and Patricia Ketchum.

Matriculation, 1941—Helen Pewtress, Cobourg. Dormitory prize — Joan Allen, Toronto; the Frances Beardmore prize — Dagmar Hertzberg, Kingston; prize picture—Ann Whitfield, Kingston; prefects' medals—Dagmar Hertzberg, Patricia Curry and Joan Allen.

Sports awards—Form gymnastics, Form VI.; form basketball, Form VI.; senior badminton, Sydney Fullerton, Cobourg; junior badminton—B. James, Port Hope; senior tennis —P. Atkinson, England, junior tennis—Patsy Ketchum, Port Hope; senior championship at sports day—E. Bourinot, Ottawa; intermediate—S. Fullerton; junior — I. Hamilton, Aurora, and winning form — Form VI. All-round championship —S. Fullerton, Cobourg.

Ex-Press Writer M'Arthur's Aide

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 9—(CP).—Lt.-Col. Lloyd Lehrbas, former foreign correspondent of The Associated Press, has been appointed aide-de-camp to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, it was announced today by Lt.-Col. Carlos Romulo.

Lehrbas obtained a leave of absence from The Associated Press bureau in Washington and went to Australia to join General MacArthur as press officer on his arrival there from Bataan.

Lehrbas was an Air Force officer in the last war and later travelled over the world, covering many events in peace and war for The Associated Press.

One of his greatest feats as a war correspondent was his coverage of the bombing of Warsaw at the outset of the present war.

Raising The Price Ceiling

One of our contemporaries in Eastern Ontario, the Kingston Whig-Standard, has recently published two editorials discussing the Price Ceiling, in which it asks some questions which we think are of interest to people in this community. Although the activities of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board have undoubtedly been of great value in preventing the rapid and disastrous rise in the cost of living which has been the accompaniment of wars hitherto, housewives have nevertheless had an uneasy feeling that the cost of living has risen, and they want to know why. If the Price Ceiling is to keep prices down, they ask, why are some prices rising?

The answer is not an easy one to provide. The operation of the Price Ceiling is a tricky bit of economic juggling, and although its intention is to keep prices stable it cannot always do so. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board controls much of the economy of this country, but not all of it, and there are times when it must make a hole in its Price Ceiling in order to prevent the whole ceiling from collapsing. Since the adoption of the Price Ceiling approximately forty such holes have been made, and although this seems a great number it is really very small when consideration is given to the enormous number of products which the Ceiling controls.

Specifically, prices have been raised on all domestic and imported fruits and vegetables save potatoes, bananas and onions. Canned fish and all fresh fish save salmon have risen in price. Lamb, crab meat and lobsters have gone up, and there is an increase of a cent a tin on tinned salmon. Oka cheese, frozen eggs and eighteen types of frosted fruits and vegetables have increased in price, as have also butter coloring, brooms, some soft drinks and evaporated milk. These increases, none of which are great, have been permitted by the Board.

We are told that the beef shortage, which was caused by the higher prices obtainable for beef in the U.S., is soon to come to an end, and arrangements have been made to keep adequate supplies of beef in this country. But when beef is available again it will cost from eight to ten per cent. more than it did when the Ceiling was imposed.

We recognize that these increases in price have been necessary, and we are grateful for the way in which the Board has stood between us and a drastic rise in the cost of living. But we should like to be assured that these increases have not paved the way for others which are not so needful. The cost of living bonus will take care of these increases, but if there is to be a more general rise in prices we shall soon be faced with a demand that wages rise too, and then the whole economic apple-cart will be upset. We think that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board would be well advised to make the public acquainted with the reasons for the rises in price of some commodities and to provide us with some assurance that there will be no more rises than are absolutely necessary. We realize that the Price Ceiling cannot remain unalterably fixed, but we should like to be assured that no pressure groups, eager for personal gain, can boost it upward.

After Six Months

The United States have now been at war with the Axis for six months, and the American press has been taking stock of the situation. The debits are certainly greater than the credits, but they are far from sufficient to put her on an equal footing with her enemies. She simply did not have the weapons with which to fight, and one reason for this was that she had sent much of her output of munitions and machines to Britain. What is more, the people of the U.S. were not prepared for war psychologically; a great peace-loving nation cannot become a nation at war in a few days. Profound readjustments are necessary and these take time.

The U.S. is primarily interested in the war in the Pacific, which is understandable because the Japanese attacked them first and under circumstances of peculiarly revolting treachery. Until now the Pacific war has not gone well for the United Nations. Guam, Wake and Hong Kong are in enemy hands; the Netherlands Indies and the British holdings in Malaya, Singapore and Burma have been taken; the Philippines are gone; the Japanese are advancing in China; blows have been struck at Alaska and Midway Island. And in the Atlantic the U.S. has lost almost 300 ships in the submarine war, a greater number than she has been able to build. Submarine sinkings have not been in proportion.

There are signs, however, that the tide is turning. In the battle of the Coral Sea the U.S. Navy gave an excellent account of itself, and apparently it laid a trap at Midway into which the Japanese fell with great lose to themselves. The U.S. Navy has been careful not to exaggerate the importance of either of these engagements, but it is clear that if the Japanese suffer so heavily in minor scraps they may shirk a great naval battle, dissipating their strength in side-shows; they have not fared too well in the side-shows cited.

But the fact that the first six months have not shown any great victories to their credit does not alter the fact that the entry of the U.S. into the war on the side of the United Nations gave our forces an enormous advantage over the Axis. The potential strength of the U.S. almost defies calculation, and that strength has hardly been tapped yet. It is even possible that the U.S. war machine will not be in full operation before the war ends. There are signs that the Axis has been forced into what is virtually a defensive position; only Japan is pressing on to new victories at present. Undoubtedly the firmer grip which the United Nations have been able to take of the war situation has been due, in part, to the added strength of the U.S., and certainly American supplies have been a godsend to Russia. Though it has scored no spectacular success, the U.S. have done a great deal to bring victory nearer in their first six months at war.

A Novel Experiment

We take a keen professional interest in eccentricity; deviations from the commonplace are a part of the raw material of journalism. And when eccentricity is backed up with wisdom, humor and a strain of mischief, it is just our dish.

Consequently we are delighted to hear of the experiment which is being made by Andrew Jackson Higgins, the eccentric shipbuilder of New Orleans. Mr. Higgins is a native of Nebraska, and during his residence in Louisiana he has been much impressed by the Southern theory that white men are in all cases superior to black ones. So impressed is he that he means to put the matter on a basis of scientific proof. At his shipbuilding yard he is setting up two assembly lines, each a mile long, and these will be staffed, one entirely with whites and one entirely with Negroes; each line is to produce 10,000-ton cargo vessels for the U.S. He expects to turn out from 25 to 35 of these each month, and he is interested to see whether the white line or the black line will make the better showing.

For some reason which Mr. Higgins cannot understand this plan of his has caused deep concern in New Orleans; there seems to be a feeling that it will create dangerous ideas of racial equality. But Mr. Higgins replies to such objections by saying that if the white man is as much the superior of the black as the people in the deep South appear to think, there should be no question but that the white line will outwork the black. Unfortunately the Southerners are not so sure.

We like Mr. Higgins' wit. It is in the best democratic tradition. It is an attempt to prove something which the U.S. has gone to war to prove — that a man is as good as his abilities, and that theories of race are all bunk. We shall watch the two assembly lines with fascinated interest.

Burying An Assassin

The funeral orgies of the late Reinhard Heidrich, formerly Nazi 'protector' of Bohemia and Moravia, are being conducted on a scale of great magnificence. Everything is being done to give the impression that Heidrich was an important man in life and a glorious martyr in death. His body has been embalmed with the subtlest arts of human taxidermy, his coffin is a notable example of the cabinet-maker's art, and his corpse is as diligently guarded as though someone were really anxious to steal it. When he was hauled through the streets of Prague the Czechs were made to turn out to see the cortege pass and now he is in Berlin, about to play the central role in a great state funeral.

That is to say, the body of Reinhard Heidrich lies in the Reichschancellery, guarded by solemn Nazis. But Heidrich, where is he? Dead bodies are much of a muchness, and the grandeur of a state funeral is meaningless unless it is the outward symbol of a people's grief. Who grieves for Heidrich? Does his naked soul wander in immensity, shivering without its uniform, and discomfited without a gun? Is he travelling toward judgment with the 216 Czechs who have been slaughtered to avenge his death? One fancies that Reinhard Heidrich will find death a little chillier than most people, for when he lived nothing but a continual flow of warm blood could keep him happy.

And as his comrades follow his bier in Berlin, what will they be thinking of? Not of Heidrich, surely, so much as the way he met his death. Not even the death of 216 hostages can cure what ails him now, and Nazis love life as well as other men. Let us hope that the thoughts of Heidrich's official mourners will be of a suitably sober character.

Passing Of a Pioneer

The death of Mrs. Mary Ann Milburn, who celebrated her 100th birthday on April 2 last, breaks a link with the earliest history of Smith township, in which vicinity she passed her long life. Mrs. Milburn was the daughter of John Edmison and Margaret Hall, who received a grant of land from the Crown shortly after the Battle of Waterloo and proceeded to make a farm for themselves and their children in what was at that time a wilderness. John Edmison was a Northumberland man, and the independent and rugged spirit of that border county was passed on by him to his children. When children in the schools of this county study the history of Canada they need not strain their imaginations to call up visions of the pioneers; the Edmisons and the Milburns will serve as types, and local history is inextricably bound up with their names and their exploits.

Mrs. Milburn lived a long and active life during which she was permitted to see much of the development of this country. She was a mature woman at the time of Confederation and her life included all that amazing period of expansion during which Canada grew from sea to sea. As she became older and less active she was honored in her community as a representative of an heroic past —that pioneer past in which the future of Canada is firmly rooted.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Hitler Fails To Bluff Finns," says a headline. Quite a change from the days when he could bluff anybody.

Wooden tires may appear for automobiles, in which case the question will be: How many miles to the cord?

After the recent excitement we hear that things are pretty flat around Cologne these days.

A Chicago doctor says that nobody is really lazy. Perhaps not, but the world presents some wonderful facsimiles.

The steel in a single washing machine will make three machine guns. And these, of course, will be used in cleaning-up operations.

Mussolini is reported to fear an early death. There are many worse things for a dictator than an early death. One of them is too long a life.

It has been suggested that all the fat men in Montreal join together to form a mutual benefit society. Swearing to stick together through thick and thin, no doubt.

The local Fire Department had to turn out on Friday to lay some dandelion seeds which were floating in the East end of the city; was it because the weeds were spreading like wild-fire?

Reports say that the German High Command is displeased with the lying war communiques which are being issued from Hitler's headquarters; they feel that these fairy-tales are beneath their personal dignity. Hitler has certainly achieved something in disgusting his own generals, but even a buzzard sometimes gags.

THE HAND

The hand of man is a sapient thing
For the thrust of sword or lute-playing,
For sowing the harvest or gathering in,
For works of mercy or deeds of sin.

The eagle's wings may bear him far,
From cloud to cloud, from star to star;
But the power which governs the sea and land
Is the power which lies in the human hand.

It grips the lightning, it tames the sea,
It builds the worlds that are to be;
Ages of labor and strife out-worn
Are limned on the hands of the babe unborn.

The prisoned soul behind the eyes
May read the secret of the skies,
But the thing which works the scheme
God planned
Is the awful and wonderful human hand.

Four Novels Of Light Entertainment

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THE object of every good novel should be to entertain the reader. But in achieving this end certain novels reveal mysterious by-products of wisdom which make them great. Such novels are "Don Quixote," and "Pickwick Papers" and "Jane Eyre" which have held the affection of generations of readers. Millions of other novels are written to entertain which succeed in doing just that; they are read once and forgotten, but they serve their purpose. I shall discuss four recent novels of this kind today.

The first is by Louis Bromfield, one of the most accomplished of the first-rate commercial novelists of our time. In "The Strange Case of Miss Annie Spragg" he showed that he could write an admirable novel when he chose, and none of his books lack passages of distinction. His most recent production is called "Until The Day Break" (published by Mussons) and it is about Paris in the early days of the German occupation. It reads more like the early draft of a novel than a completed work. The Bromfield polish is not as high as usual and the characters are strangely flat. It reads, in fact, very like the work of Philips Oppenheim.

MR. BROMFIELD tells of an underground movement in Paris which is directed by a Turkish theatre-manager. One of his most useful helpers is his leading show-girl, an American named Roxie. She charms a handsome young German Major, who has a psychological kink which makes him judge all women by his governess, and at last, when he discovers what she is about, she locks him up in a wine cellar, a la Edgar Allen Poe. All the Germans in the book are strange, neurotic men, much given to consulting astrologers and weeping on their pillows. Goering figures in the book, and he is represented as an impotent grotesque.

The second book of this group is "The Commandos" by Elliott Arnold; it is a somewhat conventional and Hemingwayish story of love and war, with a few Commando trimmings thrown in. The Commando who figures as hero is an American who, on a raid of Norway, re-discovers a woman whom he had loved and lost. The book is written in a "tough guy" spirit which does little to conceal its essential ordinariness, and there are some scenes of passion which the ribald will find uproarious reading. It is published by Collins.

BOTH the Bromfield and the Arnold books appear to me to make a great mistake in showing all Germans as nitwits, sadists and sexual perverts. It must be clear to anyone but a popular novelist that the Germans are actually extremely clever and that their wickedness is not of the vulgarly obvious kind. But it seems to be an article of faith with most writers today, even including the astute John Steinbeck, that all Germans are tormented souls, desperately conscious of their inferiority and pitifully eager for the love of a good woman, or a dog; this love, we are given to understand, will regenerate them, but they cannot win it. Happy novelists! The rest of us think that the problem is a little more complex than that.

From these two war novels we turn to a new mystery story by Mary Roberts Rinehart, called "Haunted Lady," which is published by the Oxford Press. Miss Rinehart has a very light hand with a mystery story; she does not opress her readers with too many clues or too close reasoning, and she always puts in plenty of mystery. The haunted lady in this book is old Mrs. Fairbanks, who finds such curiosities as snakes and bats in her room, however closely she shuts it up. There are the usual suspects and the usual love story, and Miss Rinehart manages it all with her usual skill. The detective is Hilda Adams, the trained nurse, and she is a refreshing novelty in the detective line. This book is recommended to anyone who likes a light mystery.

FINALLY we have "Novelty On Earth" by Margaret Duley, the Newfoundland writer who had a remarkable success in this country a year ago with "Highway To Valour." Miss Duley has been well-known in Britain for some time but these are the first of her books to appear on this side of the water." "Novelty On Earth" takes its title from Milton's "Paradise Lost," for in that phrase Adam describes the strange and disturbing woman who has come to share his fate.

Probably it was Miss Duley's intention to write an intricate and revealing study of the relationship between the sexes, but it has not turned out a complete success. When will novelists discover that love can be the dullest subject in the world? A description of a love-affair unless the people concerned in it are unusually interesting is about as dreary as anything can be. I do not say that Miss Duley's book is dreary, but there are times when the reader's interest falls almost to zero; he yearns for something to happen that will stop the inevitable progress of love. The book is the work of an unusually careful and sensitive writer, and Macmillans may be proud of it, even if it is not one of its author's best.

THE BOUNCER!

—New York World-Telegram.

• Japan Takes a Body Blow

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WHATEVER the tactical, strategic or psychological purposes of the Japanese attacks on Dutch Harbor and Midway Island, the blunt fact is that the enemy has received a blow that could revise the whole war pattern in the Pacific.

Bit by bit, navy disclosures from Washington and Pearl Harbor are piecing together a Japanese defeat of catastrophic proportions. Coming on top of the punishment they suffered in the Coral Sea fight, enemy losses in ships and planes must have a sinister meaning for Tokyo. The margin of sea power superiority, afloat and in the air, gained by the infamous attack on Pearl Harbor and American naval requirements in the Atlantic, is being whittled to the vanishing point. It may already have been reversed, even against an American one-ocean navy to say nothing of two-ocean strength coming up.

WELL BAITED TRAP

There is warrant, also, for the conclusion that the Japanese High Command fell into a carefully baited American trap at Midway, fanged with far-ranging air bombers of the sister services. Land-based air power turned the trick. It presumably caught the heavily protected invading force hundreds of miles from its objective to send it limping westward again for refuge, shattered as an offensive weapon.

While Japanese battleships formed part of the naval escort for transports and plane carriers, there is little reason yet to believe that the main fighting strength of the enemy fleet was directly engaged. Judging by the distances involved from the nearest Japanese island outposts, however, it is justifiable to assume that the best and biggest Japanese plane carriers were assigned to the task force and apparently suffered the heaviest damage.

DIVERSION MOVES

Taken in conjunction with Japanese midget submarine attacks in Sydney Harbor, Australia and subsequent trivial bombardment from the sea of Southeast Australian points, the Midway-Dutch Harbor raids begin to look like diversion moves. Repulsed in the Coral Sea attempt to push southward across American-Australian communication lines, Tokyo may have hoped to draw much American naval strength both northward into the North-Central Pacific zone and southward in Australian-New Zealand waters. With the protective American naval-air screen for Pacific communication lines thus thinned out, an opportunity to strike a punishing blow at the American-Australia supply routes might have come.

It still might come; but Midway has put a crimp in any such Japanese plan. Moreover, the day when the American Navy can carry the fight to the foe, island by island, base by base, may be much nearer than it is yet possible to foresee. There is sound reason for concluding that the Japanese have been struck the most telling blow so far of the war—one that must inevitably lead to a retreat in the Pacific sooner or later and bring the jugular vein of the whole Japanese conquest dream, the China Sea communication lines, within striking distance of American forces.

Letters To The Editor

SPOTLIGHT IT NOW

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—This reader had a special interest in that item in the news (Examiner issue of June 3) from Winnipeg, intimating that "a general conference on farm debt" in the prairie provinces will be held in the West this summer, as suggested by the five major farm organizations in Alberta recently.

Almost a decade ago—July 1933—a writer in the columns of your Toronto contemporary (Globe and Mail) dealing with the rural scene on the Prairies, closed on this note:

"Finally, I turn to my notebook to cull out and hand on to Globe readers across Canada at least four memorable suggestions gathered along these Western Canadian trails, in relation to the economic health of the country. They are given here merely in the order as located. In terms of importance the last may be first:

1.—A North American price to the farmer for the 45,000,000 bushels of wheat consumed annually within Canadian borders.

2.—A National Committee of half a dozen of the ablest executives in Canada to be given statutory powers over a 10-year period, with instructions to devise ways and means of getting a fair share of the final dollar back to the primary producers along every lateral of Canadian farms the year around.

3.—A fairer balance between protected urban industry and the growers of international products such as Canadian wheat, which must meet the free-trade price levels.

4.—A comprehensive national plan for the funding of rural indebtedness of the wheat farmers, to dissipate the burden of today's collapsed price structure over the next decade."

Today that "next decade" has almost gone! The facts and figures from that "debt conference" should be most revealing? If progress is to be made, these data should be ruthlessly spotlighted now.

WARTIME HOUSES

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Could not the money that is being used to build wartime houses that are to be pulled down after the war be used to help make Peterborough a city of beautiful homes after the war?

By putting in now good roomy and damp-proof basements to live in, till the war is over, then finish building each house when many will be needing work and money is plentiful? If the vacant lot owners are interested I would rent a hall where they can talk it over together.

So that I will have a better chance of getting work, when the war is over.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And when the sabbath was come he began to teach in the synagogue: and many hearing him were astonished, saying, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisdom is this which is given unto him, that even such mighty works are wrought by his hands? Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary, the brother of James, and Joses, and of Juda, and Simon? and are not his sisters here with us? And they were offended at him.

But Jesus said unto them, A prophet is not without honour, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house. And he could there do no mighty work, save that he laid his hands upon a few sick folk, and healed them.

And he marvelled because of their unbelief. And he went round about the villages, teaching. And he called unto him the twelve, and began to send them forth by two and two; and gave them power over unclean spirits.

And they went out and preached that men should repent. And they cast out many devils, and anointed with oil many that were sick, and healed them.—Mark vi, 2-7, 12, 13.

Guns—

TO BLAST THE AXIS

Mass production of heavy guns, already an accomplished fact, is one of Canada's most amazing war achievements.

In a scant two years new factories have been built, machine tools manufactured and installed, green hands trained—a whole industry created.

To-day Canada is producing in quantity ten different types of heavy guns, complete with all mountings and equipment, ready to fire. One Canadian factory, manufacturing artillery from scrap to complete gun, equals in size any similar plant in the world. One of the largest automatic gun plants in existence is located in Canada.

Production schedules for 1942 call for more than 400 anti-aircraft guns a month; 500 field guns a month; 150 naval guns a month, and over 1,000 extra barrels a month.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented, however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

The wedding took place Saturday evening in North Broadview United Church, Toronto, of Mary Audrey Cavell Barnard, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Harry Barnard of Ballieboro, to LAC. Richard Sterling Urquhart, of Claresholm, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Urquhart of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Dr. H. J. Pritchard and Rev. Herbert Sneyd in a church decorated with palms and spring flowers. Mr. Gayfer played the wedding music and Mrs. John Moffatt sang during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ray Barnard of Sudbury, the bride was charmingly attired in a picture gown of twilight blue faille taffeta, with a shirred basque bodice, heart-shaped neckline and long bouffant skirt sweeping into a slight train. She wore a finger-tip veil of matching blue illusion caught with a halo of shirred net embroided with seed-pearls, and carried a bouquet of dream roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie Barnard of Sudbury, who wore garden rose faille taffeta fashioned on lines similar to the bride's, with matching renoir bonnet and a bouquet of American beauty roses. The best man was Pte. Walter Blackman and the ushers were LAC Franklin Urquhart and Merle Barnard.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hadden Hall, Toronto, where the bride's mother received wearing a printed pastel silk with white accessories and a corsage of sweet peas. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a gown of royal blue chiffon with black accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Later, the bride and groom left on a trip to Banff, Alberta. For travelling she wore a British tan print with beige wool redingote, Kolinsky furs, and matching accessories. They will live in Claresholm, Alberta.

Elsie M. Simpson Is Wed To Nelson Stanger

A charming wedding took place on Saturday in St. George's rectory when Rev. C. E. Moore united in marriage Elsie Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Simpson, and James Nelson Stanger, son of Mrs. N. Stanger and the late Mr. Stanger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively dressed in a two-piece dress of turquoise blue crepe with matching turban and white accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Miss Helen Starr attended the bride wearing a similar frock in shell pink with matching turban and white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Jack Wolstenholme attended the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 112 James street, where the bride's mother received wearing a navy and white redingote style frock and a corsage of sweet peas and gypsophilia. The groom's mother who also received, wore a dress of coin-spot blue crepe with red accessories and a corsage of sweet peas and gypsophilia.

Later the bride and groom left for a short trip. For travelling the bride wore a black pin-stripe tailored suit with white accessories.

Grenfell Mission Aided By Garden Party

The annual garden party of the Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Mission was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. G. R. Langley, Burnham street on Friday last. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. Langley and Miss Alicia Langley read the tea cups on the lawn.

The tea table arrangements were in charge of Mrs. J. D. Collins, and Mrs. W. R. Morris and Miss M. Ross poured coffee during the afternoon. Margaret Langley, Christine Carlisle, Catharine Turner and Rosemary Blaiklock assisted in the dining room.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville and Miss B. Runnett presided over the home made cooking table and Miss Linden Hall was treasurer for the afternoon.

Articles for the bale were on exhibition and among these was a very fine quilt donated by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The proceeds will be used to further the work of the Grenfell Mission in Labrador.

GIRL'S SELFISH FAMILY PREVENTS MARRIAGE

If She Continues to Support Relatives She will Ruin, Not Help Them.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy of 23 with a good, permanent job, and I am in love with a fine girl who loves me, but will not marry me because she says that she has to support her mother and sister. She has two brothers who have left home, but neither one contributes a nickel to their mother's support. Her mother is a strong, healthy woman only 50 years old who could support herself if she would, but she won't work either out of the home or in it. When my girl comes home after a hard day's work in a store she has to help with the cooking and housework.

I can support the girl, but I cannot assume the support of her mother and sister. What can we do about the situation? E.S.

ANSWER: All that you need to solve your problem is a little common sense and some backbone. There is no reason in the world why your girl should be sacrificed to her selfish family. The mother should be forced to go to work and the sons made to contribute to the family's support. If all chipped in with a small amount, it would save the situation and you and your girl could be married and live happily ever after.

You may say that sounds very good as a theory, but that it would be hard to put it in practice. Not at all. The law enforces compulsory goodness and filial duty on those who have no inner yearnings after doing right, and the brothers would come across if they knew that they would be sued for not contributing to their mother's support and held up to shame before all who knew them. And all that the girl has to do is to say: "Mother get a job. I'm getting married and will be able to give you only part of what I earn. The balance I am going to need myself in my new life."

Destroys Their Self-Respect

Of course, the girl who lets herself be made the family goat pats herself on the back for her unselfishness and feels awfully noble about it, but about 99 times out of a 100 instead of helping her family, as she thinks she is, she is ruining them. She is making them parasites than which nothing is a lower form of animal life. She is destroying their self-respect and that is the basis of all character.

And she is keeping them from getting anywhere because she takes away from them the necessity of working and striving. Human nature being what it is, most of us will sit down on the do-nothing stool and let Georgiana do it if Georgiana is weak enough and foolish enough to let us impose upon her.

If a mother is 80 and weak and sick, she has a right to fold her hands and expect her children to support her, but a healthy woman in her fifties and sixties and seventies should be ashamed to be a burden upon them. She is just as able to work as they are. There are plenty of jobs crying out for women who know how to cook and keep house and take care of children, and she would be far happier if she had something to do to fill her mind and her hands with interest, and if she had her own pay envelope and her own fine sense of independence, than she is in being idle.

Men Are Neglectful

Dear Miss Dix: I am going with a young man who tells me that he loves me. He has been gentle, kind and thoughtful, and on Christmas and my birthdays remembers me with gifts. But he has never shown his devotion by bringing me candy, flowers or a little trinket, or taking me out anywhere to dinner or a place of amusement. Do you think this is a lack of imagination, or just plain stinginess? Would his wife merely get her bread and shelter and nothing more? Am I expecting too much to want a little special attention? HELEN.

ANSWER: I think many men neglect the little attentions because

Is YOUR JOB extra exacting?

"FILLING prescriptions is exacting work, and long hours, but no real exercise. Yet I keep fit. Here's my formula. Avoid harsh cathartics; get plenty of 'bulk' in your diet instead. I eat a bowl of delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning, they're so crisp and delicious."

SHE WORKS on an assembly line. Exacting, delicate work and not much chance for exercise. But she keeps well. She makes sure of needed "bulk" in her diet, eats satisfying Kellogg's Bran Flakes for breakfast every day.

KEEP FIT WITH KELLOGG'S every day in the year

WHEN you feel depressed, listless and headachy, you're almost sure to make mistakes. And, if your job is the exacting, nerve-tiring kind that gives you little chance for healthful exercise, you are extra liable to have these symptoms of incomplete elimination. Don't let them rob you of an alert mind and healthy body. Follow these two rules of health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits. Keep the food wastes moving promptly. But no harsh cathartics! Instead, make sure you get plenty of needed "bulk" in your diet. Start every morning with a bowl of delicious, crunchy Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Gently laxative, they help supply valuable minerals and proteins, too. And they're so good, so crisp and tempting, so out-and-out delicious, you'll want to make them a daily habit from the start. Get a package of Kellogg's Bran Flakes today. They come in two convenient sizes. In restaurants, ask for the individual package with the inner, WAXTITE, sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

St. Peter's C.W.L.

The monthly meeting of the St. Peter's C.W.L. was held in St. Peter's School on Monday evening, with the president, Mrs. Frank Lynch in the chair. Reports were heard from the recording secretary, Miss Agnes Grant, and the treasurer, Miss Theresa MacNamara. Mrs. J. Roach reported that the bales had been sent to Kinmount, and Mrs. George Lynch, wool convener, reported on the amount of knitting done for the Red Cross and Navy League. It was decided to donate $10 to the Navy League. Plans were made for the members drive and it was decided that each member of the League would be responsible for earning $1 during the summer, proceeds for war work. This concludes the meetings until September, but the members will continue their war work as usual, all summer.

Vera Monaghan Bride Of John Keating

The marriage of Vera Ellen Monaghan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Monaghan, Coe Hill, to Pte. John Francis Keating, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keating, took place on Saturday in the Church of the Immaculate Conception with Monsignor O'Sullivan officiating. Miss Bernice Flynn played the wedding music and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang during the service.

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. Herbert Ralph, the bride wore a gown of white wool crepe with matching turban and white accessories, and a corsage of red roses. She was attended by Miss Helen Hickson, who wore a frock of blue linen with white accessories and a corsage of talisman roses. Mr. Clem English assisted the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, were his mother received, wearing a frock of blue georgette with a corsage of roses. Later the newlyweds left on a wedding trip. For travelling the bride wore blue with white accessories.

Former Local Man Wed In Preston Ceremony

St. Clement's Roman Catholic church in Preston, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on Saturday morning, June 6th, when Dorothy Antonow, R.R. No. 1 Preston, became the bride of Francis Meyette of Frankford, formerly of Peterborough. The bride is the daughter of Harry Antonow and the late Mrs. Antonow, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyette, Hazlitt street, Peterborough. Rev. Father P. J. Meyer officiated.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a floor-length gown of white rayon organza, with shoulder length veil and carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses.

Mrs. Howard Sobitch of Preston, as matron of honor, wore a floor length dress of blue sheer, made with full skirt and embroidered bodice with high neckline. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Charles Meyette, of Peterborough, acted as best man for his brother. Usher was Tom Foss of Hespeler. Sister Alfred played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father.

The groom's gift to his bride was a gold cross and chain, to the matron of honor a rosary and prayer book and to the best man a La Sallita clock.

Later the young couple left on a wedding trip to Peterborough and points east, the bride travelling in a turquoise ensemble with matching accessories. On their return they will reside at Batawa, Ont., where the groom is employed with Bata Shoe Co.

The guest list, numbering 30, included friends and relatives from Galt, Guelph, Hespeler, Toronto, Frankford and Peterborough.

Lieut. Grant Morrow Wed To Janet M. Young

COBOURG, June 9 — A pretty week-end wedding took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, when Janet MacDonald Young, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Young, became the bride of Lieut. Grant Gordon Morrow, Camp Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morrow of Peterborough. The bride is a resident of Lindsay but formerly resided in Cobourg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. A. McKenzie. The church was decorated with palms, ferns and Briarcliffe roses. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Morris Young of Anderson, Indiana, wore a long gown of blue marquisette studded with darker blue sequins. She wore a finger tip tulle veil and carried pink roses, and forget-me-nots.

She was attended by Miss Evelyn Booth of Oshawa who wore a pink silk jersey gown and carried an old fashioned nosegay of sweet peas and spring flowers. She wore a finger tip veil. The groomsman was Lieut. William Seitz of Camp Borden. The ushers were Lieut. R. Munro of Camp Borden and Thomas Young, R.C.A.F., Ottawa. A reception was afterwards held at Lakeview House, where Mrs. Robert Young received on behalf of the bride in a pale chiffon gown with blue accessories. Her flowers were pink roses. The groom's mother wore a blue lace gown with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's travelling costume was a turquoise blue dress and redingote with black accessories. After a motor honeymoon they will reside where the groom is stationed.

Mary Audrey Barnard Wed In Toronto Ceremony

The wedding took place Saturday evening in North Broadview United Church, Toronto, of Mary Audrey Cavell Barnard, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Harry Barnard of Ballieboro, to LAC. Richard Sterling Urquhart, of Claresholm, Alberta, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Urquhart of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Dr. H. J. Pritchard and Rev. Herbert Sneyd in a church decorated with palms and spring flowers. Mr. Gayfer played the wedding music and Mrs. John Moffatt sang during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ray Barnard of Sudbury, the bride was charmingly attired in a picture gown of twilight blue faille taffeta, with a shirred basque bodice, heart-shaped neckline and long bouffant skirt sweeping into a slight train. She wore a finger-tip veil of matching blue illusion caught with a halo of shirred net embroided with seed-pearls, and carried a bouquet of dream roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bessie Barnard of Sudbury, who wore garden rose faille taffeta fashioned on lines similar to the bride's, with matching renoir bonnet and a bouquet of American beauty roses. The best man was Pte. Walter Blackman and the ushers were LAC Franklin Urquhart and Merle Barnard.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hadden Hall, Toronto, where the bride's mother received wearing a printed pastel silk with white accessories and a corsage of sweet peas. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a gown of royal blue chiffon with black accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Later, the bride and groom left on a trip to Banff, Alberta. For travelling she wore a British tan print with beige wool redingote, Kolinsky furs, and matching accessories. They will live in Claresholm, Alberta.

Elsie M. Simpson Is Wed To Nelson Stanger

A charming wedding took place on Saturday in St. George's rectory when Rev. C. E. Moore united in marriage Elsie Maude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Simpson, and James Nelson Stanger, son of Mrs. N. Stanger and the late Mr. Stanger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractively dressed in a two-piece dress of turquoise blue crepe with matching turban and white accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses. Miss Helen Starr attended the bride wearing a similar frock in shell pink with matching turban and white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mr. Jack Wolstenholme attended the groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 112 James street, where the bride's mother received wearing a navy and white redingote style frock and a corsage of sweet peas and gypsophilia. The groom's mother who also received, wore a dress of coin-spot blue crepe with red accessories and a corsage of sweet peas and gypsophilia.

Later the bride and groom left for a short trip. For travelling the bride wore a black pin-stripe tailored suit with white accessories.

Grenfell Mission Aided By Garden Party

The annual garden party of the Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Mission was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. G. R. Langley, Burnham street on Friday last. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. Langley and Miss Alicia Langley read the tea cups on the lawn.

The tea table arrangements were in charge of Mrs. J. D. Collins, and Mrs. W. R. Morris and Miss M. Ross poured coffee during the afternoon. Margaret Langley, Christine Carlisle, Catharine Turner and Rosemary Blaiklock assisted in the dining room.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville and Miss B. Runnett presided over the home made cooking table and Miss Linden Hall was treasurer for the afternoon.

Articles for the bale were on exhibition and among these was a very fine quilt donated by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The proceeds will be used to further the work of the Grenfell Mission in Labrador.

DOROTHY DIX

GIRL'S SELFISH FAMILY PREVENTS MARRIAGE

If She Continues to Support Relatives She will Ruin, Not Help Them.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a boy of 23 with a good, permanent job, and I am in love with a fine girl who loves me, but will not marry me because she says that she has to support her mother and sister. She has two brothers who have left home, but neither one contributes a nickel to their mother's support. Her mother is a strong, healthy woman only 50 years old who could support herself if she would, but she won't work either out of the home or in it. When my girl comes home after a hard day's work in a store she has to help with the cooking and housework.

I can support the girl, but I cannot assume the support of her mother and sister. What can we do about the situation? E.S.

ANSWER: All that you need to solve your problem is a little common sense and some backbone. There is no reason in the world why your girl should be sacrificed to her selfish family. The mother should be forced to go to work and the sons made to contribute to the family's support. If all chipped in with a small amount, it would save the situation and you and your girl could be married and live happily ever after.

You may say that sounds very good as a theory, but that it would be hard to put it in practice. Not at all. The law enforces compulsory goodness and filial duty on those who have no inner yearnings after doing right, and the brothers would come across if they knew that they would be sued for not contributing to their mother's support and held up to shame before all who knew them. And all that the girl has to do is to say: "Mother get a job. I'm getting married and will be able to give you only part of what I earn. The balance I am going to need myself in my new life."

Destroys Their Self-Respect

Of course, the girl who lets herself be made the family goat pats herself on the back for her unselfishness and feels awfully noble about it, but about 99 times out of a 100 instead of helping her family, as she thinks she is, she is ruining them. She is making them parasites than which nothing is a lower form of animal life. She is destroying their self-respect and that is the basis of all character.

And she is keeping them from getting anywhere because she takes away from them the necessity of working and striving. Human nature being what it is, most of us will sit down on the do-nothing stool and let Georgiana do it if Georgiana is weak enough and foolish enough to let us impose upon her.

If a mother is 80 and weak and sick, she has a right to fold her hands and expect her children to support her, but a healthy woman in her fifties and sixties and seventies should be ashamed to be a burden upon them. She is just as able to work as they are. There are plenty of jobs crying out for women who know how to cook and keep house and take care of children, and she would be far happier if she had something to do to fill her mind and her hands with interest, and if she had her own pay envelope and her own fine sense of independence, than she is in being idle.

Men Are Neglectful

Dear Miss Dix: I am going with a young man who tells me that he loves me. He has been gentle, kind and thoughtful, and on Christmas and my birthdays remembers me with gifts. But he has never shown his devotion by bringing me candy, flowers or a little trinket, or taking me out anywhere to dinner or a place of amusement. Do you think this is a lack of imagination, or just plain stinginess? Would his wife merely get her bread and shelter and nothing more? Am I expecting too much to want a little special attention? HELEN.

ANSWER: I think many men neglect the little attentions because

Is YOUR JOB extra exacting?

"FILLING prescriptions is exacting work, and long hours, but no real exercise. Yet I keep fit. Here's my formula. Avoid harsh cathartics; get plenty of 'bulk' in your diet instead. I eat a bowl of delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning, they're so crisp and delicious."

SHE WORKS on an assembly line. Exacting, delicate work and not much chance for exercise. But she keeps well. She makes sure of needed "bulk" in her diet, eats satisfying Kellogg's Bran Flakes for breakfast every day.

WHEN you feel depressed, listless and headachy, you're almost sure to make mistakes. And, if your job is the exacting, nerve-tiring kind that gives you little chance for healthful exercise, you are extra liable to have these symptoms of incomplete elimination. Don't let them rob you of an alert mind and healthy body. Follow these two rules of health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits. Keep the food wastes moving promptly. But no harsh cathartics! Instead, make sure you get plenty of needed "bulk" in your diet. Start every morning with a bowl of delicious, crunchy Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Gently laxative, they help supply valuable minerals and proteins, too. Jones Looming Man to Beat In National Open

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, June 9.—(AP).— Immortal Bobby Jones, after 12 years of virtual retirement, will attempt to leap back into golfing glory in the Hale American National Open next week.

Playing some of his best golf in a decade, as indicated by a par-slashing 54 holes last week-end, he's coming here to win, although he won't admit it. Observers are ready to tab him as one of the men to beat.

(Gordon Brydsen of Toronto Mississauga, and Bob Gray of the Scarborough Club, near Toronto, will represent Canada in the tournament and will also serve as goodwill ambassadors for the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

(They will present each competitor in the Hale America tournament with an invitation to compete in the Canadian open at the Mississauga Club Aug. 6-7-8.

New golfing greats have remade the headlines since stocky Bobby collected his famous grand slam—winning the British amateur and open, United States open and amateur in succession—and announced his retirement. The Augusta Masters has been his lone annual return to competition.

The Hale America at Ridgemoor becomes the first tournament outside the Masters that Bobby has entered.

At his home in Atlanta last night Jones said he would not have entered the Hale America "if it weren't for patriotic considerations."

"I felt it my duty to accept the U.S.G.A.'s invitation and wanted to aid in raising money for the United Services Organization ano Navy Relief," he said. "My game is a little better than in the last few years, but I have no illusions of winning."

CARIBBEAN CRISIS

By EATON K. GOLDTHWAITE

HAPPY ENDING
CHAPTER XXV

Bill Talcott shed his coat and cleared the rail with a running headlong leap. Down he swept in a graceful arching dive with the startled cries of passengers and officers alike in his ears.

After the clean, warm tub of the Caribbean, New York Harbor was chilling cold and foul. But it was water. He went deep, opening his eyes. In Anegada Passage he could have seen his quarry. He couldn't here. Kicking off his shoes he came up for breath.

The black head was bobbing a short distance away; the wig must have been cemented on. Webber von Stampf was making a lot of motions but he wasn't making much time. There was a launch, though, that was taking more than casual interest in the proceedings. Its occupants were pointing and it began to swing in a wide circle.

Talcott went down again and shed his pants.

When he came up the launch was perilously near. Its purpose was evident; to come between him and his quarry. As with three points of a triangle, with the apex moving fastest, the launch closed in. And then from the rail a smoke puff showed and a shot zinged the water.

Talcott went under. Kicking, sweeping like a frog. He felt the pressure as the launch passed above him, and then directly ahead he saw the Nazi agent's thrashing feet. He was almost on them when the thrashing stopped, and the feet started upward. With a powerful kick he closed in with a smashing tackle about the knees.

The other must have been taking in a mouthful of air when his hand was wrenched from the boat-rail. Air bubbles followed him down. His struggles were violent, terrified. Talcott rolled him over. The old game. Water polo in the best accepted style. Swimming tank mayhem—his fingers closed in the waist of the Nazi's trousers and he yanked them to his knees. Then he came up beside the launch for air.

A boat was coming from the Blue Petrel, another from the Quarantine scow. Shots from the launch were being answered, with interest, from both quarters. When a yell of surprise from the launch announced that Talcott's presence had been discovered, he went down again.

Constantine-Webber-von Stampf, he that could "come and go as he willed," was on the surface a short distance away, attempting to rid himself of the burgeoning pants. Bill Talcott gave him a new source of worry by hooking into his collar and starting to swim straight down.

Utterly powerless, the man who had offered June Paterson's life in exchange for paper, followed. His wig was gone. His eyes were distended in terror and great bubbles arose from his mouth. And as they went ever deeper, the ineffectual struggles ceased.

And then Talcott turned. The red bottom of the launch was gone; the white of the lifeboat had taken its place. Grinning, he grasped the baron's chin and pulled him to the surface.

* * *

When Bill Talcott came up in dry clothing, she was waiting. And so was her cousin. Her cousin said something that sounded like "Beautiful offensive. Couldn't have done better myself."

But that didn't matter so much. What did matter was that she sighed and said, "You are wonderful," as though she'd lost an argument with herself.

And although Captain Pringle and Leonard Halsey too had come up by that time, it was mainly to her that he said, "I suspected Constantine and Webber of being the same person when I realized that I had never seen the two of them at the same time. The night after I was attacked I came down from the boat deck and almost fell over him, supposedly asleep in a chair.

"He had come down from New York as Webber, a tailor on his first vacation in 20 years. Yet, instead of taking the trip through the Islands, he stopped over in Saint Thomas. That gave him opportunity to contact Martha Swenson—Swantzig, his agent in Martinique. In order to check up on Struthers the pair of them had Jackson, the smuggler, drop them at Abas Island to give credence to the girl's story that she was a refugee. But the professor's being there just didn't click, and I'd have suspected him then if I hadn't had a few things of my own to worry about.

"You see, he had taken advantage of a technicality in the Federal Chemical setup, the business of having the auditor take over when a shortage was discovered. He worked it carefully, getting his operative in as Old Man Winters' private secretary; sending von Stampf down on a different boat to make contact at the island so that MacDowell and I could be disposed of on the way home. They wanted to make it appear as if I was so guilty I'd killed MacDowell and then jumped overboard to swim ashore. They killed Sebastien because they wanted him out of the way. They could brook no interference in what they planned to do on Abas Island.

Halsey said, "I'm beginning to have an idea what that was. I recall that at the time I thought it was rather strange Struthers should order 500 barrels of oil before he'd even set foot on the island."

"Exactly. The plan was to make Abas Island a base. Acting as conservator of the company's assets, Struthers could carry on the business as usual. He could order double the amount of oil and food he needed and have Jackson transship the surplus to raiders lying off the coast.

"Their biggest trouble was that they overdid it. Instead of making up some kind of a report which might have worried me plenty, he was so damned sure that Halsey would deliver the report straight to Winters' he just filled the envelope with plans of defense works that had been traced in invisible ink by Martha Swenson — Swantzig. She didn't dare bring them into New York for fear of discovery, and Baron von Stampf could never be sure how long his disguise as Constantine would serve him. So Halsey was made the goat, and when I broke into his cabin and stole the report from him, they hit their second snag.

"From then on von Stampf had

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The Girls' Softball League will trot out two new teams tonight for the approval of the fans when the Porcelain and Brinton Carpet outfits will clash in a league game at the Bowl at 7 o'clock sharp. Your guess is as good as mine as to the lineups but both clubs are reported to have gathered together likely squads of ball tossers and there will be a lot of interest in the kind of ball dished up by the newcomers to the league. The C.G.E. and Westclox teams have been seen in action and the fans are anxious to get a line on the other half of the loop so they can start doing a little speculating as to which clubs are likely to make the playoffs. If Porcelain and Brintons come up with strong clubs then the league is undoubtedly due for a good season as the Westclox and C.G.E. outfits are well balanced. Tonight will tell the story and there will undoubtedly be a big crowd of fans on hand to welcome the new additions to the loop. There will only be two girls' games this week, the other contest being scheduled for Friday night.

* * * * * *

Soldiers and Luckies will provide the excitement in the City Softball League at the Bowl Wednesday night. Both clubs need a win and they will undoubedly have their strongest possible lineups in action. Either Ken Fleming or Irish Kilfoyle will get the pitching call for the club from the Military Training Centre while Lewis is the likely selection for the Luckies with Patterson doing the receiving. With the Royals out in front with no marks in the loss column and the Plazas right at their heels with three straight wins, the Soldiers want a victory to get up there with the leaders. On the other hand the Luckies dropped their first game and they are looking for a win at the expense of the Soldiers. The Military Training Centre is liable to bob up with a few new players but even without them will be tough opposition. Luckies however say they can play a lot better ball than they showed in their opening game with Plazas. Tomorrow night's argument should be interesting all the way.

* * * * * *

The Juveniles gave another battling display in their league fixture with Plazas last night. Getting off on the wrong foot when the hockey squad scored six runs on three hits and a flock of walks in the frist inning, the kids kept on fighting and over the last half of the game had the satisfaction of holding the winners scoreless and of pushing across three runs themselves. Young Warren Smith did a neat job of relief hurling, stopping the Plazas cold when he took over in the fourth with two runs in that frame, a runner on second and no one out. Smith's slow ball pitching not only retired the hockey gang without any further scoring in that frame but also shut them out for the balance of the game. Detlor, Leether, Carpenter and Greatrix all earned brackets for some fine fielding. Incidentally the Juveniles are to be strengthened by the transfer of young Bob Crowe from the Plazas. Crowe pitched for the Juveniles last season and should be a big help to them in their remaining City League battles.

The Yanks Again

In a game that was of the picnic variety the New York Yanks won another decision over the Cleveland Indians yesterday taking the decision 11 to 10 in eleven innings. Both clubs started the ball game as if they were playing cricket and at the end of the third the Yanks were in front 8 to 6. Cleveland tied it up in the fourth but the New Yorkers came back with a brace in the sixth to go in front 10 to 8. The Indians finally tied up the argument in the ninth only to lose out in the eleventh when Relief Pitcher Tom Ferrick heaved the ball over Kenny Keltner's head after fielding a bunt and the winning run scored from second. Each club used three pitchers and Fordham Johnny Murphy, in the fireman's role won his third game of the season for the Yanks, after Donald and Lindell had both been in action. Cleveland started with Jim Bagby, then called on Al Milnar and had Ferrick on the firing line from the ninth on. Joe Gordon kept his consecutive hitting streak going, yesterday being the 25th consecutive game in which he has hit safely and Bud Hassett ran his string to 20 games in a row. Jeff Heath had two homers for Cleveland but the real hitting hero of the engagement was Third Baseman Keltner of the Indians who had a triple, double and three singles in six trips to the plate.

There was just one game in the National League and it served to give the Cincinnati Reds a chance to sweep the entire six game series with the Boston Braves. The Reds took the decision 3 to 1 with Paul Derringer giving his best pitching exhibition of the season. As a matter of fact for eight innings Derringer pitched perfect baseball. Not a run and not a hit had been made off his delivery until the final frame. Then just when everybody was figuring on a no-hitter for the veteran, the first of the season in either loop Lew Gremp, Holmes and Sisti all stepped up to the plate for the Braves and whaled out singles to give Boston a run and spoil Derringer's chances for the hall of fame. Earley and Salvo pitched for the Braves and the Reds got to them for 10 hits in winning their sixth consecutive game from the crestfallen Braves who only, a short time ago were in second spot.

Losing Streak Broken

Toronto Maple Leafs have been doing some very impotent batting on their road trip and as a result the club hasn't been winning many ball games since leaving the home grounds. However, the Leafs managed to pull off a win at the expense of the Jersey City Giants last night when they defeated them 6 to 3 to end a losing streak that had mounted up to five games. Even at that the Leafs were outhit 11 to 7 by the Jerseys but this time they managed to mix up the slender assortment of blows with nine bases on balls to pile up a winning margin. Much of the credit for the win goes to Harry Shuman who led a rescue expedition out there in the third inning after Beckman had faltered and held Jersey City under control for the rest of the engagement.

At long last the Peterborough Golf and Country Club managed to get their official opening completed Saturday, after several postponements and it was a very successful affair. Jim Wharry, Orley DeGraw and E. Braund were winners in the sweepstake events while Bob Abbott had the satisfaction of turning in low gross for the day with a 78. The annual dinner, a most enjoyable event, was staged in the evening. With the coming of better weather the courses in this district will gradually dry out and soon the scores will begin to reflect the improvement in conditions. Up to now the golfers have been working under difficulties.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Jimmy Dykes defies a New York writer to name five real top notch pitchers in the American League....Now it is the turn of Ted Williams to slump off in his hitting. The Boston powerhouse has not been blasting in many runs in last few games...Reg Leether's stop of a hard hit ball by Tommy Parsons in last night's game with Plazas was a feature. Leether is just back in the game after having broken a finger but he did not let his injury prevent him knocking down a torrid drive and throwing out the hitter. It cut Plazas out of a run for there were two out at the time and Eddie Starr was on third base by virtue of a triple....Derringer did not issue a pass or allow a hit in the first eight innings of yesterday's game against Boston and then the Braves blasted three hits in the ninth to rob him of a no-hitter....Julian Wade was back with Plazas last night after being out of town for a while....Luckies play two nights in succession. They meet Soldiers tomorrow night and Royals on Thursday....They had three umpires in last night's game. Bob Batley opened behind the bat and Pat Calladine took over at the end of the first inning....Tony Golab is playing soccer now. Canada's No. 1 athlete is a good workman at about anything in the sport line.

TORONTO, June 9 — (CP). — Ed Kinzinger, operator at The Canadian Press, clicked for a perfect cribbage hand in a game after work early to-day. Kinzinger held three fives and the jack of clubs and cut the five of clubs to give himself a 29 count. Incidentally he barely escaped a 'skunk.'"

Plazas Defeat Juveniles; Third Victory

Plazas won their third straight game in the City League series at the Bowl Monday night when they defeated the Juveniles 12 to 3.

The hockey squad took advantage of a wild streak on the part of Bill Jones, starting pitcher for the Juveniles, to score six runs in the opening inning and that proved ample lead, although it was a good ball game after that bad start.

Tom Parsons pitched effective ball for the winners, mixing a blazing fast ball with a puzzling curve, and outside of two innings had the youngsters pretty well under control, retiring nine of them by the strike out route.

Jones who started for the losers was not hit so hard but his control was bad and passes got him into a peck of trouble. Warren Smith went to the rescue in the fourth inning and from then on to the end of the game shut out the Plazas with a slow ball that had the winners' attack slowed down completely. The Juveniles defensive work picked up too as the game went along and they came up with some fine plays. Starr Detlor, first baseman for the youngsters, made a neat running catch of a high fly back of first and doubled up Parsons when he tried to go to third after the catch. Jack Carpenter grabbed a bunch of flies in centre field in fine style and Bill Greatrix romped over the left field foul line to snare a foul off the bat of Ned Vitarelli. Reg. Leether who has been out of the game with a broken finger knocked down a hot shot from Tom Parsons and threw out the ruhner to retire the side, cutting off a run as Eddie Starr was on third at the time.

Heal walked to start the first inning for Plazas and after Kingdon had flied out Crowe also strolled. Blewett singled to centre to send Heal in. Ellis walked to fill the bases and Vitarelli singled to short to score Crowe, Godfrey walked to force in Blewett. Starr's fly to Greatrix allowed Ellis to go home. Parsons walked and then Heal singled into right to score Vitarelli and Godfrey. Kingdon finally ended the inning by striking out.

Plazas made it 7 to 0 by scoring with two out in the second. Ellis got a triple when his hot shot to right hit a post and rebounded toward the infield, and he went home when Vitarelli dropped a double into left.

In the third the winners got three more, again starting with two out. After Parsons and Heal had been retired Kingdon singled to right and Crowe doubled over third. Blewett's single to right scored Kingdon and Crowe. White dropped a fly from the bat of Ellis and Blewett registered. Vitarelli then flied to left.

In the fourth Plazas finally drove Jones out of the box. Godfrey walked for the third time and Starr doubled to left. Parsons lifted another double on top of the cars, sending in Godfrey and Starr. Smith went to the hill top and Jones to second base. Heal hoisted to Detlor. Kingdon also lifted one to the same player and Parsons was out trying to go to third on the play.

Juveniles finally scored in the fifth. White opened with a single to centre and Anderson walked. Carpenter struck out. White went to third on a wild pitch and scored on Garvey's fly to Johnny Godfrey. Jones singled through short but Leether rolled to Don Crowe.

Juveniles came through with the last scoring of the game in the sixth. With two away Smith bunted safely and White singled to centre, Anderson's double to left scored Smith and White came home when Jack Carpenter beat out a tap to Parsons. Garvey flied to Blewett to end the inning.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

To-morrow, with a half-holiday coming up, we will hold two local tournaments. The first one is set for 1.30 o'clock and it's for mixed doubles—choose your partner. The second one will be held in the evening at 7.30 o'clock and is for mixed rinks, and the draw will be made off the blackboard. In both instances the fee is 25c per bowler and remember, "please be on time."

With regard to last night's schedule games we don't know much about them. We were too busy entertaining Jack Sedgewick's quartette. In fact we were awfully busy, but as the score shows, it was no dice. But looking over the score sheet we see that the Elliott-Carlisle game had to go an extra end, and that always means a good game. The other highlight was the McDonald-Skinner affair. With two ends to go, Mr. Skinner was down seven shots, but he made a sensational runner in the sixteenth end to pick up the 'kitty' and trail it back a few feet and when the boys came out of the huddle there was the Skinner rink lying seven great, big, round, life-size shots, tieing up the game and maybe Mr. McDonald's face wasn't red. But on the last end the McDonald-Donaldson combination came through with one shot but it was a good finish. The other games were more or less one-sided. Anyway it was a grand night to bowl and those little beggars who 'fly through the air' and take the odd nip at you, were not as severe as usual.

Red Sox Winners Over Wambats

The St. Peter's Senior League playoffs opened with the Red Sox walloping the Wambats 18-10 for the first win in a best of three series. The outstanding fielding features were supplied by Conroy for the losers and Rudkins for the winners, who pulled off the finest catch of the evening, running from deep left centre, covering a lot of ground to nab off a long fly which was labelled for a homer. Cacavella was steady on the mound, allowing only ten hits. Joe Rochetta, popular local athlete, umpired in fine style behind the bat, while Murphy worked on the bases.

TORONTO BREAKS 5-GAME LOSING STREAK, DOWNS JERSEYS 6 TO 3

Great Pitching By Shuman Turns the Trick

By The Associated Press.

The first of the early summer's crucial International League games is on the schedule for tonight with Montreal, second place by 3½ games, invading the den of the pace-setting Newark Bears.

Although they have won only two of the previous meetings with Montreal Royals, the Bears were clattering along at a .732 clip a week ago when a five-game losing streak set in.

They righted themselves Sunday by sweeping a twin bill with Buffalo and now have 32 victories and 16 defeats.

Montreal, which annexed both ends of a doubleheader in the clubs' first 1942 meeting, has 29 triumphs in 49 contests for a .592 rating.

Both teams were idle yesterday in preparation for the series.

All the remaining clubs were active, however, with Toronto breaking a five-game losing streak by downing Jersey City 6-3; Baltimore edging out Buffalo 4-3; and Rochester continuing its dominance of Syracuse 3-1.

It was the first loss in six starts for the Little Giants, who outhit the victors 11-7 but couldn't find the right combination with runners on base.

Brilliant relief hurling by Harry Shuman, who took up the mound duties in the third inning, was the deciding factory. Shuman didn't allow Jersey City a run the remainder of the way.

Rochester made it three straight over Syracuse, primarily because Ben Wade issued the Red Wings eight bases on balls. He also was tagged for six hits. Jim Ripple pounded out a single and a double for the winners.

Del Jones' single with the bases loaded in the last half of the ninth drove in a run and decided the Baltimore-Buffalo contest in favor of the Orioles.

One of the winners' 12 hits was Jack Conway's home run. Ed Kobesky and Rookie Rocco had fourmasters for the losers.

Golab Turns Out In Soccer Role Boots Only Goal

By VERN DeGEER

TORONTO, June 9.—Tony Golab, Canada's "Athlete of the Year" for 1941, is rapidly becoming the "Athlete of the R.C.A.F."

Following initial air force training at Eglinton, and elementary training at Windsor, the former Sarnia and Ottawa gridiron powerhouse is now completing his course at Ottawa's Uplands school.

Golab moved out of the gridiron picture last fall to appear as a boxer, basketballer and hockey player while taking his I.T.S. course at Eglington.

Now he shows up at Uplans as a soccer player, no less. He booted home the only goal for the Air Crew in a 1-1 tie with Headquarters in the recent opening game of the Uplands Soccer League.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, June 9. — (AP) — Law . . . and order? . . . After the Louisiana boxing commission suspended matchmaker Lew Raymond and Manager Broadway Johnny Cox for talking out of turn, the commissioners learned that Raymond couldn't be suspended because he never was licensed and Cox couldn't legally be set down except for an "offence against boxing." . . . So they called the whole thing off . . . Might be a good idea for the New York Commission . . . and in baseball, scribes point out that since President Alvin Gardner of the Texas League decided a few years ago that Umpires shouldn't act as peacemakers when the boys began punching, there have been only half as many fights.

One-minute sports page.

Report kicking around Detroit is that Notre Dame will play a big game, maybe against Georgia Tech, in Briggs stadium. . . Booker Beckwith, who looked like a first class heavyweight prospect a few months ago, is playing a saxaphone in a Gary, Ind., orchestra.

They tell more stories than you can believe about happenings in the Kitty League, but until further notice this should stand as the error record: the other night John Pavoris, Fulton's rookie third baseman, fielded a slow bounder. . . as he straightened up, his cap flew off and he threw the ball right into the cap. . . . Together they sailed over the pitcher's head, grazed the umpire and landed halfway between the mound and first base . . . The base runners were too surprised to run and the first baseman didn't know where to look . . Pavoris finally dashed across and retrieved the pill himself, but not until two runs had scored.

Fairaris Picked In the Shevlin

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 9—Indications today at Aqueduct were that R. S. McLaughlin's Fairaris, who tied Belmont's nine-furlong track mark in the Peter Pan Handicap, will be the main attraction in Wednesday's Shevlin Stakes renewal. The Shevlin is exclusively for three-year-olds, over the mile and a sixteenth route, and the Queens County Jockey Club endows it with $5,000.

Fairaris was not eligible for the Belmont Stakes, but is to meet Shut Out and Alsab in the $25,000 added Dwyer, June 20, at Aqueduct, if the three train satisfactorily.

3 Run Dead Heat 37 Cent Horse Wins First Race

ST. BONIFACE, Man., June 9 — (CP)—There was plenty of excitement at the eighth day at Whittier Park yesterday. Outsiders walked off with the money in the first three races, a 37-cent horse won its first start, and there was a triple deadheat for second money in the fourth race.

Omar's Gift, the much-publicized horse owned by A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy, secretary of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Dominion champions, won its first start in racing. The 2-year-old brown filly which Kennedy purchased from R. J. Speers at Whittier Park Stock Farm early this season, won the second race by running the four-furlong sprint in .49 3-5, to pay off in figures of $15.70, $8.30 and $3.40. Jockey G. L. Smith was in the saddle.

Kennedy came about the horse one morning during workouts. He was watching the early birds when Speers came up and asked him which horse he liked. "That one," said Scotty. "It's yours for whatever you have in your pocket," came back Speers. "But I only have thirty-seven cents," replied Scotty. "It's a deal," retorted Speers, much to Scotty's surprise.

Added excitement came in the fourth race when fans experienced the unique triple dead heat. Pagan Cort, Drums and Saucy Maid all hit the finishing wire together, to post up the first three-horse deadheat in Winnipeg racing history in a long time. The race was won by Sweet Olive, owned by F. E. Arnold of Grand River, Iowa.

Reds Sprinting Derringer Nips Braves 3-1

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Houdini at his best could not have turned the tables on Boston Braves as swiftly and completely as Cincinnati Reds performed the trick this week-end.

Before Friday the Reds were floundering futilely in the Second Division of the National League and the Braves, who had been a bold second for quite a spell, still were holding determinedly to third place.

Then Casey Stengel led his sterling band into an ambush at Cincinnati and in four days the Reds beat the Braves six times—lifting Cincinnati to third place and dropping Boston to a groggy fifth.

The Reds completed their sweep of the series yesterday with a 3-1 triumph on the three-hit hurling of big Paul Derringer. For eight innings the stout-hearted righthander had a no-hit game in his grasp and the only Boston player to get on base reached first through an error in the opening inning. Derringer finally was tapped for three singles and a run in the ninth but didn't lose his grasp on victory.

It was Derringer's second success of the season and there was little doubt that the victory was more desired than a no-hitter. Paul looked good in the spring, but his infant son died just before the campaign opened and hard luck has dogged his trail ever since.

He was ill for a while and didn't win his first game till May 25 and last week was beaten 2-1 in 10 innings by the Phils after allowing only three hits and no earned runs in the regulation nine innings.

Yanks Edge Indians 11-10.

There was only one other game scheduled in the major leagues yesterday and in this New York Yankees squeezed out an 11-10 decision over Cleveland Indians when relief pitcher Tom Ferrick made a wild throw on Joe Gordon's sacrifice bunt with two on base in the 11th inning.

It was a suitable payoff for a ragged ball game in which each club used three pitchers and the world champions made 16 hits and three errors to Cleveland's 15 hits and two miscues.

Ken Keltner made five hits and Jeff Heath produced his seventh and eighth home runs of the year and singled home the tying run in the ninth inning after Keltner had tripled.

These sparkplugs helped the Tribe tally four runs in the first inning, but Jim Bagby couldn't suppress the Yanks, who rallied for five runs in the second.

Cleveland could have recaptured second place in the American League from the idle Detroit Tigers by winning, but the Yanks made it their 26th triumph in 31 games and four out of five in the series with the Tribe.

As a sideline Joe Gordon stretched his hitting streak to 25 games and Buddy Hassett extended his to 20.

Apprentice Boots 17 Home, 9 Days

STANTON, Del., June 9—(AP)—An apprentice jocked who rode his first winner less than ten months ago is giving turfdom something to talk about these days. He's 18-year-old Eddie Wielander, who in nine days of racing at Delaware Park has brought home 17 winners.

Wielander has been in the money 35 times in 57 attempt. He has finished second 11 times and grabbed the show spot on seven occasions.

Eddie was in the money in seven of the eight races last Saturday and yesterday he crossed the finishing line first in three straight races. Striving for his fourth straight win of the day Wielander was involved in a two-horse spill and was thrown to the muddy track. He got up unhurt but finished out of the money in the last two races.

Eddie weighs 104 pounds.

15 Candidates Are Confirmed

APSLEY, June 9.—(ENS). —Sa. Georges parish church was the scene of an impressive and beautiful service on Friday evening at 8 p.m. when 15 candidates were presented by the rector, Rev. Cathcart, to Archbishop Derwyn Owen, Bishop of Toronto. Before the service the Bishop was present at supper in the St George's Hall, where the candidates, their parents and the church wardens and other officers of the four churches had met, to enjoy a bountiful meal prepared by the ladies of St. Georges, Apsley.

The service at the church was taken by the Archbishop, assisted by Rev. Cathcart and Rev. C. A. G. Spence, former rector. Twelve girls and three boys were confirmed during the sevice, coming fom St Paul's, Lasswade, St. Andrews, Owenbrook, and St. Stephen's, Chandōs, as well as St. George's, Apsley. The sermon was on the service of Confirmation and was addressed to all communicants as well as the candidates, urging the members to welcome them into their work and activities. The congregation was large, entering into the singing and responses. Communion service was held on Sunday evening, during which the candidates from St. George's received their first communion.

Personals.

Guests on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Lean were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lean, Mrs. W. Hales, Mr. and Mrs. Pres, Miss M. Hales, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ointment, Norwood, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Lean.

Mr. and Mrs. S. McCauley with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitmore.

Mrs. Anthony Downing has spent the past few weeks at Parry Sound, reurning home on Saturday.

Miss Doris Downing left on Sunday to spend the summer with her sister in Parry Sound.

Mrs. Driver is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Downing this week.

Mrs. S. Windsor, Miss Audrey Windsor, Miss Elsie Tanner, Oshawa, spent the week-end at their home in the village.

Mr. W. Reynolds, Mr. Bert and Ross Reynolds left for Toronto en route for the west where they will be working for the summer.

Somewhere on the Pacific Ocean this impressive picture, approved by U.S. navy censors, was made from the upper deck of a U.S. destroyer. It is a convoy, with seven vessels showing here, making its way to a port in the south Pacific Ocean. The convoy carried men and materials safely to its objective the better to wage war on the Axis.

Community Friendship Discussed by W.M.S.

WESTWOOD, June 9.—(ESS). —The June meeting of St. Andrews Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs Stephen Elmhirst, with a large attendance.

The president, Mrs. J. Clysdale, opened the meeting and conducted the business session. The word 'spirit' was chosen for the July roll call.

Mrs. E. W. Sargent took the chair for a program on 'community friendship' and the worship period.

Mrs. Clysdale gave a reading, 'Turning Dugouts into Classrooms.' Miss Blanche Elmhirst gave a piano solo, 'The Sweet By-and-By.' A reading, 'Welcome Stranger,' was given by Mrs. Audrey Wood. A playlet, entitled 'Adventures in Friendship,' was presented by Mesdames A. Wood, H. Wilson, R. Douglas J. G. Manley, J. Sargent and E. Sargent.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. The quarterly tea was served at the close by Mrs. S. Elmhirsts group.

Hostess Tea Held By Millbrook Aid

MILLBROOK, June 9—(ENS).—A pleasant event of Wednesday afternoon was the annual hostess tea held in the basement of Grace Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society the president, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, and vice-president, Mrs. I. W. Larmer, extending a hearty welcome to the more than one hundred and sixty guests in attendance.

The large room was lovely with baskets of fragrant summer blossoms, and the two long hostess tables in the centre of the floor, had also silver baskets of flowers flanked with tall pink candles burning in silver holders, on the lace cloths. Pouring tea were Mrs. A. S. Hall, Mrs. Robert Wright, Mrs. James Kennedy and Mrs. J. H. Paul and tea assistants were Mrs. Melville Ball, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, and Miss Gladys Coyte.

Miss Mina Gibson acted as cashier, and included in the reception committee were Mrs. J. D. Armstrong and Mrs. Z. Seaton, while showing the guests to their respective groups were Misses Muriel Ball and Mary Eakins. The hostesses for the several groups, each of which comprised at least twenty guests, were: Mrs. Milton Fallis and Mrs. J. M. Armstrong, Mrs. V. R. Hunter and Mrs. T. H. Ingram, Mrs. Earl Armstongr and Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. G. Bothwell and Mrs. D. L. Armstrong Mrs. C. Thorndyke and Mrs. H. W. Ball, Miss Mina Gibson and Mrs. Frank Gray, Miss Geraldine Whyte and Mrs. E. L. Armstrong, Mrs. George McKnight and Mrs. M. W. Kinsman.

The musical program which followed the service of tea was much enjoyed, the selections including vocal solos by Miss Beryl Challice, with Mrs. E. Wilson of Garden Hill accompanying, and by Miss Winnifred Gainer of Centreville, with Mrs. Gordon Muspratt as accompanist; a piano solo by little Sylvia Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Hunter, who was gold medalist in her class at the last Durham County Musical Festival; and piano solo by Mrs. W. E. Massey-Cooke, a newcomer to the village, whose musical ability is becoming widely known and keenly appreciated.

Fifty dollars was realized from the tea, which closed with "God Save the King," the final one for the village to be held on Thursday, June 11, in St. Thomas' Parish Hall, with the Anglican Women's Guild as the hostess organization.

Conscription Debate

cal year for refunding and other purposes was given second reading after a comparatively short discussion on the preliminary resolution.

This is a formal measure passed at nearly every session to enable the minister to carry on normal borrowing and refunding operations.

The House also adopted a resolution ratifying a convention entered into with the United States last March 4 and made public at that time, concerning rates of income tax on non-residents, designed to avoid double taxation and prevent tax evasion.

To-day the program in the House calls for resumption of the discussion in committee on the War Appropriation Bill until the measure is disposed of.

This will be followed by further consideration in committee of the whole on the borrowing bill and if that is disposed of Resources Minister Crerar will again seek approval of his bill to amend the Alberta Natural Resources Act— approving an agreement between the Alberta government and certain oil companies involving some increases in royalties.

Cuch To Clear.

Disposal of all these measures would "clear the decks" for debate on the Mobilization Act amendment, Mr. Crerar said last night in announcing to-day's program.

Finance Minister Ilsley told the House he could not proceed with the war damage insurance bill as planned yesterday because it was presenting "new difficulties" every day.

He said he was conferring with Fisheries Minister Michaud in an effort to meet some of the requests made for coverage of fishing boats.

Yesterday's debate on the War Appropriation Bill brought up an interchange on the liquor business and Mr. Ilsley told the House that those advocating a change in the laws governing this traffic should address their arguments to the provinces.

He said the liquor business had been taxed heavily for years and this tax had been increased since the war by 100 per cent. and more on some varieties.

Defends Beer Shipments

Mr. Ilsley took to task some who "speak sarcastically" of beer being sent to the soldiers fighting on the Libyan desert and said they should be making better use of their time.

He was replying to a question from Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) who asked why liquor consumption was not curtailed when tea, coffee and sugar were being rationed.

The minister said liquor was not in the same category as the rationed commodities. Its manufacture consumed little of war essentials and its importation from Britain occupied shipping space that was not needed for war purposes on the westward voyage.

Planes for a road to link Prince Rupert, B.C., with the interior of British Columbia were mentioned by several members.

J. R. MacNicol (Con. Toronto-Davenport) said the road should be extended through the mountains via Vanderhoof to connect with the Alaska highway being built from Fort St. John.

Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) called the road vitally important to Prince Rupert.

Hon. Grote Stirling (Con. Yale) asked for completion of the missing link in the Hope to Princeton railway in British Columbia.

Labor Minister Mitchell said in reply that the government "was going to press with vigor the road-building policy in operation at the present time." There was a shortage of machinery but he said the "slack" would be taken up in the road building camps.

are hopeful that the situation will not require such drastic action as I suggested in the House. With respect to gas, of course that is a situation over which the government has very little control. We strongly recommend that all furnaces that can be converted should be converted because we doubt very much whether adequate supplies can be furnished for the coming winter."

Last May 20 Mr. Howe told the House there would be no fuel oil available for furnaces in Canada next winter. The day following, however, he modified this statement, explaining an effort would be made to have oil available for furnaces which could nnt be converted to other fuel.

Music Pupils Give Recital

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9 (ENS). —Amid a lovely floral backgrounds predominated by peonies, iris and spirea the pupils of Mrs. A. G. Watson, talented local vocalist and pianist, presented their annual recital before an appreciative audience in St. John's Sunday School Hall on Friday evening. Though every one of the young artists gave a splendid performance one of the outstanding numbers was given by Francis DeCarrol, one of the four vocalists of the evening, who was recently awarded the County Music Association's gold medal as tenor soloist. He rendered two numbers, with this teacher Mrs. Watson as accompanist. First of these was Bohm's "Still As The Night," followed by Schubert's "Ave Maria." Ross Richardson, another popular vocalist, also rendered two numbers, "Hills of Home" and "Passing By," which were equally well received. The other two vocalists were sopranos, Patsy Robertson who sang "Fairy Pipers" by Brewer and Brahm's "Lullaby," while Miss Isabel Irwin of Seymour East gave "Page's Road Song," by Novello, and "Break O' Day" by Sanderson. Of the piano numbers, one of the most difficult and brilliantly executed was Beethoven's "Sonata, Op. 10, No. 1," by Miss Patricia Ironside.

Following is the program, during which a silver collection amounting to $24 was taken for the British War Victims' Fund. Piano solos by Doreen Rowe, "Lullaby," Kennedy; Ann Hay, "Cuckoo Call," Bragdon; Jack Spencer, "Tumbling Clown,"; June Ames, "The Blue Bird," Slater; Bobbie Spencer, "The Bogey Man," Slater; Helen Smith, "The Merry-Go-Round," Berlin; Phyllis Brown, "A Jolly Dance," Furze; Verna Rabethge, "The Frolics," Von Wilm; Cozette Archer, "A Maid Churning," Crist; Thomas Fox, "A Jolly Roger," Eckstein; Joan Bale, "Country Dance," Eckstein; Billie Scott, "A Whistling Boy," Crist; Lorraine Grills, 'Little Burlesque," Lemont; Leila Mitchell, "Minuet in B Flat," Mozart; Marian Oddie, "Ballade," Burgmuller; James Bell, "Sicilienne," Schumann; Goldie Glenn, "The Two Froggie," Cramm; Arthur Labrash, "L'Herondelle," Burgmueller; Jean Campbell, "Curious Story," Heller; Bobbie Bennett, "Sonatina, Op. 36," Clemente; Shirley Burgis, 'Scherzo," Schubert; Dorothy Spencer, "Butterflies," Lege; Betty McKeown, "Aragonaise," Massenet; Margaret Rutledge, "Fuer Elise," Beethoven; Evelyn Stephens, "Morceau Characterisque," Wollenhaupt; Jack Bleecker, 'Valse Arabesque," Lack; Diana Ironside, "Valse in A Flat, Op. 64," Chopin; Patricia Ironside, "Sonata, Op. 10, No. 1," Beethoven.

Australians Manufacture Own Heavy Tanks

Newly arrived Yanks were treated to a motorized show that included a display of this Australian manufactured heavy tank designed by Col. W. D. Watson of Australia.

American Tanks Do Great Job In Libyan War

By EDWARD KENNEDY

With the British Forces in the Libyan Desert, June 9 (AP)—Here in the vast desert filled with the smoke and noise of battle the importance of the United States as the arsenal of the democracies is becoming felt as never before.

While American forces are not yet among the combatants, the United States is participating in almost every other way. American fighting planes and bombers streak across the skies in the hands of British, South African and Australian pilots and the few Americans in the R.A.F.

There are American trucks hauling supplies—canned vegetables from the Eastern shore of Maryland, canned potatoes from Indiana and much other produce.

And perhaps more important still there are those twenty-eight-ton medium tanks which British crews call the "General Grants" — the tanks which have saved the day more than once in the present onslaught of German armor against the British lines.

Repair Units Improved

United States military observers are in battle and technicians are right behind it, while in the Egyptian bases an American supply organization helps keep the material rolling ahead.

In the long supply columns moving continually to the front with the enormous requirements of this campaign almost every truck is an American truck. After the last campaign it was realzied that one of the greatest British disadvantages was the lack of a tank-recovery organization comparable to that of the Germans. This situation has been improved largely with American equipment.

Each unit consists of a powerful ten-wheeled car with a trailer. Runners are let down from the rear of the trailer and a power winch pulls the disabled tank aboard. It then goes to a repair shop, getting over the bumpy desert at a speed as high as 20 miles an hour, or 30 miles over flat stretches.

British forces are delighted with the Grant tanks, though they point out certain weaknesses. Members of one crack British Hussar regiment were particularly enthusiastic about the big machines.

Stopped Shell, Kept on Going

"It has the one thing we needed most in the last campaign — a gun big enough to knock out the heaviest tanks the Germans have here without any question. And its armor is as tough as you could want. One took a shell from a German 88-mm. cannon at a little over 1,000 yards right on the nose and kept going."

Among those with the highest praise for the Grant were six members of one crew whose tank, running under terrific close range, enemy fire, had a hole rent through the side runner and its periscope blown off. They suffered only one minor casualty and their tank already is in the workshop being prepared for battle.

"We owe our lives to the toughness of that tank," one man said.

Among the Grant's weak points in the opinion of these men who fight in them, is the fact that its 77-mm. guh is on the side rather than on a turret and therefore does not have a complete circular traverse, but can shoot only ahead and to the side. This is especially important in cases where the tank becomes disabled and must continue to fight as a pillbox.

FIVE JOIN THE BATTERY.

Five more recruits joined the 4th Field Battery RCA (RF) at their parade last night. They were G. W. Webb E. A. Green, H. Glenn, R. G. Panter and J. D. Dorrington. Several more Bridgenorth men are expected to be on hand for a medical at the Battery parade Wednesday night.

WITH 4TH BRIGADE.

Taken on strength of Headquarters 4th Field Brigade RCA (RF) recently were G. M. Ingersoll as 2/Lt. to be orderly officer. On the same staff, R.Q.M.S. Jas. Weyer has been promoted to Regimental Sgt. Major.

THEY STILL WEAR 'EM.

A tall yell dressed young man has been sauntering through the downtown section during the past few days wearing a straw hat. It is not a snap brim Palm Beach, but one of those flat type hard straws that were so popular a few years back, and still rate a classification with that type of headgear in the sensible bracket.

THE RIGHT IDEA.

A husky student from the Peterborough Collegiate now working on a farm in this district, as his contribution to the war effort, walked into a store for a pair of rubber boots this week. That's quite ordinary, but the news part of the story is, that he brought his old pair of knee rubber boots, and dropped them into the barrel for salvage.

PANZERS IN THE GARDEN.

Aphids, thrips and slugs, and other groundling enemies have joined forces these evenings with mosquito panzers in assault tactics on a gnat and midge scale that have been noticeably successful. The slugs and cut worms or whatever they are go after the young tomato and cabbage plants, and the aphids and thrips attack rose buds and tender leaves. Meanwhile their ground work is proceeding under a mosquito "ceiling" or umbrella in the best approved methods of the Axis. And believe it or not, the winged stingers have cleared out more than one garden of late, mainly in the evening clashes.

CITY OF HONOR.

"Sevastopol is living up to its name," N. Douros of the Churchill restaurant said this morning after glancing over the headlines. "It is from the Greek and the full word should be Sevastopolis. Students will see the association in metropolis, a large ctiy, for example, and Sevastopolis means a city of great honor."

Employment roll of the Canadian General Electric Company, including Genelco, is now around 4,650 and is expected to continue upward past the 6,000 mark.

REPAIRING GRANDSTAND

Work is progressing on the repairs to the main grandstand at Riverside Park. The east end of the structure, considered unsafe, is being removed and the balance of the stand will be available for use by softball fans when the work is concluded.

TRUCK, CAR COLLIDE

When Arthur Moffatt, 169 Prince street, driving his car north on Water street, stopped south of the Duffus Garage to pick up a passenger, a south-bound truck driven by Joseph Farr, 217½ Charlotte street, making a left turn into a laneway struck the rear left fender of Moffatt's car. The damage was not extensive.

SUMMER DRESS

Soldiers from the Training Centre look cool and well dressed in the recent issue of summer uniforms. The boys donned summer dress on Saturday, and issue was a bit late owing to the fact that there was not sufficient number of puttees to go around.

BRING ON THE REPAIR GANG

Motorists using the road that leads up past Gilchrist Bay are getting wrathy. These people claim that heavy traffic coupled with the ravages of Spring and the weather has turned this stretch of road into a glorified roller-coaster, and that culverts are protruding on the road surface, bringing extra wear on tires and car springs.

TAKING SIGNALS TEST

Several cadets from the Peterborough Collegiate Cadet Corps are taking tests today at the Peterborough Armouries. The boys are writing the examination under the supervision of Captain H. W. Bonner, District Signal Officer from Kingston.

Penny Box Total Passes $1,000 For War Victims

Starting early in 1941, through the collaboration of the Canadian Sealright Co. Ltd. and S. Whitehouse, and D. D. C. Dawe, printers, the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund placed a number of boxes for the depositing of small coins in a number of the business establishments of the city and district, and like the starting of the fund itself, it was a venture in faith that the appeal to the hearts of the residents of this city on behalf of the civilian population of Britain who were victims of Nazi air raids over that country, would find ample response. It is with a good deal of enthusiasm that the announcement can be made today that this particular type of activity for the fund has now passed the $1,000 mark, with the contributions listed from the Empress Hotel amounting to $11.55, and from the Capitol Theatre which produced $10.75 when collected on Monday by the secretary of the fund. These two particular boxes have always turned in a very good account of themselves, both Chris Graham and A. E. Cauley taking quite an interest in what they could achieve for the fund.

Naturally all of the boxes have had a share in helping to make this fine result, and these include boxes at Bank of Montreal, Mrs. Whiddon's Service Station, Curtis Service Station, H. McMahon's store, Crawford's Grove, Dominion Bank, Bank of Commerce, Loblaw's Groceteria, LeBarr's News Shop, Grafton's Ltd., R. Fair, Ltd., R. Hall, Ltd., Elliott's Drug Store, Hooper's Centre Store, United Cigar Store, Payne's Drug Store, McLeod's Drug Store, Utilities Office, Simcoe street, Utilities Sub Station, Aylmer street, Warne's Jewelry Store, Elsie Bennett Gift Shop, Routley's China Shop, St. Joseph's Hospital, Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough Pet Stock Store, Brewery Warehouse, Ontario L.C.B. Store, Empress Hotel, Canadian Tire Corporation Associate Store, The Examiner Office, Zellers Store, Royal Bank of Canada, Capitol Theatre, Regent Theatre, Centre Theatre, Bank of Toronto, Buehler's Meat Store, Northam's Bakery Shop Bell Telephone Co. Ltd. Office, Prince of Wales Rangers Sergeants' Mess, N. D. Sidey Store at Bewdley, while a few boxes are placed with representatives in Havelock, Norwood, Omemee, Keene, Millbrook Lakefield Hastings and Cavan, and some of our industrial plants have boxes to use this means for employees contributions, but these are not included in the total afore-mentioned

The Beekeepers Association and Nature Club held a joint meeting on the Normal School grounds on Saturday afternoon, and three girls, Joan Deyell, Agnes Mackiver and Marjorie Brown accepted this as an opportunity to make some money for the fund, by selling lemonade, cookies, honey, ice cream and Chocolate bars, a feature of which was the sweetening of all the home-made articles with honey. These girls all go to Queen Elizabeth School and the net result of their offort is listed in the nice sum of $8.60 credited in their name today. Well done girls.

CONTRAST IN MEN

He drives three blocks to work, the routine trip there and back twice a day, and he could walk it in five minutes. He wrings the last drop of gasoline out of his ration card, probably typical of a group who could be grounded for the duration and the country would never miss their motoring. Other men, you see them walking or taking the buses, are using their cars just as seldom as possible, trying to do their bit even if it is in just such little things as saving gasoline. The one man justifies democracy, the other fellow and his brethren mock it, probably damn it a lot, too.

Douro School Aiding In War Effort

A rural school in this district that has really been doing its bit for the war effort is School Section No. 9, Douro, with Philip J. Leahy as teacher.

This school has just m[illegible]'s second contribution to the [illegible] Cross Society, Mr. Leahy sendi[illegible] cheque for $33, the proceeds from a dance held in the school on May 22.

At Christmas the sum of $35.75 was raised through the sale of tickets by the pupils on an automobile rug. The proceeds from that draw were split, half being sent to the Red Cross Society and the remainder to the British War Victims' Fund.

Thus School Section No. 9 has raised $68.75 for the two war funds during the 1941-42 term.

Dental Association Outlines Its Aims

Formed at the 75th annual meeting of the Ontario Dental Association in Toronto last month, the Ontario Dental Health Council set up the following aim:

(1) Trying to bring home to the public, especially the children, the importance of dental health in relation to general health.

(2) Helping to establish school dental clinics in localities where they have not yet been started.

(3) Stressing the importance of chairside education by the dentist in the matters of diet and mouth care.

(4) A closer co-operation of the profession with the directors of Dental Services and the Department of Health of the province. The Department of Health found it necessary to give special training to the M.O.H. and P. H. nurse. Would it not be of great help to the school dentist if he too were given some special training?

(5) Assisting the home and school associations in their work in providing programs for their health meetings.

Dr. J. E. Middleton is representative of the local Dental Society on this council.

56 Cadet Schools

MONTREAL, June 9 — (CP). — Between 1,500 and 1,800 Army Cadets from 56 schools in Montreal and surrounding districts, will be under canvas at Mount Bruno Camp from June 29 to July 7. It was announced here yesterday.

JUSTICES OF PEACE PRESIDE

Owing to the advent of the holiday season, necessitating Magistrate Langley's absence on circuit, there was no magistrate available for police court and Justices of the Peace Vincent Eastwood and E. B. Fowler filled the breach. There were only two cases of drunkenness on the bill-of-fare. One man who pleaded guilty was fined $10 and costs. The other secured an adjournment until Friday.

United Church Minister Joins Army As Buck Private

CAMPBELLFORD, June 9. — (ENS). — Rev. Grant A. Meiklejohn, B.A. former pastor at Westport United Church (in the Kingston Presbytery) was honored by more than 100 friends from Seymour and Rawdon district on Friday evening. Rev. Mr. Meiklejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Meiklejohn of Rawdon Township, is now a private in the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps. He was given leave of absence from his pastorate in Westport, where he has been for the past two years since his ordination, and enlisted at Kingston last February, from where he was sent to Camp Borden. Pte. Meiklejohn volunteered for the Chaplain services, but when he found out that two more years of experience in the ministry were necessary before he could be accepted, he enlisted anyway and was placed in the Medical Corps. He is a graduate of Campbellford High School, and obtained his B.A. at Queen's.

On Friday evening a presentation took place to Pte. Meiklejohn, and on behalf of his many friends in the community he was given a camera and signet ring. The presentations were made by Eldon Anderson and Art Reid while Lawrence Meiklejohn gave the accompanying address, paying high tribute to the recipient and asking him to "accept these small gifts as a token of remembrance of your friends, and may God's richest blessings attend you."

PRIVATE MEIKLEJOHN

Pte. Meiklejohn responded appropriately, and following this were short addresses by Fred Barnum, W. Spencer, and M. Meiklejohn. Ed. Anderson contributed several violin selections during the evening.

Market Tolls Lower In May Total

Market receipts last Saturday were $29.72, and the total for five Saturdays in May was $167.62.

Receipts for those week ends were $38.70, $32.50, $33.24, $33.46 and $29.72.

Members of the council who have been advocating the improvements which have been made to the market hall since the beginning of the year are frankly disappointed.

Enquiry from farmers places the emphasis for this decline in attendance of vendors on the increased work throughout the country in this critical year of the war and at a time of labor scarcity. One department of the farm affects all the others, it has been said. Market takes two days out of the week,—getting ready on Friday and taking off on Saturday.

New tables and chairs were bought for the market hall, the floor is scrubbed regularly, some paint has made an effective change in apparance, and generally the property committee of the council has gone considerably out of the ordinary way of things to make marketing more attractive.

The results in attendance since the beginning of the year have not been encouaging to those members of the council who desire to maintain the market as a community sales centre.

Some of the producers are temporarily out of the market, stalled between seasons, but that condition does not apply to the regulars of the market hall, the vendors of butter, eggs, poultry and so on. The only explanation is that the women of the farm have not enough time to come to market this year.

OBITUARIES

MISS MINNIE DUNLOP.

Friends in this city will be sorry to learn of the death of Miss Minnie Dunlop a former resident of this city, in Toronto, May 30.

Born in North Monaghan, daughter of the late Thomas and Elizabeth Moncrief, she resided in Peterborough for a number of years before moving to Toronto with her parents.

She leaves to mourn her passing two sisters, Miss Ida Dunlop and Mrs. Fred Stockdale of Toronto.

Interment was made in Little Lake Cemetery and the service there was conducted by the Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church.

MRS. LOUISA GAMBLE.

Friends of this city will be sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. Louisa Gamble, 267 Park street, on Tuesday.

Born in Ireland, daughter of the late Archibald Annett and Catherine Evans, Mrs. Gamble came to Peterborough seventeen years ago. Her husband, William Gamble, predeceased her in 1937.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Jarvis and Ethel Gamble of Peterborough and two sons, Robert of Peterborough and Victor of Philadelphia, Penn. There are also two brothers, Archibald Annett of London, Eng. and George Annett of Sydney, Australia.

The remains will rest at the late residence until the funeral Thursday which will be held from All Saints' Church at 2:30 p.m. The service will conducted by the Rev. A. W. Filer and interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. STEVEN PERRIN

BEWDLEY, June 9 (ENS)—This village and community lost a valued resident Thursday morning in the person of Mrs. Steven Perrin, who passed away in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Mrs. Perrin's maiden name was Sarah Matilda Hurl, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Hurl of Rossmount.

By her first marriage to Edwin Hannah, who died about twenty-seven years ago, there were three children. Eighteen years ago she was united in marriage to Steven Perrin who predeceased his wife ten years.

Except for a few years spent in Peterborough, Mrs. Perrin's entire life was lived in Bewdley or nearby. There she was an ardent worker of St. Anne's W.A. and in many of the church or community enterprises she willingly lent her aid and the hospitality of her lovely home. Her passing is keenly felt by a very large circle of friends, who in great numbers attended the funeral service from her residence in the village Sunday afternoon.

The rector of St. Anne's, Rev. T. Crosthwaite, conducted the funeral service.

Left to mourn are her two daughters, Mrs. P. Gosselin (Mary), Peterborough, and Mrs. J. Orrill (Flossie), Campbellcroft. A son, Percy, predeceased his mother seven years ago. Also surviving are her sisters, Miss Addie Hurl, Rossmount, and Mrs. Charles Sophia. Vansickle, and four brothers, Asa Hurl of Port Hope, John Hurl of Stratford and Wes and Ezra Hurl in Western Canada; three grandchildren and her step-mother Mrs. Elizabeth Hurl, Rossmount.

The many and beautiful floral tributes were borne by eight young boys, Edwin and Terry Orrill, Murray and Beverly Sidey, Norman Sidey, Buddy Goss, Sonny Ducette and Garry Gosselin. Honorary bearers were Messrs. Robert Hancock, William Dixon, Percy Farr, Well. Kennedy, Elmer Sidey and Robert Campbell.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. C. Nodder, Halcot Benson, Robert Spicer, Harry Goss, Gordon Bullock and G. V. Ducette.

Interment was made in the Bewdley cemetery.

Relatives and friends were present from Stratford, Toronto, Peterborough, Vansickle, Port Hope and other points.

City Owes Bank $24,000 Less Than 1941

The city's bank loan at the end of May was $229,000, a reduction of $24,000 from the $253,000 borrowed in the first five mnoths of last year, M. E. Shaver, City Treasurr, informed the Examiner this morning.

At the end of April the short term loans from the Bank of Montreal were $30,000 less than that at the end of four months last year.

The city has to finance its normal operations during the first part of the year on credit, until the property owners begin paying taxes as at present.

Net disbursemnts for relief were $363 less at the end of May than for the same period in 1941. The amounts were $33,365 at May 31 last year and $3,002 last week.

Motorist Faints; 4 Cars Damaged

Suffering a weak spell while driving his automobile south on Water street, J. A. Mitchell, Barnardo avenue, lost control of his machine and it plunged into the rear end of a parked car, with the result that Mitchell sustained head and chest injuries and four automobiles were damaged.

The accident happened on Water street between Brock and Murray streets. Mitchell was driving south and his car struck the back of a parked automobile owned by John pushed forward into the rear of another parked car, owned by Percy Hicks, High street. Hicks' car was McFadden, R.R. 4, Lakefield, and it in turn was shoved into still another machine, owned by Mrs. Ray Holland, River Road, Lakefield.

All four of the automobiles received some damage from the impact. Mitchell, who was not seriously hurt, was taken to his home.

A.A. Gun Parts To Be Made At Canoe Plant

LAKEFIELD, June 9—(ENS). — First war industry for the village is expected to commence operations sometime about this week-end. Fred A. Lawrence, councillor and lumber operator has secured the closed Lakefield Canoe Company plant and will open it under the name of the Lakefield Boat Company, manufacturing wooden ancillary parts for anti-aircraft guns.

Guy Peel has been engaged as foreman and will employ two or three men as a starter with more to be taken on as the business widens.

Mr. Lawrence stated the plant is about ready for operation, the necessary machinery on hand and only some wiring to complete. Seasoned wood is the only flaw in the setup, being hard to get in the specified variety. Enough, however, is on hand for a good start and likely till the new supply arrives.

The factory was last running shortly before the war under the supervision of George Cook, now a lieutenant in the navy, and twice a winner of the George Medal. He turned out sailing and racing dinghies and outboard boats of various kinds.

ROTARIAN BEREAVED

Sacred Heart Wins By 18 to 2 Score

Sacred Heart had little trouble in defeating the Knights of Columbus in a one-sided Catholic Softball League game Monday night 18 to 2.

Anthony on the mound for the losers was touched for 17 hits, with Maloney, Heffernan and Bailey leading the attack for Sacred Heart. Maloney had a homer, triple and two singles and the other pair three hits each.

For the Knights, Len Anthony came through wtih three safe blows. The fielding feature was contributed by E. Wolfe who had a one-handed grab of Rev. Father Houlihan's line drive.

to get me, but he had to keep me alive until the plans were delivered. His other accomplice, the steward, was in irons and he needed help so he made his greatest mistake by putting the finger on Martha Swenson. Even his reappearance at the door as Constantine and her heroic disarming of her were unconvincing. She could have shot me a dozen times if she'd wanted to."

June Paterson murmured, "But of course she didn't want to. Not you, you big handsome Casanova!"

Bill Talcott flushed to the roots of his hair. "I've taken just about enough from you, young lady! I'm going to turn you over my knee right now!"

"You think so? Just try it, Mr. Talcott!"

Capt. Seth Pringle hooked his hands through Halsey's and Lowell Byrd's arm. "Got something I want to show you," he remembered suddenly. And then, when they were a little distance away, "Gosh, ain't they a nice couple, though? Just look at her stand up to him—Nope. Better not look now!"

Etobicoke Wins Second to Go

TORONTO, June 9. —(CP) — A goal by Grant Gillespie with just one second remaining gave Etobicoke Indians a 15-14 triumph over St. Catharines in their Ontario Lacrosse Association senior series game at Sunnyside last night. It was the Indian's third straight victory.

Before Gillespie scored that spectacular goal on a assist from Hanson, St. Catharines, Canadian champions, had staged a whirlwind rally to score four goals and knot the count.

A crowd of about 800 saw the game in Sunnyside Stadium.

Black Retiring For Duration

VANCOUVER, June 9 — (CP).—Ken Black,, Canadian amateur golf champion who beat a smart field here on Saturday to win the Vancouver City golf championship, said on Monday he would retire from competitive play for the duration.

"From now on I'm going to play in charity matches and exhibitions," Black said. "I've had more real enjoyment out of golf in the past six months just playing friendly matches, than ever before, and I think Ill keep it that way."

they do not realize the inordinate stress that women put upon them. It never crosses their minds that a girl will consider a box of candy or a bunch of flowers a greater proof of love than 10 years of faithfulness. All the same, I think that a man who never says it with little remembrance will make the sort of a husband who gives his wife a check at Christmas, and says: "Buy what you want. I don't know what you like." And that to a woman turns a gift into cinders, ashes and dust.

Better to Marry Mental Equal

Dear Dorothy Dix: Do you think a college graduate could be happy married to a girl who has only a high school education? Or do you think a husband and wife should be on the same educational level?

JUANITA

ANSWER: Many highly educated men marry women with little education and are apparently happy with them, but, generally speaking, I think a couple has a better chance of happiness if they marry in their own level, culturally, socially and financially.

Home Shorthand Course May Help Career

Skilled Girl Sure of Herself

Good advice for the untrained office worker who feels insecure in her job . . . teach yourself shorthand!

Adding to your skills makes you more valuable, helps you compete with girls who have been better trained.

You can give yourself simple daily lessons in Pitman shorthand. It's a system of writing symbols, each representing spoken English words—a hook for the "W" sound, a curve for the "L". Since there aren't many English sounds you learn these "pot hooks" quickly.

When you hear your boss dictate a word—"take," for instance—in a brief second you've pencilled a light downstroke (T) joined to a dash (K) and a dot (A) inside the angle.

Speedy! And the "short forms" you learn are even faster. They are symbols for entire words, to help you race with your boss' dictation. "His" is a circle, "importance" a curve.

Start now to learn! Our 32-page booklet, a practical home course in Pitman shorthand, is divided into 18 simple lessons—each with shorthand rules, practise exercises and "short forms." Can serve as foundation for business college course.

For your copy of "Self-Instruction in Shorthand," send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAVE HIM NO DOUBT

ONCE YOU have failed to open the bidding, it may require great care to inform your partner that your hand is of appreciable strength, virtually good enough for an opening. Unless you have played with him before and know just how he will interpret certain calls by you, you should endeavor to select one which will eliminate any possibility of doubt. Otherwise the side may fail to reach a makable game or slam.

North: ♠ K 4 ♥ Q 9 8 7 4 ♦ K 9 8 2 ♣ K J
West: ♠ J 9 6 3 ♥ 3 ♦ Q 10 6 ♣ A 10 5 3 2
East: ♠ Q 10 8 7 2 ♥ 6 5 ♦ J 5 4 3 ♣ 7 4
South: ♠ A 5 ♥ A K J 10 2 ♦ A 7 ♣ Q 9 8 6

(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

	West	North	East	South
1.	Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♥
	Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥
2.	Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♥
	Dbl	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

The bidding given above covers the sad story of two North-South pairs which failed to reach the slam bid on this deal. In each case, the fault was North's.

Where West passed South's 1-Heart, North was a player to whom a double jump of 3-Hearts meant a guarantee of game strength opposite a minimum in spite of the fact that he had passed originally. South could not see it that way and so with his extra strength bid a mere game. At that table, North could have made the slam simple by bidding 2-No Trumps on his first turn, which to any partner would mean that he had practically an opening bid, and then, when South rebid at 3-Hearts, and North showed a fit at 4-Hearts, South could have bid the slam without benefit of conventions.

At the table where West made his double for defensive purposes, North should not have jumped to 3-Hearts, but should have re-doubled on his first turn, and the slam would have been easy to reach after that.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ A 7 3 ♥ A 9 8 6 4 ♦ 10 4 3 ♣ 8 3
West: ♠ Q 6 5 2 ♥ Q 10 5 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ J 9 2
East: ♠ J 10 9 8 ♥ K 7 3 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ 7 5 4
South: ♠ K 4 ♥ J ♦ A Q 8 6 2 ♣ A K Q 10 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

With natural bidding of this deal by North and South, plus use of the Blackwood convention, producing a contract of 6-No Trumps by North, what opening lead should East prefer and why?

Girls Serving With British Ack-Ack Battery

With the typical long-arm swing of the British army the feminine members of a "mixed" anti-air battery march from their command post. The girls are used to assist the gunners, operating the various A.A. instruments, and working in the plotting room of the command post. Most of the girls come from the locality in which the A.A. battery is located.

Women's Institute Rally Is Held In Roseneath

ROSENEATH, June 9.—(ENS) — The 42nd District annual meeting of West Northumberland Women's Institutes was held on Friday in Roseneath United Church with morning and afternoon sessions.

Mrs. R. E. Drope, Harwood, district president, presided. Seated on the platform with Mrs. Drope, were Mrs. E. Grigg, Roseneath; Mrs. M. Rutherford, Grafton, first and second vice-presidents. Mrs. C. Hayes, Georgetown, representative Institute Branch, Department of Agriculture, Toronto, and Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville, provincial director.

The roll call of branches revealed Cobourg led with an attendance of 27. The full attendance as registered numbered 115.

Perhaps the most interesting features of the convention were the war work report, and the address by Mrs. Hayes. The Girls Club work an dexhibit was also an important feature.

The report of the war work convener, Mrs. H. Wicks Cobourg was as follows: 485 large quilts, 68 small quilts, 6 afghans, 3 rugs, 2 large blankets, and 8 baby blankets, 85 pairs baby bootees, 146 scarves, 124 pyjama suits, 8 pairs pyjama trousers, 2 pairs knee caps, 155 sweaters, 676 pairs of socks, 39 pairs seamen's socks, 14 pairs children's socks, 15 pairs wristlets, 1 pair bed socks, 70 helmets, 22 caps and toques ,130 pairs of mitts, 120 pairs gloves, 2 navy league bags, 1 pair pillows and cases, 11 surgeons jackets, 13 surgeon caps, 19 baby bonnets, 22 baby sweaters and jackets, 8 pairs baby mitts, 8 boys or girls sweaters, 7 dozen handkerchiefs hemmed, 19 girls outfits, and 7 boys outfits, 2 children's knitted suits and 2 boys suits, 57 ladies dresses, 9 skirts, 9 blouses, 16 children's nightgowns, 8 girl's slips, 18 women's nightgowns, 12 pairs boys's trousers, 4 shirts and 6 coats, 31 girls dresses, 14 pairs bloomer, 5 pairs child's slippers, 6 pairs shoes, 15 baby slips, 1 vest, 3 dozen diapers, 27 sleepers, 6 wash cloths and 31 complete layettes.

Good used clothing including blankets, scarves, dresses, sweaters, coats, boy's suits, sleepers, slippers, toys and soap were contributed as well.

1,728 lbs. of Honey.

West Northumberland also donated 1728 pounds of honey and jam sent overseas through the Red Cross. Donations of money were made to war charities thus: the F. W. I. central fund, Red Cross, War victims fund, Milk for Britain Fund, Cigarette Fund. A large number of parcels were sent to men in the armed forces. One member has four British girls war guests since September 1940, and expects to have them for the duration.

The secretary treasurer Mrs. W. A. Hoskin in presenting her report asked members to note a decrease in membership of 21, and suggested a membership drive.

Financial statement of branches: receipts $2045.73, expenditures $1676.59, balance on hand $369.14.

Coldsprings branch leads with receipts of $536.03.

District financial statement: receipts $196.07, expenditures $130.44. Balance $65.63.

The membership is listed thus: Cobourg 60, Roseneath 48, Fenella 4, Grafton 37, Baltimore 33, Coldsprings 33, Vermonville 32, Harwood 24—336.

The reports of convenors of standing committees revealed interested activity in every dpartment.

Mrs. Neil Carruthers of Grafton repirting for Girls Club Work announced the highest standing in senior and junior grades in the county, was won by Phyllis Parker, Roseneath club and Reta Bell, Harwood club, respectively.

Reporting for the musical festival, Mrs. M. Rutherford commended Cobourg branc hfo rentering and urged more branche sto enter the competition.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Earl Waldie, president of Roseneath branch and responded to by Mrs. Rutherford.

Mrs. C. Hayes spoke on "The Responsibilitiy of Women Citizens of a Nation at War," under three headings wherein woman's value to any cause is dependant on physical, mental and moral stamina.

Mrs. C. Holmes brought greetings from the board, and the high lights of two board meetings. That children be taught the dignity of manual labor, that they be instilled with a loyalty to Empire, and educated to be alert, informed, and thinking citizens was the challenge thrown out by Mrs. Holmes. She charged her audience to promote rural welfare, strive for a closer relationship between urban and rural communities, buy British, buy Canadian, and be one hundred per cent behind the wartime price and trade board.

Speaking in response of the branches to the jam making project, she thanked them for donations to the Central fund. From this fund went $2000 for seeds for Britain, $1,000 to F. W. I. of Canada, $400 to Red Cross for blankets, $1000 to Red Cross for prisoner's boxes, $300 for canning machines for Britain, also donations towards sweaters for mine sweepers, $500 each to Chinese War Work and the Mrs. Churchill fund. In closing Mrs. Holmes urged the members to be more Institute conscious, wear your pins, display your motto, use Institute labels, and make your programs so attractive they will be remembered from month to month.

Additional program numbers included a skit by Mrs. W. Lavigne Halstad, Phyllis Parker and Doreen Nichol members of the local girls club, when sleeping garments made during the course were displayed, and reasons advanced for choice of materials and color combinations. Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe sang a solo, "Bless This House," Mrs. Louis Selfe of Grafton and Mr. Tyes of Cobourg contributed humorous readings. Community singing was led by the local branch.

The election of officers was as follows: President, Mrs. Charlton Grigg, Roseneath, first and second vice-presidents, Mrs. M. Rutherford, Grafton and Mrs. Ray Eagleson, Fenella respectively.

Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Hoskin, Cobourg.

Federation representative, Mrs. H. Wicks, Cobourg. Alternate, Mrs. R. E. Drope, Harwood.

Delegate to area convention, Mrs. Grigg. Alternate, Mrs. Rutherford.

Auditors, Mrs. Tyes, Cobourg and Mrs. J. Deviney, Vernonville.

Conveners of standing committees

Agriculture and Canadianization, Mrs. B. Thackeray, Roseneath.

Home Economics, Mrs. N. C. Leach, Fenella.

Historical Research, Mrs. T. Cheyne, Harwood.

War Work, Mrs. H. Wicks, Cobourg.

Publicity, Mrs. Louis Selfe, Grafton.

Citizenship, Miss H. Davidson, Coldspring.

Social Welfare, Mrs. V. Sitster, Baltimore.

Lunch was served by the local branch in the Town Hall. The color scheme in the decorations was carried out in the Institute colors of blue and gold.

Mrs. G. Page, Cobourg, presented the report of the courtesy committee, and the singing of the National Anthem concluded a successful meeting.

The seasons cut flowers and the array of garments made by the members of the clubs, on display, combined to produce a colorful and attractive setting.

On display also was "The Lady Tweedsmuir Village History," Cold springs branch will have custody of and include the history of that community in the book for the coming year.

Queen Mother Aids War Effort

Queen Mary, who celebrated her 75th birthday on May 26, is shown helping members of a local service unit saw down trees on her war-time estate in the west of England, as part of the work of clearing land for the cultivation of farm produce. The Queen Mother, besides caring for a number of evacuees at her mansion house, visits war factories and numerous civil defence establishments.

Captive Italian A.A. Gunners Happily Pot Huns

MONTREAL, June 9 — (CP). — Ten British heroes, fresh from the wars, agreed here last night they were just a bit timid" about the prospects of a welcome New York has arranged for them today.

They will join five United States war heroes at the famous Battery and parade through New York, ending a day of tribute at Madison Square Garden, where they will tell their story to a mass patriotic meeting.

Royal Air Force fliers wearing decorations ranging up to the Victoria Cross, newly scarred Royal Navy men fresh from sea battles, khaki-clad huskies with the magic word "Commando" on their sleeves, slipped quietly into Montreal during the week-end on a Royal Air Force Ferry Command bomber.

Incognito during their brief stay here they have taken advantage of the "rest" to make a round of night clubs and places of interest.

Wing Commander M. Loudon, D.F.C., senior officer of the party and a distinguished fighter pilot, said his party "is just a bit timid about that reception today. "I'm afraid there is going to be a lot of speech-making on this trip, and we don't relish the prospect."

After two days in New York the group will begin a tour of twenty other cities. The tour is sponsored by the United States Treasury Department.

Wing Commander Loudon told what he thought was a good story of the war in the Western desert. "The first lot of Italian prisoners we snared," he said, "were the friendliest, happiest crowd you ever met. We took the pilots into the officers' mess and gave them a hospitable evening. They offered to do anything for us we wished. Before long many of them were working as waiters and whistling while they toiled.

Try Potting Nazis

"Then came the pay-off. Some of our boys, hearing there were crack Italian anti-aircraft gunners in the lot, asked them if they would like to try their skill at popping Jerry planes. They jumped at the opportunity and were put on guns guarding our rear-line airdromes—under close observation, of course. They were bloody good, too. I don't know what their official count was, but they did all right."

Two Commandos in the party were Lieutenant J. Michael Hall of the Lancashire Fusiliers and Sergeant R. G. Herbert, D.C.M., M.M., Hall lost his arm in Commando raids on France, while Herbert was decorated for bravery in raids in Norway and the Lofoten Islands.

Lieutenant T. W. Boyd won the D.S.O. for point-blank gunnery in the full light of enemy searchlights and under terrific bombardment from 100 yards at St. Nazaire. Another naval hero is Chief Engine Room Artificier Harry Howard, who won the D.S.M. for his part in blowing up the dock gates in the St. Nazaire raid.

But it was hard to get any of them to talk of their experiences. "After all, this is the United States' show and we are not supposed to say anything until we get there," Wing Commander Loudon explained.

Women Policemen

LONDON, June 9 — (CP). — Nazi Germany is mobilizing women of the athletic type to serve as policemen, replacing men called into active service on the Eastern Front, the B.B.C. reported to-day.

"The demands of the Russian campaign are increasing the problems of Germany's home front," the B.B.C. said.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY AND EASILY
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from McDermid & Jury or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money —(Advt.)

ChineseMarched Died on Feet To Aid Rangoon

JAMESTOWN, Tenn., June 9. — (AP)—The bleeding feet of Chinese soldiers marching from Chungking to Rangoon to bolster the defense of Burma "turned the dust into bloody mud." but "the only ones that dropped by the wayside were the dead."

So said Randal Richardson, 22, who returned home Saturday to see Sergeant Alvin C. York, chairman of the Fentress County Draft Board about rejoining the U. S. Navy, from which he was released to join the American Volunteer Fliers in China last July.

Telling of the passage of the Chinese Fifth and Sixth Divisions through Kumming on their forced march toward Rangoon, Richardson said:

"I never saw anything like it. They's been marching for days 30 or 40 miles a day. Every other soldier was half carrying a comrade who'd had given out.

"They came stumbling along, hanging on each other, some with their eyes rolled back and their mouths dropped open. They were covered with dust, ragged.

"I saw them die on their feet of tiredness and maybe be carried along ten or twenty paces by the man helping them . . . It was terrible and wonderful."

Richardson, who was reported dead several months ago by mistake, wants to get back in the navy —preferably as a combat pilot. His reason: "My best buddy in the A.V.G. was Pappy Hofman of Los Angeles," he said. "The Japs shot him down over Rangoon. I want to take his place and finish his fight with those zeros.

Miss Maud Finnimore Is Hostess To W.A.

MILLBROOK, June 9—(ENS).—Miss Maud Minnimore was hostess for the June meeting of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church, held at her home on King Street on Wednesday afternoon, with a good attendance, and the president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, in the chair. Mrs. Franklin Bannister gave the devotional talk on "The Widow's Mite," mentioning how many unnamed people there are in the Bible, who yet have left a memorial of value behind them. Mrs. Edmund Ball closed the period with prayer, and the secretary followed with the roll and contributions to the mile of coppers. A contribution of $40.00 was handed in by Miss Josie Sutton for the special purpose of renovating the study at the parsonage; it was made by a personal friend for this specific object.

The treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight, gave her report showing $24.33 from the Presbytery dinner; expenses, $5.50; cleared, $18.83; $47.20 from the hostess tea last week, with $43.90 cleared; $4.50 from Crystal Stewart and Mrs. R. Edmunds from vanishing teas; and $4.75 from a pot-luck supper collection on Anne Street. More money is to come in from these sources. The president announced the visit of Rex Frost of CFRB, Toronto, with his "Cavalcade of Europe" lecture and pictures in the Town Hall on Wednesday, June 17, under W.A. auspices. It was decided to have a canvass again this fall for voluntary subscriptions in lieu of the usual fowl supper, and to give up meetings for July and August. The National Anthem and prayer closed the meeting.

Omemee WMS Meets At Home Of Mrs. Lang

OMEMEE, June 9—(ENS)—Mrs. Vernon Lang opened her home for the June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society on Thursday afternoon

Mrs. Read, leader of the group, presided. The meeting opened by singing a hymn, followed by the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Williamson. The commentary on the lesson was given by Mrs. Everson.

The ladies decided to have a quilting bee in the basement of the church on Thursday afternoon, July 9. As in former years, there will be no meeting of the W.M.S. during July and August.

An excellent report of the W.M.S. Presbyterial held in Queen St church, Lindsay, was given by Mrs. Moyer.

Mrs. M. D. Earle gave a paper on 'Canada's Youth Organization,' which was very interesting.

8 of 9 Pt Hope H.S. Teachers Resign

Act Climaxes Firing Of Principal

Will Finish Terms, Board Secretary Refuses To Comment

PORT HOPE, June 10 —(ENS)— Eight of the nine teachers of Port Hope High School resigned at noon today in final protest of the recent discharge of the principal, G. L. Brackenbury.

By their engagement contracts the teachers will continue in the performance of their duties to the end of the present term this month.

F. R. O'Neil, secretary of the High School Board, refused to comment on the noon report, and even to confirm it.

The teachers who resigned today are: Miss M. A. Haggerman, Miss L. R. Hammond, Miss K. N. Staples, Miss E. C. Foy, Miss K. Eaton, Mrs. H. M. Ryan, Mr. B. Comfort and Mr. R. T. Reid.

The Climax—No Solution

This action is a climax to a situation that has attracted province wide attention and after weeks of bickering and meetings of protest, seems no closer to a solution.

A week ago, the Ratepayers' Association expressed fear that the teachers might resign, and a portion of a statement issued at that time is as follows:

"It is known that at the present, even under the most favorable conditions, that it would be almost impossible to secure an efficient staff. If the present board persists in their attitude, and the teachers are compelled to send in their resignations it is a logical certainty that the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation will blacklist the school, and, as a result, efficient teachers would not apply for positions advertised. Our boys and girls will be faced in September with inadequate and unsatisfactory school facilities. If this board has any regard for the interests of our boys and girls, and for the good of the High School, let them be men enough to resign in a body."

J. L. SHEEHAN.

J. L. Brackenbury, the principal of the school was asked for his resignation about two months ago, and it was not until about two weeks later that the ire of citizens reached the point of action.

US Scrap Rubber Drive to Tell Gas Curb Extent

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—Poinsettias and old hot water bags may march through the second chapter of the mystery novel about rubber and gasoline of which President Roosevelt says he has read only the first.

The President announced at his press conference yesterday that a country-wide two-week collection of scrap rubber would be undertaken soon in an effort to determine whether there was enough rubber around to make national curbs on automobile driving unnecessary.

The President indicated there will be no country-wide gasoline rationing as a tire-saving measure until it is known just how much reclaimable scrap is available.

He likened the gasoline-rubber situation to a mystery novel, and said he did not know how it would end.

The Poinsettia plant, familiar scarlet and yellow Chritmas decoration, was put forth as a likelv source of rubber by a Californian, who wrote Senator George Sorris

Rubber Preview Astounds Senate

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP).—To the expressed astonishment of Senators, who had just been told that the B. F. Goodrich Company planned ultimately to produce 165,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually, a company executive compounded some in 10 seconds today and bounced it on the floor.

K. D. Smith of Akron, O., assistant to the Vice President in charge of factory operations, poured what he called "Liquid Ameripol Latex" into a beaker, added acetic acid, squeezed the surplus liquid out, and bounced the ball.

Senator Charles McNary (Rep., Oregon) commented with a grin: "I'll be darned. That's pretty good."

Smith said that 20 cents a pound would be a "very fair" price for the synthetic rubber and demonstrated to the Senate Agriculture sub-committee a number of tires in which it had been used.

He said that tests showed the synthetic casing had about 90 per cent of the durability of tires made from natural rubber.

Japs Bypass Chuhsien As City Holds

Chinese Fight Off 6 Cruisers Landing Troops

CHUNGKING, June 10—(AP).—Fighting 12 miles west of the fiercely-defended walled town of Chuhsien was reported today by the high command, indicating that the Japanese had made some progress in their drive to close the 180-mile gap between their forces in Chekiang and Kiangsi provinces.

Fighting continued in Kiangsi province southeast of Nanchang, at the western end of the contested gap. The Chinese reported, however, that they captured several more positions in the Nanchang area in attacks intended to divert the Japanese.

The high command said Chinese forces frustrated an attempt by "six enemy cruisers" to land Japanese troops on the shore of Poyang Lake northeast of Nanchang.

(Warships have access to the lake from the Yangtze River.)

The situation at Chuhsien itself was obscure, but it was believed the Japanese west of the town had bypassed it and that it still held out against the Japanese assaults, now in their second week.

A Chinese column operating behind Japanese lines has advanced to a point 12 miles west of Nanchang, the Chinese Central News reported.

This move was said here to be an evident attempt to force the Japanese to withdraw part of their troops now thrusting toward Chekiang province and thus ease the pressure on that eastern war sector.

The Chinese also said their troops were active near Hofei, important Japanese stronghold in Central Anhwei province. A considerable stretch of rails were torn up near that base.

Boston Goes Wild

BOSTON, June 10 (AP)—Boston acclaimed today 13 fighting men—heroes of British and American war action against the Axis—and with pride showed them two vast shipyards in which armies of workers are turning out powerful warcraft, freighters and tankers to win the battle of the seas.

Every Boston policeman was called to duty as the department grappled with the problem of handling hero-worshipping crowds of hundreds of thousands along a parade route through the heart of the city.

Dies In Toronto

W. N. Tilley, K.C., former Bowmanville boy, who r[os]e to the heights of the legal profession, becoming noted for his parts in far-reaching probes, including cases before the Privy Council in London.

Famed Counsel W. N. Tilley Passes at 74

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP). — W. N. Tilley, K.C., well-known constitutional lawyer, died here today. He was 74.

Mr. Tilley died in Toronto General Hospital. He had been ill about one week.

Widely known constitutional and railway lawyer Mr. Tilley at various times represented both the Dominion and Ontario Governments as counsel in Royal Commission and other far-reaching inquiries. He appeared before the Privy Council in London in many important cases. One of his last cases was the libel suit of the Toronto Star against the Toronto Globe and Mail in Toronto last April. He acted as counsel for the defendant.

Mr. Tilley was a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Bank of Montreal, the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, and other concerns.

Born in Bowmanville, Ontario, on March 11, 1868, William Norman Tilley was the son of the late William E. Tilley, Inspector of Public and High Schools. W. N. Tilley was gold medallist in his final year at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, called to the Bar in Ontario in 1894 and created K.C. in 1916.

Reds Refuse To Budge At Sevastopol

Attack Grows Fiercer But Fails To Crack Single Line

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, June 10—(AP).—The Russian defenders of Sevastopol have not yielded a "single line" to the Germans although the fight for the besieged Crimean port hourly grows more intense, with Germans incessantly attacking by land and in the air, Soviet reports declared today.

Dispatches to Red Star, Russian army newspaper, frankly said the German infantry had penetrated to a hilly sector, wher[e] the Nazis were trying to take two heights. But these reports added that the battle generally still rag[e]d at those approaches to the city about which it began last Friday.

"Not a single line held by the defenders of the city has been seized by the enemy," the Red Star dispatch said.

In the air, the reports added, German planes have broken through Soviet defences at som[e] points to bomb fortifications.

Shellfire from Sevastopol's defence batteries dispersed a Nazi infantry regiment [a]nd killed many of its men today in checkmating an offensive said to have cost the Germans 2,500 dead yest[er]day.

Try For Air Control.

The Germans followed their favorite course of massing powerful aerial forces in a narrow sector to obtain full mastery of the skies and pound ground troops into submission but Red Star said the Russian Air Force constantly engaged the enemy.

Along the low, barren hills around Sevastopol, the Russians said, approaches to Red army fortifications were covered with "thousands of bodies" over which the Germans rushed repeated for fierce assaults. After taking Kerch, on the Eastern tip of the Crimea, the German command apparently aimed to conquer Sevastopol at any cost and complete the occupation of the peninsula.

Red Star said the Germans struggled for three days to approach the two heights, but the Red Army finally checked a Nazi infantry attempt to advance at night. The battle was reported continuing in those areas and fighting was reported on virtually every sector of the Sevastopol front.

EXTRA!

OTTAWA, June 10. — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King, launching the conscription debate in the House of Commons, to-day said the government does not believe conscription for service overseas is necessary at the present time.

"Moreover, it may never become necessary," the Prime Minister said. "But in case it should ever become necessary it is surely the part of wisdom that there should be no doubt whatever of the power of the government to take the necessary action the moment the necessity to do so may arise."

'Boomless' Blast Sinks Liner Off West Coast

By LELAND HANNUM
Associated Press Staff Writer

A WEST COAST PORT, Jun. 10—(AP).—The first torpedoing of a United States merchant ship off the coast of the Pacific northwest, announced by the navy last night, was disclosed after the ship's master, Captain Lyle G. Havens, 48, of San Carlos, Calif., brought his crew men here and said, "I'm glad to report we lost only one of the 60 aboard."

Stephen Chance, 56, Negro second cook and baker, address unknown, died of exposure in a lifeboat.

Eight men were hurt, two seriously, when the explosion occurred last Sunday afternoon. Capt. Havens said the ship [s]unk 30 minutes later. He added he did not see the submarine, but several crewmen reported sighting the conning tower.

First Officer E. W. Nystrom of Oakland, Calif., sai[d] he saw what some described as the submarine and that "it might have been part of our ship's debris. I fired two parachute signal [f]lares. The wreckage disappeared."

Capt. Havens said "There is no doubt we were torpedoed."

Both he and Nystrom were in their bunks when the ship was struck, and were thrown to the deck.

"The strange thing about the concussion, and it was a terrible one, was the silence of it," N[y]strom said. "There wasn't any '[b]oom'."

Capt. Havens said the explosion smashed one of the two lifeboats, but the entire personnel got away in the remaining lifeboat and two life rafts within 10 minutes.

"No one even got h[i]s feet wet g[e]tting away," he s[aid] "but it was miserable after that cold and rainy and seas breaking over us all the time."

Tokyo Admits Carrier Lost 2 Warships Damaged In Sea Battle Off Midway

Washington Mum On Nipponese Boasting 2 U.S. Carriers, Transport Sunk; Tokyo Claims Action Still On In North

WASHINGTON, June 10—(AP).—A Navy Department spokesman countered Axis claims of Japanese occupation of Aleutian Islands bases today with a categorical assertion that "none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Asked for comment on Axis claims that army forces had destroyed positions on the Aleutian Islands, the spokesman said, "We have no information about any Japanese on Alaskan soil. Certainly none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Earlier, the Department declined to make any comment on Japanese claims that two U.S. aircraft carriers and a transport had been sunk in operations around Midway Island and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, pointing merely to American communiques which have announced the damaging of one carrier and the loss of a destroyer.

Japs Admit 1 Carrier Gone.

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Jnue 10 — (AP).— Japan announced the loss of one aircraft carrier and damage to two other warships in her first report of the Battles of Midway and Dutch Harbor to-day and headquarters claimed that two United States aircraft carriers and a large transport had been sunk.

The Navy has reported only one United States vessel sunk in the Pacific fighting last week, this a destroyer torpedoed by a submarine, and an aircraft carrier damaged. The toll on the Japanese fleet was officially listed at two or three aircraft carriers sunk and from 13 to 15 other vessels, including three battleships, damaged.

Imperial headquarters asserted United States aircraft carriers of the 19,900-ton Enterprise and Hornet types were sunk by Japanese formations around Midway Island "while 120 enemy aircraft were brought down."

Troop landings were implied in the Aleutian Islands, for the communique said naval forces, in co-operation with army units, "destroyed a number of enemy positions on the Aleutian Islands and are continuing the operations in this area," following up the naval attack upon Dutch Harbor June 4.

"In the area of Dutch Harbor 14 enemy planes were brought down or destroyed and a large enemy transport was sunk," imperial headquarters said.

"Japanese units furthermore bombed groups of large oil tanks in two places and set them on fire, as well as one large hangar."

While operations were reported continuing in the Aleutians, the communique implied the Midway action was over.

Hun Warming Up Blood-Letting 'For Heydrich'

BERNE, Switzerland, June 10. — (AP)— With 275 Czechs already slain in retaliation, the Germans made known to-day that the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich would mark the beginning of new, sweeping punitive measures not only in dismembered Czech-Slovakia but throughout all the restive occupied countries.

Continuing attacks against occupation armies in the north, west, and east confront Germany with a potential second or third front and require vigorous counter-action, dispatches from Berlin said.

Prague, Paris, Amsterdam, and all Poland and Yugoslavia were regarded here as likely to feel first the effects of the increased death penalties.

Executions up to now have been averaging 10 a day in occupied France. Czechs have been shot in

Hacheim Batters Axis Off Again

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10 — (AP).— British Headquarters announced today that a large scale Axis attack yesterday on Bir Hacheim southern anchor of the British Libyan lines, had been driven off.

British armored and motorized forces assisted the Free French garrison of Bir Hacheim to repulse the enemy, "who used an increased number of tanks and dive bombers as well as infantry and artillery," a communique said.

"Our mobile columns," it reported, "are continuing to harass effectively the enemy's line of supply from the West."

In the Cauldron area—where the Axis army rolled back British detachments west of Knightsbridge—gunners of tanks and armored cars were reported to have engaged Axis armored forces in long range duels.

The R.A.F. Middle East Headquarters reported its fighter and bomber planes ranged far over the Mediterranean and Libyan war theatres, attacking Axis armored units, gun positions and motor transport vehicles in the Bir Hacheim area yesterday, raiding the German-occupied city of Candia on the Island of Crete on Monday and Tuesday night and hitting the Italian naval base at Taranto, Italy, on Monday night.

RAF Bombings Just 2nd Front Prelude

Crippling Hun Army Supplies, As Starter For Knockout For Hun Hordes

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Britain's unprecedented big-scale bombings of Hitler's domains in Western Europe undoubtedly are fulfilling many of the requirements that would be expected of the second front for which a lot of people in the Allied countries have been clamoring as an immediate aid to Russia.

One hastens to add that this doesn't mean the land offensive should be dispensed with. The second front will come in due course. Still, this terrific aerial bombardment represents one of the most important developments of the war and lends weight to the startling prediction by Air Marshal A. T. Harris in London yesterday.

He said some people argue that heavy bombing will not win wars. To them he answered that it hasn't been tried yet. When it is, Germany would be the "experiment" and Japan the "confirmation."

We can't afford to base judgment on long past air performances. For instance, at the outset of the war there were those in high positions who pooh-poohed the idea that warships, especially battleships, were vulnerable to air attack. They clung to this thesis until disasters visited upon Allied warships demonstrated how terribly wrong they were.

One cogent argument for a second front in Western Europe is that in order to bring Germany to her knees the Nazi army must be knocked out. That probably is true, but there's more than one way of skinning a cat. There could be no more effective method of hamstringing an army than to cut it off from all military supplies, say through the destruction of German war industries by bombing on the scale now being carried out.

Take, for example, the bitter fate of ancient Cologne. British and Canadian bombers utterly destroyed eight square miles of the great Rhenish city and caused widespread damage to the rest of it. It will be long before Cologne rises from its ashes.

However, there need be no worry for fear the Allies will try to beat Europe's arch-devil by bombs alone. That eagerly awaited new land-front will materialize, but pending its advent those who are advocating it can rest easy in the assurance that the bombing raids certainly in at least some cases are causing as much and probably more damage than a sizable land army could effect—and the air fleets are doing it in far less time and with immeasurably less expenditure in life, energy, material and money.

Burma RAF Crews In China

Aid Volunteer Group Till U.S. Army Takes Over

CHUNGKING, June 10— (AP).— Part of the R.A.F. personnel which escaped into China from Burma is staying in this country to take ground jobs with the American Volunteer Group which will be absorbed in the United States Army Air Corps on July 4.

Some A.V.G. airmen are going home when their contracts expire this month, while others and some ground crew are remaining.

Those who stay have been promised a leave when reinforcements of men and planes arrive. Some planes including the newest types, already are in China and many more are expected in fulfilment of President Roosevelt's promise to get aid to China.

Although new American-built planes were flown into China recently, officials said this did not signify the arrival of units of the United States Air Corps as the machines were consigned to the Chinese Air Force and are to be operated as a part of it—up to July 4 with the A.V.G.

Authoritative quarters said no separate American or British Air Force yet was operating in China.

Present plans, these sources said, provided that the major burden of China's air protection would be undertaken by the United States with augmentation by the R.A.F. possibly taking place at a later stage.

Squawks In The Jap Navy

Poor Food, Quarters Offset Speed and Fire Power

CHUNGKING, China, June 10. — (AP)— The Communist newspaper New China Daily News published today an article said to have been written by a Japanese prisoner of war declaring that "poor nutrition and sleeping quarters more than counter-balance the heavier guns and higher speed of Japanese warships."

"Most Japanese sailors are crowded on lower decks," the article said. "Japanese naval officers scoff at American and British warships as tourist boats but the Japanese seamen have no love for their own slave runners.

"For example, more than 1,000 out of 1,500 members of the crew of the Japanese battleship Hyuga (completed in 1918) were housed on lower decks in bunks which take up even the passages. The sailors sleep rubbing shoulders with each other. The foul air causes a number of diseases, mostly pleurisy and weak lungs."

A number of collisions, groundings and explosions aboard Japanese warships resulted from decreased efficiency caused by the poor living conditions, the article stated.

The Japanese navy has a dread of air attacks, the article added, because most of the deck armor has been sacrificed for more guns and higher speed.

BRITAIN AND UNITED STATES WILL POOL FOOD AND WAR GOODS

WASHINGTON, June 10—(AP).— The United Kingdom and the United States will pool their food and weapons in a new war collaboration arrangement.

Two Anglo-American, two-man boards have been established to accomplish the pooling. Donald M. Nelson and Oliver Lyttelton, British Production Minister, make up the combined production and resources board charged with directing the weapons output o both British and American factories in a "single integrated program." Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard and H. R Brand, head of the British food mission here, make up the combined food board.

Simultaneous announcements by Prime Minister Churchill in London and President Roosevelt in Washington told of the new arrangement yesterday.

The production board, President Roosevelt said, is to adjust the arms output of the two countries to the strategic requirements of the war as indicated by the combined chief. of staff. It also is directed to take account of the need to reduce shipping demands to a minimum and the essential needs of the civilian populations.

Under such orders the board would decide whether certain items should be made here or in Great Britain and the degree of standardization to be attempted.

Means Fair Distribution

Under the combined food board, "the entire food resources of Great Britain and the United States will be deemed to be in a common pool about which the fullest information will be interchanged."

The president said Americans might have to give up some things but that the food board would aim at distribution of supplies on a fair basis to all the United Nations.

Both boards will co-operate with other United Nations governments.

Although Canada has no direct representation on either board, President Roosevelt said the Dominion would line up with the United States on the production board and that, for all practical purposes, Canada was represented because Nelson will speak for North America.

It could not be learned here how Canada's voice will be heard on the combined food board, an important factor because of the tremendous volume of foodstuffs being produced in Canada, particularly for British consumption.

S. African Frog Aiding Science

ATLANTIC CITY, June 10 (AP). Xenophus Laevis, a South African swamp frog, costing 25 cents, is the long-sought perfect test for pregnancy.

This lady frog tells quicker than any test known to science. The new method was exhibited to the American Medical Association here today.

The Xenophus exhibit is by doctors Abner Weisman and Christopher Coates, Jewish Memorial Hospital and the New York Zoological Society, New York City. They credit the lady frog with one correct diagnosis three days after the woman in the case believed she was pregnant.

The frog test beats by one or two weeks the rabbit tests, which detect as a rule after about four weeks. No errors have yet been made by the African frogs in more than 200 cases.

How do the frogs do it? When treated properly, they lay eggs—and that's a sure-fire sign.

The test was discovered by South African doctors.

MP's Clear Decks For Debate On Conscription

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA June 10 — (CP). — Debate on Bill 80, the amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act clearing the way to unlimited compulsory service, opens in the House of Commons to-day.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King is expected to launch the long-awaited discussion of this measure on a motion for second reading.

Last night the House cleared the order paper of the $2,000,000,000 war appropriation measure, after about seven weeks' discussion, and quickly passed the Bill authorizing the Government to borrow up to $750,000,000 in the current fiscal year for refunding and other purposes.

These two measures have stood in the way of debate on the compulsory service measure which was introduced by the Prime Minister on May 11 as a consequence of the plebiscite on April 27 in which Canadians voted by a large majority to free the Government from any obligations arising from its pledges restricting the raising of men for military service.

Both measures were given third reading and sent to the Senate. The House spent the last half-hour of the sitting in committee of supply on agricultural estimates.

Debate on the Mobilization Act amendment is expected to bring opposition to it from possibly 50 Quebec Liberal members and some Independents, led by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin (Lib. Sorel) who resigned his portfolios of Public Works and Transport in protest the day Mr. King introduced the Bill.

Bill No. 80 removes from the National Resources Mobilization Act Section 3 which restricts to Canada or its territorial waters the use of men called up for service under the Act

King To Lead Off.

Mr. King is expected to lead off the debate with a speech of considerable length, outlining the present situation with regard to manpower for the armed forces and the extent to which the Government plans to use the unlimited compulsory service authority sought in the bill.

(Ind.-Neb.) that it "produces the best known type of rubber, in great quantities, up to two tons per acre."

"Acre per acre," the Californian wrote, "poinsettia will produce 10 times the rubber that guayule will, with less resin content, and matures within a year. After the stalks are cut for rubber extraction, the root will again stalk every year for many years."

The suggestion was one of dozens receieved by various lawmakers interested in a speedy solution of the rubber shortage. While not discounting the possible value of such sources as a long-term proposition, Norris and many other mid-western senators have expressed the conviction the surest and quickest method would be to utilize surplus grain for the manufacture of alcohol, building the distilleries in the grain belt.

Norris said he did not know whether poinsettia would prove a practical source of rubber, but that it might be worth looking into.

Passing Planes Frighten Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., June 10 (CP)—Residents of this north-coast city resumed normal routine today after undergoing an "imminent danger" signal yesterday when unidentified planes—later identified as friendly — were reported approaching.

In British Columbia's first air alert touched off by approaching planes, the first notes of the wailing sirens emptied schools and shut down some industrial works. Some of the children were taken to wooded spots as precautionary measures, but for the majority the warning caused only minor interest.

Most merchants and ship clerks gathered in doorways for a possible glimpse at the planes which had caused the warning. Pedestrians were unwilling to miss anything and police ordered air raid wardens to clear the streets.

(At Victoria Western Air Command of the R.C.A.F. said, in a statement:

("Owing to presence of unidentified aircraft off north coast of British Columbia, an air raid alert was imposed at Prince Rupert at 12.30 p.m., June 9. The aircraft were later identified as friendly.")

Two hours and five mnutes later the all clear was sounded and the city returned to normal.

No blackout was observed here last night for the second night since June 3 when Japanese planes raided the U.S. naval base at Dutch Harbor, Alaska. Since the raid a precautionary blackout had been observed here until Monday night, when the blackout was lifted. A coastwise radio silence imposed after the Dutch Harbor raid was lifted last Sunday night.

Cases Enlarged Crown Absent

Absence of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., who had to appear in the county judge's criminal court this morning led to a number of cases scheduled for this morning's session of police court being enlarged until tomorrow.

Percy Little was charged with assaulting a woman, occasioning actual bodily harm and the complainant expressed a desire to withdraw the case.

"In the absence of a representative of the crown I cannot consent to that," commented Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., and the accused was remanded.

A serious charge against Harry Ketchum of Havelock, scheduled for this morning, was also enlarged until tomorrow.

John A. Bradshaw who appeared for Ketchum said that the bail fixed last week was very high and the accused as a result had had to remain in jail.

"With the crown not represented here," said the magistrate, "I am not prepared to alter the bail. I'll remand the accused until tomorrow."

"Captain Courageous"

Captain Angus Nichol, skipper of The British light cruire H.M.S. Penelope, is shown as he modestly told the story of his gallant ship to American reporters on arrival at an eastern port for repairs. The battered and much-patched Penelope came from Malta where she underwent such a series of bombing by Axis warplanes as rarely is survived. In one day alone, Capt. Nichols said, "We were attacked seven times by waves of bombers." The Penelope fought until her ammunition was gone and her guns worn out, and until the Penelope was so full of holes that they called her "H.M.S. Pepperpot." When the holes were plugged with wood they renamed her "H.M.S. Porcupine." Now she will me repaired, regunned and restocked with ammunition in America and will go back to the wars for another lick at the Axis.

Obituary

ALFRED ATKINSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10. — (ENS). — One of Seymour Township's oldest and respected citizens died with the passing of Alfred Atkinson, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. J. Spencer, Murray Township on Thursday. The deceased, a native of Seymour, spent nearly his entire life in this district and had he lived until June 30 would have celebrated his 92nd birthday. Three weeks before his death he went to visit his daughter, Mrs. Spencer, and it was while there that he was seized by illness.

Though Mr. Atkinson never sought public office, he took a keen interest in the affairs of the community. He was known as a lover of music and was once a violinist of considerable ability. Predeceased by his wife, the former Rachael Wright by a little more than a year, he is survived by one son William R. Atkinson, Seymour, one daughter Mrs. W. J. Spencer, Murray Township, and two brothers, Fred of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and George of Seymour.

The funeral service was conducted from the family homestead on Saturday by Rev. G. N. Maxwell of St. John's United Church, and interment was at Petherick's Corners Cemetery.

The pall-bearers were: Ray Thompson, Jack Thompson, Morely Dunk, Douglas Lloyd, Charles Keller, John Cleugh.

John Thompson Garnet Lloyd, George Parker and William Wright were the flower-bearers.

AN EXCEPTIONALLY interesting and active day is forecast from the prevailing lunar and mutual configurations. All affairs may be expected to move into successful grooves under high tension and well simulated constructive power. It is a time for using this potential force and productive energy to important purpose. Superiors, employers and elders may lend ready support and large corporations, fraternal, political or diplomatic bodies also assist.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared to utilize highly stimulated faculties and forces, which should be directed toward major operations, with innovations, radical processes or improvements, having the hearty sanction of large corporations, political or diplomatic bodies, as well as superiors or employers, all of whom should prove cooperative.

A child born on this day should be excellently endowed with inventive, scientific and constructive ideas of surprising scope and ingenunity. It should enjoy an adventurous, useful and happy life.

Bible Class Holds Final Meeting

The June meeting of the Ever-Awake class of St. James' church was held at the home of Mrs. George Hutchinson, with an attendance of 19 members.

The meeting opened with the hymn "What a Friend we have in Jesus." Scripture was read by Mrs. Jack Flynn, followed by prayer by Mrs. E. Beavis. Readings were given by Mrs. N. Monks, Mrs. J. Bailey, and Mrs. Clarence Crouter respectively. The minutes and treasurer's report were read and approved.

The class have decided to buy wool and start knitting men's socks, and also to make more layettes. They have already completed 8 layettse for overseas, besides a number of older children's garments.

The social evenings disband for summer months, but the September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Clarence Crouter, 399 Edison avenue. Those present were Mrs. E. Beavis, Mrs. J. Flynn, Mrs. E. Sevastopol's Guns Again Smash Nazis

24 Tanks And 26 Planes Wrecked In Day Assaulting Fortress

By Henry C. Cassidy,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, June 10. —(AP) —The Soviet Government announced that shellfire from Sevastopol's defence batteries dispersed a Nazi infantry regiment and killed many of its men today in check-mating an offensive said to have cost the Germans 2,500 dead yesterday.

Two dozen German tanks and 26 planes were declared to have been destroyed or damaged in June 9 operations.

"Despite his losses," the Government announced, " the enemy kept up the attacks against the heroic city."

Instead of the usual paragraph, the Soviet Information Bureau devoted 130 words of its post-midnight communique to the action about the Crimean naval base which bolstered by sea-borne reinforcements and supplise has held out at the Axis rear through more than seven months.

Details indicated the current offensive threat might be the gravest in a series of thrusts, previously reported to have cost Hitler's command 50,000 dead.

Two Regiments Halted.

"The Germans threw two infantry regiments into one attack against units commanded by Comrade Zovikov," the bureau said. "Our artillery and mortar men dispersed the Hitlerites with accurate fire. Many hundreds of enemy dead were left

Sinking Trawlers

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 10 — (AP). — German high command claimed to-day the sinking by U-boat gunfire of two fishing trawlers off the Canadian coast.

(These claims are without confirmation of any sort from Canadian or other sources.)

The high command communique also claimed that eight freighters totalling 41,000 tons have been sunk by U-boats in American waters.

Foundry Swamps Aces In Softball Tilt

COBOURG, June 10. — (ENS) — Dunham Aces, showing the effects of lack of practice, took a trouncing in the men's softball league here when the Foundry lads defeated them by the score of 28-5. The iron-workers only needed 19 hits for their 28 counters due to the errors of the Aces. In the opening inning, the Foundry chalked up five runs on four hits. With two down, Platt opened up with a circuit clout. Three singles and an error gave the Foundry the remainder of their total before Dawe struck out to wind up the frame. Conlin scored for the Durham Aces on Goulding's two-bagger for the Aces' first run. In the second inning the Foundry chalked up seven runs on five hits Waghorn did a nice bit of pitching after a single and two walks had loaded the bases, by fanning heavy-hitting Platt.

Waghorn was touched for two runs in the third and fourth innings. In the last of the fourth the Aces scored two runs on as many hits and in the fifth brought their total up to five runs where they stayed for the remainder of the game. In the fifth inning, Morford of the Foundry connected for a homer with Medhurst, Stevenson and Abraham perched on the sacks, to run the score up to the tune of four more. Conlin doing the mound work, having replaced Waghorn in the fifth frame. The Aces contributed four more errors and Conlin heaved wild pitches in the sixth to donate six more runs to the Foundry. Bell went to the mound for the Dunham Aces in the seventh inning and was touched for two hits, a base on balls and a couple of wild throws, resulting in two more runs for the Foundry. Following were the line-ups:

Foundry— Oven, ss; Johston, c; Platt, p; Marsden, 1b; Goody, 2b; Bevan, 2b (4); Medhurst, lf; Stevenson, cf; Dawe, rf; Abraham, rf; (4); Morford, 3b.

Dunham Aces — Conlin, ss; Turpin, 1b; Goulding, 2b; Grieves, rf; Waghorn, p; Brown, 3b; Crossen, cf; Bell, (5) cf; Randall, c and Johnston, lf.

Umpires were Wright at the plate and Kerr, bases.

St. Luke's Pack

A full attendance was realized at the last pack meeting, with some interesting games and stories along with the program.

The pack extended a hearty welcome to Billy Evans who joined the pack as a new chum.

The mothers' auxiliary held a meeting for the election of officers on Friday last.

NEW WAR PROJECT

The newest Canadian Scout War project is the sending of good used scout uniforms to British scouts now unable to secure them.

Jamboree Finals

The final stands of the recent Jamboree are as follows: Bobcaygeon, 92 points; St. George's, 90; George Street and Sacred Heart, 85; All Saints', 84; Murray Street, 78; St. Andrew's, 75; St. James', 71; St. Luke's, 69; St. John's, 66; Mark Street, who entered only three events, 30 out of 35.

The scout events show St. John's, 126; Sacred Heart, 108; Murray Street, 98. There were entries in the following: fire lighting 11, All Saints' winning; tent pitching 5, St. John's winning; first aid 3, Murray Street winning; sack race, total entries unknown, Murray Street winners; tug of war 9, St. John's winning in final from All Saints' and Sacred Heart; message relay 7, Lakefield the winners.

It was really gratifying to see our visitors from Bobcaygeon come through to take off top honors in the cub program and we wish them good hunting and will be looking forward to seeing them with us again in the coming years. Some of the scout events were poorly represented and we would urge that the scout officers do their best to induce the real scout spirit in the theme of their troop activities.

Echoes From the Scout Craft Show.

There are still a few unclaimed articles at the scout headquarters belonging to boys of various groups and we would ask those who are looking for their exhibits to get in touch with Secretary Pete Dominik or Skipper Groombridge. We also regret to announce that one or two articles were apparently packed away with the wrong groups and would ask those who happen to have three paintings by Paul Borland or a scrap book that does not belong to them to return same at once to either of the above officers. The phone numbers are 7756 or 3067.

Boy Scout Air Raid Searchers

The boy scouts of Belfast are to assist in a "Searchers' Scheme" which at request of the War Office, has been organized to operate in that area after enemy air raids. The scheme has been instituted to deal with inquiries from members of the forces concerning their relatives in districts where there has been an enemy air attack.

At St. John's

The Pack.—Rover Scout Ron Gynane attended the pack meeting and assisted the skipper in taking a number of cubs in signalling. It was announced that a new competition would be started next week in which attendance would help in the gaining of marks for the six.

Sixers Jack Gray and Wilfred Woodcock gave instruction on ball throwing and the laws, while knot tying instruction was given by Akela.

The Troop.—The fine evening found the troop activities transferred to the lawn on the east side of the church, where a knot relay and a message relay were run off. Instruction was also given in Kim's game, scout's pace and tenderfoot work. Patrol leader L. Groombridge was successful in passing his tests for ambulance badge. During the evening an investiture ceremony was held in which Ian Penglasse and Johnny Green were made full members of the great brotherhood of scouts. We wish them both good scouting.

Summer Scouting

It has been urged more than ever this year that every scout unit will do its utmost to carry on scouting activities all through the summer months. We feel that it is very essential that every effort should be made to carry out open air activities and to concentrate on message relay and first aid work.

Down at The Sacred Heart

Some twelve boys braved the weather over the holiday week-end as they camped at the scout grounds prior to the jamboree events, many of the boys experiencing their first scout camp. To Gerald Lucano, the camp will always bear a special significance, as he was admitted into the world-wide brotherhood of Scouts through the investiture ceremony. There were visitors at the camp, one member from St. John's troop and two from St. James'.

Some drastic changes have been made in the personnel of the troop as three new patrol leaders were appointed, namely George Freeman to the Beavers, replacing Paul Lazure; Michael Crowley being made second. Jack Hayes, P.L. to the Eagles, replacing Gerald O'Dette; H. Shaughnessy to second. Bill Hayes is now P.L. of the Eagles and is assisted by K. Freeman as second.

The appointment of Frank Lucano to the position of Troop Leader will meet with the approval of all who know him. One of those quiet efficient young fellows who is bound to get on. Frank started with the group as a cub, gaining several proficiency badges and also his second star. It was not long before he was promoted as a sixer. We wish him good scouting.

Another name was added to the ever-growing roll of world scouting, as Eldon Paquette was invested in a very quiet ceremony at our last meeting.

Owing to the introduction of some new leaders into the troop, it has been necessary to change to meeting nights on Monday. Messrs. Ed Woodhouse and Ed Johnston are the two gentlemen who are training for the future leadership of the troop and we wish them every success in their new adventure.

On Sunday last the scouts acted as bodyguard to the Blessed Sacrament during the Corpus Christi procession, an honor awarded to the troop for the past few years.

At a court of honor meeting P.L. Jack Hayes was appointed secretary; Claire Dionne, quartermaster, and M. Crowley, librarian.

Several of the troop are helping with the salvage centre and are out to earn the national service badge for 100 hours war work.

Please Send In Reports

We would appreciate the news of investitures and badges earned and any news of interest from many of the pack and troops. The phone is still connected and the mail carriers are still on the job. Why don't you get busy: Phone 3067 or drop a line to 296 Rogers street.

Close Victory Gives Rascals Top Place Tie

PORT HOPE, June 10—(ENS). — The Beavers received their first defeat of the season when the Rascals overcame a four-run lead with the score, Rascals 5, Beavers 4, at the Kings field on Tuesday night.

Edwardson, in four times at the bat, clouted a triple and two singles for the Beavers. Woods, pitching for the Beavers, only allowed 3 hits, but a shaky infield was responsible for his downfall.

The Beavers loaded the bases in the 7th inning but were unable to bring in the tieing run. Line-up:

		R.	H.	E.
Beavers	202 000 0—4	8	4
Rascals	000 122 0—5	3	3

Batteries: Beavers—Woods and Mann; Rascals—Blow and Seison.

Beavers—Baxter, rf; Williams, 3b; Hoy, ss; Edwardson, 1b; Mann, c; Phillips 2b; Hewson, lf; Rowden, cf; Woods, p.

Rascals—Ashby, ss; Huffman, 1b; Bennett, cf; Dawley, rf; Blow, p; Nelson, c; Bailey, rf; Keeler, 3b, Elliott 2b; Bongard, 1b.

Edwardson had a three base hit Woods struck out 5 and Blow 5. Base on balls—Off Woods 2; Blow 6. Left on bases—Beavers 12, Rascals 5 Hit by pitcher—Nelson by Woods and Woods by Blow.

Standing:

	Won.	Lost
Beavers	2	1
Rascals	2	1
Grill	0	3

The next game will be held on Thursday between Royal Grill and Beavers.

Senators Claim Summer Is Here

COBOURG, June 10. —(ENS) — The rains are over and summer is officially here. Weather prognosticators can prognasticate but there is nothing official until the members of the "Senate," those lads of elderly years who frequent the Town Hall lobby during the winter, bring out their benches and park them in front of the Town Hall. Yesterday the last bench was carried out and planted out in front and the summer was officially here. By some uncanny sense the Senate always seems to know when it is time to start sitting out in front and the fact that they didn't start their out-of-door sessions some weeks ago, shows that they had the rainy weather spell all doped out in advance. So now, the boys will be able to carry on their analysis of events, local, national and international, and at the same time be able to keep an eye on what is going on up and down the street.

Women Warned Against Worry

HAVELOCK, June 10—(ENS). — The June meeting of the Home and School Association was held on Tuesday, with President Mrs. Harry Pollock presiding.

The auditors, Mrs. R. W. Goheen and Miss V. Buchanan, presented their report as follows: Total receipts of year, $61.07; total expenditures $26.15, and a bank balance of $34.92. The committee appointed to spend the $25 on class-room equipment reported they were co-operating with the School Board in the purchase of a pictograph machine, also one colored picture for each class-room. A card of sympathy is to be sent to Mrs. C. Taylor, the immediate past president of the association. Roll call was taken, showing 12 members present and 3 children.

Three items on the program were unavoidably absent. Miss V. Buchanan gave a most interesting talk on "The Great Evil of Worry."

The attendance shield for this month was won by Mr. C. Sutherland's room. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 8.

New Man Needed

COBOURG, June 10. — June sessions of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council will open on Monday with Warden Roy Dodge presiding. It is expected that it will be a routine sessions with nothing of particular portent to come up, although there will likely be discussion on the matter of a successor to the late John McMillan, superintendent of the Counties Home.

Expecting Judge

COBOURG, June 10. — J. C. German, K. C., of Toronto, who has been named judge for the judiciary of Northumberland and Durham, will be officially sworn in here next week. The arrangements have not been completed but it is expected to take place on Monday.

Boys' Clothing Needed By Red Cross

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10 (ENS) —Announcement of a new quota of urgently required boys' clothing was made to members of the Campbellford and Seymour branch of the Red Cross at their meeting on Tuesday afternoon. According to the secretary both underwear and suits are "needed badly," and in addition to this material will soon be on hand to make 25 pairs of boys' shorts (6 year size) and 50 shirts in the same size. All other work will be placed aside until this very important quota is filled. "We are still not doing all we could and if everyone just gave up one afternoon a week for this work all quotas could be filled in short order. Though summer is here, the war is still to be won and more work must be accomplished. Two large quilts and a cot quilt were completed at the meeting and in addition a considerable amount of sewing and knitting was turned in along with two afghans.

BUDGET INCREASE

The Union of South Africa is budgeting an increase of $36,000,000 over last year's provision for defence spending.

Sweeping Rule

Washington, June 10 (AP).

IN A decision affecting several million "white collar" workers, the United States Supreme Court upheld today the government's contention that additional compensation for overtime must, in the absence of a contract for a specific hourly wage, be paid employees even though they receive a fixed weekly salary above the amount required by the wage-hour law.

Claims Ontario Likely Target

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP). — Ontario is a more attractive target to German bombers than Canada's coastal areas and by the Great Circle route is only 200 miles farther, W. J. Scott, Ontario Fire Marshal, yesterday told the Civil Defence Conference of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. "With out concentration of industries which make much finer targets than dock installations and shipping, we might well be chosen," he said.

The R.C.A.F. had assured provincial organizations that a warning of at least one hour could be expected if enemy bombers attacked Ontario either from the north or east.

Former Record Broken At Field Day

PORT HOPE, June 10. — (ENS) —The final event in the Port Hope High School Field Day events took place at the Town Park race track on Tuesday afternoon when the one mile race was run.

This race was an open event and was won by Lorne Smith who broke his last year's record by better than 10 seconds. This year's time was 5 minutes 10.4 seconds while last year's time was 5 minutes 20.4 seconds. Running second was Gordon Elliot and third Jim Poynton with Arnold Baxter a very close fourth.

The interform champion has now been decided by taking an average from points won in Field Day events. This honor goes to grade 12 with an average of 8 points per pupil.

The awards and presentation of cups and medals will take place at the High School on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Lorne Smith was also the winner in the 4½ mile event and broke his own record of 27 minutes, 49¼ seconds by making the run in 25 minutes, 35 seconds.

Other winners in this 4½ mile were seniors: Ken. Downey, 29 minutes, 43 seconds; Bill Meldrum and Albert Martin.

Intermediates: Lorne Smith, 25 minutes, 35 seconds, Russel Downey and Bill Stechysyn.

Juniors: Graham Foster, 18 minutes, 22 seconds; Ted Sinnett and John Comar.

COLONEL BLIMPS

LONDON—(CP)—Lord Wedgwood said in the House of Lords: "Today all young men when they leave college are either Colonel Blimps, by which I mean Tories, or Socialists, and there is no much to choose between the two."

Where Is Woman's Place?

Recently we commented at length in these columns on Mr. Thorson's decision to prevent the C.W.V.S. from continuing to operate under that name, and from enjoying such benefits as it derives from registration under the National War Charities Act. Mr. Thorson does not want a national organization such as the C.W.V.S.; he wants an organization of his own which is called the Women's Voluntary Services, operated by two officials of his own choosing, and this organization will work through local social service organizations. The reason which Mr. Thorson gives for his preference is that the existence of a national organization (the C.W.V.S.) does not cope adequately with sectional cleavages in this country. In short, Mr. Thorson wants to put the C.W.V.S. out of action.

We should like to know all the reasons for this decision. There must be better reasons than those which Mr. Thorson has already made public. It is his contention that women's work in this war is already adequately provided for by the local women's organizations of long standing. If that is so we should like to know which organization would have provided the 61 typists who were mustered at short notice to do clerical work when the Prince of Wales Regiment was mobilized in this town? That is only one instance in which the C.W.V.S. has done a good job.

* * *

We are curious in this matter because we do not like any suggestion that women's work in this war is unimportant and that the enthusiasm of women should be squelched. There are signs throughout the country that this attitude is increasing and we should like to say right now that we are strongly opposed to it. There are still a great number of men and not a few women who share the view of Aristotle that "woman is an inferior kind of man," and that women who want to do any work beyond their traditional tasks of home-making and child-rearing are going against nature and jeopardizing the social system. Recently the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force has been criticized from many quarters, its usefulness impugned and its right to wear uniforms questioned. Its members have also been charged with sexual promiscuity and the rumor has been circulated that large numbers of them are pregnant as a result of this. An investigation has proved that such accusations are wholly unfounded. The R.C.A.F. (W.D.) is doing a variety of jobs which release men for other work, and among them one woman only is pregnant and as she is married the most moralistic critic must admit that she is within her rights.

* * *

During the last war women won many freedoms which had formerly been denied them, and it will be so this time. Repressive measures exercised against women's organizations are merely attempts to dam a torrent with a sieve. Reactionaries may protest that woman's place is in the home, but the trend of thought in the modern world is that woman's place is wherever she can do a good job. Certainly this will disturb the status quo and certainly it will create a labor problem after the war, but as it appears to be inevitable we might as well prepare for it now. Meanwhile we see the paradox of a country crying for a total war effort and at the same time throwing cold water on an enthusiastic and useful volunteer organization. We suspect that there is more in this than meets the eye and we should greatly like to know what it is.

Publishing Income Figures

The Reverend A. M. Nicholson, the C.C.F. member for Mackenzie, has advocated in the House of Commons that the figures of individual incomes be published by the Income Tax branch of the Treasury Department. The reverend gentleman said that such figures were made public in the U.S., and that it was "high time" that similar information was made available in Canada.

We cannot see that it is "high time" for any such action. We have a shrewd notion of what would happen if the figures of large incomes were made public. The men who receive the large incomes would immediately become Aunt Sallies for people who believe that no man is worth an income markedly greater than their own, and who feel that, if they cannot enrich themselves, they can at least impoverish the rich. Much of their crusading zeal is founded upon the widespread but erroneous belief that the wealth of this world, evenly divided, would provide every man and woman with a healthy income.

We hold no brief for rich men, but we recognize that they have the same rights as other citizens and we see no reason why their incomes should be published to satisfy the curiosity of private members of Parliament. The Income Tax people know what the rich men make, and they see that a very large part of it is taken from them for the use of the State; we think that is all that is necessary. The Rev. Mr. Nicholson is not required to divulge his income if he wishes to keep it a secret and we do not see why anyone else should be required to do so merely because his income is larger.

We do not attach too much importance to Mr. Nicholson's suggestion, but we feel that it is, representative of many C.C.F. ideas. This party, despite a manifesto, does not appear to be clear as to what it wants, but it would like to discomfit as many people as possible. Comparatively few of its members have been able to command large incomes in a capitalist State, and so it seeks to denigrate those whose talents have been more profitably marketable. It seeks, apparently, a social system in which we shall all be poor but honest. We are afraid, however, that the C.C.F. ideal will never be realized in a world where men are possessed of unequal talents. It is a large undertaking to make the world completely safe for mediocrity.

The Journalistic Muse

The coming of Spring has affected some of our contemporaries in the traditional manner and they have broken into verse. The first sweet murmurs of the journalistic Muse were heard in Vancouver, where the Sun of that city, temporarily forgetting the imminent Japanese invasion, published this:

Get the axe
For Angus Bass;
At 6 a.m.
He cuts his grass.

This was shortly followed by a brief effusion in the Edmonton Bulletin, which warbled thus:

Some morn in oil
Boil Hector Mace;
He lets his auto
Engine race.

Then, as the wave of poesy swept Eastward, the Winnipeg Tribune felt the divine afflatus, and thus it sung:

The hemlock cup
For Luther Bowers;
He wants the world
To praise his flowers.

The lyre was next twanged by the Windsor Daily Star, and this pearl is added to the fast-lengthening necklace:

Down the well
With Tommy Hawk;
He wets his lawn
But floods the walk

Observe, gentle reader, the pure and artless character of these verses. The form is the essence of simplicity and chastity; in unstudied numbers our contemporaries seek to correct the faults of their erring fellows. Dare we add our humble prune to this dish of luscious poetic fruit? Yes, all things considered, we dare. Here goes:

The adder's fang
For Rodney Sweetham;
He 'contacts' men
Where others meet 'em.

Spring now having been welcomed with appropriate song, our editorial columns henceforth will be conducted entirely in prose.

Slightly Sick Department

We have nothing against dogs, though we admit freely that we could live happily if we were told that we would never see a dog again. We think we understand how dog-lovers feel about dogs, and if that is the way in which they find emotional satisfaction we are perfectly content that it should be so. But we are made slightly sick by the excessive, orgiastic dog-worship which apparently flourishes in some circles in New York. Read, we beg of you, this dispatch which Associated Press sends out from that city, dated June 8:

"More than 20,000 dogs will take part next week in Don't-Call-Nazis-Dogs-Because-Dogs-Are-Nice Week.

"H. N. Blair, official of the Tailwagger Club, said the week was set aside because the club is sick and tired of the abuse being heaped upon nice dogs whenever a Nazi is labelled a dog by a patriotic American. He said that 'Falla,' President Roosevelt's Scottie, is included on the club's membership list.

Said Kate Smith, radio singer and honorary chairman of the Tailwaggers:

"'The time has come to show American dogs—many of which are on war duty—the proper respect and not compare them with Hitler and his kind.'"

There you have it. Will you ponder over it yourself, because we have to hurry away now and write a letter to Winston Churchill asking him to join our Don't-Call-Mussolini-A-Jackal-Because-Jackals-Are-Good-To-Their-Mothers Club.

Perils Of Hero-Worship

Everyone makes mistakes and all that we can do is to pray fervently that our mistakes may not be too gross in their nature. For inevitably someone will remember all our prophecies which failed to come true and will use them to shame us long after we have forgotten them. As an example we reprint this comment on the recent gigantic British raids on Germany, from the pages of the Philadelphia Record. The Record heads it "Bum Guesser's Department":

"These gigantic raids—greatest in the history of aerial warfare—make monkeys out of the 'it-couldn't-be-done' boys, the experts who were raising all possible objections to mass flights from England against Germany.

"Especially Charles A. Lindbergh. Lindbergh—whom the isolationists hailed as the last word in aviation experting—made the following gloomy predictions now gloriously proved phony—June 20, 1941, at the Hollywood bowl:

"'The area, the terrains and the climatic conditions of Great Britain are not advantageous for flying. No matter how many fighting planes we build in America and send to England, it is not possible to base enough squadrons in the British Isles to equal in striking power the squadrons that Germany can base on the continent of Europe.'"

There will be few readers of these columns who do not remember Lindbergh's great exploit in 1927; and the subsequent conferring upon him of the Cross of the Legion d'Honneur, the British Royal Air Force Flying Cross, and, in his own land, the Congressional Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross; later the Colonel received a decoration from that fancier of aviators, Field-Marshal Goering. Do you remember the great air tour which took in 78 cities and permitted the Lone Eagle to accept the admiration of every state in the Union? Those were great days.

It seems to be a fault of this world that we either neglect to honor our great men at all, or we honor them to excess. Col. Lindbergh was a young man of engaging personality and he proved himself an exceptionally good flyer. But because his brow was high and his mien serious we assumed that he was a man of phenomenal mental sinew; we made the old foolish mistake of assuming that a man who was clever at one thing must be clever at all things. This is never less true than when it is applied to someone whose achievements are of a technical nature. Was it any wonder that Lindbergh fell into the trap which the crowd made for him and accepted the idea of himself as a great man?

And so Col. Lindbergh set up shop as a sage and his wife set up shop as an historical philosopher and both made themselves somewhat ridiculous. Perhaps the Lindberghs think of themselves as the central figures in a tragedy, and if that gives them any comfort let them continue to think so. But now that the Colonel's publicity has shrunk to an occasional mention in the "Bum Guesser's Department" we can think of him only as an example of the perils which lie in hero-worship.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Wisconsin man has lost his job because he insisted on smoking during a blackout. Where there's smoke there's fire.

Lewis Carroll brought up to date by the New York Times:

"If I walk on my hands," Father William replied,
"It is not that my sanity reels;
Nor yet is it vain exhibitionist pride,
I'm conserving my last rubber heels."

A tart comment from the Windsor Star: "Negroes are now permitted to mingle with whites in Arlington, Va., cafeterias and ride in buses out of Washington beside white war workers. America, too, is being made safe for democracy."

OLD COWMAN

Too old to make the rounds of far-flung camps,
Still fond of open sky and sage-tanged breeze,
He sits his porch while Evening lights her lamps—
The stars—and hangs them high above the trees.
With dimming sight he looks across the hills
And sees, if not with eyes, each gulch and rim;
And hears, in memory, the rippled trills
Of larks that used to sing Out There to him. . . .
A gaunt old man, his tanned, deep-written face
Is like a page which holds the hist'ry of
The West that was. . . . May time that's left erase
The scars from heart whose courage, faith and love
Were given to these hills where cattle roam,
And where tonight an old man sits at home.

John Grierson, Head of Film Board

(Winnipeg Free Press)

OTTAWA: In a war in which propaganda is a weapon, Canada has set the pace in propaganda films. Most Canadians are entirely unaware of this, and they are only discovering it now because U.S. movie critics have begun to discover it. Hollywood, with its eye on movie developments the world over, recognized the work being done by the National Film Board of Canada last year when an Academy award was given to the Canadian documentary film entitled "Churchill's Island."

Founded just before the war broke out in 1939, the National Film Board is now making more than 100 short films annually, and they are seen on movie screens in Canada, in the United States, in South America, in Britain and Australia. The purpose of films made by the board is not to glorify Canada, in the manner in which German documentary films glorify the Nazi system. They are produced to give an authentic, instructive account of events that are happening in the world today — and the world being what it is, the Canadian film-makers have a lush field from which to draw subject material.

HOLLYWOOD'S "Oscar" for the best documentary film of 1941 was won by a short film that cost only $4,990.15. The figure was disclosed the other day when the question came up in Parliament. "Churchill's Island" was an account of England under the blitzkreig. It showed England as the war broke, it showed the German air attack of 1940 and the war preparations of the Nazis that made it possible, and it showed how the English stood up to it. That is all history now, and the Canadian documentary rarely deals with history. An interesting detail just revealed is that of its total length of 1,924 feet, 957 feet were taken in England, 762 feet came from films seized from the Germans, and 205 feet were taken in Canada.

The genius of the National Film Board is John Grierson, a short Scotsman who pioneered British documentary films. Grierson resigned last year and the Canadian Government hastened to persuade him to stay in Canada. He got a new three-year contract. Grierson has the flashing eye of genius. He has the sort of brain that glows incandescently under a flow of ideas. His ideas have established the developing pattern for Canadian documentary films, which have become as distinctive as American swing music or as Disney's cartoons. His chief film assistant is Stuart Legg, who produces the film board's two main series. One is Canada Carries On, a monthly series for Canadian circulation, and the other is The World in Action, for U.S. distribution. Grierson has surrounded himself with a group of young film addicts who slave in his laboratories, cutting rooms and editing tables with the intense loyalty found only in a passionate cult.

But Grierson is no cultist. His formula is to take the actual film records, to send his cameramen out to get them where possible, and to weave them into one or two vibrant reels in which the visual picture and the commentary combines to present the living event and the background that makes it intelligible. A news reel presents a straight news report, but a Grierson film documents the news and the meaning behind it.

The newest World in Action film is called "New Soldiers Are Tough." It shows the actual conditions under which soldiers fight in this war, whether in Russia, in Libya, in China, in commando raids on the coast of Europe, or elsewhere. Then it tells the story of training in new methods and with new weapons required for soldiers in Allied armies or for guerillas operating deep behind the German or Japanese lines. The surprising thing is the amount of film of actual war scenes available for a picture of this kind, including the shooting of prisoners by the Japanese.

FILMS of the Grierson type contain no whimsy, no soft tones, and little, if any, make-believe. They bring a new punch to the screen that only the free minds of free people can absorb. Take a previous World in Action film entitled "This Is Blitz." The New York Times described it: "Here, within a few minutes, is given a graphic, dynamic description of the way the Nazi blitzkreig strikes — a grim, realistic illustration, taken directly from official German army films. No punches are pulled in this sequence, the audience is given to understand that the enemy is tough. But then the second half of the picture shows the methods the British and the Canadians have devised to oppose blitz warfare—the instruction of troops as combat-teams. One takes away from the picture a respect for the enemy's might, but also a deeper confidence in the ability of our own side to smack it down. How much more effective is a picture of this sort in building morale than a vocal-pictorial explanation of the forging of a bomber or a tank!"

The Grierson films shown as short features in city theatres represent only one side of the working of the National Film Board. More than 40 travelling theatres show these films and many more made especially for them to rural audiences in many part of Canada. Films about Canada are making their own country, its social and economic problems, and its beauty and its arts more familiar to Canadians. The rural film circuit brings the full story of Canada at war to rural areas, showing pictures explaining the strategy of war, the training of troops, industrial production, as well as the geographical structure of the Dominion. In addition, National Film Board pictures are available on loan through film libraries in all large Canadian cities.

The Grierson films have become a new, powerful weapon of propaganda, making major aspects of the war clear to Canadians, interpreting to them the world in which they live.

HITLER JUST THINKS OF EVERYTHING

• Midway Hara-Kiri for Tojo?

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

WHATEVER else Premier General Hideki Tojo, the real ruler of Japan, told Emperor Hirohito in his report on the war yesterday, he had only bleak tidings from the Midway Island area. The scope of the Japanese disaster there has swelled day by day, hour by hour as the returns come in.

Tokyo's failure even to admit there has been a battle at all is proof positive that a jarring blow has been struck not only in grim retaliation for Pearl Harbor; but at the very foundations of the Japanese conquest dream. How serious a blow Tojo himself may not have known yet.

That the Japanese sea force fled the field under a radio blackout to escape further American vengeance is wholly probable. There are strong indications its losses have not yet been fully scored up. Its plight was so desperate once the Midway trap was sprung that its laggard sea units, battered lame-duck craft, must have become a menace.

They were the spoor of the sea trails. Falling behind uninjured or less damaged craft, they gave clues to the far-ranging American air scouts as to where their more fortunate fugitive comrades might be seeking refuge. That could bring American submarines on scouting duty into their path.

Nor could Japanese pride permit surrender of injured craft even when hopelessly cut off. What happened to those enemy lame-ducks may never be known; but the ancient Samurai code to which Japan's military caste still clings suggests wholesale hara-kiri for ships and crews somewhere in those wide waters.

Face-saving by self destruction when confronted with defeat or disgrace still is a functioning relic of Japanese feudalism. It is the fate that seems certainly in store for the Japanese who commanded or planned that ill-fated sortie against Midway Island. It could have been ordered for wounded ships to blind the trail of those still able to run for refuge somewhere.

Whatever happened to break American contact with the foe west of Midway, the results of the battle cast a new and ominous shadow on the "victory" summary of six months of war Tojo might otherwise have laid before the puppet Emperor. Like the Coral Sea fight and General Jimmy Doolittle's bomber sweep across Japan, they spell out into portents of an approaching day when Japan will find herself besieged by air and sea as Britain long was but is no longer.

Hirohito is the 124th Japanese Emperor of his line in a dynasty that antedates the Christian era; and he may be the last. His fate and that of his empire now are at stake in a conflict brought on him by his military monitors inflamed by premature estimates of Nazi strength at arms and seeking escape from a "China Incident" that had dogged them for half a decade. And the bones of Japanese dead men and ships that litter the floor of the Coral Sea and the North Central Pacific are an ill omen for the son of more than a hundred emperors who sits in Tokyo.

• C.C.F.'s Bid for Attention

FAILING to get a favorable judgment in its attempt to compel the Ontario Government to hold a by-election in High Park Riding, the C.C.F. announces that it will carry the case to the highest court. Its right exists to go to this expense and take up the time of the judiciary and the attention of the public, but its service in doing so is subject to question. Mr. Justice Greene found no evdience of a demand in the Legislative Assembly for a by-election, and no particular agitation for the filling of the vacant seat, and decided that the law lacked authority to compel action. It is hard to believe a political body, anxious to create public goodwill for itself, would choose a time like this merely to test the validity of law. Its concern plainly is political, to serve its own interests, and how!

These are troubled days when a political party which hasn't heretofore made much headway thinks the situation ripe for peddling its new wares and moving toward possible control of the public treasury, taking advantage of the anxiety over the war which is preventing the old parties from pressing political activity. The main object of the C.C.F., obviously, is to get itself into the limelight, at whatever cost.

There is the argument advanced that failing to fill the vacant seats is the antithesis of democracy, the C.C.F. watermark. The contention that C.C.F. policies, designed to extend State dictatorship over the individual, are democratic would probably bring a sardonic smile from Herr Hitler. Of course, it is not democracy to leave the seats vacant. But hardly anything in Canada today is democracy, the necessary result of fighting a war to save democracy. Look at Ottawa, the seat of the only Government that counts under the circumstances. What is democratic about its functioning, its Orders-in-Council, its price and wage ceilings, rationing, regimentation of business, production and human effort? The Federal Government has jettisoned democratic institutions for efficiency. Free citizens cannot be happy about it, but if it is necessary they accept it for the time being. The point is that the Government, conducting not only the affairs normally belonging to it, but those of the Legislature it has pre-empted, has banned democracy, and an attempt is being made to stir up a fuss over a detail of democracy in the operation of a Provincial Government which has little excuse for being alive.

How important is it to fill these seats? What would it contribute to the success of the war? To what extent is the province suffering because of the vacancies? In reality who cares whether there is a Provincial Legislature or not, while the Dominion Government is being urged to turn all the resources within provincial boundaries—to the war effort? That is, who cares outside of the C.C.F., which wants seats opened in order to run candidates for office, to stir up discussion of its political policies, even though by-elections would take time and money and distract Ontario's enlisted men from their serious duties. To most people, we think, winning the war is more important than having the C.C.F. interrupt to serve selfish ends.

Yet the C.C.F. has gone to the courts, will go to the highest court, in an effort to bring on by-elections of no practical use in defeating Hitler. —Globe and Mail.

Suspect Goering May Scuttle Off Adolf's Ship

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, June 10. —(AP) — Will Hermann Goering, like Rudolph Hess, some day abandon the Hitler ship?

Will he even, perchance, conspire against his master as Ernst Roehm did.

Or will he go down with his master?

This subject is much discussed in whispers among the men and women in Germany who still do a little thinking of their own.

Only a day or two before Hess' sensational departure, they had read the speech he delivered in awarding the title of "Pioneer of Labor," to Airplane Designer Messerschmidt and other top industrialists. It sounded like a perfectly normal speech. They couldn't trust their ears when, after Britain announced the arrival of Hess in Scotland, the German radio blared out that Hess had been demented for some time.

"If Hess is a sample, how many other men in high places are crazy?" I heard more than one German say. Berlin wits soon took hold of the situation and coined the phrase, "I'm crazy—I'll take a plane for England."

The regime must have realized that the explanation about Hess' suddenly becoming crazy was not convincing the masses. So the Goebbels propaganda ministry employed typical Nazi methods—an order was issued to the press that all discussion or even mention of the Hess case must cease immediately.

Herman Goering, alone, of Hitler's three main props, remains. So does Goebbels, but Hitler has never trusted him as completely as he did the other three; he uses him because he is "gescheit" (clever, brainy). So does Heinrich Himmler, the sinister head of the Gestapo and in fact of the entire German police, but Hitler probably fears him more than he trusts him.

No. 1 and No. 2 Spat.

It is well known that Goering from time to time is in the doghouse, so far as his master is concernel The two men every now and then have a spat. Now it is the luxury with which Goering loves to surround himself with which irks his master. Hitler doesn't mind his boys enriching themselves and going in for high living, only they mustn't put it on too thick.

Goering makes no secret of the fact that he thinks the second man in the Reich—meaning himself—is entitled to live off the fat of the land.

The storm blows over and Hitler and Goering are ostentatiously shown shaking hands and fraternizing in the weekly news reels.

They have repeated spats over conduct of the war. Goering, as a war ace from the First Great War, knows what his pilots can do and resents commands form all-highest quarters that expect the impossible.

So occasionally Goering quits the front and for weeks turns up at his sumptuous estate in the Schorf Meadow, some 50 miles from Berlin. He is plainly sulking. There are even rumors in such times that he has been given "stubenarrest," literally meaning confinement to his room, but more liberally signifying that he must not leave his estate.

Then Someone Arrives

But by the time this fact of a spat becomes common knowledge, some foreign bigwig like Mussolini or Horthy or the Bulgarian King arrives for a conference with Hitler, and then one sees pictures of these men also paying a visit to Goering at his G.H.Q. in East Prussia.

Looking sharply at the newsreel pictures, one can detect that there isn't much cordiality in the handshake between Hitler and his Reich's Marshal. But soon thereafter there chances to be a Reichstag meeting in the course of which Goering, as the only speaker besides the Fuherer, slobbers all over with assertions of loyalty to his master. And he lays it on so thick about the supernatural powers of Adolf Hitler that one may well wonder whether it's just satire.

General opinion among those who have watched Goering all these years is that he is by no means wedded to the Nazi faith in the bigoted sort of way that Goebbels professes to be, and that Hess truly was—until his defection.

It is also known that relations between Goering and Himmler are strained, and that the Reich's Marshal is by no means in harmony with all Gestapo practices.

It is also known that his wife, Emmy, intervened for many hapless Jewish artists, and that Goering himself once said, when confronted with the fact that one Jewish Kapellmeister continued to conduct at the State Opera, "It is I who determines who is a Jew and who is not."

Furthermore, Goering is an officer from Imperialist days. He always has remained a Monarchist at heart. He never has broken off his connections with the former ruling families of Germany.

On one occasion, to my positive knowledge, an American in Berlin was visited by a man claiming to represent Goering. The question he put was: Would the United States administration have the same objections to Goering at the head of the German government that it has to Hitler?

Watch Goering, is all the trained observer of German politics can say to inquiring compatriots.

Soviet Tank Blasts German Positions

Tanks of the Red army are shown blasting away at German positions as Soviet infantry forces rush forward to strike down the retreating enemy. This picture, radioed from Moscow to London and rushed by clipper to New York, was taken in the Kharkov area where Russians are pouring vast quantities of men and material into the fierce battle to crush the Nazi invaders.

Sunken Jap Sub

One of the Japanese submarines sunk in Sydney harbor during an attempted raid is shown standing on end during the salvage operations. This one is larger than the midget subs trapped and sunk at Pearl Harbor, being about 60 feet long, compared to the 41 feet of the craft used in the December 7 sneak raid. The photo was radioed from Melbourne to San Francisco and wired to New York.

Coal Supplies Ordered by Board

NORWOOD, June 10 (ENS)—The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education was held in Norwood High School with the following members present. Mr. John Marks, chairman, Mrs. E. P. Cuffe, Mrs. Aarmar Weir, Messrs. D. Starke, W. H. Montgomery, R. Nevins, G. Wright, E. T. Buck, E. Hamblin, W. B. Tucker and T. P. Rork.

The chairman of the supply committee reported that a car of Alberta coal had been ordered, to be around 40 ton at a price of $12 per ton. It was moved by Messrs. Buck and Rork that the supply committee be authorized to purchase for the use at the High School as much hard coal as can be stored.

Mr. Stark and Mrs. Weir moved that the supply committee purchase two balls and bats for the High School.

The Property Committee reported that the material was on hand for the swings at the Public School but that they had not yet been erected.

Moved by Messrs. Hamblin and Tucker that the Property Committee be authorized to make the necessary changes to the black-board and partition in Mrs. Pakenham's room.

Dr. Dean was present and addressed the Board regarding the bus service.

Moved by Messrs. Montgomery and Nevins that the chairman, vice-chairman and Mr. D. Starke be a school attendance committee, with power to add to their number.

Correspondence from the Department of Education regarding the course in defence training was read.

Moved by Mrs. Cuffe and Mr. Buck that we grant Miss Borisuk leave to attend the summer course in defence training, June 22.

An application for the position of music supervisor from Mr. James Gay was read. Moved by Mrs. Cuffe and Mr. Nevins that we leave Mr. Gay's application over until the July meeting.

A letter from Miss Brillinger requesting an increase in salary was read.

A letter from the assistant teachers of the public school requesting an increase in salary was read.

Moved by Messrs. Hamblin and Buck that we hold the request of the Public School assistants over until special meetings to be called later this month.

Moved by Messrs. Starke and Wright that we increase the two lady High School assistant teachers' salaries to $1400 a year.

The resignation of Mr. G. S. Fennell was read. Moved by Messrs. Hamblin and Montgomery that Mr. Fennell's resignation be accepted.

Moved by Mr. Starke and Mrs. Cuffe that we advertise for a commercial specialist to teach mathmatics and boys P.T.

German Editors Propaganda Minister Goebbels' Yes, Yes, Yesmen

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER,
Associated Press Staff Priter

NEW YORK June 10— (AP)—The Nazi editr or reporter writes as he is told to write. If he doesn't, he is, at best, blotted out from the lists of his profession. More likely he is headed for a concentration camp.

He is told in the minutest detail what he may write, what he may not touch upon, what emphasis he must place upon a given item, how he is to comment upon it, when to harp on a certain theme and when to drop it.

Nothing is left to chance, and very little to imagination.

Here's the set-up:—

Every morning the press officers of the various ministries filter into the Goebbels Ministry of Propaganda and Public Enlightenment such items of news as their minister or their department chief approves. This does not mean, necessarily, that the item will be released for publication. It may happed that the experts in the Propaganda Ministry consider the time inauspicious, in which case the ministry, in question, too, is barred from releasing it.

Or it may be that even the ministry, in relaying it to the propaganda department, desired merely that it be communicated to the German newsmen for their information but not for publication.

The Issuing Hour.

At 11 o'clock every morning Goebbels' handymen foregather to learn what they may say to the press, what information should be withheld, what commentary should be offered, which items must be carried as privileged matter (and thus made obligatory upon the papers to carry), what evasive replies should be told in response to questions anticipated.

Every official in the ministry thus knows what he is to say during the ensuing hours. So do the corresponding officials in the various ministries, who usually attend this pow-pow or at least are advised of its proceedings. Ring up whom you will after this conference, and you will get practically the same stock answer. Only rarely is a man to be found who will even bother to tell the same story in his own words.

No sooner has this morning conference taken place than radio speakers of the ministry get busy on an inside-office broadcast to the 40-odd sub-offices of the propaganda ministry scattered throughout Germany. The press officials in these branches thus receive identical instructions.

When, therefore, the editor of the Frankfurter Zeitung at Frankfurt inquires concerning the news and how to handle it, the local propaganda representative will give him exactly the same information that, a few minutes later, the Berlin correspondent for paper will receive.

For at 11 a.m. the Berlin press, including representatives of all important provincial papers, is received at the propaganda ministry and told. "You may write this; you must not say that."

All Under Oath.

The men selected for this conference are a picked lot. They are under oath not to reveal what is said during these conferences. But during

Aid to Correct Grooming
Correct Grooming is one of the major phases of one's attractiveness and impressiveness. One does not have to be all dressed up—so to speak—to impress, but certainly we have to be fittingly groomed. There is no universal standard for appearance, so each one must be guided by his or her general appearance, but there are a few fundamental principles which must be observed if one is to maintain an air of dependability and well being. Cleanliness, of course, is most essential, but it behooves us also to see that our hair is properly groomed—our teeth are attractive — our hands immaculate — our general complexion correct and our clothes show signs of care. Your Tamblyn Drug Store can aid you greatly in your effort to groom correctly, for they have many of the essentials for correct grooming, and we are sure you will find a visit to us most interesting and enjoyable as this week you will find on display countless grooming commodities and at such reasonable prices as prevail in our list of

CGE GIRLS SWAMP BRINTONS IN SLUGFEST AT EAST CITY BOWL

Winnipeg Likes Twilight Racing Cards

WINNIPEG, June 10— (CP).—Twilight racing, introduced on Winnipeg tracks this year for the first time, is proving popular with followers of the sport of kings

Despite wartime restrictions prohibiting special train and taxi services to Whittier Park—a half-mile from the nearest street car line—the St. Boniface track has been packing them in. The races are run between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. each week night, instead of from 2.30 to 5.30 p.m. as in other years.

"Distinct Success."

During the first seven days of the two-week meet at Whittier an 18 per cent. increase in attendance was recorded. Horse racing is popular with members of the active and reserve armed forces with a noticeable increase in the number of fans in uniform.

Racing officials term evening racing a "distinct success" and said they expect even larger crowds when the fourteen-day meet opens at Polo Park, June 19. Polo Park is situated within Winnipeg's city limits and on a street car line.

Betting has taken a jump in volume this year with small wagers more general than in the past.

Fans poured 5 per cent. more into pari-mutuel betting machines during the first week at Whittier Park than a year ago The $2 bets seem to be a definite trend, said race followers. The disappearance of big money wagering is taken by many to be the logical result of higher wartime taxation.

Clientele attending the twilight seven-race cards has not greatly changed.

"There are certain differences," one official said. "Night shift workers, restaurant and hotel personnel, and such persons who used to have afternoons free to attend the races are naturally cut out. But we seem to have gained more than we have lost by the change."

Cubs Wallop Barons 18 to 7

Cubs, last year's champions, who have had little luck lately, came back strong in last night's Catholic League game at Memorial Park to take their East City neighbors, the Barons, into camp by 18 runs to 7.

Both outfits scored two runs in the first frame but Cubs pulled ahead in the third and when they sent eight runs cluttering over the counting station.

Cubs collected 15 hits off the offerings of Leonard, while the Barons nicked 11 off the delivery of R. Garvey.

Cubs—F. Garvey c, Heffernan cf, R. Garvey p, Brady 3b, Donaghue rf, Sullivan lf, Caccavella 2b, F. O'Toole ss, J. O'Toole 1b.

Barons—Bud Guerin 1b, R. Mongraw cf, O'Riordon rf, Leonard p, R. Mongraw ss, B. Guerin 2b, Healy lf, McLean c, Shine 3b.

Follows Sonja's Skate Tracks

Ariane may be Europe's loss, but she is definitely America's gain. After being bombed all over Europe from the time she left her native Switzerland, the 18-year-old skating wonder finally reached the United States. She is pictured in various difficult skating poses on the Ice Terrace of the Hotel New Yorker, where she will perform. Ariane's last name is Le Vaillant, meaning the Valiant coming from the name bestowed upon her great-grandfather by Napoleon Bonaparte. The young skater studied since the age of four, under Europe's ablest figure skaters; many of whom had been previously associated with Sonja Henie.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, June 10 — (CP). — The famous 37-cent filly, Omar's Gift, almost didn't get to the post Monday at St. Boniface Whittier Park for her first start—a winning one.

Eddie (Winnipeg Free Press) Armstrong tells the story. Owner Scotty Kennedy had forgotten (incredibly enough) to register his two-year-old for the Whittier meeting. She was entered in the second race, and when Scotty got to the track a short time before the first he was told his filly would not be accepted by the paddock steward until he produced her papers.

The documents were two miles away in downtown Winnipeg. From that minute things happened fast. Scotty whipped into Winnipeg, snatched the papers (which he had carried with him for weeks), raced back to the track and presented them. A few minutes later Omar's Gift went to the post and won the race.

Neither of the two main Winnipeg handicappers mentioned Omar's Gift in their selections. Her story, from the time Scotty bought her from R. J. Speers for 37 cents to this early point in her career, is a runyonesque as fact ever will be.

Ain't It The Truth Dept.

Eddie Quinn, Montreal wrestling promoter, looked over a tank used by the Water Follies in the Montreal Forum and mused thusly: "It is a splendid tank. They should leave it there for future fight shows'.'

If Ten to Ace's liver trouble clears up in time for the Canadian Derby in Winnipeg (which is almost certain) his strongest opposition will come from Broom's Sentry and Fighting Finn.... Broom's Sentry (which sounds like a cudgel get without consulting the textbook) won the Alberta Derby with Fighting Finn second ....There's still talk of centralizing Quebec race meetings at Blue Bonnets near Montreal....There have been two dead heats in the Whittier Park Race Meeting at Winnipeg....Twilight racing has gone over big there.... bigger gates, more betting.

Incidentally:

Bobby Alston, former professional at Chaudiere Golf Club near Ottawa, cracked the course record at Glenlea Club there with a 67...It was his second round of the year and he was using a new set of clubs. ...Par for the layout is 71 and the old record was 69...Doug Darrah pitched a no-hitter for Canadians in the Edmonton Junior League last week...Joe Stanley (Lou Salica's trainer) and Arnold Bertram (Ken Lindsay's manager) threw punches before the Salica-Lindsay go in Vancouver last week...Stanley objected to Bertram watching Salica work out...Phil (Montreal Le Canada) Seguin has received his army call...Odie Cleghorn of Montreal, old-time hockey great, is riding a bike in the gas-conservation program...Mitch Pechet, who quit Philadelphia Ramblers last season to join the R.C.A.F., is training at Regina...He was a fine professional prospect, may have been the great Jewish hockey player for which Lester Patrick has searched for years.

Buster Crabbe, the handsome and be-muscled swimmer, said in Montreal (where he is with the Water Follies) he will join United States Navy soon....Vancouver Caps' Don Osborn has pitched nineteen consecutive daylight victories since 1940, but has been beaten occasionally at night....Gordon Drillon has changed his mind and will stay in Toronto this summer....He has a defence job in suburban Leaside....Andy Currie, who helped Regina Pats win Western Canada's first national grid crown—the Junior—in 1928, has been promoted to major with the Canadian Army overseas....He taught at St. John's College in Winnipeg before joining the Army, turned out some great scholastic teams there ....Jimmy Denneny of the famous hockey family has enlisted in the Black Watch....He's 19....Elmer (Montreal Canadiens) Lach likely will regain full use of the elbow he broke in Canucks' first N.H.L. games last season.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Manager F. Griffin's Luckies who opened their campaign last week by losing to Plazas have a heavy chore ahead of them for the next two nights. This evening they are billed to meet the Military Training Centre team at the Bowl at 7 o'clock and tomorrow night at the same park and the same hour they will be tossed back in against the Royals. Both of course are regular City League fixtures, and the Luckies would like nothing better than grab them both off, although they realize that would be a tough task. However the Griffin team are in better shape than when they played their initial game and they hope to give the fans plenty to cheer for tonight as they tackle the strong club from the Military Training Centre. They will have to face the pitching of either Irish Kilfoyle or Lefty Ken Fleming. Soldiers have a colorful team this season with a lot of the limelight on the hitting of Nicky Sero, former Point Anne softballer and Belleville baseballer who has been treating all pitchers alike and slapping out plenty of hits. Tonight's game should draw a real crowd.

* * * * * *

And incidentally so should the battle Thursday night at the Bowl which finds the Luckies back in action again to face the undefeated Royals, Manager Parnell is expected to start Ronnie Akers against Luckies with Fireballer Bill Fraser also available. With Arnold Smith, Maurice Giardino, Earl McNabb and George Hawks handling the infield chores, the Royals have one of the best inner guards in the loop but the league leaders have come close to defeat in their last two starts and Luckies are predicting that after tomorrow night there will be no undefeated clubs in the loop. A win for the Griffin team in both these games or even in one of them would help to tighten the league appreciably. Both battles should be well worth seeing. There will be no Men's League game Friday night.

* * * * * *

There were a lot of new faces in last night's Girls' League game at the Bowl when Porcelain and Brintons clashed in the second league battle of the season. Practically the whole personnel with the exception of Marg Batley who played first base for Brintons was new to the girls' loop and the two squads will play a lot better ball when they get some practice and coaching. They made a lot of mistakes in the field and on the basepaths last night that they are not likely to make again and they should shake down into two good squads before long. It was a free-and-easy battle with runs a dime a dozen and the laurels went to the Porcelain squad who led all the way and won by 18 to 14. At one stage the margin of the winners was much larger than that but the Brinton girls were putting on the pressure in the later stages and at the end of the eighth were only two runs behind but Porcelain cinched the argument by scoring three runs in the final frame. The Porcelain team will be seen in action again Friday night when they are scheduled to meet Mike O'Brien's C.G.E. squad.

Stop Hassett, Anyway

Detroit managed to stop one Yank yesterday inasmuch as Buddy Hassett, New York first baseman who had hit safely in 20 consecutive games couldn't collect a safe blow off the delivery of Dizzy Trout and his string was snapped off. Otherwise the Yanks kept on rolling. They won the ball game 4 to 1 with Hank Borowy turning in a four-hit effort to pick up his third win of the year and Joe Gordon hit safely for his 26th consecutive game, keeping his record in that respect still in one piece. Tommy Henrich came through with a homer, his seventh of the season, and the Yanks pulled off their 71st double-killing of the campaign and are pointing to a new high mark in that department. By the 4th of July the Yanks promise to be so far out in front that the other clubs will have to use an aircraft carrier to keep the men of McCarthy in sight. They may not be so powerful offensively as some of the other Yank teams but this edition is so strong defensively that they do not need the power other New York clubs have possessed.

* * * * * *

In the other American League game played yesterday afternoon the Boston Red Sox won over the St. Louis Browns 7 to 4 with Ontario-born Lefty Judd the winning pitcher and Elden Auker the loser. Bobby Doerr served notice that he is not giving up the battle for recognition as the star second sacker of the loop by staging a one-man show. The Boston keystone attendant came through with four hits, one of them his 10th homer of the season, drove in three runs and scored two himself which is a pretty fair afternoon's work for any man's ball player. Conroy, Boston catcher also helped himself to his second shot of the season out of the park and Stephens cracked one for the Brownies with a runner on the sacks. The Red Sox jumped into the lead by scoring two runs in the first frame and they were never headed after that.

* * * * * *

There were two afternoon games in the National League and one of them saw the New York Giants toss a banana peel in the path of the Cincinnati Reds after the latter had just finished polishing the Boston Braves off to the tune of six straight games. Lohrman pitched a five-hitter to give the Giants a 3 to 1 victory and the New York heaver would have had a shutout if he had not got the ball in there too nicely for Ray Lamanno the Reds' great rookie catcher who took advantage of this lapse to crack his seventh homer of the season. Junior Thompson started on the mound for Cincinnati and drew the loss. Shoun and Beggs both saw action. And the luckless Boston Braves who are sliding fast absorbed a real lacing at the hands of the Pittsburg Pirates who earned the decision 10 to 2, with Ken Heintzelman going the route for the winners. Boston started Lew Tost and had to call upon Hutchings and Wallace before the firing ceased.

* * * * * *

Leafs Lose Close One

Toronto Maple Leafs, still weak on the road, dropped another ball game last night when they were beaten 4 to 3 in an eleven innings game at Jersey City. The Leafs had taken the lead by scoring three runs in the eighth frame but the Jersey Giants came back with the tieing run in the ninth. In the eleventh Burgess Whitehead erred on Reyes' drive to second and Gordon sacrificed the runner to second. Ryan was intentionally passed but Brack shot a single into left and Reyes trotted home with the winning run. Nick Strincevich was the losing Toronto pitcher while Coombs who went the distance for Jersey City was the winner. The Maple Leafs had eight hits which is about as robust slugging as they have shown for some time.

* * * * * *

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Boston climbed back into second place in the American League race yesterday by winning over the St. Louis Browns ...But even from the second slot it is hard to get a glimpse of the Yanks... Bobby Doerr's big day yesterday put him at the top of the American League batting list with a .390 average....A Winnipeg race fan collected $4,800 on the daily double yesterday. We understand that he was quite satisfied with the whole affair....Johnny Pesky of the Boston Red Sox is going to follow his teammate Ted Williams into the navy aviation branch of service....Boston Braves who were in second place a short time ago have dropped eight straight games and now are down in the sixth slot.... Night baseball is off in Newark and Jersey City on the orders of the New York state defence director....Cleveland and the Senators kept Washington fans up for three hours last night before the Indians finally nosed out a 7 to 6 win in the tenth frame....One of the biggest crowds of the season saw the Porcelain-Brinton Girls' League game at the Bowl last night....It is expected the men's league will move into Riverside Park next week....Brintons and Westclox will be the attraction in the Girls' League at the beginning of next week....Private Les Burton was home from Niagara Camp on leave over the week-end and he reports that he has not been in a ball game for St. Catharines yet but hopes to see some action soon. The last time the club played Burton had received an innoculation shot in the arm and was unable to throw.... Three catchers, Phelps, Dickey and Lombardi are among the first six batters in the big league lists.

Loose Playing Due To Little Practice

The C.G.E. Porcelain squad triumphed over Brintons 18 to 14, in a loosely played Girls' Softball League game at the Ashburnham Bowl last night. The winners were always in front, although Brintons finished strong and closed the gap considerably in the latter stages.

The two newcomers to the loop have not had much chance to practice, and their lack of work showed both in the field and on the bases, where some of the weirdest base-running on record bobbed up to cut down rallies and give the umpires plenty of work.

Porcelain used three pitchers. M. Larmer, a slowball left hander, started on the mound and worked the first six innings and the Brinton girls had considerable trouble solving her delivery. Audrey Larmer took over in the seventh, but her lack of control got her into plenty of trouble, and Grace Barnes had to go to the rescue in the eighth and finish the game.

Leila Hughes went the whole distance for the losers, showing plenty of speed She was the victim of some very loose support, however, and would have made a much better showing with a little help.

Nellie Smith, at second base for Brintons, and Ethel Barnes at short for the Poreclain squad, came up with some nice fielding plays, and Helen English, in centre field for the losers, also shone with several classy catches.

Ethel Barnes, with five hits, led the Porcelain attack, while Agnes Weir had three for the losers. R. Milburn, Porcelain catcher; Ethel Barnes, shortstop for the winners, and Leila Hughes, losing pitcher, all came through with home runs.

Porcelain got off on the right foot by scoring twice in the first inning, came back with two more in the third, and another in the first of the fourth before the Brintons broke into the scoring column in their half of the fourth by pushing three runs across.

Neither side scored in the fifth, but the Porcelains broke the game wide open by getting eight runs in the first of the sixth on a combination of hits and errors and climaxed by R. Milburn's homer.

Leila Hughes' circuit drive after Agnes Weir had singled got two back for Brintons in their end of the sixth. Porcelain got one in the seventh and with Audrey Larmer on the mound for the winners, the Brintons came back with four. The same thing happed in the eighth. Porcelain getting one in their half and Brintons retaliating with four to make the score 15 to 13 at the end of the eighth.

Porcelain settled the argument by pounding three runs across in the ninth and the best the losers could produce was a single counter.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

And the schedule games roll merrily along. Another big crowd turned out last night. All games scheduled were played and that's the way it should be; there were no defaults.

Many big ends were scored during the evening, and it seems as if the boys are out to see if they can set score records. As we walked from one green to another it was nothing outstanding to see a big five, or a six or a couple of fours scored in one game.

The two closest games were the Burns-Wall and the Downey-G. Coleman, Jr. The former had to go into overtime, and the latter was close right up till the last end.

It will be a mixed tourney this evening, and the draw from the board is to be at 7.30 o'clock. "Nuff said."

We understand that the ladies' games committee is putting on a big mixed tournament next Wednesday night, June 17, in aid of Milk for Britain Fund. Keep this date in mind. We'll have more information later.

We notice that the draw for the men's singles competition is made and is posted up inside the club house. B. Chesler is the convenor. How about getting your game player and avoid congestion later on?

Hunch Bet Wins $4,835, All Time Daily Double Top

ST. BONIFACE, Man., June 10—(CP). — An all-time Canadian high return for a two-dollar daily double bet to-day lined the pockets of Mike Markowich— joint holder with his wife of a ticket that paid $4,835.55 at the Whittier Park race track here last night.

Mike, an unemployed railway construction worker who lives in Winnipeg, described himself to envious interviewers as "a gambler."

"I've been gambling horses for 40 years," he said. What would he do with the money?

"The horses will probably get it back," he replied later adding he planned to build a home with part of his winnings.

Mike won his pot of gold last night on a hunch and dice numbers—"naturals."

Both horses were long shots — Pagan Royal in the first race, and Mesmerist in the third.

The pari-mutuels number on Pagan Royal was 9797 and the number on Mesmerist was 9811.

"I looked at the last number in the first race for a seven and followed it up with taking the other natural, 11, in the third race," he said.

Pagan Royal paid off $25.50 for a straight $2.00 bet at the mutuels, while Mesmerist returned $21.75.

Northenders Win Over Lock Works

North-End Generals defeated Peterborough Lock Company in an exhibition game of softball by 15 to 9. A feature of the game was that both pitchers, Burrows for the winners and Presque for the Lock Works, cracked out home runs. The Northenders scored nine runs in the first three innings and were never headed.

WHITE SOX' ED SMITH HOLDS A's TO TWO HITS, LOSES BY 2 TO 0

Yankees Trounce Detroit 4-1; Indians Win 7-6

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Special "days" for ball players have been frowned upon in the major leagues this year because of the war, but in the spirit of fair play the American League should quickly set aside an occasion to be called "Ed Smith Day" and instead of presenting him a rawhide suitcase, on a scroll, or a set of matched teacups give him a guaranteed non-disappearing victory.

The stout, blond southpaw, who was one of the leading pitchers in the league last year, has lost 10 games this season without winning one and last night at Philadelphia he bumped into the most baffling setback of all.

He held the Athletics to two hits and yet was beaten 2-0 as Chicago White Sox slumped into last place in the standings.

In the second inning Bob Johnson led off with a double, Dick Siebert walked and when Smith threw too late to catch Johnson at third after fielding Buddy Blair's bunt, the bases were loaded. One run trickled across on a double play. Then in the fifth Pete Suder walked after one out. He reached second on an infield out, advanced to third as Pitcher Bob Harris scratched a single to deep short and scored when Luke Appling threw the ball wide to first.

In the eighth inning John Haynes, who hasn't lost a game, took up the burden from his teammate who hasn't won, but the White Sox were unable to stir up their usual rally for Haynes although they made two of their seven hits off Harris in the ninth.

Tigers Slip a Notch

The New York Yankees contributed another change to the American League standings by beating Detroit 4-1 and knocking the Tigers out of second place. Rookie Hank Borowy pitched four-hit ball to achieve his fourth consecutive victory and Joe Gordon extended his hitting streak to 26 games, while Buddy Hassett's string was halted at 20 games by Paul (Dizzy) Trout.

Boston Red Sox took advantage of the opportunity to move ahead of Detroit, with a 7-4 triumph over the rugged St. Louis Browns. Bobby Doerr led the Red Sockers with four hits, including a homer and a double, and regained the league's batting leadership with .390.

Five Washington errors, three of them by a rookie second baseman named Ellis Cleary brought up last week from Chattanooga, helped the Cleveland Indians gain a 7-6 decision against the Senators in a 10-inning night game at the Capital. Shutout relief pitching by Chubby Dean for the last three innings and his single to open the tenth also helped.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' night game at St. Louis was postponed until tomorrow night, limiting National League activity to two games.

At Cincinnati each team was held to five hits, but the New York Giants curbed the Reds 3-1. Bill Lohrman of the Giants pitched shutout ball except for Rookie Ray Lamanno's seventh homer, while his teammates linked two walks, two hits and an error to score all their runs in the first inning—routing Junior Thompson in the process.

At Pittsburg the Pirates supplanted Boston in fifth place by beating the Braves 10-2. It was the eighth straight loss for Casey Stengel's crew, which was subdued on nine hits by Ken Heintzelman: The Buccaneers bunched four runs in the first inning and five in the eighth.

Montreal Shades Newark 7-6 In Last Twilight

By The Associated Press

Montreal has lost more games in the International League than the pace-setting Newark Bears but every time the chips are down, the second-place Royals have the decisive punch.

The Royals last night helped the Bears bid farewell to night baseball in New Jersey for the duration of the war by winning a 7-6, 10-inning decision. It was the only league contest that didn't end with a 4-3 score and all four battles went extra innings.

The Jersey baseball blackout is the result of new United States army dimout regulations which went into effect today.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the league, said there would be no schedule changes except that the remaining games listed as after-dark affairs at Newark and at Jersey City would be played in daylight.

Newark's defeat was the fourth for the Bears in six meetings with the Royals this year.

This time Newark jumped off to a five-run lead in the first two innings only to have Montreal come back with one in the fourth and three in the sixth on Eddie Morgan's home run with two aboard.

The Bears added a run in the eighth, but Cliff Dapper sent the game into overtime when he hit for the circuit in the ninth with one on. Jack Graham's double brought in Gene Moore with the Royals' winning run in the 10th.

Leafs Lose 4-3 in 11th

Bobby Coombs hung up his sixth win for Jersey City Giants defeating Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-3, in 11 innings. The Giants had a two-run lead going into the seventh when Toronto scored three times on three hits and an error. Sid Gordon tied it up the next inning by hitting his fourth homer and Gibby Brack's 11th-inning single scored Nap Reyes with the winning tally in the second extra session.

Rochester Red Wings made it four in a row over Syracuse Chiefs as Max Surkong bested Red Barrett in a 10-inning mound duel, 4-3. Both pitchers were hit hard with the deciding blow being Ken Lillard's single which drove in Jimmy Ripple with the victory run. Al Lakeman homered for the Chiefs in the fourth.

Clyde Smoll, who went in as a relief pitcher for Baltimore in the 10th inning with the score 3-3, won his own ball game in the last half of the frame by hitting a homer that spilled Buffalo Bisons, also by a 4-3 score.

Autos Fall Off But Betting Heads for Record

NEW YORK June 10. —(CP)— About the only person around the race tracks these days with a legitimate protest over what the war has done to his business is the parking lot attendant.

The rest of them, particularly the track operators, are too busy looking over some of the fanciest financial figures the turf has even seen —or ever expected to see for that matter.

For while a lack of gasoline and tires has cut heavily into the number of cars going to tracks like Belmont, Aqueduct, Suffolk and Delaware—sometimes close to 50 per cent— attendance hasn't fallen off nearly so much if at all.

They Want To Gamble.

What's more with plenty of the "fresh" around these days, much of it from new jobs in defense plants and such, betting has skyrocketed until it looks as if this may be racing's biggest year. At Belmont, 436,966 fans bet a total of $27,733-297 for the recent 24-day meting, compared with the 405,126 who wagered $22,311,349 a year ago. On a new world record for one day's betitng ($2,176,071) was set May 30. So was the world high for the average daily handle over a meeting—$1157,221. The previous one day tops for Delaware and Suffolk plants also have been smashed this spring.

Aqueduct opened its current meeting on a "Blue Monday" this week and drew 13,797 fans compared with the 13,150 for opening day last year. They fed $869,469 to the mutuel, while the 1941 first-day turnout contributed only $695,872.

But the worst is yet to come in the New York area. After the Aqueduct meeting comes Empire City and Saratoga, and their transportation problems are much tougher. Empire is up in Westchester County and in the past has relied to a considerable extent on special busses. Since these have been put on the "No-No" list there's no telling what' going to happen there. Saratoga, more than 100 miles from New York, is keeping its fingers crossed on the matter of race trains and automobile travel when its traditional August session arrives.

Track Bosses Amazed.

But up to now, no one has been more surprised about developments around here than the track bosses themselves. When gas and tire rationing first was hinted, a lot of them started moaning low, because most racing plants are far enough away from the centre of things to require automobiles or trains to get to them.

The parking lot attendant at Belmont summed it up neatly on getaway day last Saturday when he looked over the limousines and jalopies and observed:

"There ain't as many coming, but them that came looked like busses when they got here."

Barrymore Skips 4 Wives In His Will

HOLLYWOOD, June 10.— John Barrymore's will, filed in Superior Court yesterday, ignored his four wives, but expressed his concern over three family heirlooms and his dog.

"I expressly make no provision herein for any of the said wives," the final testament of the famous screen, stage and radio actor read.

Attorney Gordon Levoy said the estate would amount probably to "more than $10,000," although Barrymore's assets had been under Federal receivership for several years before he died May 29.

Beneficiaries included his three children, Diana, 21; Dolores, 12; and John Blythe Barrymore Jr., 10

The property was said to consist of a possible interest in his private estate in Beverly Hills, an automobile, personal effects and cash funds.

WA's Strawberry Festival Is Called Off

LAKEFIELD, June 10 —(ENS)— That the five-cent-a-week plan for raising funds is proving a success was shown at the June meeting of the W.A. of Regent Street United Church, held in the Sunday School room on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was a week earlier than usual in order to give the members time to prepare for a strawberry festival if the returns from the five-cent-a-week plan did not come up to expectations. As a result no festival will be held this year.

Group A had charge of the meeting and Mrs. George Kelly presided for the devotional period. The session opened with the theme song "Let the beauty of Jesus be seen in me." The scripture reading was then given by Mrs. D. A. Allen. The need of the church during war time was stressed in a reading given by Mrs. P. H. Darling. The lesson thought for the month followed by a prayer was given by Mrs. Kelly.

Mrs. John Murphy, president of the W.A. took over for the business part of the meeting.

It was announced that Mrs. Avison would be guest speaker at the W.M.S. meeting on Wednesday evening, June 10. Mrs. Darling also announced the Mission Band tea to be held on Saturday, June 10, in the Sunday School room.

It was decided that the W.A. be responsible for flowers in the church for the month of August.

Several members of the association volunteered to hold afternoon teas during the summer months to raise extra money for the church.

The meeting closed with the mizpah benediction and a social half hour was spent.

There will be no meetings during July and August.

Conservatives are expected to call for immediate use of the powers sought while the co-oper...ion commonwealth federation has indicated that its members will demand that conscription of wealth and industry is invoked at the same time manpower is conscripted.

Discussion in the House yesterday ranged over a wide field with Finance Minister Ilsley and Labor Minister Mitchell ...ring the brunt of questioning as the war appropriation bill passed through its final stages.

Mr. Mitchell, after being questioned on the farm labor situation, gave the House the assurance that this problem was being looked after.

"This question is receiving consideration at this very moment," he said. "Because next perhaps to price regulation and wage stabilization, it is the biggest job which has been tackled during the war."

Pleas For Oil Development.

J. S. Roy (Ind., Gaspe) renewed his appeals to the Government to move toward development of oil deposits in the Gaspe Peninsula, and also development of metal and forest resources of that area as part of the war effort.

He also asked for more adequate protection of that area from enemy attack and thanked the Government for what had been done so far in this direction.

An Empire War Machine.

There was a complaint from T L. Church, (Con. Toronto-Broadview), that although the House had been sitting 82 days there had been no discussion of foreign affairs and he urged that information of an Empire War Cabinet was one of the outstanding necessities of the moment.

Lack of balloon barrage protection for strategic points in Canada was brought up by Arthur Slaght (Lib. Parry Sound) who said this form of defence should be installed without delay at Halifax, Esquimault and Patricia Bay in British Columbia.

He said destruction of Halifax by air attack would be the greatest single blow that could be struck at the Allied cause.

Conservative House Leader Hanson commended this proposal to the government but there was no immediate reply from the ministers on any of the defence proposals.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, discussed the possibility of financing the war effort without creation of debt and increased taxation, and declared that there need be no inflation if the issue of debt free money were kept within bounds in relation to the capacity of the country to produce and consume.

J. A. Ross (Cons. Souris) sought from the ministry some promise of action to equalize farm laborers' pay and facilitate next fall's harvest operations.

Mr. Mitchell said no attempt had ever been made to regulate harvest wages and he asked tht member for a suggestion as to a method.

Under Same System

Mr. Ross said it could be done by the National Selective Service System and regulations could be initiated in the same manner as many other activities were being regulated.

J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F. York South) urged the government to make greater use of the oil resources of Canada which he claimed were not being developed to the fullest possible extent.

There was an appeal from Clarence Gillis (C.C.F. Cape Breton South) for government action to restore full operations in the Dumart packing plant at Kitchener, Ont., where he said a strike followed by a lockout has interfered with bacon production for the past four weeks.

Mr. Mitchell said the government had no present intention of installing a controller to operate the plant at full capacity.

Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) said there was still unemployment in Canada although those who had to deal with this problem "are satisfied with what they read in the papers and are under the impression that there is not a man in the country who is willing to work who does not have that opportunity."

He urged upon the government the building of defence arteries to supplement the present transportation system.

Mr. Mitchell said that on last May 1 the registration of unemployed at the offices of the unemployment service of Canada was the lowest in the history of the Dominion.

Better Medical, Nursing Service

Extension of the medical and nursing services provided in large industries was urged by G. K. Fraser (Con. Peterborough West) and Health Minister Mackenzie said inspections were being carried out looking toward the objective Mr. Fraser suggested.

Mr Hanson endorsed the idea of Federal construction of essential military roads and suggested that attention be given the coast highway between Bathurst and the Miramichi river in New Brunswick.

Leonard O'Brien (Cons. Northumberland) suggested that Germans knew as much as local residents about the Miramichi river and its strategic bridges over which pass the main Canadian National Railways and the highway connecting Nova Scotia with the rest of Canada. He pictured the possible effects on Halifax if the Miramichi bridges were destroyed by a German submarine.

Mr. O'Brien suggested installation of a submarine net across the mouth of the Miramichi river where he said there was no protection against submarine attack.

Victor Quelch (N.D. Acadia) suggested that parity prices be paid farmers, the Federal government making up the difference with war saving certificates to be cashed only after the war is over.

Mr. Ilsley said this would mean a great increase in the national debt, which he said he wanted to avoid. This was why taxation was so heavy.

Brooke Claxton (Lib. Montreal-St Lawrence-St. George) appealed for greater provision of hostels or nurseries to care for the children of women war workers.

Mr. Mitchell said the government had this problem in hand and the House could "rest assured that every move will be made with expedition to see to it that these good people are protected."

In reply to a query from Mr. Hanson as to the manner in which government owned privately operated war industries would be accountable to parliament for their expenditures, Mr. Ilsley said he would consider the point and make a statement later. He said their accounts were audited and checked in the same manner as those of government departments.

on the battlefield.

"The enemy succeeded in pressing back somewhat the detachment of Commander Yermakov. With a decisive counter attack which developed into hand-to-hand fighting, our troops repulsed the Germans."

More than 1,000 invaders were reported to have fallen in new engagements on the Kalinin and Leningrad fronts, far to the north.

"Soviet units on the Leningrad front," the information bureau said, "occupied three populated places, capturing guns, ammunition and a radio station and taking nearly 150 prisoners. The enemy lost more than 600 killed."

A German regiment which attacked in a Kalinin front sector was reported to have been thrown back with heavy losses, including about 400 killed.

Obituary

WM. WALTER STEENBURGH.

MARMORA, June 10. —(ENS) — It was with deep regret that relatives and friends learned on Sunday of the death in Belleville General Hospital that day of William Walter Steenburg, late of Belmont Township.

He was born in Murray Township, near Frankford, on June 22, 1875. On July 21st, 1897, he was carried to Sara Catharine Ellis. As a young man, he took up mining, working in mines at Cordova and Cobalt. He also spent a number of years in the development of the large power plants at Niagara Falls. In 1907 he moved to the United States where he acted as superintendent in the construction of large dams on the Ohio River in Pennsylvania and the Black Warrior River in Alabama.

Early in 1910 he was stationed in New York State where he had charge of the construction of parts of the New York aqueduct. After its completion he became interested in development of coal mining and opened a number of large coal mines in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois and Alabama.

He retired in 1935 after which he spent his winters in Fort Myers, Florida, and his summers at his old home in Belmont Township at Belmont Lake. He lived a very useful life and made a large individual contribution to the development of mining. Of late years, he has had an increased interest in church work to which he devoted much of his time. His parents were the late William H. and Mary E. Steenburgh of Belmont Township.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Lt.-Col. W. E. Van Steenburgh, Petawawa; Walter Van Steenburg at home; and one daughter, Mrs. Hazel Siebert of New Kensington, Pennsylvania. Also surviving are four grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters, Floyd Steenburgh and Christy F. Steenburgh, Belmont Township; Wesley Steenburgh, Oakmount, Pennsylvania; Mrs. Harriet Johnson, Rice's Landing, Pennsylvania; and Mrs. Lena Barrons, Cordova Mines. He was preceeded in death by one sister, Mrs. Estella Ellis, Havelock.

The funeral was held at his late residence on Tuesday afternoon with interment in Maple Grove Cemetery, Havelock.

The officiating ministers were: Rev. J. Kay assisted by Rev. S. Skelding. Six nephews acted as pallbearers.

DOES OWN HOUSEWORK AT 70

With the Help of Kruschen

"For nine years now I have used Kruschen Salts and could not do without them. I take a third of a teaspoon in a cup of water as hot as I can drink it. No sickness, no headaches now. I am 70 years of age in April, and just with taking Kruschen Salts am able to do all my housework duties myself. I recommend Kruschen to all my neighbours. Before I began taking it I was never away from the doctor, but now I never need him. I used to have sick headaches and then was not able to do anything. But now it is different—thanks to Kruschen Salts."—(Mrs.) J. G.

Kruschen keeps the organs of the body working actively, cleanses clogging impurities from the system, and sends clear, vigorous blood coursing through the veins. And the result? An end to many minor ills and miseries, such as headaches, tiredness, depression, "nerves," or constipation. Instead, a sensation of delightful freshness, high spirits, happy outlook—in short, sheer good health!

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c. and 75c.
